Canton seeks park grant

By Arlene Funke
staff writer

Canton may get a helping hand from Uncle Sam to spruce up the new recreation complex being developed behind Township Hall.

The township board last week gave the go-ahead to apply for a $36,500 federal grant. The funds would be used to develop a creative play center, softball field, fencing, a parking lot and landscaping at the township-owned park next to the administration building on Canton Center near Proctor.

"We won't know until the end of summer if we get (the funds)," said recreation superintendent Mike Gouin.

The project already is part of the township's long-range recreation plan. The estimated cost for the work is $73,000.

Under the grant arrangement, Canton would be reimbursed for half the cost of the work, or $36,500. The township could pay the remaining comparable portion from general federal revenue-sharing funds, said finance director Mike Gorman.

"I think it should be emphasized this is to improve the facilities we presently have," said Supervisor James Poole.

THE GRANT is part of a $3.6 million chunk of federal money being allocated to Michigan municipalities for recreation related projects, officials say.

Township officials last week submitted a grant application to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, which is disbursing the federal funds. The monies will come from a federal Land and Water Conservation Fund which has made no grants during the Reagan administration, Carroll said.

The idea of grants being given in the face of government deficits and increased taxes is a "sick joke," said trustee Steve Larson. But he defended the grant application.

"I can consider going after the grant," Larson said. "There is cost associated, but it's a bargain. We were going to do (the project) anyway. That's our (federal tax) money, to begin with."

ACCORDING TO Carroll, the original appropriation was slated at $2.3 million. However, an additional $1.3 million was tacked on under an Emergency Jobs Bill appropriation signed into law a couple of weeks ago.

Carroll believes projects which provide employment may have an advantage. The winners probably will be announced in mid-August, and the money allocated in October, Carroll said.

"It's going to depend on who else applies," Carroll added. "Since the money hasn't been spent for two years, there will be a lot of applications."

Layoffs pending for 54 teachers

By Sandra Armbruster
editor

Wayne-Westland school board members were expected to lay off 54 teachers in a special Wednesday meeting. The special meeting was required to comply with contractual requirements for notifying teachers of layoff.

While the district is expected to have at least four fewer administrators, none were expected to be placed on layoff Wednesday.

The teachers are being laid off because of the decline in student enrollment. The board recently voted to close three schools — Tinkham, Washington and McKee elementaries — also because of declining enrollment and the poor state of the economy.

Enrollment in the district has dropped from a peak of 23,916 in 1971 for kindergarten through 12th grades to the current level of 16,817.

There still are 89 teachers on layoff from previous years. The current layoff affects teachers with as many as 10 years of seniority in the district.

Gary Matsche, executive director of employee relations, said this year's layoff is less severe than in past years. He said in terms of seniority, the staff cuts are "less deep than last year." Three of the teachers laid off last year aren't on this year's list.

Teachers may now be reassigned, according to certification, as needed. Programs such as a buddy system have been used in past years to ease teachers' transitions to new buildings.

Although the district has helped teachers with job searches in past years, Matsche said that since the same people are being laid off this year as have gone through job-search programs offered in past years, the district will limit its programs to those teachers who are reassigned in new schools.

THE BOARD Monday night approved four administrators for inclusion in its "early exit plan." The plan is similar in principle to an early retirement plan used to encourage longtime teachers to retire, making way for younger, less costly instructors. The early exit plan pays half an administrator's salary for two years plus fringe benefits such as health and dental coverage.

Free cheese, milk

The Salvation Army Corps in Plymouth is distributing surplus cheese and dry milk for the U.S. Department of Agriculture to residents of Canton, Plymouth and Northville. Canton's Marie Turri was among the first to collect a five-pound box of cheese last week. The food is being given away from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on a first-come, first-served basis Monday through Friday as long as supplies last. Eligibility is determined by need. Requirements are based on household size and income, starting with a maximum income of $5,850 for one person and rising to $15,475 for a family of six. The distribution program in Wayne County received a boost last week when the UAW donated $10,000 for a van to make deliveries. The Salvation Army, on Main Street south of Ann Arbor Road, also maintains a food pantry to help families in need.

Paving project rolls on

By Arlene Funke
staff writer

The long-discussed Haggerty Road paving project in Canton's industrial corridor is finally getting off the ground.

The township plans to pave a 1½ mile portion of Haggerty from Ford Road north to Koppernick, in hopes of attracting more industry and improving the tax base. The project has been discussed off-and-on for more than two years.

If all goes well, the storm drains will be in place and the paving completed by spring 1984, predicts economic growth coordinator Dave Nicholson.

"Right now, we're far enough along to demonstrate this is what our (Township Board) wants to do," Nicholson said. "We have to have everything in tight order. We're in a pretty good position now."

THE COST is estimated at $2.7 million for the installation of storm drains and paving, Nicholson said.

The township plans to finance the project by selling revenue bonds, in anticipation of collecting special assessments from the property-owners with frontage on Haggerty, Nicholson said. The assessments will be for a 10-year period.

Additional contingency fees and finance costs will amount to $215,000, Nicholson said.

There are about 250 acres of property fronting on Haggerty in the affected area, half of which belongs to Canton Township, Nicholson said. A large chunk of property belongs to industrial developer Joe Bloch, who supports the project.

Musicians tune into plan for helping unemployed

By M.B. Dillon Ward
staff writer

Retirement, in the sedentary sense of the word, doesn't rest well with Canton's Bruce and Elsie Young.

Nor does pessimism about the country's economic malaise.

Bruce, 63, who retired from Chrysler Corporation's missile division, and his wife decided to travel throughout the United States fighting a crusade against unemployment.

The Youngs founded "Employment Crusade U.S.A.," a non-profit corporation intending to promote concert tours — the revenue from which will be given to employers who hire laid-off and unemployed workers.

The couple's initial venture will arrive Sunday in the form of a concert at the Center Stage in Canton. A rock and roll band called Teezer (lead guitarist Rick Young is Bruce and Elsie's son) and Stone Country, a bluegrass group, will entertain at 2 and 8 p.m. Sunday, and at 8 p.m. Monday.

ADMISSION IS $5. Tickets are being sold by area businesses, restaurants and churches and by Canton Treasurer Maria Sterlini, high school students, and local senior citizen activist Gene Reeves.

According to the crusade's strategy, employers adding workers to their payrolls will be paid 20 percent of the employees' base pay three months after their hiring. Concert proceeds raised by Employment Crusade U.S.A. will be placed into an interest-bearing bank account by a local non-profit group, such as the chamber of commerce, which will be entrusted with screening employers and making the awards, said Bruce Young. He plans to promote concerts across Michigan and then throughout the nation.

Musicians will be reimbursed for expenses, while technicians, light, sound and road crews will be paid, he added.

"It won't be very much, but they'll be paid," Young said.

"WE'RE BUYING THE air time and paying for the advertising to produce the shows, and we'll furnish the public address system and the electronics."

Already, some nationally prominent musicians have heard about the crusade and want to participate in it, said Young, declining to name his supporters.

Some Canton businesses, including a bank, want to sign up right away, he added.

"I'm a gambler," explained the Texas native. Young lives on a fixed income and already has spent a lot to launch the crusade.

"Just about everyone I talk to is negative about the economy and business in general. I can't stand being around negative people. I like to leave them with something very positive and something to look forward to."

RESEARCH YOUNG CONDUCTED has fueled his confidence.

"On a national basis, we have the realistic potential of creating $200 million annually. We'd be directly instrumental in employing between 250,000 and 300,000 new employees each year.

"We have millions of dollars going out of the state in concerts each year. We can't recapitulate something that's disappeared, but this whole program is a community local thing involving employers in different locations across the country."

Company officials from Miller and Strohs breweries are enthused about the project, Young said.

"Both can see how it will mushroom. The Miller High Life people flew a representative in for a long meeting with me today. They can't act fast enough to help me."

Patrons of Employment Crusade U.S.A.'s inaugural event this weekend will hear Teezer's Keith Johnstone, former drummer with Ted Nugent and the Amboy Dukes, and Brazilian singer Joe Conrad as well as the junior Young on guitar.

The Center Stage is on Ford east of I-275.

Planners tackle waste issue

land use

Fourth in a series of articles about development of western Canton. This article was prepared with information provided by the township's planning department.

Many areas of the country are grappling with the after effect of earlier policies which polluted and harmed land and water.

Western Canton is largely undeveloped and sparsely populated. Officials, who are developing a new land-use plan for the western half of the township, must also face environmental issues as they formulate new policies.

POOR PLANNING can take several forms, officials say:

- Surface waters and ground waters may become polluted by the improper handling or treatment of residential, industrial or agricultural wastes.

- Paved areas which don't absorb storm water, increase the amount of water entering natural or man-made drainage systems, resulting in flooding of land or basements.

In addition, many of Canton's existing storm drainage facilities were developed during the 1920s for agricultural purposes, and don't have the capacity to serve a fully urbanized area.

Solid-waste disposal is another thorny issue, planners say. The heavy clay which is found in much of Canton's soil prevents the seepage of wastes into groundwater, making the township a likely site of waste disposal facilities.

THE STATE has assumed much of the authority for regulating waste disposal facilities. Township officials will have to consider how landfill sites can be reused (recreation or public open space) after dumping operations cease.

Changing energy needs will be an important aspect of new development in western Canton.

"Recycling of solid waste in the township should be increased," said planner James Kosteva. "Such a policy would reduce roadside litter, save energy and reduce the need and cost of operating township landfills."

According to planners, land-use regulations can be designed to protect ground water, reduce flooding and protect natural areas, and reduce noise and air pollution.

PUBLIC HEARINGS on changes in the master plan for western Canton have been scheduled for 7:30 p.m.,

Monday, May 23 at the Cherry Hill United Methodist Church on Ridge south of Cherry Hill; and at 7:30 p.m., Monday, June 13 in Township Hall.

Both hearings will be conducted by the planning commission, and public comments are encouraged.

"Environmental factors need to be balanced with economic objectives in formulating land use patterns for promoting economic growth," Kosteva said. "Giving adequate weight to environmental factors will help ensure that the basic goals for protection and preservation of natural assets are respected through the decision-making process."

Cable officials blast performance report

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

Omnicom cablevision officials have denied allegations of non-compliance with Plymouth Township's cable ordinance made recently by a township attorney.

Peter Newell, an Omnicom spokesman said the attorney's report contained "misinformation."

Newell's point-by-point rebuttal was followed up with a letter written by Betsy Seeley, Omnicom vice president and general manager.

The attorney's report, written by Angelo Plakas, incorporated a report from the Canton Cable TV Committee.

Points raised in the Canton report "in large measure also apply to Omnicom's performance, or lack thereof, in Plymouth Township," Plakas wrote.

"There were references to the Canton report. We are fulfilling all commitments to that community," Newell said. "I believe Canton is satisfied with the service they are receiving."

Plakas accused Omnicom of being "deficient in providing and making available perimeter security, fire

The congregation which worships weekly at Fairground and Ann Arbor Trail will have a new place of worship starting Sunday.

The Salvation Army has established a community center to serve the Plymouth-Canton community.

New beginning marked Sunday

The Salvation Army will dedicate its new headquarters Sunday at 9451 S. Main between Joy Road and Ann Arbor Road.

The dedication service will begin at 3 p.m. Sunday.

An open house will be held all day Saturday so members of the public may stop by and tour the new facilities.

The Plymouth Salvation Army Corps has invested approximately $500,000 into renovating the former Main Street Baptist Church and building an addition to the former church building.

The new headquarters includes a chapel, meeting and recreation rooms, a gymnasium, kitchen and dining area, and offices.

The former church building contains a multi-purpose room, and kitchen with the lower level having a craft room, adult meeting room, and nursery. The addition behind the former church includes a recreation/gymnasium area and the meeting room.

"Our new building will enable us to serve more people in the Plymouth-Canton area with our present services and to introduce some new programs in the future," said Captain William Harfoot, co-commander along with wife Susan.

NEW PROGRAMS added in recent months include the Salvation Army acting as a clearing house during the holiday season for Canton and Plymouth groups collecting food and clothing for needy. The Salvation Army also functions as the distribution center for surplus cheese and milk for eligible Canton and Plymouth residents.

