Allan Cieslak of Pine Trial Court in Plymouth Township was pronounced dead at St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor at 8:15 p.m., about one hour after his car left the road and rolled over.

Cieslak was traveling south on Curtis ~ Road, approaching Joy Road at a high rate of speed when he failed to negotiate a series of curves, according to Washtenaw County Sheriff Deputy Mark Giffin.

The car, a 1977 Oldsmobile Cutlass, first went off the road on the right side. It then pulled back across the centerline and went off the road on the left side, Giffin said.

As Cieslak's car left the road the second time, Giffin said the wheels dug into the ground, causing the car to rollmaking a complete flip and landing on its wheels.

The cause of death, according to Giffin, has been listed as head injuries and cardiac arrest. Cieslak was not wearing a safety belt.

'If he had been restrained, he probably would have lived with just minor, superficial injuries," the deputy said. Officers don't know if alcohol was in-

Warrant out in sex photo case

By Diane Gale staff writer

A warrant was issued Wednesday for the arrest of a 38-year-old man in connection with the March seizure of allegedly pornographic photographs of more than 250 young girls and women from his Canton Township home. Investigating police say the suspect may have left the state.

The warrant, signed by 35th District Judge James Garber, charges dissemination of sexually explicit material to a minor - a high misdemeanor. The maximum penalty is two years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine, according to Sgt. Ronald Mattioli of the Michigan State Police Livonia post.

'As far as I know he's not in the state," Mattioli said. "He moved out of the area. I haven't the foggiest idea (where).

The Wayne County Prosecutor's Office requested the warrant Wednesday "we got some new informa because tion," Mattioli said, declining to elabo-

EXPLAINING WHY the suspect was not restricted from leaving the area, Judge Garber said: "There's no procedure in our law to accomplish that. Otherwise you can lock them up (suspects) while you're investigating.

You can do that in Russia, but not here "We can't say that we don't have enough evidence for a warrant, and then say that we can hold you or set a bond," Garber said.

At 1:30 a.m. March 19, after a sixweek investigation, Canton Township, Livonia and Michigan State Police officers seized cameras, tapes, movie film and more than 1,000 pictures of women and young girls.

A felony is committed when pornographic photos of models under 18 years old are produced or distributed for commercial purposes. The production charge carries up to a 20-year prison sentence and/or a $20,000 fine. Distribution is punishable by up to seven years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Earlier this month, Michigan State Police Lt. Jack Reed said he didn't believe the warrant would include "the

How western Wayne County residents call for emergency help could be changed in the future.

A recently formed group of police chiefs, meeting informally to discuss common problems and efforts, is exploring the possibilities of installing the Enhanced 911 system.

'It's a good system, it would just take a lot of work to get it in place if that's what the chiefs want to go to, said Plymouth Township Police Chief Carl Berry, a member of the group.

Enhanced 911, referred to as E911, is an emergency dialing system offered through Michigan Bell. E911 offers more features than Basic 911 (B911) service and requires less phone trans-

If the horrifying ordeal experienced by a Canton couple were the plot of a movie, you'd probably say it was too far-fetched.

Imagine being in a car going 60 mph on the expressway and the driver passes out. Suddenly the heroine sitting in the passenger's seat takes control of the wheel, guides the car until it rolls to a stop because a console keeps her from reaching the foot pedals - and revives the driver single-handedly. They both escape

Doctors are still unsure why he passed out, but Henry - a dentist at Henry Ford Hospital Fairlane Center in Dearborn - says he thinks his body was reacting to a combination of too much caffeine and sugar, which he consumed about 20 minutes earlier.

THE COUPLE, who have been married 42 years, were headed home after a visit with one of their 10 children. Henry said he tried fighting a feeling that he was going to fall asleep. "I had a feeling of no control," he said. "It would be like all of a sudden me keeling over right here.

Henry's foot left the gas pedal and they coasted to a stop. Rita Louise motioned with her hands as she reenacted how she grabbed the wheel.

'It makes me shiver to think of the gutteral tone he used when he told me to take the wheel," she said. "I did an awful lot of praying. I said, 'Jesus I don't know what to do, help me.' I was thinking about putting the air conditioning on, wiping his face, talking to him, and praying.

Tree lovers battle county to save their landscape

A Canton couple plans to take on Wayne County to save a small cluster of trees near their home in front-of their house, tucked away on the west side of Sheldon Road north of Palmer.

The trees, mostly oak, are scheduled to be knocked down as part of a if they are cut, according to Tadlock Wayne County road paving project in Canton. Across the street from the Tadlock home on the east side of the road is a steep drainage ditch.

"I think it's so tragic to see all those beautiful trees stripped just to get a road," said Virginia who is unsure about the ages of the trees.

They're the most beautiful trees in the summer," she said.

WAYNE COUNTY CIRCUIT Judge Maureen Riley approved a restraining order filed Tuesday by John Pomann, the Tadlocks' attorney, to save the trees pending a July 26 hearing before Wayne County Circuit Judge Roland Olzark.

No monetary compensation, other than possibly the cost of filing the suit, will be requested, Pomann said. The Westland attorney said he didn't expect the case to go further than the

Whether the trees are owned by the county or the Tadlocks will determine and McCann.

