Board plans millage hike in police fund

By Arlene Funke staff writer

Canton's Township Board is proposing a slight increase in the local tax rate for police services.

The board unanimously adopted a resolution Tuesday calling for a levy of 3.65 mills for police ($3.65 per $1,000 of assessed property valuation). That represents an increase of 0.40 mills (fourtenths of a mill).

Formal adoption of the township's tax rates will come later this month.

Prior to the board's resolution, Police Chief Jerry Cox had outlined his "priority needs" for the police department, including new patrol cars, radio and phone equipment, and devices to monitor the safety of prisoners in hold-

"Our facilities are inadequate, and staffing is insufficient," Cox told the board. "Most of the issues have been raised before. Most haven't been dealt with. Some have become worse."

The increase in police tax could boost police department revenues by $230,000, said finance director Mike Gorman.

THE TAX discussion occurred during hearings on the proposed tax levy for police, fire and general fund accounts for the 1983 budget, which goes into effect Jan. 1.

According to Gorman, next year's budget is "the tightest" Canton has ever had. It calls for comparable service levels, but no raises.

The police and fire department operating expenses are paid from separate taxing funds. Currently budgeted are $1.5 million for fire services and $1.6

Two hours were set aside for public comments Tuesday about the proposed tax rates for police, fire and general fund budgets. Only a few residents made comments, and a handful remained for the entire discussion.

Last year, residents had expressed satisfaction with current fire protection, but feared cuts in police services.

THE FOLLOWING millage rates are proposed for the 1983 budget:

• 3.06 mills ($3.06 for every $1,000 of assessed property valuation) for the fire fund. Last year's levy was 3.15

• 2.24 mills for general fund, a reduction from last year's rate of 2.32

Teachers' pay raise motivates recall move

Editor's note: Four school board members in the Wayne-Westland School District face a recall election on Sept. 14. The following stories discuss both sides of the recall issue. Wayne-Westland Community Schools service the southeast portion of Canton Township.

By Doug Funke staff writer

The recall campaign against Wayne-Westland school board members Mary Arbour, Mildred Batterson, Kenneth Marshall and Donald Rusnock is based on one factor, maintains Rose Mary Miller, chairperson for Taxpayers United Together.

"The issue is a teachers' contract, a contract that was voted on too soon - when the district wasn't in a position to afford it," Miller said.

That teachers were given a pay increase at a time when others in the private sector were forced to take freezes or make concessions rankled many in the community.

Some believe the proposal for a local community college, which drew strong protest, or scattered sentiment that certain board members were

Dissatisfaction with Dyer, himself, has also been cited as a motivating

However, the teacher's contract

"was the straw that broke the camel's back," Miller said.

"On Oct. 26, five school board members voted for a contract 10 months early for teachers with a seven to nine percent raise," she said. One (Thomas Barrett) has been removed by voting (in the regular June

"A LOT OF thought went into the recall because we realize recall is a serious business," Miller said. "We can't fire them. Our only recourse is to recall them.

The community college proposal brought more people into the recall camp, but that issue arose after the board had approved the two-year extension of the teachers' contract, Mil-

Teachers and Dyer aren't targets of TUT at all, Miller maintains.

"It's not a vendetta against teachers. It's not a vendetta against anybody," Miller said. "They (board members) have to realize they're responsible to the public. When you attend board meetings regularly, you tend to know what can be afforded and what can't.

"I've said 100 times Dr. Dyer has been a good superintendent," Miller continued. "If it was Dyer we wanted, we would have got advisory petitions around to get him out. We wouldn't fool around with a recall."

4 school trustees fight removal from office

By Leonard Poger staff writer

Four Wayne-Westland school board officers are organizing a campaign to fight their removal from office.

The four are the targets of a recall campaign initiated earlier this year by the Taxpayers United Together

(TUT) organization. The board members - Kenneth Marshall, Donald Rusnock, Mary Arbour, and Mildred Batterson - are grouping together as "KIDS," an acronym for Keep Independent-Defend Students."

Purpose of that group is to discuss educational issues during the next four weeks.

At the same time, the four have gained support from "SOC," or Save Our Community, a group of PTA leaders and parents who will be involved in soliciting campaign funds and workers, writing letters to newspapers and helping out in the cam-

THE TONE of the campaign from the board members' viewpoint - became clear when the SOC committee held the last of four meetings.

Marshall said about 105 came to the first three. An estimated 25 were at the most recent one.

Attending were Marshall, new board president, and Arbour, vice president.

They talked about what they felt were the issues involved in the recall campaign: public concern over the school board's extension of the teachers' union contract last fall, proposal of a local community college, and school Supt. Timothy Dyer. In a position statement, SOC officers have said that recalls are destructive and will ultimately harm local educational and property values and the education of children.

"A recall election is certainly not intended to be the vehicle by which we express our disagreement over one issue," the committee said.

WAYNE MAYOR Patrick Norton warned the group he hopes the district doesn't follow the political history in neighboring Taylor, which has had eight or nine recalls in the past 13

Norton, stressing the importance of opposing the recall to protect local educational and property values, said the Taylor schools "started to go" after the numerous recalls.

The second and third recalls in that district were organized by the custodians' and teachers' unions, respectively, he said.

"You don't recall someone for a mistake," Norton said.

Weimer fund reaches $1,000

More than $1,000 has been raised for the newly-formed Wayne Weimer Scholarship Fund, honoring the popular history teacher and coach who died of cancer in July.

About 50 persons in the Plymouth-Canton community have contributed to the fund, according to Orlean Baker, secretary of the Plymouth Canton High School general office.

Public donations to the fund will help raise money for what hopes to be an annual scholarship award for a deserving student who excels in social studies and/or athletics. The fund started last month in Mr. Weimer's memory for his endless dedication in helping students at the Centennial Educational Park

People interested in donating to the fund may mail money contributions to Baker at Plymouth Canton High School, 8415 Canton Center, Canton, 48187. Checks should be made to "Plymouth Canton High School" indicating the money is for the fund.

ITEMS OF historical value given to Weimer by some of his students can be obtained by calling Baker at 453-3100, ext. 372 or 373.

Students who owned these items have not been located by the Weimer family. The items include a purple heart medal from England or France, old scrap books, old pictures, and books and maps from the 75th infantry division of World War II.

Still undecided is how the township will allocate $345,000 in federal revenue-sharing funds for next year, said Gorman. The revenue-sharing program is expected to be dismantled after 1983, added Gorman.

In the past, those funds have been used for large capital expenditures, such as purchase of land, building improvements, new police cars, etc.

"They (board) realized they should do something soon," said Gorman. "They have to start planning for it."

Former radio director agrees

To the editor:

I must admit, I am surprised.

I never really thought anyone in the community thought enough of the high school radio station, WSDP, to criticize it like Observer columnist Dennis O'Connor did in his Sept. 2 column.

I also am surprised that someone out there in the professional world of journalism saw the station the same way as I have for the past few months.

O'Connor is right in criticizing WSDP for its seeming inability to serve the Plymouth-Canton community the way I, and many other people, know it can. I was the news director last year and now have graduated to become a professional news reporter at the highlyrespected public radio station at Eastern Michigan University, WEMU. I'd like to offer an insider's standpoint about the things that go on at WSDP.

For the past 10 years, WSDP has been striving to serve this community. Station Coordinator Jeffery Cardinal has been there the entire time, and, as O'Connor says, brought respectability and stability to the station. He has been a good community public relations man, and he paid his dues at the sta-and inability to relate to and trust most of the student workers made him an unpopular coordinator. The resultant conflicts created an atmosphere of disillusionment among many of the staff members. Why try and change something if you think nobody cares or will just shoot you down?

WSDP is not a professional station, but if an atmosphere of professionalism and positiveness was introduced, WSDP can learn how to serve the community as best as it can. For as long as anyone there remembers, there has been a United Press International (UPI) teletype machine at the station. And, for as long as anyone remembers, the only way there has been to put together a newcast is to rip the news copy from the machine and read it on Appointed news director in the middle of last school year, I was determined to institute some changes to accommodate our area listeners and better cover local events and happenings. I soon learned that most staff members either did not care enough or did not have the time to voluntarily rewrite stories from the local papers or follow up those stories or develop new stories.

Only now is the news department being turned around, under the competent guidance of Plymouth Canton High School senior Tom Ford. Public meetings now will be covered, local stories will be followed up and local newsmakers will be interviewed. There now is an incentive for the staff member wishing to keep their on-air music show: If reporters do not do their job, they will lose their on-air shift, which is high priority among staff members.

Never in recent memory has the station coordinator indicated how news should be covered - or broadcast. The hour-long afternoon edition has been a WSDP regular for years. Students there hardly know or think of putting together something more compact.

The station's format is much more difficult to discuss. Jeff Cardinal always has determined what the format will be, and his reasons for the present multi-music format are that different types of music will attract all different types of people.

That may seem logical, but as O'Connor points out, it doesn't work.

First, as O'Connor says, multi-music formats are just not appealing. Nobody seems to know when to tune in for their favorite type of music. Many of the jazz deejays do not know the first thing about the music they play. I know, I was one of them. A result of this is that jazz is not very popular among our lis-

The plain fact is that while other jazz stations (like WEMU) get many requests, a jazz deejay at WSDP is lucky to get five requests in a year.

A problem with the single-music format is that easy listening is popular among listeners, but one has to keep in mind that WSDP also is a station where high school students may work in an atmosphere that is conducive to their needs as well. On-air deejays like to play the music they know and like, and for many staff members, that means more than just easy listening. There always are students who want to play good old rock and roll, and I believe there would be mutiny, or at least mass resignations, if that was

While underwriting for public radio stations only has been recently introduced, WSDP has never taken advantage of it. According to former Program Director Glenn Bar, WSDP's Advisory Committee suggested Jeff Cardinal look into underwriting as a feasible, logical source of money in these times of financial crises. WSDP does not have one program on the air now that is at all underwritten in any Summing up, O'Connor now is suggesting changes at the high school station that student staff have been advocating for a long time. The station has been striving to serve the Plymouth-Canton community for 10 years, but never has seemed consistently pointed in the right direction.