Corps officers participating in Sunday's dedication service will be Col. and Mrs. John Paton, chief secretary of the Central Territory for the Salvation Army, and Lt. Col. and Mrs. Harold Shoultz, divisional commander of Eastern Michigan Division.

Music for the prelude will be furnished by the Brass Ensemble of the Dearborn Heights Corps, music from the Plymouth Tiberists from Dearborn Heights, a solo "Bless This House" by Dr. Mary Lou Durbin, and benediction by 35th District Judge Dunbar Davis.

Other participants will include Harold Head of Plymouth, Roger Haslick of Canton, Lt. Col. Raymond Carroll, Harold Fischer of the property committee, Donald Bidwell of Mardon Construction Company, Capt. Harry Brock-sieck, and Corps Sergeant Major Claude Shisler.

Haslick is chairman of this year's Advisory Board with Fischer as vice chairman and Don Sutherland as treasurer. Other members include Terry Carroll, Debbie O'Connor, Dominic Cirino, Donald Franconeur, Head, James Jabara, Carl Lampton, Cindy Merri-field, Larry Miller, Gene Overholt, Frank Palmer, Betty Pint, Richard Raison, Win Schrader, William Sliger, and Dr. A.E. Van Ornum.

Salvation Army's history intermeshed with community

The Salvation Army in Plymouth was organized in February 1929 by Florence and Frank Wright who were sent to form a corps here after graduating from the Salvation Army Training Corps in Chicago.

The first meeting place was on Pennington across from Kellogg Park. With the help of William Eaton, the Wrights got together a 10-piece brass band which gave concerts every Saturday night in Kellogg Park.

The Eaton family lived on Joy Road in what is now Westland. Another charter member besides William Eaton was Harvey Thomas who was born on a farm in Northville but has lived in Plymouth for some 75 years. He held the rank of sergeant major in the local corps for more than 40 years.

The first regular meeting place for the Corps was on Main Street above what is now Armbruster's Bookery. The second meeting place was on Pennington facing the Park, and then in a meeting hall acquired from the Assembly of God Church at 281 Union next to the Grange Hall.

THE HEADQUARTERS at Fairground and Ann Arbor Trail was built in 1952 by Captain William Roberts at a cost of $23,000. The new site on Main between Joy and Ann Arbor Road was built for some $600,000 this year.

Most of the 28 officers who have headed the corps here since its inception 54 years ago have served for a relatively short time. Four who remained here for at least five years are Captain Roberts, 1947-53; Major Harliff Nicholls and Major Ernest Hammer, five years each; and Captain William Harfoot who arrived here in June 1976.

One of the mainstays of the Salvation Army has been its advisory boards which started in the 1890s but flourished after World War II. They consist of local residents who volunteer their time, financial support, advice and encouragement to those who are on "active duty."

Advisory board members in Plymouth during the Army's early years included Fred Schrader and Dr. A.E. Patterson with early donors being Charles Bennett and Ed Hough of Daisy Manufacturer.

A life member of the advisory board, and longtime corps backer here was Frank Henderson, former mayor and industrialist for the city of Plymouth and industrialist. He was chairman of the board when the Citadel on Fairground was built.

Other long-time members of the Advisory Board include Bob Willoughby, Perry Richwine, Carl Lampton, Clarence Moore, Alice Gebhardt, Lillian Roe, Margaret Dunning, Nell Currie, Myrilla Schrader, Dr.

R.R. Barber, Ted Kuckelman, L.W. Ottenhoff, Thomas Hackney, and Elizabeth Mather, Don Sutherland, and Harold Head.

KAI JABARA chaired the capital funds campaign to raise the $500,000 for the new headquarters on Main. That goal was exceeded, during tight economic times, by some $20,000. Chairman of the Advisory Board when the fund drive started was William C. Sliger, then publisher of Sliger Home Newspapers in Northville.

Other Advisory Board members were: Richard Raison, vice chairman; Ann Taylor, secretary; Sutherland, treasurer; Harold Fischer, Roger Haslick, Head, James Jabara, Mrs. George Johnson, Lampton, Gene Overholt, Frank Palmer, Edwin A. Schrader, Jr., and Dr. A.E. Van Ornum.

Working with Jabara on the capital funds campaign steering committee were Head, vice chairman, Robert Barbour, Leo Calhoun, Ken Currie, Angelo DiPonio, Fischer, Dr. Gary E. Hall, Haslick, Kenneth Hulsing, Jabara, Johnson, Lampton, James McKeon, Palmer, Raison, Sliger, Mrs. Robert Taylor, and Van Ornum.

The Salvation Army distributes food and clothing to needy persons, provides assistance to transients, is on hand with coffee and food for firefighters at major fires, regularly visits the elderly in homes and convalescent centers, visits hospitals and jails, offers family services, and provides weekly religious services.

Last Christmas the corps was the central clearing house for groups in Canton and Plymouth which donated food and clothing for the needy. The corps also sponsors a day camp and resident camp.

Youth programs include the Sunbeams for girls 6-10, Girls Guards for girls 11-18, Boy's Club for boys 6-15, a Teen Club, Nursery School, and music programs.

Court exam Thursday for crash death case

A preliminary examination in 35th District Court will be at 10:30 a.m. Thursday for a Plymouth Township woman charged in the traffic death of a Canton man last January.

Jeanne Kozlarski, 37, of Turtlehead is charged with manslaughter with a motor vehicle. Lawrence Konkol, 33, of Canton died of injuries suffered when his car collided with Kozlarski's vehicle on Ford Road Jan. 27.

According to tests, Kozlarski's blood registered an alcohol content of 0.19, police said. A reading of 0.10 is legally intoxicated.

THE PRELIMINARY examination determines if there is sufficient evidence for the case to be bound over to Wayne County Circuit Court for a trial. Kozlarski's attorney requested a delay in the preliminary examination, which normally is held shortly after arraignment, police said.

Kozlarski remains free on bond. She stood mute at her earlier arraignment and the court entered a not-guilty plea in her behalf.

Manslaughter with a motor vehicle carries a maximum penalty of 15 years in prison upon conviction.

Applications due Friday for honor

The search is on for Canton's Small Business Person of the Year. Nominees are being accepted through tomorrow by the contest's sponsor, the Canton Chamber of Commerce.

Canton residents are encouraged to "think small" in scouting the area for the business person who has best exemplified staying power, innovation and initiative, entrepreneurship, strength in adversity and community involvement.

The winner of the newly created award will be announced May 11 at the Chamber's quarterly membership meeting. The award ceremony will coincide with Small Business Week, to be celebrated throughout the United States May 9-13.

Frank A. McMurray, Small Business Week chairman for the Canton Chamber, is accepting applications at 5773 Canton Center, Canton 48187. He can be reached at 455-7272.

"We feel this is a great opportunity for the residents and other organizations to compliment our business community," said Chamber President Jack Koers.

For information from the Canton Chamber of Commerce, call 453-4040.

alarm, medical and emergency alert services to subscribers.

The franchise ordinance didn't require the security services from the start, according to Seely.

"The ordinance does require two-way capability, which we have had in place," he said.

HOWEVER, A handicapped resident attending the meeting, said he bought cable service based on an Omnicom salesman's promise that the security and medical alert system was being offered.

"The security system is in the process of being provided," Newell said. "By July 1 we expect to have an agreement finalized with a major security company."

"We have a definite timetable. We didn't initiate this when the cable system was first built for a number of reasons," he said.

Those reasons included the unreliability of a new cable system and the high cost of installing alarm wires in a home.

Township Supervisor Maurice Breen said although the cable ordinance didn't require the security systems from the start, Omnicom promised it from the beginning.

"There's no question if it was promised initially, the point is there are reasons why it wasn't put in right at the start," Newell said.

Plakas' report also accused the company of failing to provide FM stereo services to subscribers.

Although the ordinance doesn't mention FM services, Omnicom started providing that service this month, Newell said.

Charging subscribers $15 to disconnect premium-pay services contradicted Omnicom's promise to "radiate community goodwill," Plakas wrote.

The downgrading fee "is not a rate over which the local governing bodies have jurisdiction," Newell said.

LOCAL GOVERNMENTS can control charges for basic service, installation charges, second set charges and charges for remote control converters, he said.

Omnicom should pay Plymouth Township $200,000 with 11-percent interest, since it made a $200,000 prepayment of franchise fees to Canton in 1979, Plakas said.

"Just because we paid $200,000 to Canton and Plymouth Township now wants $200,000 just doesn't make sense to us," Newell said.

"The $200,000 would pay for more franchise fees than would be paid in 15 years (the duration of Omnicom's franchise)," he said.

Plymouth Township was offered a $45,500 prepayment based on subscriber counts in Canton and Plymouth Township in June 1982, Omnicom calculated the $45,500 payment using a per subscriber formula.

"Yet, the Canton payment was paid prior to when there were any subscribers in Canton," Breen said.

As for the company records that Plakas recommended the township ask for, Newell said they were available.

"In addition, we have stated to the township cable task force, and will repeat, that we would be happy to show the board our books," Seely said.

Pink slips for 54

While the four early exits are expected to cost the district from $130,000 to $150,000, Deputy Superintendent for Instruction Dennis O'Neill said the district actually will save money.

"The district will save that amount because it won't replace the administrators," he said, adding that the plan allows younger administrators, who otherwise would have been laid off, to stay in the district.

Although he admitted that the district really will begin saving money when the partial salary payments end in two years, O'Neill said the payments allow the district to avoid having to pay about $8,000 in unemployment compensation for each of the four administrators.

The resolution approved by the board allows six administrators to take advantage of the early exit plan. Four have done so, and O'Neill said there is "a lot of interest and discussion" among other administrators, who have until May 1 to decide.

THOSE WHO are leaving the district under the plan are Georgina Ceresznye, 39, an executive assistant to the superintendent; John Dascenzo, 32, principal of Vandenberg Elementary School, who is eligible for retirement benefits at age 55 since he already has 30-years in education; Jim Sutcliffe, 61, executive director of school plant planning; and Adolph Felan, 55, superintendent of operations.

O'Neill said that although Ceresznye had been offered a job with the state department of commerce, she would have felt difficulty in accepting it without the exit plan payments because the job's "pay initially isn't up there."

The resolution paying the four to leave the district was passed by a four-three vote Monday night after a controversy arose over whether an earlier approval was legal.

Coming of age

Haggerty paving untracked at last

Most of the land is undeveloped. Officials believe the eventual blossoming of industry depends on sturdy, Class A roads, good drainage systems and access to nearby freeways.

"Improvements will open up other areas (in the vicinity)," Nicholson said.

ORIGINALLY, PLANS called for Haggerty to be paved all the way from Ford to Joy. But the project was cut back to Koppernick after property-owners in nearby floodplain areas protested.

According to Nicholson, some of the costs for engineering services and studies are being absorbed by the Wayne County Road Commission, which owns Haggerty.

Individual property assessments were approved by the Township Board last week. Canton's portion of the cost probably will be taken from the capital improvements fund, Nicholson said.

The Township Board has selected First of Michigan Corporation as the firm to sell the revenue bonds. The project must first be reviewed and approved by the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission in Lansing.

Bids will be going out in the next few weeks for the drainage work, Nicholson said.

While those plans go forward, the township will consider establishing a tax-abatement district in the Haggerty Road corridor. Under such a plan, a firm could apply for a long-term reduction in property taxes as an inducement for building in Canton.

A public hearing on the tax-abatement issue will be April 26 in Township Hall.

Nicholson said construction could be hampered by shortages in materials and labor and delays with engineering work and bad weather.

"All of those things that are typically problems in construction could be problems here," Nicholson said. "That's a concern because there will be more than our job starting at that time."

Blanchard recall wins green light

By Carol Azizian
staff writer

The campaign to recall Gov. James J. Blanchard is gaining momentum, according to the Grosse Pointe Woods engineer who won the legal right this week to launch the drive.

"Support for this is spreading like a bonfire," said John Lauve, a former Republican legislative candidate.