Maybe an open-minded, local radio veteran who is a good motivator of high school students is what WSDP

Realtors look at housing

Interest rates to drop with federal deficit

This is the third of a three-part series of interviews with area real estate brokers. Mel Durbin of the Durbin Co., Bob Gavey of the Chamberlain Companies, Steve Pew of Max Broock Inc. and Dick Weir of Weir, Manuel, Snyder and Ranke were intereviewed by Observer & Eccentric editors Ron Garbinski, Kathy Moran and Dennis O'Connor.

O YOU anticipate a turn around in home buying with a lower interest rate soon? Do you anticipate a lower federal deficit?

DURBIN: You have to be careful on that because the lower interest rate without the money is no good.

WEIR: The lower interest rate isn't going to happen unless the deficit comes down. The government has to get its "act together" and get themselves operating inside their income before anything else can happen. You say, 'When is that going to happen?" Who knows?

PEW: When Wall Street and (Federal Reserve Chairman Paul) Volcker combined feel that Congress is finally starting to get their "store in order," then I think Volcker will finally say "OK, I'll start easing this thing." That puts him up on some throne as some omnipotent god. He is not the total answer, obviously. It is a combination of Wall Street, bond interest rates, all these kind of things.

GAVEY: When comsumer confidence comes back and people feel more confident about their jobs and confident about selling that smaller house to buy a larger house, you will see more of an increase in the market.

> 'The lower interest rate isn't going to happen unless the (federal) deficit comes down. The government has to get its 'act together' and themselves operating inside their own income before anything else can happen.'

- Realtor Richard Weir

PEW: I agree with most prognosticators who say that Michigan is going to be slower to come back than most other states. I think the country is going to turn around, but I don't think it will happen in a hurry.

Does that go back to your one-industry town concept?

WEIR: We still are a one-horse town. We're dependent on the auto industry. It's not only here. I was down in Arizona. The largest copper manufacturer in the nation, miner and smelter, was shutting down all of their mines and all of their smelters. This was big negative economic news for Arizona. That's their leading industry after tourism. The reason they were shutting it down was because the demands for housing and automobiles were so small that they couldn't sell copper for the cost of mining it.

The lack of sales of automobiles from this state has finally gotten to Arizona hitting them in their copper industry. This has happened in housing. It has hit the lumber industry in the northwest. Tires are down. Steel is down. Glass is down. The reason being is that one out of six or seven gainfully employed people in the nation owe their jobs to the automobile industry either directly or

When this industry goes down, just like C. E. Wilson said, "What's good for the nation is good for General Motors." It's reported that what he said was, "What's good for General Motors is good for the nation." It was a deliberate twist and it gave him a very bad "black eye" that he did not deserve. But what is good for the nation is good for General Motors, or the automobile industry.

PEW: We are sitting here, right today, looking at the cuts for higher education. (Recently,) I was in the University of Michigan Graduate School of Business Administration to talk about U-M pulling out of the real estate education program. That's just "small potatoes" compared $t\phi$ the whole graduate school of business administration. I think we forget what a terrific and tremendous resource that University of Michigan is.

When you start talking about budget cuts in the state of Michigan, and $85 million has to be cut out of the budget, is that going to make Michigan just another university instead of one of the top four or five in the whole country it always has been? These interest rates have a very big effect on all of us.

WEIR: Everything we are saying about the nation, we can repeat about the state. The state is broke and that's all there is to it. It hasn't got the money.

We're talking about automotive people being laid off and companies closing down, what's going to happen to real estate firms? What's going to happen to smaller bro-

PEW: You are looking at four smaller brokers. We are Small businessmen due to the fact that you have offichere and offices there, offices all around. What's going to happen to that one office broker or that one office that may have three or four salesmen working for them? Are they going to go out of business?

WEIR: Not necessarily. It depends on how good they are. If he's got four real good salesmen, he will sell enough real estate to pay the bills and stay in business. If he has four poor salesmen who don't sell, he will go out of business. Big or small has not much to do with it.

GAVEY: We are just going to learn to run our businesses more efficiently. We're already doing it like any other entrepreneur. Our country is going to get more productive. We always have. We are going to do it again. Our industry will. The automobile industry will; it is in the process. The Japanese imports have hurt us.

The net result is that we are going to have better cars. We are going to have increased productivity which has been a problem in this country during inflationary times, when everyone wanted more, but expected to give less. That is going to change. The companies that don't change won't survive.

Is there a psychological barrrier to the public accepting creative financing terms?

DURBIN: Another problem we are running into is that the public, either through lack of education or whatever, has not accepted any of the new alternatives such as variable rate mortgages, equity sharing mortgates where the lender shares the profits. So we're back to our basic instruments that we have been using for three years.

WEIR: Uncertainity. They are tied to treasury bills or abstract figures. They are decided by an interest rate or some index or another that can go up or down. If you have one and you buy a house that has a 70 percent mortgage and it goes down, your mortgage rates go down. If you buy a house and have a 14 percent rate, and the rates for that index goes up, your mortgage rates go up. It's the uncertainity the public doesn't like. The public can't print its own money to cover it.

GAVEY: You have 40 or 50 years of people who have had a fixed rate 25 to 30 year mortgages. They knew what the interest rate was going to be, what the monthly payment would be and that was it for as long as they had that mortgage.

WEIR: I see a retreat in this area. Years ago, the maximum mortgage that you could receive around here was from an outfit called Birmingham Federal Savings & Loan and it was for 60 percent of the apraised value for 20 years. That was it. That was most money you could borrow on that house. The homeowners had a healthy investment in their house. There was a shorter term on the loan and a higher percentage of each monthly payment went to principle rather than just interest. It meant they acquired a large equity in the property on top of their downpayment. It was a healthy thing. Requirements of the marketplace over the years changed that 60 percent mortgage up to as high as 95 percent and the term from 20 to 30 years.

'What I find interesting is that property owners will fight or gather in droves to fight their assessed valuation and then when it comes to the budget hearings, no one comes.'

- Realtor Steve Pew

One way in which they could make more money available, which would be a benefit around here, would be to get them to loan at a fixed rate for 20 years with a 60 percent mortgage. We could do business with that. I'm not suggesting this would be a help nationwide, but it might help Birmingham, Michigan. That's maybe one way they might be able to do something that's a little bit less inflationary.

DURBIN: The average home is only held only eight years. If you have a 20 year mortgage, and it is paid off, you have had 21/2 buyers. In reality, what happens is every eight years, either someone assumes it or it is paid off. The length is not the key factor. The amortization and the constant monthly payment is.

Are we going to see more shared equity and more pension investment in mortgages? Are we going to see more

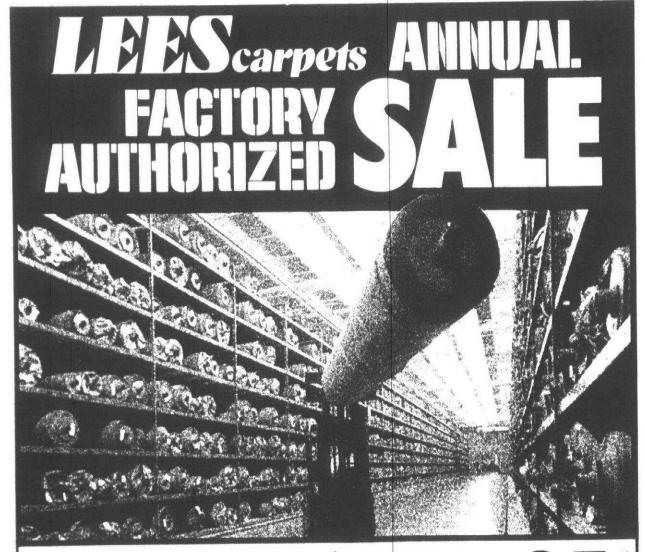

PEW: Yes, the federal government is starting to loosen up some of that pension money toward mortgages. That's an uncapped source at this time in terms of residential mortgages. They have been lending in large commercial

WEIR: There will be some trades. But it will not be a large part of it. It is something a seller will do if he has no

What you are saying is all these different methods of creative financing are really short-term reactions to the marketplace?

DURBIN: They are reactions to the marketplace. And Road board looks to feds for funds

Several freeway projects in Wayne County will get some of the $2 millioni the federal government is sending to Michigan, according to Gov. Milliken.

Asked for details on which projects might be considered, Louis Sugo, road commission information officer, gave a different story. Sugo said receiving additional funds is "highly unlikely."

"We never have enough federal funds to do all the projects, and with the attitude in Washington it's doubtful we'll get any more," he said.

Of the road commission's $100 million annual budget, about 30 percent comes from gasoline and weight taxes, and the remainder from other sources, Sugo said. He declined to be more specific except to say that a "healthy portion" was from the federal govern-

MEA surprised at school strikes

By Suzie Rollins Singer staff writer

Teachers from more than 200 Michigan school districts were without contracts when school starts today.

"We're going to start this year with about 250 districts unsettled, and we usually begin school with 200 districts unsettled," said Keith Geiger, Michigan Education Association president.

"We were surprised at the number of strikes before Labor Day. I guess we underestimated the school boards' desire to write bad contract language,"

MICHIGAN HAS 529 Michigan school districts. But by pure coincidence, more contracts expired this year than last year, Geiger said.

"There's no excuse for any district not to be settled by Labor Day," Geiger

"They can have marathon bargaining sessions all weekend to reach agreements," he added. Teachers in Southfield and Troy

Headlee called the strikes a bad example for teachers to set for

Fish more active as weather cools

By Lem Mesee outdoors writer

Fishing is improving as the weather cools, and the best catches of the year will be after Labor Day.

In the shallow waters of Lake St. Clair's Anchor Bay, Goose Bay and Muscamoot Bay in Macomb and St. Clair counties, fisherman are catching good numbers of perch in the 8-12-inch range. Try fishing in three to four feet of water for best results.

Chinook salmon are showing up in the St. Clair River. Fisherman out drifting for walleye are finding chinook salmon taking bait.

In Oakland County, fair to good catches of bluegill are being taking on Lake Louise and Big Lake.

Kent Lake is giving up some fair over the Labor Day weekend and found my usual spots dry. Finally, in a windswept spot on a dropoff near the I-96 freeway, I hit the jackpot with a near-limit catch of nice perch at midday. It proves that if one technique fails to work, try another.

Largemouth bass are being caught on Lakeville, Maceday, Lotus, Loon Lakes and Lake Orion. The bass are running from one to two pounds of good

Mental health providers protest cuts

John VanCamp, spokesman, said, "The proposed $4.2-million cut to com-

Congress says 'si' to Cuban radio, nuclear freeze

Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes recently.

HOUSE

RADIO TO CUBA - The House passed, 250 for and 134 against, and sent to the Senate a bill to set up a government radio station to broadcast anti-Castro programming to Cuba. Radio Marti, named after Cuban patriot Jost Marti, would broadcast on AM or FM frequencies from a site in the Florida Keys. It would cost $7.5 million in fiscal 1983, and it would be run by the same agency that oversees Radio Free Europe and Radio Liberty.

Supporter Toby Roth, R-Wis., said Cuban leader Fidel Castro "will have to recognize that we are going to be calling him to account for his actions. . . . All dictatorships fear uncensored information that is received by their people."

Opponent Ted Weiss, D-N.Y., said "the Cubans will recognize Radio Marti propaganda for what it will be, carefully packaged half-truths," and that NUCLEAR FREEZE — By a vote of 204 for and 202 against, the House adopted a "nuclear freeze" proposal that was backed by the administration. It calls for freezing U.S. and Soviet arsenals after the two nations have negotiated mutual arms reductions. The measure is non-binding but has high symbolic importance. Buy adopting the pro-administration language, the House rebuffed liberal-sponsored efforts directing the U.S. and the Soviets to freeze their arsenals at current levels.

Supporter John Rousellot, R-Calif., said a freeze at current levels "would only legitimize Soviet superiority in numberous areas of nuclear and conventional force capabilities" and would undercut ongoing arms limitations talks with the Soviet Un-

Education winks at its worst enemy

N ALL THE politics I've covered, I never have heard a member of the education lobby cuss the social services lobby. And I've covered a

The education lobby is teachers, teachers unions, school administrators and school boards. They need money to operate. Although they tend to weep copiously, for the most part I agree with their positions and respect educators.

The social services lobby is concerned with the 1,001 programs that used to be called "welfare." Today's programs are so extensive that "social services." despite its ring of jargon, is perhaps the beter term to describe them.

WHAT HAS happened over the last two decades is that social services have become a larger and larger portion of Michigan's state budget.

In the early '60s, I can recall seeing pie charts where education, both K-12 and colleges, got a bit more than half the pie, and social services were in for about 11 percent.

Each year — in prosperity or recession — social services' slice of the pie grew, and education's shrunk. The figures have been disrupted a good deal with this year's budget cuts, but the last batch of figures showed that education had slipped below the 30-percent mark and social services had risen above 30 percent.

One can't dismiss that as the result of the current depression. The change has been steady for 20

WHAT BRINGS this topic to a head is Gov. William G. Milliken's current executive order cutting state spending by $150 million — the fourth cut of the fiscal year.

In round terms, the governor proposed taking about half the amount from K-12 education, a quarter from higher education and a quarter from revenue sharing with other local units of govern-

To quote from a legislator's memo to city and school officials in his district: "(Budget Director Gerald) Miller said July auto sales were 'a disaster' and Michigan's economy is 'extremely weak.' He also said the Department of Social Services is having 'continual problems,' probably indicating need for a higher supplemental appropriation in September."

A House committee, to be sure, rejected the governor's proposed cuts. Our beloved local lawmakers will bargain for some modifications. But the truth is they will save the schools little, because there is little except school money left in the current budget for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30. Education will continue getting it in the neck.

A LOT OF people in public life have offered proposals to reduce social services costs.

A minor party candidate says we should rely on private charity.

A Berrien County commissioner and legislator pushed a ballot proposal to reduce Michigan's welfare rates to those of surrounding states.

Others advocate that general assistance (helping mainly able-bodied men) be eliminated in Michigan because other states don't pay it at all. Brooks Patterson has a program for prosecuting welfare fraud.

The point is that the education lobby never talks about social services. It's as if there were an unwritten law that educators are never to point the finger of blame at social services. It seems to be OK to blame mossback legislators, unenlightened voters, regressive tax structures, President Ronald Reagan and the military for cutting education monev — but never social services.

The mood in the Legislature is that education has been cut too much and needs help. Unfortunately, the education lobby is reticent about going after its own worst enemy.

Scouts devise programs to meet changing needs

ORE SINGLE-PARENT families. More families with two wage-earners. Other non-traditional family units.

Social changes have been tough on kids. They also have been tough on organizations that help kids, such as the Boy Scouts of America.

Scouting has been organized around the traditional family. Cub Scouts (ages 8-10) are still watched over by Den Mothers. Boy Scouts are led by men, cutting the apron strings with overnight camping trips.

So in 1979 the Boy Scouts of America ran a national survey of scouts, non-scouts, parents of both, professionals, volunteers, and members of chartering groups (PTAs, churches, service clubs).

THE RESULT, said Walter J. McCarthy Jr., president of the Detroit Area Council of the scouts, is a new package of programs to help kids in those non-traditional families.

McCarthy, the Birmingham resident who is chairman of Detroit Edison Co., reported that this month the new package is being unveiled. The new

• Tiger Cubs, a fun program for 7-year-olds. An adult "tiger" and a "tiger cub" participate as a team. The tiger may be a mother, father, aunt, unele, grandparent, older sibling or even a neighbor. Tiger Cub groups will be organized by existing Cub packs but function independently. There is no uniform, an emblem may be ironed on a shirt or

· "Prepared for Today," an activity book to teach children ages 6-11 skills to cope with being left alone at home and in the neighborhood. An adult and child go through the book together. The child learns how to handle emergencies, fix a simple meal, care for younger children and deal with a stranger at the door or on the street. The book will be available to Cub packs, Scout troops, churches, schools, social agencies, housing organizations and neighborhood groups.

 An improved second-year Cub program. The fourth-graders are offered such contemporary activities as computers, communications, law enforcement and cooking.

• More marketing of the Explorer program. Said McCarthy, "Exploring is an exciting program for young adults. It is co-ed. It stresses career interest activites. And it offers tremendous flexibility to participants and advisers alike.

"But Exploring is often referred to as Scouting's est-kept secret." In the region, there are only 4,500 explorers.

THE IDEA for a marketing survey came from Robert Gaynor, vice president for personnel of AT&T Long Lines and a veteran volunteer in scout-

Some 19,000 questionnaires were sent out and 10,000 returned, an excellent response, say pollsters. It meant people are still highly interested in the scouting movement. The survey showed:

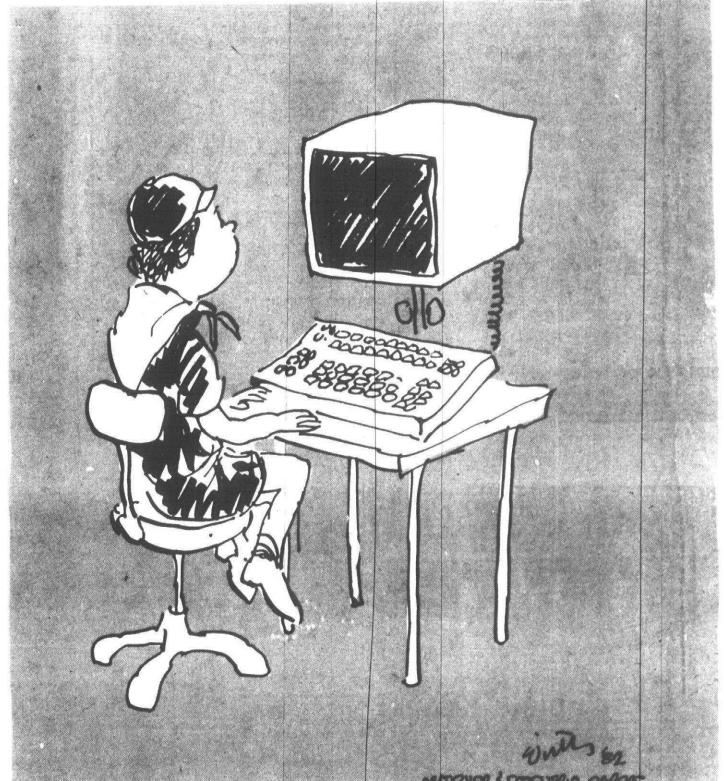

Adults and youngsters alike still hold to scouting's ideals of patriotism, reverence for God, leadership training and emotional development.

Boys and adults want more family activities, more outdoor activities and more camping oppor-

An obstacle to membership in the Boy Scouts is competition for time. Scouting professionals were pleased to learn the movement has a good overall image, even among non-participants.

It deserves a good image.