Lauve and the recall supporters are angry about the recently passed 38-percent state income tax increase. Lauve is spearheading what is believed to be the first recall aimed at the governor's office.

"WE HAVE about 200 volunteers already, but we need at least 500 before we can begin circulating petitions," Lauve said.

Lauve already has appointed more than 10 chairpersons from various counties to lead local efforts. He's moving ahead with plans for a rally he hopes will draw 5,000 supporters.

And he's calling T-shirts that say "Recall Blanchard" to raise money for his campaign.

Lauve admits he faces an uphill battle. But he remains undaunted by the monumental task of gathering 760,000 valid signatures (25 percent of the 3,040,000 total votes garnered by 1982 gubernatorial candidates). He must collect the signatures within 90 days to get the recall on the ballot.

"If we can organize this and get enough volunteers, there's no question Blanchard will be the ex-governor by November," he said.

LAUVE RECEIVED approval for the wording of his petition Monday from the Oakland County Election Commission. Under state law, the Oakland body had jurisdiction because Blanchard is an Oakland resident.

The election commission conducted the hearing before more than 50 recall supporters — some of whom came from as far away as Saginaw. The three-member panel consists of Clerk Lynn Allen, Treasurer C. Hugh Doherty and chief Probate Judge Norman R. Barnard.

Blanchard can appeal the commission's decision in Oakland County Circuit Court within 10 days. The governor's press secretary, Sue Carter, said he hasn't made that decision yet.

Blanchard, who was represented by a Lansing attorney at Monday's hearing, had requested the hearing be delayed because he didn't have enough time to study the petition.

The governor was away on a Caribbean Island vacation when the petition was filed on April 14, said Tom Downs, the attorney.

BUT THE election commission ignored the request. The commission said Lauve could move ahead with his efforts because his petition was clearly worded.

The petition says the governor "originated and then signed into law the 38-percent income tax increase."

Persons interested in signing petitions or volunteering for the recall campaign may enclose their name, address and phone number in a self-addressed, stamped envelope and mail it to John Lauve, 963 Hampton, Grosse Pointe Woods, 48238.

LAUVE CALLED Downs' arguments misleading because it blames the governor for the income tax increase. In addition, Downs said, the recall document suggests that the tax increase was frivolous and unnecessary.

"It doesn't say anything about the legislature's role," Downs said. "It confuses voters because it gives the impression that if he hadn't done this, everything would be all right."

"It's a case of the messenger giving the bad news to the king and getting his head chopped off," Downs said.

LAUVE CALLED Downs' arguments immaterial. "Those are all side issues," he said. "I could think of 50 reasons myself why he signed the tax increase."

"The point is that this petition is clear, specific and simple," Lauve added. "It's a question of whether the people pay the bills sent down by the governor or live within the means of increased taxes."

All the recall supporters agreed. Susan Katz of Union Lake said the petition was so clearly worded that her eighth-grade son understood it.

When Downs suggested the Katz boy may not be attending school if taxes weren't increased, many of the recall supporters booed.

SOME SUPPORTERS — who had taken a half-day off work to attend the hearing — were angry that the governor requested a delay.

"I was able to put important issues aside to come here," said Linda Smith of Marine City. "I'm sorry the governor couldn't make it, but we did."

Added her husband, Richard Smith: "The voters can make a decision about this recall on their own. We don't need to wait for a bureaucratic ploy from the governor to delay the process."

Recall supporter Marion Larson of Grosse Pointe told the election commission that Lauve's efforts were gaining momentum throughout the state.

Larson, treasurer of a new group called Tired of Taxes, said her organization won the support of more than 1,000 taxpayers last month.

"We had an information booth at Oakland Mall. Within two days, more than 1,000 people were prepared to join our movement. Many people feel the same way as you do," she told Lauve.

Anti-tampering law proposed

A law which would make the poisoning of any food or medicine product offered for sale a felony offense has been introduced in the Michigan House.

Any such tampering would be a crime punishable by life imprisonment, says State Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, who is a co-sponsor of the bill. Law's 36th District includes Canton and Northville.

The bill comes after the poisonings last September of several Chicago area residents who died after taking contaminated Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules.

"After the Tylenol scare, it is clear that lawmakers must take steps to prevent future poisonings," said Law.

"Every consumer and grocery retailer can be affected by these pranks. By enacting tough legislation we will make it clear that future tamperings will not be condoned."

Law said the development of tamper resistant packaging will cost manufacturers between $20 and $40 billion annually. "Even an isolated case of tampering can destroy a company's reputation and cost manufacturers and customers millions. When you consider the millions plus the tragic loss of life that can occur from such an incident, I believe that stiff penalties should be put on the books."

The bill has been referred to the House Judiciary Committee.

Boomerang Throw love and it comes back, couples told

By Dan Vecchioni
staff writer

If marriage is like a rowboat, then many couples today have taken both their own and the water.

"They don't even have one oar splashing water. They just sit there," said Aloysius Lacki, a counselor at the Marriage Growth Center in Troy.

"We've got to get off our lawn chairs and change a little bit," he advised. "Change is good. It means we're alive."

Coming alive is the message Lacki and his partner, Alfred Cavaiani, are attempting to spread to couples who are trying to make their marriages work.

TWO HUNDRED PEOPLE persons turned out last Tuesday night at St. Edith Catholic Church in Livonia to hear the two speak on the challenge of marriage in the 1980s.

The presentation was the first in a three-part marriage enrichment series being sponsored by the St. Edith Family Life Committee. The second session, on "How to make your marriage work for you," is scheduled 7-9 tonight, at the parish hall, located at 15089 Newburgh Road. Admission is $2.50 per person.

The third session is scheduled 7-9 p.m. next Thursday, April 28, at the same location. The topic will be "Improving your communication with your spouse." Admission again will be $2.50 per person.

"THE CHALLENGE of marriage today is a challenge of love: loving oneself and loving our spouse," Cavaiani told the audience last week. "We've come here first to learn to love ourselves. We can't love others until we build our self-esteem."

To promote self-esteem, Cavaiani said persons must make a point of doing something for themselves daily in regards to their physical, emotional, intellectual and spiritual well-being.

"The tough one is taking care of ourselves emotionally," Cavaiani said. "Can you let your spouse know what you feel inside? One of the greatest fears we have is the fear of getting too close to someone. We have to make a resolution to express one true feeling to our spouse each day."

"ONCE WE LEARN to love ourselves, then we can love someone else. One influences the other. Love is like a boomerang. You throw it, and it comes back. The more you love the happier you will be."

"We're waking up to the realization that we want to be happier in our marriages," Lacki said. "The challenge we face should be looked at as an opportunity. The same energy we can use being depressed can be used constructively."

"The toughest here tonight is a tribute to your interest in coming alive."

AUDIENCE REACTION to the pair's dynamic presentation was favorable.

A representative from Our Lady of Loretto Catholic Church in Redford, on hand to evaluate the series, said he would have a favorable report to bring back to his church's marriage group.

Lacki said the St. Edith presentation was the 29th he and Cavaiani have made to parishes in the Detroit area. He said they decided two years ago to take their show on the road as marriage became one of the major topics of the decade.

"We needed to get word out of the office," Lacki said.

WHILE A CATHOLIC, Lacki said the Marriage Growth Center is not religious-oriented. He and Cavaiani make references to God and the Bible in their church presentations, but not in their individual sessions.

The Marriage Growth Center was established in 1979 to improve and support growth-centered marriage relationships. Both Lacki and Cavaiani are certified marriage and family counselors and licensed in psychology.

Wildflower walks start this weekend

By Lem Mese
outdoors writer

With last weekend's weather, it's a good thing Roger Sutherland and his colleagues at Schoolcraft College's biology department decided to have four wildflower walks this year instead of the usual one.

Different wildflowers are at their peaks at different times, and in Michigan it's smart to make allowances for snow, even into May.

The four walks are scheduled for 1-3 p.m. on the Sundays of April 24, May 1, 8 and 15, on the nature trails of Bicentennial Park, Seven Mile at Wayne Road, Livonia — a setting which features more than 35 species of wildflowers. There is no charge.

"Last year more than 600 people showed up for the tour, and it was decided to add days this year to assure the flowers would be at their peak and to allow for inclement weather," said Sutherland's announcement.

And it's a wise idea to read and clip Monte Nagler's photography column on spring in today's edition. His ideas on after-rain photos and closeups will be particularly helpful.

The tours are conducted by Schoolcraft faculty and persons who have completed a wildflower course there. Among the guides: Margaret Converse, Bessie King and Angella Zrell of Livonia, Kay Whitliff of Farmington and Jane Walker of Northville.

If you have a group of 25 or more, call Roger Sutherland at the college, 591-6400 ext. 508, to arrange a tour.

NOVICE OBEDIENCE training for dogs will start at 7:30 p.m. Friday, May 6, in an all-breed class sponsored by the German Shepherd Dog Club of Detroit Inc. The location will be the front lawn of Southfield Civic Center, Evergreen at Civic Center Drive. Eight sessions will be conducted.

At the same time, the club will hold conformation classes for German shepherds only. Dexter Goulston at 476-1495 has registration information.

NATURE PROGRAMS coming up at Huron-Clinton Metroparks this weekend and telephone numbers for pre-registration include:

• Spring bird walk, 10 a.m. Saturday, Hudson Mills Metropark on North Territorial near Dexter in Washtenaw County; naturalist Andy Retzliff will lead a 1½-hour walk and suggests you bring binoculars; 685-1561.

• "Nature by Bike" tour, 9:30 a.m. Sunday, Kensington Metropark west of New Hudson; naturalist Andy Retzliff will conduct the two-hour tour on trails through woods and on lake shores; bring your own bike and meet in the nature center parking lot; 685-1561.

• Spring wildflower walk, 2 p.m. Sunday, April 24, nature center of Oakwoods Metropark near Flat Rock; naturalist Glenn Dent will identify and discuss the first wave of wildflowers — hepatica, trout lily, bloodroot, toothwort, spring beauty and violets; 697-9181.

• "Woodland Jewels," a spring wildflower walk, 2 p.m. Sunday at Kensington; naturalist Mark Szabo will lead the 1½-hour walk from the nature center; 685-1561.

Programs are free, but you'll need to pay a $2 vehicle admission at the park gate — or, better yet, buy the annual sticker for $7.

Greenleaf and Raymond

2 seek re-election to Schoolcraft board

As expected, incumbent trustees Harry G. Greenleaf and Rosina Raymond have announced their candidacies for re-election to the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees.

Their separate announcements this week bring to five the number of persons seeking three full six-year terms on the board.

In addition, trustee Sharon Sarris is seeking election to the final two years of a term to which she was appointed. So far, she is unopposed.

GREENLEAF, 46, of Livonia, has been board chairman for the last four years.

A supervisor in organization planning and salary administration for the central staffs of Ford Motor Co., Greenleaf listed these as major accomplishments of his term.

"Leadership of the board in the selection of a new president for the college, completion of the Culinary Arts facility which had been pending for several years, re-emphasis of ongoing programs to update and replace instructional equipment and maintenance of facilities."

Greenleaf has increased use of subcommittees and advisory committees in developing responses to community college issues.

The Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute graduate is a former two-term chairman of the 2nd Congressional District Republican organization.

"We are entering into a new era of harnessing in partnership the resources of our governmental, educational, industrial and business organizations to revitalize Michigan's industrial economy. I want to be part of and provide leadership in that effort," he said.

RAYMOND, also of Livonia, was elected to the schoolcraft board after the 1971 court decision requiring reapportionment on a "one person, one vote" basis. She was re-elected in 1977.

Active in Democratic and professional women's circles, Raymond has been president of the Livonia Library Commission, vice president of the Livonia School Board Advisory Council, "first citizen of Livonia" in 1980 and Soroptimist "woman of the year" in 1974.

She taught in junior high at Madonna College and is on the part-time speech department staff of WSU. She currently teaches genealogy for community education. Married to attorney Jerry Raymond, a former Livonia councilman, she had four children before earning her bachelor's degree (with secondary teaching certificate), master's degree (teaching college speech and languages) and working toward a doctorate from Wayne State University with secondary teaching certificate.