Memories of U-M's Fritz Crisler

NE BY ONE, the Old Guard is silently leaving the sports trail, and with each passing, The Stroller is left with a flood of fond

On the first day of his recent vacation, he heard that his friend H.O. "Fritz" Crisler, former athletic director at the University of Michigan, had lost his long battle with cancer. The Stroller's thoughts turned from the beauty of the St. Clair River to a hot afternoon more than a decade ago in Michigan Stadium.

At the time, Fritz was enjoying his retirement, and we both sat there in the sun watching the famed stadium floor being covered with artificial turf.

We were alone in the vast 100,000-seat bowl when The Stroller asked Fritz what he thought of the move to eliminate sports from the high school programs around the state.

He stared out in the open for a moment, then

"IT WOULD be a regrettable move as sports provide the last bastion for discipline.

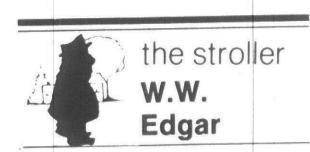

"If we lost the boy or girl at that age, chances are they will be lost forever. And that would be a sad

This was a new twist to the problem, and The Stroller asked for a bit of explanation. Fritz was quick to reply: "When a young fellow goes out for athletics at the high school level, his one ambition is to 'make the team.' He reports with an earnest desire to play and be a vital part of the success of the team.

"He will do almost anything to reach that goal. He'll listen to the coach's program for behavior. If he has any tendency toward bad habits, he will give them up — just to be a member of the school team.

"He will keep up in his studies. He won't carouse around after dark. He will pay attention to his appearance, and he'll pay attention to anything the coach says."

For an instant Fritz looked down at the workmen placing the carpet on the field and continued: "Without that discipline, there is no telling which path the young boy - or girl - will travel, for there is no level of discipline So sports never should be taken away from a high school program."

OTHER FOLKS will recall Crisler as the coach who changed the entire game of football.

It was Fritz Crisler who originated the multiplesubstitute rule. This made possible the two-platooon system we have today of an offensive and a defensive team.

It was Crisler who brought about the two-point conversion after a touchdown. And all along, he developed the single-wing back formation with the spinning fullback. In fact, he helped make football the popular game it is today.

Crisler was opposed to the modern system of recruiting. In fact, he retired from coaching for that very reason. He was a great believer that the boy or girl should select the school he or she wanted to attend instead of schools' bidding for their services in the athletic program.

And he was certain the game would be just as good today without the race to lure young athletes to win a championship.

THE STROLLER can't tell of his fond memories of Crisler without retelling Fritz's famous story after the Rose Bowl game in 1948, when Michigan won 49-0, equaling the score by a Fielding Yostcoached Wolverine team in the first Rose Bowl con-

As the story goes, one spectator who had imbibed too freely during the game, walked up to Fritz as he was leaving the field and said:

"You haven't improved a g-- d--- bit." So long, Fritz, you never will be forgotten.

Fun weekend spent in a 'concrete city'

LIVE IN AN urbanized suburban city. At times, it can be depressing.

The derisive term "concrete city" seems too true. Only on rare occasions can the stars be seen at night. Houses are too close together. Most yards are small.

Friends in outstate Michigan and other states do not envy me for living in the metropolitan Detroit area. Unfortunately, "murder capital" and the riots of 1967 still plague the reputation. The current downturn in the automobile industry hasn't helped.

Anyone reading this knows it's not easy to live in the Detroit area in 1982. We don't need more reminders of our woes

BUT THERE is another side to living in this area that's not readily apparent. It requires a little probing and even exploring. Take, for example, the past Labor Day weekend.

For the price of gasoline, we could enjoy the finest jazz north of New Orleans. I went down to Hart Plaza on Sunday and listened to several free concerts at the Montreux/Detroit Jazz Festival.

Thousands of jazz fans enjoyed concerts at three sites at the plaza. I was part of the standing-roomonly crowd at the amphitheater who listened to the mellow sounds of the J.C. Heard Orchestra on Sunday. Oakland University's Doc Holiday was a featured performer in the orchestra. Among the local groups performing was Bloomfield Hills' Lahser High School Jazz Band.

I'm not a jazz fan. But the quality of the music was obvious. The crowd was polite, but enthusiastic. If you missed the second annual Montreux/Detroit Jazz Festival, don't miss it next year.

A FEW MILES up the road, the Michigan State Fair opened its tents. Again, the price was reasonable. Children under 12 were admitted free. I was part of the record-setting 67,000 persons who attended on Sunday.

It had everything that is expected of a state fair . rides, live entertainment, cotton candy and special exhibits. The fair attracted its share of politicans, religious zealots and dubious salesmen.

On Labor Day (Monday), Kensington Metropark near Milford had a five-mile bike hike. Naturalist Mark Szabo took groups out at 9:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. for a two-hour trip. Again the price was right — for $2, a carload of people could enter the park. That's the only charge I paid during the day.

Bikers made frequent stops as Szabo pointed out various plants and animals that could be seen on the route. Scenic Kensington provided an excellent background for an enjoyable romp with nature. This is part of a 30-year-old nature program at Huron-Clinton Metroparks.

IT WAS AFTER an interesting weekend that I collapsed in front of the television late Monday afternoon. There it was again, for the 17th consecutive Labor Day — the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon. It was just ending, and the telethon was in trouble. The telethon ended up with the smallest collection in five years, $3 million under

But Detroit-area collections were different. Detroit people, battling a depression that caused a 16percent unemployment rate, pledged $2,145,011. The generous people in this area contributed only $90,484 less than last year. Detroit ranks second only to New York in money pledged this year. New York is about eight times the size of Detroit.

It's all enough to make one think at the end of a long holiday weekend. Living in "concrete city" is not so bad after all.

An unusual twist to fall color: The leaves are in a pond, not on the trees, and the photo is in black and white. Monte Nagler left just enough of the trees in the composition to give his picture foundation.

Fall colors will be found everywhere as they creep gently southward from the upper peninsula. Close to Detroit are miles of lovely roads and trails that display rainbows of vibrant colors.

Here are some tips on how you can get better fall

SLIDE FILM will produce the most vivid, brilliant colors. Use either Kodachrome or Ektachrome, and then set the ASA higher than indicated in order to increase color saturation.

For example, when using Kodachrome 64 or Ektachrome 64, set the ASA at 80 or 100. With Kodachrome 25, use a setting of 32 or 40. You may have to experiment a little to determine what's right for your camera, but you'll be pleasantly surprised at the results of the slight under exposure.

Use a polarizing filter, too, to darken the blue ski and enhance colors even further.

FOR YOU black and white lovers, don't think the fall color change won't give you pleasing results. Under an overcast sky, the contrasts and tones of fall colors will produce very exciting black and white photographs, usually with a full tonal range, just like the one on this page.

County clinic plan wins panel's nod

Plans for a modern, out-patient clinic to be built on Wayne County General Hospital grounds by the University Medical Affiliates, a professional nonprofit corporation, were approved in concept recently by members of the county Human Resources Committee.

The plans are subject to a report from the county's corporation counsel due next month.

According to Michael W. Bradley, chairman of the County Board of Institutions, the $150,000 free-standing, 23,000-square-foot clinic will replace the present "N" building facility, considered old, spartan and unattractive to new patients. Bradley said the modular facility will accommodate all clinic operations currently housed in "N" building.

Appearing before the Human Resources Committee, Hospital Administrator E.J. Conklin said the professional coporation has agreed to entirely fund the project on the hospital grounds directly north of the existing parking lot. It hopes to complete construction this fall.

The UMA, P.C. is seeking a 99-year, $1-per-year land lease.

"We strongly believe that this project is paramount to the hospital's viability, since the general medicine clinics are a principle 'gateway' to the insitution," Dr. Conklin said. The clinic will add to the present cash-flow of the

The project is actually being financed by members of the MSP program, a corporation of doctors formed a year ago to provide service to the hospital. The MSP (Medical Service Plan) was organized in June of 1981 by staff physicians who opted to work under their own corporate structure rather than continue as employees of the WCGH.

William Isenstein, who explained the concept of the new clinic, is a member of the MSP management team. According to Isenstein only medical doctors may become stockholders in the University Medical Affiliates, P.C. and the proposed clinic will be staffed by MSP doctors and hopital nurses.

from 7 to 9 p.m. Friday, Sept. 10.

The exhibit will feature the works of Johnnie Crosby, Beth Hull and Katie Fox.

Johnnie's current watercolors reflect her love of nature — sand dunes, mountains, rocks, trees, flowers, ocean birds and people. She has expressed her impressions by use of the versatile medium of watercolor in many moods from realistic, collages to abstract. Her work has received numerous awards and may be seen in corporate and private collections.

She has exhibited in nine of the Michigan Watercolor Society exhibitions as well as Watercolor U.S.A., a national show; the Butler Institute Show; Scarab Club exhibits in Detroit; Hartland shows and may others.

Beth Hull's works were exhibited in this year's Michigan Watercolor Society Show and the All Michigan Show in Battle Creek.

Katie Fox has exhibited at several local galleries and also will be in the Plymouth Community Arts Council show Saturday and Sunday in Central Middle School. She has earned a reputation for producing fine batiks.

SAM AND JESSI Hudson returned to Elmira, N.Y., for Sam's 52nd high school class reunion. One of the most exciting aspects of their visit was a ride in a glider.

One of Sam's classmates, Ernie Schweitzer, went on to New York University and earned his degree in aeronautical engineering. He and his two brothers started a glider manufacturing business in Elmira. Come World War II, the Schweitzer Bros. plant built 70 per cent of the gliders used by the U.S. military services. They still manufacture gliders and crop dusters.