FILING DEADLINE is 4 p.m. next Tuesday. Petitions must contain at least 50 and not more than 200 signatures of registered voters of the college district — which includes the school districts of Clarenceville, Garden City, Livonia, Northville and Plymouth-Canton and a small portion of Novi.

Trustee Len Wozniak of Livonia is expected not to seek re-election.

Candidates who have already filed include Daryl DeLabio of Garden City, Harry Failor of Canton and Myron Kasey of Northville. Mary Breen of Plymouth is expected to file Monday.

RONNIE MELNIK was winner of the "Catch a Rising Star" amateur contest Saturday evening in Plymouth Canton High School cafeteria. The event was arranged by the students in the drama department of the Centennial Educational Park. It was another of their fund-raising projects to finance the Plymouth Park Players' trip to the drama festival in Villach, Austria in June.

More than 200 guests donated $2 each to attend the party. They danced to a live band, dined, and were entertained by professional performers and 18 amateur acts.

The amateurs sang, did stand-up comedy routines, and danced a comedy ballet.

Ronnie sang "You Light Up My Life." He was among old friends with the drama students at the CEP. He auditioned for — and landed — the role of Patrick in the all-school musical, "Mame," last year. He is a seventh-grader at Central Middle School and the son of Ronald and Margaret Melnik of Canton Township.

Attorney Ed Draugelis was the winner of the first $500 given in the Park Players drawing — another fund raiser for the Austria trip. Rumor has it that Ed is going to donate his winnings to the trip fund.

Their "Have Your Yard Sale in Our Yard" is this Saturday in the grand hall of Plymouth Salem High School. Hours will be 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Booth space still is available by calling Gloria Logan, 453-3100, Ext. 243. Gloria says a good percentage of the booths have been reserved by artists and craftsmen. Rental fee is $20 for the day. Admission to the sale is free and free parking is available. Besides the arts and crafts items, there will be antiques, garage and yard sale items, and the potpourri of items in the drama group's booth.

KIM ANDERSON of Plymouth was honored yesterday at the Volunteers of the Year breakfast at Madonna College in Livonia. Kim was recognized for her work as a volunteer peer counselor in the Women's Resource Center at Schoolcraft College.

After taking the empathy training course at Schoolcraft, she continued giving three hours each week to peer counseling. She is working toward a master's degree in guidance counseling at Eastern Michigan University.

Kim's counseling is on a one-to-one basis. Her clients are walk-ins, primarily women who are returning to school or to the working world. They are displaced homemakers, displaced from their regular role because of divorce, death or illness of their husbands.

TOM QUAIN and and Luella Cook had high scores at last Thursday's party bridge get-together in the Plymouth Cultural Center. Thirty-four bridge players turned out for the afternoon session.

JUDY RICHARDSON called to say the deadline for applications for Newburg Methodist Church fall craft fair is May 1. The members of the church made the decision 11 years ago to make the switch from a regular bazaar to renting tables to artists and craftsmen.

Each year 50 artists are selected for the fair. Tables, at $20 each, are provided. The church women provide free coffee and doughnuts to the artists during set-up time. They also provide hostesses during the one-day show.

Crafters who are interested in joining the show may call Judy, 453-8834.

DOROTHY WRIGHT and Mable Partain of Plymouth are spearheading Cancer Control Month efforts in the community. They will coordinate the 316 volunteers who will visit their neighbors with life-saving information about cancer. They also will ask for contributions during the American Cancer Society's annual fund-raising and educational drive, April 23 to May 2.

The goal in Plymouth is to raise $9,900. Last year, volunteers raised $7,905. The money goes to research projects, service to patients and educational programs for schools, businesses and organizations.

GRETCHEN TELEK of Plymouth will take her country creations to the Country Peddler Show in Lincoln, Ill., Saturday, May 7. The show is at the Logan County Fairgrounds.

Regular Saturday night card party deals host a big birthday surprise

John Pata of Quail Ridge Court in Plymouth Township didn't find anything unusual when his neighbors were late for the couples bridge party he and his wife Carol hosted last Saturday night. But when he opened the door to let neighbors Joe and Diane Perko in, he found more than 50 people yelling "Happy Birthday!"

Suddenly, a quiet evening of bridge turned into a large and festive party to celebrate John's arrival at the Big Four-O. Carol Pata was able to pull off the surprise by planning the party a month before John's birthday.

Party guests were treated to drinks, hors d'oeuvres and a buffet dinner while John was treated to a number of "unusual" gifts. The theme of the evening, naturally, was the ravages of time, and John had to take a lot of kidding. But all jokes were laid to rest when John kept wiping his perspiring brow after the Strip-O-Gram showed up.

Carol's guest list included a lively combination of high school cronies from Dearborn's Fordson High School, co-workers with John at Ford Motor Company, and friends and neighbors from Plymouth and Canton.

The Fordson crowd included Joe and Diane Colleton, Barb and Andy Paiko, Pat and Hummed Hazamy, Bill Kaufman, Pat and Gordon Dickey, Linda Kaufman, and Dan and Joyce Coluhka. From Ford there were Mike and Irene Mlot, Maria and Jerry Gafford, Dave and Dee Lowrey, Terry and Linda Tymzak, and Denise and Skeeter Michaels.

Friends from Plymouth and Canton included Joe and Diane Perko, Nancy and Frank Drabek, Ken and Char Kramer, Don and Colleen Soenen, Don and Linda Hotton, Cathy and Bill Fife, Cathy and Ed Koskowiak, Nellie and Len Nordstrom, Nancy Pillee, Larry Farrugia, Ed O'Donnell and Nancy, Jan and Darryl Brown, Mary and Tom Thomas, Sue O'Donnell and Bob, Terri and Dick Cohen, Becky and Glen Pont, Denise and Dennis Edson, and Mary Menard.

The guests didn't dance all night, just till 2:30 a.m. But the party isn't really over yet. Dennis Edson captured the entire evening on his video camera, so everyone expects to reconvene soon to view the tape.

present their new "pic-a-winner" barrel where everyone is a winner.
Michigan Governor James J. Blanchard issued an official declaration declaring April 17-24 as Michigan Stamp Week, urging "all citizens to learn more about philately and the stamp clubs in their communities."
The declaration refers to the stamp show this weekend in Plymouth and adds, "Through a collection of stamps one can tour the world, this great nation, or our state. One can learn of the outdoors, the arts and our history."
Ed Dubin is general chairman of the show and Mike Cline-Smith is exhibition chairman.
Central Middle School is on Main Street at Church in Plymouth.

Singles travel groups

Fighting the loneliness of the long-distance traveler

NETWORK. An interesting word. In television, it means a group of transmitting stations tied together into a single organization. In the women's movement, it has come to mean many individual women working together as a support system. Travelers, especially single travelers, need just that kind of network to exchange both experiences

IRIS SANDERSON JONES

The sea, the sky, the ship — together they can make for romantic settings like this. Singles travel groups can fill in the missing element — someone of the opposite sex.

Adventurous trips await

The mail bag is full of adventurous trips for those of you who love to dive, do white water rafting and otherwise enjoy the great outdoors when you travel.

ViaRail Canada has a whitewater rafting trip scheduled for several different dates this spring and summer. Guides from Whitewater Rafting Limited will take 12 adventurers through the rapids with departures on May 14, 19, June 11, July 2, 12, 19, August 6, 13, 27.

The groups leave from Toronto and spend one and one-half days on the river. Fares from Windsor are $280 during the week, or on weekends in May, $278 on weekends the rest of the season.

The tours leave Toronto at 9 a.m., so you will probably have to overnight there. An alternative is to take a $95 per person package, which gives you round trip rail to Toronto and a hotel in Toronto. You can then join the group in Toronto for $220 weekdays or $235 weekends.

ViaRail also offers canoeing trips into northern Ontario, with departures from Toronto July 8, 15, 29, August 5, 12, 19. Each group will travel 16 hours by train through the wilderness, and spend seven days on the water.

The train leaves Toronto on the transcontinental run at 11:59 p.m. on a Friday evening and returns to Toronto at 7 a.m. in the morning, so no overnight is required in this case. The fare from Windsor is $535. For information, call 963-6037.

I have always been a little confused about SOBEK and the rafting organization OARS, but there is no doubt that they are among the top adventure travel groups in the country. Their 1983 schedule of rafting trips in Arizona, California, Idaho, Oregon, Wyoming and Utah is available from P.O. Box 87, Angel's Camp, California 95222 or by calling 209-736-4677.

Their trips cost roughly $100 a day plus air fare. Apart from their regular 1-18 day rafting trips, they offer cave adventures in California, helicopter skiing in Utah and a 12-26 day trip called "Western Frontiers." They also do specialty trips on the middle and north forks of the American River in California.

Sobek has new pieces of information in the mail. They have published The Adventure Book, photos and copy of some of the best trips around the world, available for $14.95 from bookstores or $5 with a membership of $30 in Sobek's International Explorer's Society.

Sobek is also looking for funding for films on the widest and most interesting rivers around the world. The funding is solicited "through a limited partnership offering," which I take to mean that contributors can be involved in the filming. If you want to confirm that, write to Sobek Productions, Angels Camp, CA. 95222.

etc., but the main advantage is meeting other singles. Singleworld is sold through travel agents, just like any other tour operation. Membership costs $15 per year. It is definitely not up to be a dating game.
The Travel Companion Exchange (TCE), however, run by Jens Jurgens of New York, has the earmarks, for better and for worse, of a dating system. The model for this new service is The Arts World, which Jurgens now owns: devoted exclusively to matching interesting and cultured single, divorced and widowed females with males and vice versa.

Your membership fee in the TCE is $18 for six months, $30 a year, plus you into the network. You fill out a detailed personal profile about yourself, your travel habits and interests, whether you would like to host "travel pals" in your home town area, etc. A 50-word mini-profile of all members goes to all other members, updated regularly. If you are interested in knowing more about one of the members profiled, you request the full, detailed profile from Jurgens, who charges $1 each for the first five profiles, 50 cents thereafter. Some of the profiles have photos on them.
The rest is up to you. You can contact, or be contacted by any member in or out of your area. Jurgens recommends that you talk on the phone, and preferably meet, before you try to travel together.

To answer some of the most obvious questions: Yes, men ask for women, and women ask for men. People also ask for members of the same sex. If you don't want your detailed profile sent to a member of the opposite sex, it won't be.

You are asked to indicate whether you will share a room, want separate rooms, are flexible, want connecting rooms, want a strictly platonic relationship, would like an intimate companionship, given the right person.

Jurgens started this Exchange in the fall of 1982, but didn't really get going until early 1983. By April he had "200 members and thousands of letters of interest." Ages range from 20s to retirees; most are in their 40s and 50s. The Travel Companion Exchange is at Box 833, Amityville, N.Y. 11701.

Singles-Saver, started by Compac Systems Inc. to help a single traveler find another single traveler with whom to share accommodations, has gone out of business.

The problem is that you don't know how to evaluate such singles — travel organizations, how to determine whether they are appropriate for you. You need an information-exchange network, and this column is as good a place as any to start.

Theater Guild wraps season with farce 'Mrs. Markham'

The Theater Guild of Livonia-Redford ends the season with a production of "Move Over, Mrs. Markham," an English farce brimming with naughty nonsense, by Ray Cooney and John Chapman.

Performances are at 8 p.m. Friday-Saturday, April 29-30 and May 6-7 at the Guild Playhouse, 15138 Beech Daly (just south of Five Mile Road), Redford.

Admission is $5. For reservations, call 522-1526 between 10 a.m. and 10 p.m.

Susan Suomi and Garth Williams of Livonia appear as Joanna and Philip Markham. The roles of Henry Lodge, Philip's partner, and his wife, Linda, are played by John Hall of Garden City and Mary Liburn of Northville.

Alan Madeleine of Northville is Alistair Spewlow, who is viewed by some as a womanizer and by others as a "pout." Diane Kresner of Garden City is Olivia Harriet Smythe, author of the Bow-Wow books. She regards sex as unnecessary.