Sam says the sail-plane pilots use the thermals (hot air rising) to stay aloft. They keep an eye out for hawks who use the thermal currents and spot them for the pilots. Their pilot said he had seen as many as 100 hawks in one area. Evidently the world's glider record is 1,000 miles out and 1,000 miles back.

The Hudsons said the landing was gentle on bare grass at a speed of about 40 miles per hour. They decided the quiet flight must be similar, in some respects, to that in a hot air balloon.

Rockhounds share summer acquisitions

Rockhounds come in all ages and sizes. They will gather at the Plymouth Cultural Center Monday evening for their first meeting of the new season. As is usual for members of the Plymouth Rock and Mineral Society, the program for the kickoff meeting is a show and tell session.

Treasures acquired during summer vacations are displayed and discussed.

The majority of the members specialize. President Bart Quello collects copper. He has some large chunks pure copper from the Upper Peninsula. A resident of Plymouth, Quello works for Ford Motor Co.

Bertha Djerf of Plymouth is co-vice president of the society. She creates Ming trees from copper wire and polished stones.

Another co-vice president is Dave Thomas of Canton Township, a geology instructor at Washtenaw Community College.

Mildred Torikka of Plymouth is treasurer. She and her husband, Ralph, belong to the club. They do their rock and mineral hunting from the vantage point of their cottage in the Upper Peninsula.

Secretary Ted Kilish of Plymouth Township

Makes jewelry from the gemstones he collects.

One of the better known members of the society is Martha Davis, who shares her knowledge and collection with students in the schools. She has a special program which she gears to the ages of the children in the classrooms.

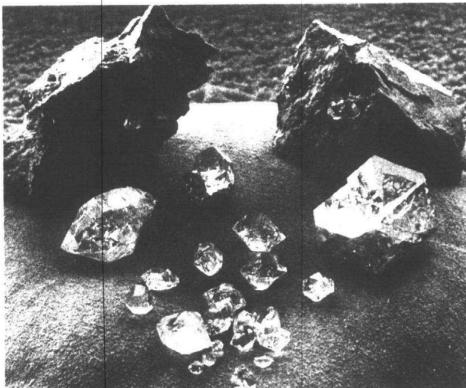

Collecting is a family hobby for some members. Family memberships in the society are $5 for one year. Individual memberships are $2.50. New members are welcome to attend the first meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Sept. 13. Those wishing more information may call Dave Thomas, 453-7402.

One of the dealers at the Plymouth Symphony League Antique Mart will feature Quimper ware — very old and very colorful French pottery. The mart opens at noon Friday in the Plymouth Cultural Center, Farmer Street at Theodore, for a three-day run during the Fall Festival.

It's last plunge for pool parties

Kathy and Bob Spencer spent many months in Hawaii during his tour of duty with the Army. They shared in many of the customs while living in the tropical paradise. Since returning to the mainland they have always dreamed of entertaining their friends with a luau.

They erected a pool in their backyard this past summer so a swimming luau was first on the agenda. There are many ways of roasting a 51-pound pig but they ended up with a homemade barbecue grill, made from an an old oil

The morning of the party it took Bob and Kathy more than an hour to place the pig wrapped in wire on the grill. After a few minutes over the hot coals the pig caught fire. They were told the cooking time normally was 12 hours but after five hours the meal was completely cooked. Bob cooled down the coals because the guests were not due to arrive for several hours.

Fresh flowers and tiki torches adorned the patio and spacious yard. Bob purchased a carnation lei for Kathy as a special touch to the event. Chi-chi was the house drink for the feast and those guests not in favor of this beverage brought their own refreshments. Hors d'oeuvres were served with a flavor of the islands. The main course consisted of the mouth-watering pork, fresh shrimp, stir-fried rice, corn, fresh fruit and marinated vegetables.

Art Lawrence, Carol Koesel, Bobbi and Mike Ryan, Marilyn and Gary Orthner, Jan and Darrel Brawn, Jim Keller, Diane and Bill Soules, Hank Naasko are a few Canton residents who attended the luau. Ginny and Mike Koon, Margaret Turczi, Sherm and Mary Moore, Chuck and Lorraine Perna along with Shannon and Jim Monro joined in on the fun too.

Shannon and Jim Monro have just opened a business venture with the franchise owned by Bob and Kathy -Precision Tune. We all wish them luck with the new shop.

It was a lovely evening for the hosts and their friends to share a luau in Can-

ONE OF THE LAST pool parties before the autumn sets in was held recently but it was a little unusual. It was a progressive pool party.

Marilyn and Gary Orthner turned the heater on to bring the temperature of the water up to 86 degrees. It was like diving into bath water for the early afternoon crowd.

Carol and Bob Shaw, Joan and Bob Lukes, Nancy and Richard Hale along with Hank and Sandy Naasko were in charge of supplying the before-dinner munchies to the swimmers.

Yes, the water was warm but the chilly night air kept the women away from the pool games. When it was about time for dinner everyone walked two doors away to the home of Bill and Judy Justice.

Tom and Delores Musson, Bill and Sandy Wilson, Will and Pat Richardson, Helen and Mike Wesner were the crew supplying the garnishing for the meal for everyone brought their own steaks.

Bill and Judy have a lovely new pool but very few ventured into the water a second time in the evening. The eggplant parmesean, cabbage salad, steaming fresh vegetables and a few other casseroles along with the steaks supplied everyone a delicious meal.

Jan and Darrel Brawn. MaryJane and Mike Travis, Kathy and Bob Spencer, Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor

Mary and Sherm Moore brought the desserts to add the finishing touch to a perfect dinner. Fresh fruit and luscious sweets were enjoyed by the many par-

Jan Darrel didn't even unlock the ladder to their pool for the men and women just enjoyed the music and dancing for the remainder of the eve-

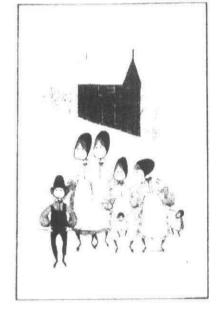

The progressive pool party was a great way to share the course of the summer afternoon with friends. Many of the people live in the Windemere Subdivision and we all know this is the place to go for the best time and the best parties.

With the cool days and chilly evenings, it probably will be nine months until a party such as this is reenacted in Canton.

planned the event, the size of which would doubtless have astounded those who met in the spring of 1931 to found the parish. The three men, Salvio Clemente, James O'Hara and an attorney named Hackett met many obstacles to their effort.

But in August, 1931 the Rev. Gerion Stack consented to become pastor of St. Raphael parish. His first three masses were offered on the second floor of the Folker Building at Ford and Middlebelt, the location today of Orin Jewelers.

Afterwards through the efforts of Ervin Enright, Folker's sales manager, the Stonerock store was obtained rent free for the celebration of services. Others in the community contributed in various ways to make the newly founded parish a success. For example, used car dealer Francis McManus donated an auto to the priests for their transportation.

In 1932 St. Raphael was given parish status. By early 1934 plans were in progress to build a permanent church. The cost seemed astronomical until Florence Cowperthwaite donated land on Merriman, north of Ford on which the first church was built. An activities building, two schools and a convent were also built on the land donated by this benfactress.

WHEN FR. STACK was transferred after eight years, he left behind a wellestablished parish which was next led by the Rev. Anthony Kirchner. His successor in 1944 was the Rev. John Ross, under whose leadership the parish continued to grow.

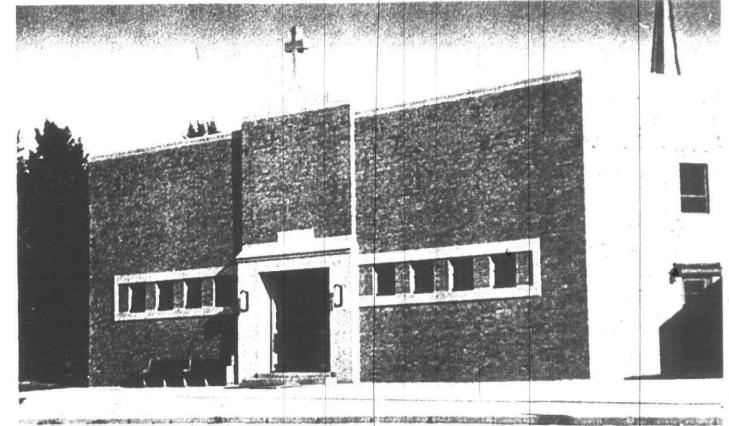

A permanent convent was built in 1952. These buildings replaced two dwellings located on the east side of Merriman, across from the old church, which was later demolished and replaced by a parking lot.

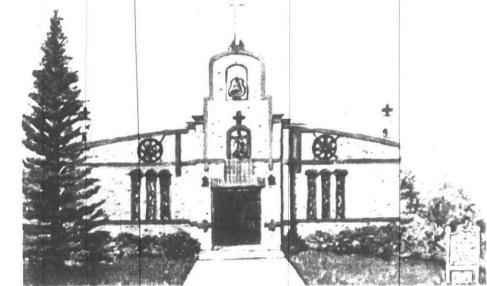

The present church was built in 1954 at a cost of $118,000. It was completed in time to celebrate Christmas Eve mass that year.

Fr. Ross retired in 1966 after 22 years of dedicated service. He was succeeded by the Rev. Edward Kalinowski who died in 1967 shortly after his arrival. For a short time the parish had no pastor. But in the same year the Rev. Charles O'Neill was appointed.

Under his leadership the church was remodeled and additions were made to the rectory.

Today the church has a variety of organizations and clubs to serve the needs of young and old. Religious education is provided for young people through catechism classes. Members regard St. Raphael as a vital part of the community it serves.

The present St. Raphael Catholic Church (above) was built in 1954 at a cost of $118,000. At the right is the earlier church which was built in 1934 for $12,000 and torn down to make room for parking.

Bible class begins another season

The Community Bible Class taught 83 season next Tuesday. by Margaret Hess of Ward Presbyterian Church, Livonia, will begin its 1982-

Margaret Hess Bible teacher

The class meets 9:30-11 a.m. weekly in the church sanctuary.

It draws students from all over this area and a large number of denominations, including Methodist, Baptist, Lutheran, Christian Scientist, Presbyterian, Roman Catholic, Episcopal, Unity and independent Bible churches.

Its teacher has been leading Bible study in this area for more than 30 years. She is the wife of Dr. Bartlett L. Hess, senior minister of Ward Presbyterian Church of Livonia.

In its program, the class goes through the entire Bible in eight years using a course written by Mrs. Hess. Students may join at any point. The format involves small group discussion sessions for the first half hour and then a lesson by the leader.

THIS YEAR the class will study kings and prophets, including the books of Ecclesiastes, Song of Solomon, Jonah and Isiah. The topic for the first session will be "Your Power to Choose," with the text from 2 Chronicles, verses 1-3.

Nancy Adrean of West Bloomfield serves as coordinator for the class, assisted by Lois Chapin of Livonia. Workers in the class now number nearly 100.

The classes are taped each week and Jane Reum of Livonia makes 90 copies of each tape. These are distributed by Marie Jewett of Livonia and a committee which sells some at cost and loans others out to class members and anyone interested.

Some are used by small groups in other part of the country.

Those interested in pre-enrollment may call Chapin, $25-3143. Enrollments also will be taken 20 minutes before the first session.

Study materials will be available for $1. Care is provided for pre-schoolers at all sessions.

THIS TEACHER'S aim is to make the Bible come alive through a study of historical, geographical and archeological backgrounds. The Hesses have visitedbiblical lands seven times and have traveled extensively in Europe and the

Mrs. Hess, author of several books including "Love Knows No Barrier," "Esther: Courage in Crisis," and "Unconventional Women," seeks in the Bible course as well as in the books to apply biblical teachings to everyday situations.

She is listed in Marquis' "Who's Who among American Women" and "Who's Who in the Midwest.'

English city offers wall-to-wall history

There are many ways to see a picturesque, historic city like Chester, England. You can do it alone, guidebook in hand, from the city walls, built by the Romans 1,900 years ago.

You can do it with a guide like Jack Douglass, who can trace his ancestors back to the medieval guilds. Jack still has coffee almost every morning in the

If you are lucky, you'll also have someone like Richard Edwards to give you a modern view of Chester and of neighboring villages like Cristleton, which is mentioned in the Domesday Book. Richard is director and general manager of the Grosvenor Hotel, which is also part of Chester history.

William the Conqueror created the Earldom of Chester Hugh Lupus for "Le Gros Veneur," literally "the Chief Hunter," in 1071, and the Grosvenor family active in English history until another Hugh Lupus Grosvenor became Duke of Westminister in 1874.

The Duke of Westminster's very private castle, just outside of Chester, often hosts Prince Charles, who is, as the first royal son, "Prince of Wales and Earl of Chester.

According to Jack Douglass' wonderfully detailed oral history, the Grosvenor family owns "the hotel, most of Chester and a good part of England."

JACK DOUGLASS looks like he was chosen by central casting as a typical Englishman: white hair, rosy cheeks, tweed jacket, and all. He will show you all the hidden treasures of Chester Cathedral, built around Norman abbey on the site of an ancient Saxon church.

He loves to show the flag that was wrapped around General Wolfe when he died on the Plains of Abraham in Quebec; and the memorial to Frederick Philipse "once the richest man in

He also loves to walk you around the wall, from which you can see the four gates which lead to a cross at the center of town, the tower museums, the famous Row houses with their secondstory footpaths, and the black-andwhite beam and plaster buildings for which Chester is most famous.

From the wall above the Eastgate, Saturday-morning crowds pour down the street under the distinctive black and white building fronts. They flow east and west in the morning sunshine with the rooflines of the old city peaking and spiring in brick and wood against a blue sky. The population of Chester is 60,000 during the week, but the police say that 250,000 come into town in one way or another for Saturday market day.

The tourists in the crowd are probably staying at the Grosvenor Hotel, which is built into the main street in the shadow of Eastgate. The Grosvenor was built in 1865 and is now one of the grand old hotels of England, renovated luxuriously for the comtemporary tra-

The Grosvenor costs approximately $90 a night for two, although it has the same bargain weekends offered by any American hotel that depends on businessmen and hates to be empty on weekends.

What's new in American film? The Classic Film Theatre folks attempt to answer that question by presenting eight new, independently made films in the next four weeks at the Punch & Judy. The CFT describes its fare as "the collective product of a highly diverse group of talented and dedicated regional filmmakers" and explains that one earmark of all the films is a low, low budget.

John Sayles' "Secaucus 7" was made on $60,000, and went on to win numerous awards and critical praise. It's the story of the weekend reunion of seven friends - political activists in their student years - who are now approaching middle age.

"The Dozens" is a film by Christine Dall and Randall Conrad that concerns a young woman, recently released from a correctional facility, who must deal with an infant child, a cocaine-

A fake by Salem's Dawn Johnson sends Canton to take a jump shot during Tuesday's contest, guard Sue Gerke sailing past and allows Johnson which Salem won, 43-26.

Salem soars Quicker Rocks roll past Canton

By C.J. Risak staff writer

New season, new league, one new coach and a new date for the Plymouth Salem-Plymouth Canton girls basketball match-up.

The only thing that didn't change was the outcome, as the Rocks gave Canton the same treatment as in the past, winning by a 43-26 margin Tuesday at Can-

In the not-too distant past, local fans had to wait until the state tournament to see a Salem-Canton pairing. But times change, and so do schedules, coaches and league affiliations.

The Chiefs have ended their season with a loss to Salem in the state district tourney year after year. This season, with the formation of the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA), which Canton and Salem are both members of, it was determined both schools should face each other more of-

BUT THE CHIEFS lacked the experience and quickness to keep pace with Salem Tuesday. With only one starter returning (guard Sue Gerke) and a new coach (Phyllis Cunningham), Canton may need more time to get its game in

As for Salem, it was a slow start and some rough spots to overcome, but the Rocks played the same tough man-toman defense that has become their trademark, and that again was a key factor. The Chiefs were bigger and tried to take advantage of their size by getting the ball inside to center Missy

But the strategy failed under the defensive pressure applied by Salem's Pam McBride. Inside passes became turnovers - Canton finished with a whopping 37 mistakes.

"We've got good quickness, speed and conditioning," said Salem coach Bob Blohm. "And I thought we played good defense. We got good pressure on the ball and McBride did a good job covering Aiken."

Salem was guilty of 24 turnovers, but shot better and held its own on the boards. Canton didn't get a shot at the basket until more than three minutes of girls basketball

the first quarter had expired

SALEM'S DEFENSE throttled the Chiefs offense throughout the first quarter as the Rocks built a 10-1 lead, thanks to six Dawn Johnson points.

The closest Canton got was 12-5 early in the second period on Lou Ann Hamblin's basket. But the Rocks outscored Canton, 9-4, in the remainder of the half to forge to a 22-9 advantage.

The Chiefs never got closer than 11 points the rest of the way.

"We showed how inexperienced our ball club is," admitted Canton coach Cunningham. "We did not play our game. We did not even play the game we played all summer (in leagues).

"But you have to credit Salem. They are a quick ball club, and that's something our team isn't used to."

Cunningham's plan was to move the ball inside because "against a man-toman, that's what we've got to do. But their defense denied us."

Salem's Jacque Merrifield, a senior guard, led all scorers and was the only player in double figures with 11 points. Ann Glomski finished with eight and three players - Michelle Dawson, Mc-Bride and Johnson — each netted six.

Polly Roberts and Hamblin topped the Chiefs with eight points each. Aiken finished with six.

Salem plays at Farmington Harrison tonight at 7:30 p.m. Canton hosts Walled Lake Central at 7:30 p.m. tonight.

Pam McBride (with ball) scored six points and sparked a strong defensive showing by the Rocks.

Prep football preview

Openers test for local teams

By C.J. Risak and Brad Emons staff writers

So, at long last it's arrived.

Football season is here. The preseason scrimmages are memories, as each and every area football squad gears up for another knock-down, helmut-crunching, hardtackling season. Whatever teams do those things the best will emerge at the top of their respective leagues. Which brings us to the "What's New" segment of our first football prediction column. Number one on the list comes under the league category. Last year, there were six different leagues in the Observer area. This season there are three: the Northwest Suburban League (NSL), the Catholic League and the newest entry, the Western Lakes Activities League (WLAA).

the Suburban Eight League (Plymouth Salem and Livonia Bentley) and combined it with Inter-Lakes League (Farmington, Livonia Stevenson and Walled Lake Central) and Western Six League (Farmington Harrison, Livonia Churchill, Plymouth Canton, Northville and Walled Lake Western).

With a playoff system matching division winner against division winner, the WLAA will add some spark to the season's end.

So, what else is new, you ask?

GARDEN CITY, that's what. No East or West, just Garden City. West closed its doors at the end of the last school year and the two schools merged. The team won't be the Tigers (West's nickname) or the Panthers (as East was known). It'll be the Cougars (a compromise choice).

What the consolidation means is that Gar-

The WLAA has picked up the remnants of den City, which will still compete in the NSL, will be much more competitive than it was for the last few seasons - if there is no leftover animosity from the East vs. West

> There are other changes. Livonia Clarenceville's league, the Metro West, has collapsed, so the Trojans are now an independent. And Canton and Salem, the two schools located right next to each other, will meet on the gridiron for the first time ever.

> That game won't be for another week. First, let's see how my co-sports editor, Brad Emons, and myself forsee the weekend's games.