Miss Wilkinson, the GPO operator, is performed by Karen LaHiff of Garden City. Robert Pullum of Dearborn Heights appears as Sylvie, and Robert Closson of Detroit is Walter Pangborn.

The show is directed by David Tucker, assisted by Robert Regan, both of Livonia. Jennifer Etienne of Detroit is the producer.

Sci-fi 'WARP' Trilogy' to be performed at Attic

The Attic Theatre will present a science-fiction fantasy in three parts — the "WARP Trilogy," May 27 through Sept. 10.

"WARP I: My Battlefield, My Body" will run for seven weeks, Friday, May 27, through Saturday, July 9. "WARP II: Unleashed! Unchained!" the seventh Mainstage production in the Attic Theatre's season of Michigan premieres, opens Friday, July 15, and runs through Saturday, Aug. 27.

Performances of Mainstage productions "WARP I" and "WARP II" runs are at 8 p.m. Thursdays-Fridays, 6 and 9 p.m. Saturdays and 6:30 p.m. Sundays at the theater, 325 E. Lafayette at Beaubien in Detroit's Greektown.

"WARP III: To Die... Alive!" will be performed during the run of "WARP II" on Tuesdays, Aug. 16 and 23, and at 8 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 21.

THE "WARP Trilogy" will be presented on consecutive days, Wednesday-Friday, Aug. 31 through Sept. 9. In addition, "WARP-A-THON" Saturdays, Sept. 3 and 10, will offer the "WARP Trilogy" in its entirety. For performance times, call the box office at 963-7789.

Tickets may be reserved by calling the box office. Group rates, senior citizen and student discounts are available. Parking is available adjacent to the theater. Wheelchair patrons should alert the box office upon arrival for assisted wheelchair entry.

Second runs Tom Panzenhagen

"Fail Safe" (1964), 9:30 a.m. Sunday on Ch. 4. Originally 111 minutes.

"Verdict" director Sidney Lumet directed Henry Fonda and Walter Matthau in this "what if" tale of a runaway SAC plane on a bombing run over Moscow. Realism — or a very good impression of what might happen if such a scenario ever unfolded — is the key to the well-made, suspense yarn.

Rating: $2.95.

"Going in Style" (1979), 8 p.m. Sunday on Ch. 4. Originally 96 minutes.

Director Martin Brest's "Going in Style" may be the best film ever made on the subject of old age — not because it's preachy or thematically significant but because it captures the melancholy, the sense of uselessness that often accompanies the "golden years." George Burns, Art Carney and Lee Strasberg star as three senior citizens driven to robbery by the boredom and desperation of retirement.

Rating: $3.10.

"Melvin and Howard" (1980), 9 p.m. Sunday on Ch. 4. Originally 95 minutes.

Paul LeMat stars as the unassuming Melvin Dumar, who, according to Oscar-winning screenwriter Bo Goldman, is the right heir to billionaire Howard Hughes' fortune. Jason Robards has the minor role of Howard, but it's Mary Steenburgen who steals the show as Melvin's wife in this humorous, poignant slice-of-midwestern-life film.

well acted — Fonda won her first Academy Award — but lacking some of the subject of old age — not because it's preachy or thematically significant but because it captures the melancholy, the sense of uselessness that often accompanies the "golden years." George Burns, Art Carney and Lee Strasberg star as three senior citizens driven to robbery by the boredom and desperation of retirement.

Rating: $2.90.

"The Heartbreak Kid" (1972), 2 Wednesday night on Ch. 4. Originally 104 minutes.

Elaine May directs her daughter, Jeannie Berlin, Charles Grodin and Sybil Shepherd in this off-beat tale of a man who meets another woman — the perfect woman, he thinks — while on his honeymoon. Grodin is perfectly sly as the coniving husband, Berlin exquisitely overbearing as the pestering wife and Shepherd delightfully blank as the pre-10" 10. Eddie Albert is also wonderful as a distraught father.

Rating: $3.25.

Singers to give concert at OU

The Academy Singers from the Academy of Popular Vocal Arts will present its fifth annual Concert and Recital at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday at Varner Hall on the Oakland University campus near Rochester.

Admission is $3 for adults, $2 for senior citizens, children and students. Tickets are available at the door. Students of the Academy of Popular Vocal Arts have recorded four show albums and have performed numerous concerts and shows throughout the United States. This year's traveling group features 30 singers and dancers who represent 12 different communities.

Classic performed with delicacy

Performances of the Garden City Civic Theatre production of Lillian Hellman's drama "The Children's Hour" continue at 8 tonight through Saturday at O'Leary Auditorium, on Middlebelt, north of Warren Road, Garden City. Tickets are available at the door.

By Bob Weibel
special writer

"The Children's Hour" is not what the title may suggest. It's a powerful adult drama of tense emotion, and the Garden City Civic Theatre presents a sensitive and illuminating interpretation of the Lillian Hellman classic.

The author examines the pain and suffering caused by the lies of a spoiled and precocious child at a private boarding school. Many children pass through a stage where they make things up. Usually, their stories are no more damaging than the white lies of the adult world.

But if either adult or children's tales

review

become malicious innuendos and con- viding, self-serving distortions of the truth, they can cause irreparable damage to the lives of the people involved.

"The Children's Hour" centers around the stories of one such child, Mary Tilford, played convincingly by Robin Philpott. She fluctuates nicely between disarming childish charm and cruel, cunning behavior, as she seeks to control her classmates and the adults around her.

SHE STARTS AN unfounded scandal when she accuses her teachers of an abnormal sexual relationship. Although Mary only has a vague notion of what she is talking about, she convinces her shocked grandmother, Amelia Tilford, performed flawlessly by Mari Vampew.

Her touching, yet controlled, confession of affection for Karen Wright, the other teacher, is the dramatic highlight of the evening.

Donna Jean Timberg, as Karen Wright, displays great understanding of her role. She is particularly effective in the third act when the teachers use false humor as they anxiously attempt to sort out the future course of their lives.

HER RELATIONSHIP with Dr. Car-

Costumed in a striking red gown, her regal bearing and cultured voice give authenticity to her role as a pillar of local society. She is especially good as she attempts to resolve her disbelief in the story while still trusting Mary.

Especially outstanding are Heather Knapp as Peggy, a young woman with natural stage presence and ability, and Kelly Caldwell as Rosalie, a cutie-pie redhead who is going to steal a show some day.

THE SHOW ALSO works technically with a nice variety of costumes and suggestive set pieces against black panels, with lights focused on the main acting areas. One could quibble, however, with dimming the lights in a room to add dramatic impact. In a realistic play, this is better done by an actor. Al, the key sound effect near the end of the play is not loud enough to be believable.

The director, Constance McNutt is to be complimented for maintaining a firm and temperate hand on a difficult play and molding a cast that includes a dozen children into a cohesive ensemble.

And the Garden City Civic Theatre is to be congratulated for choosing to do a serious play with a message, when the one-set, five-character, sure-fire hit seems to typify much of contemporary theater.

In minor roles, Adrienne Greer as Mrs. Mortar uses an affected and effective accent to portray a foolish aunt who is an aging actress. Her comedic talents are well used to relieve the tension of the story.

Juanita Suchy performs the maid, Agatha, with great style and verve. Mary's 10 classmates are uniformly good.

Youtheatre musical honors 'First Lady'

Eleanor Roosevelt will be honored in a live musical, "First Lady," presented by Detroit Youtheatre Saturday at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Performances by New York's Performing Arts Repertory Theatre will be at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. in the art institute auditorium theater, 5200 Woodward.

Tickets at $2.50 for children and adults, and $1.75 each in groups of 10 or more, may be purchased in advance through the museum ticket office and at the door. For ticket information, call 832-2730.

"First Lady" highlights the early life of Eleanor Roosevelt. This fully staged production is a blend of the compassion, humor and personal triumph of a doctor.

poor-little-rich-girl whose humanitarianism won her a place in history among the most beloved of Americans.

The hour-long musical was created for families with children age 7 or older. Children younger than 5 years will not be admitted.

Cosmos seek recognition as soccer's best

First, there was Team U.S.A. Team U.S.A. is a soccer franchise established over the winter months to play in the North American Soccer League. Its primary goal is to build a solid playing relationship and eventually represent the country at the prestigious national tournaments.

Now, there's Team Michigan. Or, at least, Team Southeastern Michigan.

Plymouth's Gordon Rama and Rochester's Bill Buerger believe they have built a soccer powerhouse. The two successful youth soccer coaches put their heads together this winter and the end product, they maintain, is an Under-16 team capable of winning the championship of North America.

Rama and Buerger are the head and assistant coaches, respectively, of the Michigan Cosmos Soccer Club, a.k.a. Team Michigan. Their ultimate goal is to show other parts of the country — and North America, for that matter — that soccer is as much a part of Michigan as the Great Lakes and I-75.

Even the official team logo contains the letters U.S.A. across the bottom, symbolizing the Cosmos' desire to gain national and international soccer status. Rama says winning an international championship is not an unrealistic goal.

"I'VE BEEN coaching soccer for eight years and this is without a doubt the best team I've ever had," said Rama, whose 1981 Cosmos squad won the Michigan state soccer championship.

"We picked up a lot of strength offensively and defensively this year. I think we have a darn good chance of winning the national title if we stay healthy," he said. "We got a team together to beat the best competition we can find."

The Cosmos are an "open" team (the players' roster is not restricted to a defined area) affiliated with the Bonanza Express Soccer League. One of its fiercest rivals over the seasons has been the Troy Fire, which was coached by Buerger.

In fact, when the Cosmos won the state cup in '81, it beat Buerger's Fire squad by a 3-1 score. Last year, the Cosmos defeated the Fire all three times the teams played.

So, this winter, Buerger joined the Cosmos team as an assistant coach ("It's a classic case that if you can't beat 'em, join 'em," jokes Buerger). He also brought along a few players to help solidify the Cosmos.

In effect, they've joined forces to form one "Michigan" team with aspirations of conquering enough soccer cups to quench the players' thirst all summer.

"I saw the Cosmos team steadily improving and I could see they were building a powerhouse," said Buerger, who coaches the Rochester High School boys' soccer team.

"LAST SUMMER (Rama) called me when he was short of players for a Canadian tournament. At that time, he thought crossed my mind, 'what if we got together and put all these players on one team?'"

"We had try-outs at Schoolcraft College in January and (Rama) said (after the try-outs) that he thought some of the (Troy Fire) players could help him. This is a solid 16-man team."

The main reasons for unification were:

- To create a championship club, and
- To show national and international teams that Michigan does produce talented soccer teams.

"We think that we have a team that Michigan can be proud of when we go to play in all the different tournaments," said Buerger. "The players are all stars on their high school teams and when you put them together they can play like a well-oiled machine."

"That's why we think the obvious goals of this team are taking the state cup, shooting for the regionals (Midwest cup) and then going after the national championship. We don't think they are unreasonable goals."

"This team has always enjoyed the competition, and the tougher the competition the better they seem to play," he said. "This team represents the best players of that age group that you can find in Southeastern Michigan."

FOR THE record, the team includes Plymouth residents Mark Flower and Steve Moran; Livonia's Pat Stocker, Chris Weigel, Chris Gembis, Brett Murphy and Dennis Patchett; Birmingham's Adam Cermak and Craig Ciccone; Bloomfield Hills' Matt Banks; Rochester's Bill Buerger; Troy's Jeff Howell and Northville's Doug May, Bob Goldberg and Matt Lotarski.

Moran (Salem High School), Rama (Catholic Central), Patchett (Bentley), Weigel and Gembis (Stevenson), Cermak (Seaborn), and Buerger (Rochester) each gained all-league honors last fall as sophomores on their respective high school teams.

The Cosmos open their tournament schedule May 21 in Midland. They play Sunday in a Bonanza League game against United at Bicentennial Park in Livonia.

Looking down the road, the state finals are in June, the Midwest regionals in July and the national championship in August.