Salem should topple North; Canton-Bentley a tossup

N. FARMINGTON at PLYMOUTH SALEM, 7:30 p.m. Friday — The first meeting between the two schools both which have enjoyed success in the western suburbs.

Coaches around the area say Salem is loaded and deep. A year ago, the junior-dominated Rocks took powerful Dearborn Fordson to overtime before losing.

North Farmington, the defending NSL co-champion, is rebuilding. PICK - Emons knows better, Salem by 12. Risak agrees - it's an off year for

REDFORD UNION at LIVONIA STEVENSON, 7:30 p.m. Friday — RU has lost a lot, but don't count the Panthers out vet. Back is Bob Macek, who gained 700 yards last year as a sophomore and earned All-NSL honors. RU will score, but the defense is a question Stevenson also lost a lot, but Jack Reardon always comes up with something. Quarterback Pete Rose returns and so does target Dan McGinlay, a split end.

The home team has always ruled in this series. Risak says it will again, by a touchdown. Emons sees a slightly wider margin of victory for Stevenson - eight points.

LIVONIA FRANKLIN at LIVONIA champion and winner of eight of nine could be Franklin's year. The Pats are deep, with Rich Popp returning at quarterback and five experienced receivers back. There is also lots of Churchill lost halfback John Bielis, receiver Steve Tracy and quarterback Bill Gavin to graduation. How fast the Chargers develop will be a determining factor to a successful season.

Risak gives Franklin the nod by 13. Emons likes Franklin by 10.

CANTON at BENTLEY, 7:30 p.m. Friday - A pair of 2-7 teams a year ago, both expect to be much improved this season. Bentley is led by linebacker Steve Sapienza, an All-Observer choice in 1981, halfback Keith Percin and quarterback Steve Gregor.

Canton has experienced players returning at 17 of 22 positions, including quarterback Pat Murphy and tight end deluxe Bob Wasczenski. But Canton lacks depth, which means injuries to key players could cripple the Chiefs.

A year ago, Bentley won a close contest. Risak sees Canton this time around by two points. Emons goes with Bentley seven.

WESTLAND JOHN GLENN VS.

WATERFORD, 8 p.m. Friday, Pontiac Silverdome - A nice place to open the season. Look for Glenn, the NSL co-

CHURCHILL, 7:30 p.m. Friday - This games a year ago, to start the season with a victory.

Leading the Glenn assault is running back Todd Jennings, while the defense is anchored by Don Forchione, the Rockets' leading tackler a year ago. Risak says Glenn by 12. Emons also chooses Glenn, by 10.

REDFORD THURSTON at NORTH-VILLE, 7:30 p.m. Friday - Thurston lost almost everyone from a 2-7 team. Still, returning are quarterback Miles Handy, a part-time starter last season, tackle Ed Dumas, center Steve Sersen and back Rich Ochmanski. Can this bunch handle Northville?

Risak says no - Northville by 12. Emons likes Northville by 14.

BISHOP BORGESS vs. RIVER-VIEW, 7:30 p.m. Friday, Garden City High School - With speedsters Ron Gasparotto, Tim Walton and Chuck Gregory returning in the backfield, Borgess' option offense should be explosive. Too tough for Riverview, a Class B team that was 8-1 a year ago. Risak picks Borgess by seven. Emons expects Borgess to win, but by three in GARDEN CITY at MELVINDALE, 7:30 p.m. Friday - Garden City is a team to watch. How well coach Gary Humphrey can combine East and West is the key to the season. He has two quarterbacks with experience: John Romano (with East) and Al Stuypyra (with West). Garden City could surprise a lot of teams. Melvindale won't stop the Cougars, according to Risak, who picks GC by 14. Emons agrees: the Cougars by six.

CLARENCEVILLE at CARLETON AIRPORT, 7:30 p.m. Friday -Clarenceville lost much of its potent backfield but does return Walt O'Dowd, who will play tailback this season. The Trojans grounded Airport in last year's opener, 22-0. Can they repeat this season? No repeat this time, says Risak -Airport by four. Emons thinks Airport will fly to a one-point win.

CATHOLIC CENTRAL vs. TRAV-ERSE CITY, 6 p.m. Saturday at Pontiac Silverdome — Coach Tom Mach compares this year's team with his 1979 Class A champions. Jeff Gatt, Jeff Alcala and Rick Paler lead the offensive backfield. But Traverse City is a tough nut to crack. CC's opener won't be easy. Still, Risak and Emons figure the Shamrocks will prevail by six.

DEARBORN ST. ALPHONSUS vs. REDFORD ST. AGATHA, 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Howard Kraft Field - The senior-laden Aggies (19 of 28 on varsity) return 15 starters from a 7-2 team. John Orzech is back at quarterback, Tracy Tonti returns at fullback and there's lots of size in the trenches. Looks like the Aggies' year. Risak picks St. Agatha by a bundle (20 points at least). Emons goes with Agatha by

Bowler lands a spot on All-America team

Aleta Rzepecki, the young star of the Women's All-Star Leagues, reached another high on her meteoric climb to national prestige when she was named captain of the All-America second team this past week. This is the highest honor that has come to the Detroit-area women and earned her, in the view of the writers and Women's International Bowling Congress (WIBC) officials, mention as the sixthranking member in the country.

The All-America team is selected by a ballot of the bowling writers and is considered the high in the pocket by W.W. Edgar mark of the year. Rzepecki's selection tops a season in which she won the all-events title in the recent WIBC tournament.

In the balloting, four California girls - Donna Adamek, Nikki Gianulias, Pat Costello and Robin Romeo - and Cindy Coburn of Buffalo were firstteam picks. Rzepecki garnered nine first-place votes and 102 second-place ballots to gain her second-team ranking.

ALL RECORDS for the opening night of the All-Star League season were shattered at this year's start. If it is an omen of what to expect in the weeks to come, the entire record book may be rewritten.

In the two-night opener at Thunderbowl and Orchard Lake Lanes, there were six team counts above 3,300 and 17 more than 3,200. On the individual side, 12 all-stars broke the 700 barrier.

Bonanza Enterprise set the team pace with a 3,385, but one night later Goebel tied it. Stroh was just off the pace with a 3,277.

FOR THE FIRST time in its history, the WIBC will have a prize fund exceeding $1 million for its next tournament, scheduled for February. The entry list has reached a record 14,000 teams and is Another tournament every league bowler in the area is eligible for is the Budweiser event. The entry fee is $1, and competitors may use their league score. Dates are yet to be announced.

This is the system started by the March of Dimes in Michigan. Budweiser expects an entry of at least 500,000 bowlers. Half of the entry fee goes to the National Hall of Fame, under construction in St.

THE SEASON may only be a week old, but a pair of 700 series already have been rolled in the mixed classic at Westland Bowl.

Joe Boldizer registered both, posting a 702 series Friday that matched a 702 he bowled a week earlier. Bob Pniewski opened with a 257 en route to a 711 in the Kings and Queens League.

Auto racing: High speed gamble

Ironically, the track in Montreal was named after the late Gilles Villenueve just prior to the race.

And then in late July, Jim Hickman, the 1982 Indianoplis Rookie of the Year, died from injuries sustained in a crash while attempting to qualify for the Provimi Veal, Tony Bentenhaussen 200-mile race at the Wisconsin State Fairgrounds Park.

In three months, death had taken four prominent drivers out of the sport.

Inexperience and driver error were the reasons given for all of the deaths. Smalley and Hickman were relatively young drivers in the Championship Car Circuit that is dominated by older men.

Villeneuve was an experienced driver who, it was said, should have known better, while experts have said that in the case of Paletti's death, an experienced driver would not have made the mistake that cost the Italian his life.

THE FOUR deaths in auto racing has turned 1982 into one of the grimmest years in motor sports history.

But also, I think the deaths have shown that the world of auto racing is reaching a turning point.

The technology that goes into building these racing machines has passed the ability of a man to handle them.

Technology has made it possible to build a car that can go faster than what can be safely manuevered by a man sitting behind the steering wheel. This is what is happening in auto racing today.

The main culprit in this new technology is the use of "ground effects."

The term ground effects means channeling air through the car to actually cause a vacuum that sucks to the car to the racing surface, thus allowing the drivers to go faster through the turns.

Though ground effects don't really add any horsepower or a new top speed, they do allow drivers to go faster in the corners and give the drivers a false sense of security while going through the turns.

The reason men constantly keep pushing themselves and their machines faster and faster is to please the fans. And if you aren't moving forward you are either standing still or going backwards, and either of the latter two is something you don't say in motor racing.

Speed is intoxicating, and the 200 mph mark has become a magic num-

IT HAS been said many times that people only turn out at motor-sport events to see a crash.

I think this is true, in some instances, with the fans. I believe most racing fans like to see crashes but would not like the drivers to get hurt.

The problem with crashing at 200 mph, though, is that drivers do get hurt - seriously hurt.

But one of the enticing aspects of the sport is the imminent danger that if a man makes a mistake while driving, he could pay with his life - the ultimate price.

Area clubs take aim at Stevenson

By Brad Emons and Paul King staff writer

Prep soccer in the western suburbs continues to grow.

Garden City High School will unveil a varsity boys' program for the first time this fall.

Most of the area schools will compete in the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA). It replaces the old Western Suburban Soccer League

The Lakes Division includes Livonia Bentley, Livonia Stevenson, Farmington, North Farmington and Plymouth Salem. Members of the Western Division will be Livonia Churchill, Livonia Franklin, Farmington Harrison, Northville and Plymouth Canton.

Other varsity soccer clubs include Catholic Central and Bishop Borgess (Central Division), Redford Temple Christian (Great Lakes Christian League) and Garden City (independent).