Hinz marathon rates with best

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

Dave Hinz didn't lose his way in his first-ever Boston Marathon Monday. Nope — Hinz stayed right on course. The Canton resident's race course was the same 26-mile, 385-yard event more than 6,000 runners tread. But there was a personal course for Hinz to follow as well if he is to reach his goal — the 1984 Olympic Games.

Along that road, Hinz did better than he hoped, finishing 11th overall at Boston in two hours, 12:05.

"I'M JUST ECSTATIC," the 30-year-old insurance salesman said Tuesday. "I still haven't come down from it. I slept like a log the night before the race but I haven't slept since."

"I'm on cloud nine."

The reasons for Hinz's elation are simple: his previous best marathon performance was last Oct. 3, when he won the Detroit Free Press event. His time was two hours, 17:41.

Hinz sliced over five minutes off that time on a course he said was "conservative."

people in sports

ly 1 1/2 to two minutes slower because of the hills."

"I knocked a helluva chunk off my personal best," he said.

The strong finish accomplished several things for Hinz. As he explained, "My goals going into Boston were threefold."

"First, I wanted to qualify for the Olympic Trials. There was really no doubt I would do that (qualifying time was 2:19:04) but I wanted to do it impressively."

"My idealistic goal was to finish in the top 10. I nearly did that. I was closing in on (four-time champion Bill) Rodgers in the last miles but I couldn't catch him (Rodgers finished seven seconds ahead of Hinz)."

HINZ'S THIRD goal was to lower his time. "At Detroit, I felt I was in shape to go 2:14:00. Here, I wanted to go 2:13:00."

Hot weather disappointed Hinz in the Free Press Marathon. But Monday at Boston, it was overcast and cool, and Hinz took advantage of it to outrace even his expectations.

"It was nothing like I envisioned," Hinz said of Boston, the most prestigious of marathons. "Everyone told me the first 10 miles was all downhill and the last few were all uphill, so don't go out too hard."

"It wasn't really like that. The first miles were mostly downhill but there were a lot of rolling hills. And it wasn't all uphill leading up to 'Hearbreak Hill'. The final miles weren't nearly as exhausting as I thought they would be. In fact, I picked up a lot of places through there."

Hinz called the competition "the strongest American field ever at Boston." Alberto Salazar, the world marathon record holder, was about the only American runner to pass up Boston, mainly because it served as the qualifying event for the U.S. Olympic Trials. Some 74 runners bested the Olympic Trials qualifying cutoff time.

THAT MADE Hinz's performance that much more impressive. The event was won by Greg Meyer in 2:09:00.

A sloppy affair

Snow and wet weather have made fields unplayable for Canton's soccer team, as Kim Reeves found out. The Chiefs had their first three games postponed. Still, they were looking to starting the season yesterday against Northville. For a look at how Canton's girls' team is expected to fare in its second season, please turn to Page 2C of today's Observer sports section.

Bennett hurls a two-hitter to spark Canton's sweep

Already Plymouth Canton's baseball team is better off than it was at this time a year ago.

The Chiefs lost their first two games of the season last year to Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher before putting everything together and trudging to the state Class A finals.

Last Saturday at home, Canton started its season on a winning note by sweeping a pair from Wayne Memorial, a team that had won its first two games, by 3-1 and 4-2 scores.

Mark Bennett, a junior, was superb in the opener, firing a two-hitter and allowing just one unearned run in going the distance. Bennett walked none and struck out six in collecting the victory. Gary Newsome took the loss for Wayne.

THE ZEBRAS struck first against Canton, getting a run in the third on a hit batter, a steal of second and a single.

Canton surged back with three runs in the fifth. Scott Cowan started it with a single. A Mike Scarpello sacrifice moved Cowan to second and he scored to tie the game at 1-1 when the Wayne shortstop threw wildly to first on Mark Landini's grounder.

Bryan Capnerhurst was then hit by a pitch and Don Dombey walked to load the bases. Marty McCarthy followed with a clutch two-out, two-run double that scored the winning runs.

In the second game, McCarthy collected another pair of RBI, including the game-winner, to help sophomore Bucky Blake survive a shaky start to collect the win.

BLAKE WALKED three, hit a batter and gave up a single in the first inning to stake Wayne to a 2-0 lead. Canton got one run back in the bottom of the first on walks to Scarpello and Cowan, a fielder's choice by Capnerhurst that advanced the runners and a sacrifice fly by McCarthy.

In the third, Canton took the lead as Capnerhurst walked, Dombey tripled to right center to tie the score and McCarthy doubled in the go-ahead run.

With two down in the fourth, Danny Martin singled, stole second and came home on Cowan's single for an insurance run.

Blake went four innings for the victory. Mike Battaglia hurled the final three frames for the Chiefs. John Zerna started and was tagged with the defeat for Wayne.

CC rolls to Elks victory

Detroit Catholic Central placed first in four events Saturday to win the 12-team Elks Relays at Livonia Franklin.

The Shamrocks piled up 40 points to gain the title. They were followed by: Redford Bishop Borgess, second, 37; Detroit Cass Tech, third, 36; Dearborn, fourth, 29; Livonia Stevenson, fifth, 25; Plymouth Salem, sixth, 19; Westland John Glenn, seventh, 15; Franklin, eighth, 11; Highland Park, ninth, 10; Garden City, 10th, seven; Grosse Pointe South, 11th, four; Wyandotte, 12th, one.

CC placed first in both the high-shuttle (1:02.4) and low-shuttle (1:17.6) relays. Matt Wilczewski, Greg Page, John Rakoczy and Rick Paler formed the winning combination.

Steve Shaver anchored CC to first in the two mile (8:18.9) and four mile (19:00.0) relays. Tom Zerkowski, Mike Bridges and Paul Buchanan rounded out the two-mile foursome. Mark Anderson, Zakrzewski, and Buchanan joined Shaver in the four-mile event.

The Shamrocks were also second with a total of 34-feet in the pole vault relay (Barrett Strong, Steve McCormack and Joe Kucharski). And CC reaped a third-place finish in the distance medley with a time of 11:13.7 (Page, Jeff Moore, Chris Rito and Marty Hegarty).

"I was pleasantly surprised by the two-mile relay because Cass had run a great time indoors at the Huron Relays," said CC coach Kevin Kavanaugh. "I was also pleased with our low-shuttle team. I fig-

HIGH SCHOOLS' PLAYERS OF THE WEEK

Best of luck to Salem & Canton
for a winning spring
sports season

Dick Scott's Plymouth High School "PLAYERS OF THE WEEK" feature continues this week. Each week one Salem and one Canton player will be saluted for their effort the previous week, with their names engraved on a trophy for display at the high schools. Players will be selected by the coaching staffs of the respective schools. Look for this ad every Thursday. For that "Winning Deal" on a new or used car, see Dick Scott Buick.

A PLYMOUTH HIGH SCHOOL FLASHBACK

In September of 1970, Plymouth Salem football coach Tom Moshimer moved a journeyman tailback Greg LaMirand, a 6'1" senior, into the starting quarterback position. Against rival Northville High in the opening game of the 1970 season, LaMirand, making his first start at Varsity QB threw 3 TD passes to glue-fingered 6'4" senior Charley Wolfe. That performance plus the durable running of Capt. Ed Scott, Don Chopp and Carl Huter enabled Plymouth to blitz Northville 36-8 and capture the Silver Bell emblematic of football supremacy in the rivalry between the two teams. It also marked the last time ever the Silver Bell was up for grabs.

Canton kickers lack depth but not talent

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

There are certain things readily apparent in this season's Canton girls' soccer team.

First — experience. Second — numbers. And third — talent.

In the first two categories, coach Tony Longro's team is somewhat slim. "We don't have any seniors," Longro said in assessing his team as it prepared for its second season. Canton was 1-5-1 in the Western Suburban Soccer League (WSSL) and 3-7-2 overall in its first varsity campaign last spring.

THE CHIEFS also lack numbers. There are only 17 players on the squad, and Longro suspects that figure may drop. With 11 on the field at a time, such a small squad makes it difficult to practice.

"We lost a lot, including our starting goalie," Longro said. "But the team looks much better than last year. We have four new girls from the middle school (ninth graders).

"We're well-balanced as well as I can tell from practice. But I won't know until I see them against another team."

That, of course, is another problem. Weather has already washed out three games. The Chiefs were supposed to play Northville yesterday, again depending on the elements.

Despite the loss of several starters, Longro feels the Chiefs have a solid nucleus of talent to build around, starting with junior defender Margie Wang-bichler.

"SHE'S A GREAT defender — just outstanding," Longro said of Wang-bichler.

At forward and midfield, Longro will be counting on a pair of juniors, Lori Engel and Kim Reeves, and a sophomore, Lisa Russell. The Canton coach called Russell "one of my strongest players. She can use both feet well."

Freshmen Beth Frigge and Jenny Thomas also will get in a lot of playing time, Longro predicted. Alice Shobe and Pat Phillips, both sophomores, will split time in the goal.

"We haven't played yet, but we're certainly looking forward to getting started," Longro said. "We're eager to get going. With the weather the way it is, we haven't been able to get in a lot of practice. I just won't know how good we are until we go up against someone."

Livonia Churchill (16-2-1 a year ago) and Livonia Stevenson (17-3-2 last season) have lost just two starters apiece, and both should battle for the WSSL crown. Plymouth Salem also looks strong.

Waiting for a winter's conclusion

IDLE THOUGHTS OF SPRING. "Idle" is certainly the appropriate word for spring sports. What's going on around here, anyway? February was warmer and had a lot less snow than April. That's when the spring sports schedule should have started.

Scheduling — a joke in itself. The Canton and Salem contests which are played when scheduled are the exception, not the rule.

What to do while waiting for the snow to melt.

The Tigers are playing ball, you know. If you're into frustration, you can always watch a replay of Milt Wilcox's pitching gem against the Chicago White Sox. Take nothing away from the former Canton resident — it was a superb performance — but it still rates as an "almost."

And "almosts" are becoming standard fare for Tiger fans.

IF YOU GET real bored, you can always watch replays of Michigan Panther football games (ZZZZZZZ).

Here's an idea. Lots of high schools schedule football games in the Pontiac Silverdome every fall. Why can't they put some softball or baseball games in there? So what if the fences are a little short because of the odd shape of the field — that would just add to the interest. And weather wouldn't be a problem.

Speaking of spring football (I did mention it, didn't I?), whatever happened to Rich Hewlett?

OKAY, WHAT WE really need around here is a spring sport that will never be cancelled. It has to be weatherproof because it will be played outside in all kinds of conditions: rain, snow, mud, heat.

Standard uniform will be a full plastic suit that will both repel water and harness body heat. The game will have to be one of constant motion to insure that players keep warm.

Spring weather is too cold to use the hands. No, soccer seems to be the perfect choice, only with seven-man teams and on a smaller field. Sound like fun?

C.J. Risak

Highlight of the month for TV sports: ESPN's live coverage of the pro football draft. Whoopie.

BEST SPORTS MOVIES (including respective sports): 1. Chariots of Fire (track); 2. Rocky I (boxing); 3. Breaking Away (bicycling); 4. Bad News Bears (little league baseball); 5. Longest Yard (football); 6. Pride of the Yankees (baseball).

Just a thought: ESPN is televising pro football's draft, so why not stage a draft of junior high school athletes for Salem and Canton? Wouldn't THAT be fun?

TWO SPORTS movies have been named Best Picture of the Year in the last decade (Rocky I and Chariots of Fire), making sports a lucrative topic. Many others have already been exploited (soccer in "Victory," college basketball in "One on One," hockey in "Slapshot," etc.). So what sport is next?

Swimming? Too boring. Tennis? Most of the top pro players aren't worth the newspaper devoted to them, let alone a film.

How about these new supermen — the triathletes?

New spring sport No. 2: While the necessary ingredients are still at our disposal, let's get all the weather forecasters together in one field and roll a few snowballs.

Hinz is world class

The showing boosted Hinz onto the world class marathon list and, more importantly, puts him in the running for a berth on one of several American teams currently being selected.

"If I had my druthers, I'd like to go to Helsinki for the World Track and Field Games," Hinz said. "But there were nine Americans who finished ahead of me and no one's going to pass up the World Games."

"But I might get selected to the Pan American team. If worse comes to worse, I should be a shoe-in for the Midwest representative for the National Festival in Colorado Springs in June."

The World Games are Aug. 7-14 in Helsinki, Finland. That's where all the world's best marathoners will be. The Pan Am games are in Caracas, Venezuela, Aug. 14-29. Because of the lengthy preparation needed for a marathon, no one will race both events. Meyer has already announced he will probably forego the marathon at the World Games and concentrate on the 10,000-meter run.

HINZ, WHO MADE the 1980 Olympic Trials in the marathon, is now more confident than ever in his chances to make the American team.

"I've had a thing on my wall ever since the trials in 1980," Hinz said. "It says, 'I will make the Olympic team in 1984.'"

"It did sound farfetched, but after seeing that 2:12:00 it doesn't sound farfetched anymore."

"I'm progressing well."

Local races are all Hinz has in mind between now and the summer's competition. And he's still waiting to see what national teams he's chosen for.

Until then, it's a matter of continued training (over 100 miles a week) with goals of continued improvement.

Weather helps Rioux select U-M as school

By Brad Emons
staff writer

When it comes to running in cool climate, Jennifer Rioux will gladly "Say Yes to Michigan."

Weather had an big impact on Rioux's signing a track and cross country scholarship with the University of Michigan last week.

Several schools had shown interest in the Livonia-Ladwood standout, who excels in middle distance and distance events. She had already visited Michigan State and was scheduled to make trips to New Mexico, Indiana, Florida State and Houston.

"I wanted to stay near my parents (Jerry and Mary Ann) so they can watch me run," Rioux explained, "and academically, Michigan is a good school."

"Humidity gets to me easily. I'd rather run in cool weather."

Michigan coach Francis Goodrich was especially pleased with Rioux's decision.

"Jennifer was our No. 1 recruit," Goodrich said. "When we first identified that, signing her on the first day (Wednesday) was important. I'm sure she was highly recruited."

MICHIGAN has made enormous strides in Big 10 track and field since Goodrich took over the program two years ago.

The Wolverines placed second in last year's Big 10 Indoor meet and took the 1982 Outdoor title. Michigan recently captured the women's Indoor title.

"We've made a lot of progress," said Goodrich. "We're basically a midwestern team — mostly from Michigan."

some from Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. We have no foreign athletes."

Rioux classified Ladwood to the state Class B cross country title two years ago. Individually, she placed second and third in a pair of distance events in last spring's state Class B track meet.

Last summer, Rioux won the 1,500-meter run in 4:39.2 at the Track Athletic Congress (USA) Junior Olympic Games in Lincoln, Neb.

"Jennifer has run a 4:56 mile," said Goodrich. "It would be a wild guess right now to say where she stands nationally."

"It's not one of the lowest times, but who knows? This spring she could surpass that."

"I'M IMPRESSED with her quarter-mile speed. Her best achievements for us could be in something like the mile relay. She has the leg speed which makes her potentially one of our best athletes."

"She'll be moving down — not up — in distance."

Rioux, temporarily sidelined with a knee injury, has run a 5:10 mile already this spring at an indoor meet at Michigan in Lincoln, Neb.

"I've been off for a week," she said. "The injury started last fall, and I got hurt in volleyball."

Rioux, who is interested in a prelaw curriculum, hopes to be ready for Ladwood's outdoor season.

"I think we'll have a pretty good team," Rioux said. "Both Kelly Champagne and Sue Willey will do well. And I hope to do better when I get healthy."

Observer staff takes field.

A benefit celebrity softball marathon will be held 11 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Livonia's Ford Field.

Four softball games are on the agenda along with additional entertainment. All proceeds will benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA).

At 11 a.m., WDIV-TV will face Ward Presbyterian Church of Livonia. The WDIV team includes Roger Weber, Doug Hill, Dan Moutney and D.J. Gallagher.

At 1 p.m., WNIC-Radio takes on the Observer & Eccentric All-Stars. WNIC will be represented by Jim Harper, Steve Gannon and Alan Almon.

At 3 p.m., WXYZ-TV faces WCXI. Rich Fisher, Buzz Luttrel and Steve Caragiola are penciled in the starting lineup for WXYZ.

At 5 p.m., the Detroit Free Press will take on a yet to be named opponent. That opponent could be WJBK-TV, CKLW or the Livonia Athletics, a group of Stevenson High School and Schoolcraft College athletes, according to marathon organizers Bob McElhane and Dave Sanford.

CLOWNS from the Livonia Jaycees will be on hand for the festivities. Tubby's Submarines Inc., will stage submarine eating contests at the conclusion of each game.

McElhane, a student at Schoolcraft College, and Sanford, a Stevenson student, began organizing the event last December with the help of Gary Gray and Lyle Trudell of the Livonia Parks and Recreation Department, along with Fred Pellerito and Thomas De-Grave of the MDA.

We had good depth in distance and high hurdles.

"And our pole vaulters did very well. Kucharski went 11-0 — his best ever — and he's only a sophomore."

CC was also fourth in the 880-yard relay (1:36.4) and fifth in the long jump relay (56-0).

LIVONIA CHURCHILL had four double winners in individual events, gaining its third straight boys' track dual meet triumph Tuesday at Westland John Glenn, 88-48.

Steve O'Hara, Don Miller, Larry Blais and Tim Luch each captured two firsts as the Chargers won 12 of 16 events. O'Hara was first in the 120 high hurdles (15.8) and the high jump (5-10).

Miller excelled in the 800 (2:08.7) and mile (4:42.0) runs. Blais was victorious in the 220 (24.4) and 440 (53.6) and Luch won the shot put (45-7) and discus (143-8).

Other Churchill winners were Bill Crawford in the 100 (10.5), Paul DeFlorio in the 330 low hurdles (42.7), Brian Boston in the two mile (10:07.9) and John Lock in the pole vault (12-0).

Glenn won all three relays: the 440 (47.6), the 880 (1:33.9) and the mile (3:43.4). John Meixner also placed on top in the long jump.

GARDEN CITY'S season-opener was a disappointing one, as the Cougars managed just four firsts in losing at Wayne Memorial Tuesday, 80-52. Cougar winners included Pat Cyrus in the pole vault (11-9), Dave Dempsey in the discus (129-8), Dave Homann in the 3,200-meter run (10:10.59) and the team of Phil Kamm, Pat Mulcahy, Chris Biegalski and Paul Sheffer in the mile relay (3:48.8).

"The Canadian teams and teams from such states as Ohio, Virginia and St. Louis like to think they play some of the best soccer around," said Rama, whose team opened the season last weekend with a 3-0 shutout of Kalamazoo.

"We're kind of new to soccer here in Michigan, and we have a lot of pride when going to these other areas for tournaments. They don't think Michigan soccer is that far advanced."

"We have something to prove by beating those teams," he said.

Hot McNabb posts pair of 300s

Ken McNabb, a 25-year-old competitor, bowled his way into the mixed Friday night at Westland Bowl.

Rolling as a member of the mixed classic, he posted back-to-back 300 games and became only the second man in the last 20 years to do so in the Detroit area.

He opened with a 300, followed with another, and then had the misfortune to leave up the No. 10 on the first ball in his final game and settled for an 816 series.

With that he will go on the all-time honor roll of the Tri-City Association.

ALTA RESPECT, the young star of the ladies major leagues, reached the high point in her career last week when she landed second place in the televised finals of the Ladies Pro tour.

After topping the qualifiers she was paired with Dana Miller in the Ty battle and lost 274 to 200. She admitted that she choked just a bit. But she won $4,500. It was the third time on the tour that she cashed.

in the pocket by W.W. Edgar

THE HARD LUCK CROWN for the year goes to Ed Lubanski, who at one time rolled back-to-back perfect games on television.

In Niagara Falls to compete in the ABC tournament he had the misfortune to suffer a broken toe when his bowling ball fell off a chair and landed on his foot. It was the first ABC event he has missed in years.

DIANA RUNGE, who has a 125 average, carried off top honors in the intercity queens tournament at Westland Bowl. She posted a 721 series with handicap to beat out Sally Kokowicz, a 160 average bowler, by six pins despite the fact that Sally had a 279 game.

Among the other high scores were Joyce Chapman with 265 and Pat Bowles with 252.

MERRI-BOWL High scorers marked the week and as a result four new members were inducted into the 700 club.

Chuck O'Rourke, bowling in the handicappers league, set a new high for the house with a 782 that included a 289 finishing game. Behind him came Andy Neeley with 724, and Randy Smith with 707. Then in the League, Doug Nikkela had a middle game of 262 in a 712 series. High single for the week was a 279 in the Saturday night loop.

AT PLYMOUTH BOWL Ed Fischer set the highest score in the Industrial League in 15 years when he rolled games of 246, 259 and 227 for a 732.

AT PLAZA LANES A close finish marked the competition in the pin busters league, and Jay Villet landed in front with a 705 series to beat Rick Merrick by 10 pins. In the business and industrial league Kurt Lahti was high man with 684.

GARDEN LANES' Ray Ostrosky showed the way in the St. Linus league with 670, and Mary Porter paced the ladies classic with 607.

WOODLAND LANES' Doug Hareety converted the 7-10 split in the mid-night loop. Ernie Dazada paced the senior house loop with 248 in 647.

AT BEL-AIRE Hugh O'Neil and Randy Ortwin were admitted to the 700 club. Bowling in the classic O'Neil had a 747 and Ortwin a 729.

SUPER BOWL Diana Byk showed the way in the Cantopettes with a 236 in 648, and Connie O'Keefe topped the trio with 654.

Shoemaker resigns OLSM cage postion

By Jim Hughes staff writer

Bob Shoemaker, the coach who directed Orchard Lake St. Mary's to two high school state basketball championships, announced his resignation which will enable him to "look for another challenge."

In addition to his head basketball position, Shoemaker also held other duties at St. Mary's, among them athletic director and Dean of Men. His resignation from the all-boys boarding school will become effective at the end of his contractual year, June 30.

"I'm looking for another challenge," Shoemaker said. "I feel I've done all I can do here."

During his six years, Shoemaker compiled a 124-25 win-loss record. His 1978 team captured the Class D State Championship, while the 1982 squad won the Class C crown. In 1981, St. Mary's advanced to the semifinals before losing to Three Oaks River Valley.

ST. MARY'S defeated Reed City, 76-48, in the 1982 championship, and topped Detroit St. Martin dePorres, 67-52, in the 1978 final.

Prior to his job at St. Mary's, Shoemaker was a successful coach at Detroit St. Andrew, where he racked up a 93-17 record during his five-year career. He has a career win-loss record of 217-42 for an 84-percent winning ratio.

His teams had won 10 straight division titles in the Catholic League before this year's team fell to 10-11 and was third in the A-East Division. He won two Catholic League titles at St. Mary's and three at St. Andrew's.

Shoemaker, commonly called "Shoe," said he has no immediate plans for coaching, but is not overlooking the likelihood that he'll be back at court-side somewhere soon.

"I have no plans," Shoemaker said. "But I did the same thing at St. Andrew's. When I left there, I didn't have anywhere to go. That's the way I do it, I leave and then look for somewhere else to go."

"I have first, then I see what's available. I don't know if that's the smart way to do it, but that's how I do it. I don't think it's fair to look somewhere while you're still coaching. If I find something, fine, but if I don't, I'll just watch."

SUCCESS HAS followed Shoemaker at both schools where he's coached, and he attributes that to his disciplinary coaching style.

"I believe in discipline," he said. "I've always believed that if you have a disciplined team, you have a team that works hard. That's an important quality in being successful."

As expected, the highlights in Shoemaker's coaching career to date have been the two state basketball titles.

"So many good things have happened, but winning the state championships certainly stand out," he said. "Winning the state is the ultimate goal and a highlight was winning the first one. Then coming back and winning again in a different class, that's certainly a highlight."

Although Shoemaker insists his resignation is something he acted upon voluntarily, he said leaving St. Mary's will be difficult.

Local athletes earn U-D sports awards

Three area University of Detroit athletes were honored last week at the school's All-Sports Awards and Hall of Fame Induction Dinner held at the Gourmet House in St. Clair Shores.