This also the first year that the Michigan High School Athletic Association is sponsoring a statewide tournament.

Last season, Stevenson was runnerup to Troy Athens in a Michigan Soccer Coaches Association state champion-

Here is a preview of this year's area schools.

LIVONIA STEVENSON

It's going to be tough for the Spartans to repeat last year's performance, but coach Pete Scerri thinks it can be

Stevenson was 15-2-1 and won the Blue Division of the WSSL. Five regulars were lost including goalie Ken McDonald and striker Dave Kusza, both All-Observer performers. Returning players include striker Gary Mexicotte, a senior co-captain who scored 32 goals last year en route to All-League and All-State honors. Other returnees include junior Eric Pence, striker; Mike Aulicno, midfielder; junior Dan Divens, defender; Bill Ravenna, halfback and co-captain; Ken Burt, goalie; Louis Broccardo, midfielder; Larry Witkowski, forward; Mark Giordano, forward, Dan Laurie, forward; Wes Karcyznski, defender; Brian Stanley, defender, Dave Wiegel, midfielder.

Coach John Neff, however, was greeted by two new visitors from abroad - Michael Ericksson from Sweden and Eric Hansen from Denmark. Both are seniors.

They will joined by All-Leaguer Paul Newstead, a senior striker; Dave Parr, halfback; Doug Klucevek, midfielder; Chris Cassar, forward; junior Phil Lussier, defender; junior Mike Duckworth, forward; junior John Neff, forward; Rick Ajluni, defender; All-Leaguer John Lectka, defender, junior Chris Rose, forward.

The goalies will be Sam Matovski, a sophomore, and 6-foot-7 John Merner,

"Stevenson is the team to beat," said Neff. "We hope to get off to a good start and win our conference."

PLYMOUTH SALEM

The Rocks started playing on the varsity level last season and finished with a remarkable 10-2 record under coach Ken Johnson.

He lost just three players, but everybody else back.

Seven starters return including goalie Todd Chapman; Ashley Long, defender; Bob Bowling, defender; Paul Weber, midfielder; Jeff Neschich, midfielder; Matt Crook, forward; and Tom Skrobecki, forward.

Newcomers include Catholic Central transfer Randy Johnson, a junior striker, and Dave Varana, a right halfback from Saginaw MacArthur.

Sophomores Steve Moran and Mark Flowers also have a good chance to start, said Johnson.

LIVONIA FRANKLIN

Third-year coach Tom Caranicolas is returning 10 players from a year ago. The best of the bunch this year are Graham Crockford, a junior midfielder; Dan and Dave Cummings, halfbacks; Jim Hasson, midfielder; Greg Makila, midfielder; Matt Kean, defender: Dan O'Shea, midfielder (second team All-League last year); Jim Rhoad, defender; Tom Wagnitz, a sophomore

"All the other teams are always up midfielder; Hamzeh Makki, defender.

Caranicolas hopes improve on last year's 7-6-4 record, the Patriots' best mark in four years.

"It will be tough to catch Churchill and Northville in our division," said the Franklin coach, "but we're going to give it a shot. "We should have some close games this year. We're balanced. We should make a real effort out of it."

Pete Camilleri becomes the youngest coach in the league at 22 years. He replaces Paul Scicluna, who retired after four seasons.

Ten players graduated and eight return. The biggest loss was striker Marty Caves, who scored 20 goals for the Bulldogs made All-League and secondteam All-State.

Second-team All-League pick Brian Schonfield, a midfielder, returns along with junior midfielder Abe Yaffai; Pete Lomas, forward; Eugene L. Pulice, defender; Eugene R. Pulice, sophomore forward; Martin Clark, forward; Bill Benson, defender: Raffi Tufenkjian, midfielder; Dennis Patchett, forward. The Pulice's are cousins, not brothers.

Camilleri admits his team is very young. The Bulldogs open tonight at Churchill. Game time is 7.

"We'll have to run and hustle," said the rookie coach. "We could surprise a few teams on our schedule."

PLYMOUTH CANTON

The Chiefs, coached by Tony Lonigro, won five of nine games last season. Four players were lost, but returning are nine starters: Tom Wright, a junior forward; Eddie Hintz, forward; Mike Jennings, junior midfielder; Bob Brusa, midfielder, John and Jim Luce, junior forwards; Mike Funkhouser, defender;

Wade Higgason, forward; Scott Cherry, midfielder, Tim McFarland, midfield-

Two foreign exchange students will also help Lonigro - Jonas Palm from Sweden, a good dribbler, and Juha Halminen, a forward from Finland. Freshman Bryan Whiteley, a forward, is also expected to contribute right away.

Canton is carrying 24 players this year. Forty-eight competed for spots.

"We believe we'll be a better and stronger team this fall," said the second-year coach. "Our midfield is much improved from 1981. We were a good first-half team, but in the second half we went down."

CATHOLIC CENTRAL

Twelve players return from last year's 14-5 squad.

Ten graduated. The most notable loss was All-Observer choice Joe Moreau, who tied a Shamrock school record with 28 goals.

All-Catholic League junior goaltender Bob Sinnaeve, however, returns along with Bob Orlowski, Steve DeMattos, Dan Fitzpatrick, Troy Collareno, Rick Longuski, Con Griffin, Don Guss, Tom Cornille, Mike Pinkelman, Dan Scharpf and Matt Dosmann. CC, coached by Bill Thrasher, will compete in the Central Division along with Detroit DeLaSalle, Harper Woods Notre Dame, Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher, Birmingham Brother Rice and Redford Bishop Borgess. "We're going to be quick to the ball," said Thrasher. "Our shooting is much improved from last year. We could set another record in goal scoring this Thrasher said Notre Dame and De-LaSalle are the top contenders along with his team for the league crown.

First-year coach Rich Misialowski, a 1973 Borgess grad, takes over an inexperienced varsity squad.

The Spartans are rebuilding this fall and hope to be a contender in two years, according to the goals of the new

Five players figure to contribute right away. They include Mike Forest, a senior midfielder; Bill Brown, a senior striker; and two freshman - Mike Cigler and Larry Piult. Junior Joe Burns will be the goaltender.

The Spartans will carry 18 underclassmen along with six seniors.

Misialowski's other goal is to improve on last year's dismal 3-7 record.

GARDEN CITY

"I get an education every time I go out for practice," said Gary Prevo, the coach who is launching Garden City's first varsity team.

"These guys have all played recreation soccer, but this is a different brand," he added. "We have excellent talent and we'll be a well balanced team."

Senior Cary Even is the team captain. Juniors Scott Gromacki and Andy Muglia serve as assistant captains. Seniors Ron Adolf, Frank Gentile and Sam Falk are expected to provide added leadership. Craig Skinner is the goaltender for the Cougars.

"Our strengths are our back positions and also our cross halfbacks," said Prevo. "I feel confident about our defense. Our forward line is also coming along." Garden City will compete as an independent during its first year of play. "I think we'll be competitive with the teams on our schedule," Prevo said. "I think we'll have a team for Stevenson to look out for."

coach Jim George went into Tuesday's opener seeking some offense.

His worst fears were quickly erased as the Spartans put together a balanced scoring attack to surprise host Redford Thurston, 46-44.

"I'm really happy to open and go away with one like that," said the elated George, whose team won only five games last season.

Forward Debbie Jurczyszyn led the Spartans with 15 points. Center Sherry Evans added 11 points and 10 rebounds. Bev Irwin and Dhana Ponners added 10 and eight points, respectively.

Mary Kress, a sophomore pointguard, paced Thurston and all scorers with 19. Laurie Mack chipped in with

The difference came in the second quarter as Stevenson outscored the Eagles, 17-3. Irwin, a guard, registered three steals and converted them into layups while Evans added eight points during the surge.

"We made the outside shots but couldn't hit the layups," said Thurston coach George Heger, whose team is expected to make a run at the Northwest

Suburban League crown this fall. Thurston had a chance to win the Livonia Stevenson girls' basketball game in the final seconds, but was unable to convert a layup.

The Bulldogs broke away from a 22-13 halftime lead to win going away Tuesday at Bentley. Senior forward Kim Archer took charge with 21 points and 20 rebounds. Sophomore Lonnie Payne may have earned a starting spot as she came off the bench to contribute nine points and five steals. Sheri Wolfe, another 10th grader, added seven. Kathy Storvis and Brenda Peer paced RU with eight and six, respec-

Churchill had a chance to win it in the final seconds, but Amy Brow's 18foot shot rimmed in-and-out as the Patriots held on for the win in a game dominated by turnovers Tuesday at Franklin.

Sue Johnson, a junior forward, led Franklin and all scorers with 16 points, 12 coming in the first half. Senior center Cathy Baringhaus chipped in with Three players tallied eight points each for Churchill - Brow, Patty Schmidt and Toni Richardson. Kelly Janes added six.

The fast-breaking Patriot squad, playing its first game under rookie coach Tim Newman, jumped out to a 10-0 lead at the outset before Churchill bounced back to cut margin to one at the end of first quarter.

Franklin hit eight of 10 free throws compared with Churchill's seven of 13.

Turnovers also cost Bishop Borgess a victory in its season opener Tuesday at Wyandotte Mt. Carmel.

The Spartans took a 26-17 halftime lead only to have Mt. Carmel, a Class D school, roar back in the third quarter to take a one-point advantage. The Comets then outscored Borgess 15-11 in the final period.

"We had too many (turnovers)," said Borgess coach Denise Zatkoff. "We tried to rush it too much in the third quarter."

Julie Burton, a senior forward, had 18 points and 13 rebounds in a losing cause. Ann Biscup, a junior center, added 11 points and 13 rebounds.

Alicia Kowalski and Edie Lukas paced the winners with 14 and 12, respectively.