Tom Miner, a junior first baseman from Garden City, received the Edmond T. Nolan Golden Glove Award, presented annually to the U-D baseball player who displays the best defensive skills for one season.

Teammate Craig Walker, a senior second baseman from Westland, earned the Titan Club Award along with Miner for athletic and academic excellence.

Dan Horvath, a senior from Livonia, received the Rick DeLodder Award as the tennis team's MVP.

Miner, who is a former All-Area standout, from West High School, fielded 411 chances at first base last season, making just five errors for a .988 average. He was equally as competent offensively, batting .348 with three home runs and 30 RBI while stroking a team-high 15 doubles among his 54 hits. Miner also led the Titans in walks (40) and slugging percentage (.516).

A civil engineering major, Miner carries a 3.53 GPA.

WALKER, a John Glenn high graduate, is one of four senior captains on the Titan squad this season.

He hit 335 last year with a team-leading 51 runs. He had 61 hits, 15 doubles and 35 RBI while playing in 56 of U-D's 58 games.

As a sophomore, Walker hit 280 with 21 RBI and 34 runs scores. The Henry Ford Community College transfer improved his fielding average 71 points from .879 as a sophomore to .950 as a junior.

Walker is a personnel administration major with a 2.94 GPA.

HORVATH, a former Stevenson High School standout, has been the Titans' No. 1 singles player throughout his career.

Entering his senior season, Horvath sported a 35-33 record in singles going into his final year of eligibility, including a 12-7 record as a sophomore when he won the DeLodder Award.

He is a chemistry major at U-D.

Skating duo back home for amateur ice show

By Brad Emons staff writer

Carol Fox and Richard Dalley are on a comeback trail of sorts. The world-renowned amateur ice dancing couple will make the World Figure Skating Tour part of that resurgence when they appear May 4 for the Detroit stop at Joe Louis Arena.

"This is kind of our reward for doing well," said Dalley, who along with his skating partner, Kicks off a 16-city, 22-day tour of the United States beginning in Boston.

"It's fun, but it's tiring," he said. Fox, 26, a Westland native, labels the tour as "pretty draining."

"You're in a different city almost every day," she said.

Dalley, formerly of Livonia and Southfield, and Fox, make Wilmington, Del. their home these days so they can train year-round under the coaching of Ron Ludington.

The pair finished fifth at last year's World Championships in Copenhagen, Denmark, but slipped somewhat in 1983.

The team was set back when the 25-year-old Dalley broke his leg in August 1982.

"The broken leg set us back," admitted Dalley. "It was a combination of things. We were inactive and they (Spitz-Grigory) steamed in."

In February at the U.S. Championships in Pittsburgh, the ice dancing teams of Dalley-Fox, Blumberg-Seibert and Spitz-Grigory were locked in a tight duel. But Dalley-Fox settled for third place. And adding insult to injury, an international rule change prevented them from making a return trip to the Worlds. Only two teams from each country could qualify as opposed to three. The rule since has reverted back to three.

"IT WAS definitely devastating to what happened to us at Nationals," Fox said. "But now it gives us a good goal to strive for."

"We've had so much fan mail since the Nationals. The support has been fantastic. We had support from official and people who did not agree with placements."

Dalley agrees: "I'm fully recovered and we'll be back in full form. Our real goal is to improve our standing in the world."

After the World Figure Skating Tour, Dalley and Fox plan to develop new competitive routines for the National Sports Festival June 20 at the Broadmoor Figure Skating Club in Colorado Springs.

Livonia Churchill got its soccer game in gear with a two-game sweep last weekend against a pair of Saginaw prep teams.

The Charger girls spoiled MacArthur's opener Friday night with a 6-0 triumph behind Wendy Wagner's two goals.

"We played a fantastic game," said Churchill coach Ed Dudek, whose team enjoyed a 3-0 shot advantage. "We were determined to give a better showing than we had against Plymouth Salem (a 3-3 tie Wednesday)."

The team is playing together. We're more like a team now."

Churchill, which led 2-0 at halftime, also got solo goals from Dorothy Brown, Dorene Dudek, Jenny Huegli and Amy Brow. Ten Zeches added two assists.

ON SATURDAY, Churchill raised its overall season record to 3-0-1 with a 6-3 victory over Saginaw Eisenhower.

Dudek and Huegli led the way with two goals each. Brow and Brown accounted for the rest of the scoring.

Tracy DeGroat scored twice in the first half as Eisenhower trailed 4-2.

Churchill out-shot Eisenhower 33-10.

LIVONIA STEVENSON'S NORTH FARMINGTON 0

The Spartans jumped out to a 3-0 halftime lead and never looked back to record their second straight win of the young season Friday night.

Karen Kelly opened the scoring at 4:02 of the first half with Mary Kay Hussey driving the ball. Hussey then made it 2-0 at 9:25 from Andrea Bokos, who in turn, made it 3-0 on a goal at 22:20 from Stephanie Beck.

In the second half, Leasa Klix scored an unassisted goal at 17:08 and March Jamrog followed nine minutes later from Klix and Bokos.

Goalie Karen Rice, who made six saves, posted the shutout. Stevenson, meanwhile, drilled 31 shots at the Raider netminder.

GROSSE PTE. NORTH 5

GARDEN CITY 0

The Norsemen won their second straight Tuesday behind Janet Burt's two goals.

Garden City (0-2) was outshot 16-11.

'Vanities' production rates high

review

Performances of the comedy "Vanities" by the Spotlight Players (formerly Wayne-Westland Civic Theatre) continue Friday-Saturday at John Glenn High School Auditorium on Marquette in Westland. For ticket information, call 595-6117.

By Debi Barsamian
special writer

In "Vanities," director Michael Swain and the Spotlight Players have produced a play that is technically and artistically an outstanding amateur production.

The play exposes the shallow social values that women seem so easily influenced by and willing to accept. The production unfolds, and we see three girls already influenced by these values.

They develop from high school cheerleaders to sorority coeds to adults. In their adulthood, we watch painfully as each woman begins to deal with the compromised life her false values have forged.

JoAnne, portrayed by Mary Jo Cobello, represents traditional values. She is content to be a wife and mother and trust in her husband's better judgment.

COBELLO IS SUPERB in the role. Her interpretation of the character is exact, and her character is consistent throughout. Much of the play's comic relief results from JoAnne's naivety. Cobello's spacey, unwieldiness and timing are wonderful.

In Act Three, we discover that JoAnne, in adulthood, has a drinking problem. Cobello's character, however, is still the simple JoAnne that has given us reason to chuckle all along.

A little more pathos, a little more frustrated bewilderment at a world that allows abortions would have made JoAnne's motivation to drink more apparent. Still, Cobello is a joy to behold.

Another superior performance is given by Gail Susan Mack in the role of Mary. Mary is the character that needs to rebel against any value that may constrain her. Her independence is fundamental to her emotional security.

Mary's sexual promiscuity is one way of alienating others and insuring that independence. Mack portrays this character with intelligence and insight. Her performance is a lesson in character development for any aspiring actor.

MACK SPROUTS from a fidgety, contemptuous cheerleader to a promiscuous college coed pleased with the sensationalism of her sexual activity. She finally bursts on stage in Act Three as an intensely radical but resentful woman.

Mack's character has energy, direction and impact. Carolyn Handler is genuine and sincere in her portrayal of Kathy. As the head cheerleader in Act One, Handler sparkles. It is sheer pleasure watching her do cartwheels and flips at the same time she's arranging the social calendar of the high school.

Watching her in Act Two is also very gratifying. As a senior in college, Kathy begins to feel trepidation about her future. The concern and apprehension Handler expresses is totally believable. The audience also feels her growing pains.

In Act Three, Kathy begins to reappraise the values of her youth. She realizes the emptiness of those values and her viewpoint hardens. JoAnne accuses Kathy of being cynical.

BUT THE CYNICISM isn't really expressed by Handler. The dissatisfaction with the result of her life is in Kathy's lines but not communicated with feeling. In many ways, Handler is still the softer, more youthful Kathy.

Overall, however, Handler's portrayal is very good. She is talented. Being a part of her audience is very enjoyable.

The technical aspects of this production are as good as the acting. The set is impressive. It is simple, functional and elegant. The set consists of dressing tables with lighted mirrors, a hanging mask above each table and different-length crates arranged as necessary for each act. The use of the crates is ingenious.

Special mention must be made of the sound effects. Contemporary music is played before each act to indicate the time period of the ensuing act. The music selections are appropriate and help set the mood for the scene to come.

In Act One, school bells ringing and a principal's announcement over the high school public address system are well done.

Director Swain's interpretation of the play's theme is sensitive and insightful. He has directed a play that is warm, poignant and thought provoking. The Spotlight Players can be congratulated for selecting and producing this adult drama.

Piano, ballet team up delightfully

By Mary Jane Doerr

review

There is something about ballet and piano that complement each other. Is it the definite notes of the piano that combine with the movements of the ballerina? Or is it merely a long tradition that continues to be followed?

Dancing to a full house Friday evening at Southfield-Lathrup High School, the Contemporary Civic Ballet performed a classical ballet that brought elegance to Beethoven's Concerto No. 5 (the "Emperor").

Pianist Ruth Burczyk provided a sensitive interpretation that was backed by the Oakway Symphony Orchestra under the baton of its music director and conductor, Francesco Di Blasi.

The regularity of Beethoven's composition was matched by the 21 members of the local ballet troupe and the choreography by its founder Rose Marie Floyd. Floyd grouped the dancers in numbers of three or four or as solo or duos.

As a concerto, "the Emperor" can be tricky for a pianist. There are many repeats, and it takes a great deal of creativity for a pianist to keep it interesting for the audience.

The ballet began with a solo ballerina dressed in pink against a plain blue backdrop. The men were dressed in gray and silver. As the ballet moved with the music through the various repeats and embellishments from the quiet adagio to the rondo, Floyd increased the number of dancers on the stage.

She matched the traditional stidstep movement of the dancers with the rondo theme of the third movement, successfully expressing the emotional qualities that fill the music.

Just as the ballet began with one dancer, it ended in a circle that increased and fanned out intricately into classical position that filled the stage with all of the dancers.

As a concerto, "the Emperor" can be tricky for a pianist. There are many repeats, and it takes a great deal of creativity for a pianist to keep it interesting for the audience.

As a concerto, "the Emperor" can be tricky for a pianist. There are many repeats, and it takes a great deal of creativity for a pianist to keep it interesting for the audience.

Anyone who has heard the "Emperor" performed by a musician who does not understand the emotional qualities in the music knows how easily the music can turn into a finger exercise.

The evening began with the Overture of "Candide" by Bernstein. This reviewer enjoys Bernstein more as a conductor than as a composer, and certainly "Candide" on Broadway was no success. However, the overture served as a nice opener for the concert.

Debussy's "Nuages," meaning clouds, was beautifully interpreted by Di Blasi and the orchestra. Barbara Grover added interest with her English horn solo, backed by the orchestra and concertmaster Emily Austin, violinist Judi Bennett and cellist Jacob Becker.

If sounds could be seen, Debussy's music would show up on a painter's canvas undoubtedly as impressionism. The motion of clouds, in this case, are represented by sounds echoing through the orchestra.

IF IT HADN'T been overshadowed by the impressive performance by Burczyk and the Contemporary Civic Ballet, Vittorio Giannini's "Symphony No. 2" might have had a more profound effect.

The composer was a teacher of Di Blasi, and it is assumed that the reading was close to what the composer intended. The relatively modern work was very contemporary in some sections such as the third movement, yet in the second movement the melodious tunes seemed far from contemporary.

Best description of the work comes from the names of the first two movements, "energetic" and "elastic."

The orchestra was at its best during the lively Beethoven concerto. The melodies were beautifully echoed through the different sections, and Di Blasi's tempo benefited both Burczyk and the Rose Marie Floyd Ballet Company.

Final concert of this season will feature Ralph Votapek, the first Van Cliburn International Piano Competition Medalist, on May 22 at Orchestra Hall in Detroit.