The court order applies only to the area directly in front of the Tadlock's home. Approximately 37 trees line a stretch of about 1,300 feet of road. About 14 of those trees have trunks measuring more than 18 inches in diameter. The road paving project is not expected to be delayed due to the restraining order, according to township officials.

"They tried to get in touch with other people on the block, but they were unsuccessful," Pomann said. 'We'd like to save the trees for the whole road, but we don't have any standing for that."

The Tadlocks' position is that the

"THE COUNTY ALREADY owns the drainage ditch and they can use that property to build the road," Pomann said. "They can pave over the ditch, and that would be the safest thing to do. The county has said the trees are a hazard and they should be removed, but as long as the Tadlocks have been there, no on has run into the oak trees. Hundreds of people have fallen into the ditch.

"Aesthetically and from a safety point of view they (the county) should extend the road in the easterly border," Pomann said, "It's a beautiful drive, and anytime you have trees hanging over the road it makes it

An enhanced system would allow residents to dial 911 and have their call routed to their own dispatch center without transfers because the calls are routed by community boundary rather than phone exchanges (which don't follow boundaries). With the basic service, a Plymouth dispatcher has to forward any 911 call coming from outside

For example: a Plymouth Township resident dials 911. The call rings at the City of Plymouth dispatch center and the caller is asked for his/her location. Once it's determined the call is coming from Canton or Plymouth Township, the dispatcher forwards the call to the township dispatch center.

BESIDES ELIMINATING the time-consuming step in transferring, the E911 system has other advantages, Berry said.

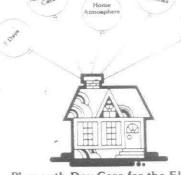

Incoming 911 calls on the enhanced system are accompanied by a video readout which can identify the calling phone number and street address. In the case of a business dialing 911, the enhanced system also displays the business name.

Other features include forced disconnect, to free 911 lines, default routing, for emergency backup and speed calling. The forced disconnect feature is important in the event someone deliberately ties up the 911 lines. With this feature a dispatcher can clear the lines. Default routing would work in the event the comouter routing system failed or garbled. Another eature, alternate routing, allows emergency calls

The flavor at Canton's Roman Forum restaurant was unmistakably international Monday as Canton Rotarians bid goodbye to two Europe-bound students. Blond Swede Mattias Pettersson, 17, was winding up his year in Canton and Plymouth, and attending his last club luncheon. A jet he boards omorrow will take him home to Tumba.

A bubbly Barbara Clark, a Canton 16-year-old. told Rotarians how eager she is to leave for Hanover, Germany, where she'll enroll at Schillerschule. a college prep high school, this fall. 'I will miss American weather," said Pettersson, who thought nothing last winter of running along a snow-covered Warren Road. "Winter comes later here. At home it starts to get chilly the end of Aug-

"I had very nice families - all four," added Pettersson, who lived with Lisa and Bob Huth of Plymouth, and Canton families Roberta and Karl Peterson (no relation to Mattias); Sue and Jim ohnston, and Claudra and David Snyder during his stay. "Also I made friends. The people here are more friendly than back home. Here they say, 'Oh you're from Sweden!' and they make a fuss over to go to private parties to make friends," said the youth, who thoroughly enjoyed the 8,000-mile bus tour of the U.S. he recently took with 136 other students from all over the world.

Clark, who wants to become an actress, photographer or musician, will be back for a final Rotary farewell in August before embarking on her vear-long adventure. She and Pettersson exchanged gifts and formalities with Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, who also attended the luncheon.

GREETINGS soon will be in order for Luis Ivan Escobedo Delgado, a 17-year-old Mexican student due here next month, and Canton's Pam Burton, freshly returned from Japan where she spent a year as a Rotary exchange student. Families still are needed to host Ivan for several other expenses will be covered by his parents and the Rotary Club. The youth, who hails from the island of Campeche, is considering a career in agriculture. Interested persons may call 453-2577, 981-4400,

"We do this to expose the exchange students to different social and economic conditions," said Barbara Clark of Canton will travel to Canton Rotarian Chuck Bares, an international Germany armed with Michigan youth chairman with the Ohio-Erie District Youth souvenirs for her friends-to-be. Exchange Program

The inter-cultural experience is a rich one for both families and their new "members," he added.

Whatever happened to the arms

I'm sure you remember all that stuff about kill ratios, nuclear winter and mutually assured destruction. It was in all the media for a while. But now we have Geneva and the "new" arms control talks, so we leave it to the experts.

But the arms race goes on.

If there hasn't been a lot of sweat and possibly a few angry people in the wake of some stories, the work is probably less than factual and readers might as well forego the paper and pick up a Harlequin at their local dime store.

There are those who wish my mother would have aborted me long before I saw the keys of a typewriter, and without those people. I'd question my integrity.

Reporting means steeling ourselves to natural emotions when calling relatives of victims who recently died, were critically injured or assaulted in some heartwrenching way. If it's handled with all the sensitivity that can be mustered the response is positive. They want the story told for a number of reasons - to save others from a similar tragedy, to set the record straight, to help find the suspect or to pay tribute to their loved one.

That question is posed in a report by the Citizens Research Council of Michigan, a private, non-profit organization funded largely by business.

"The Financing of Adult Education in Michigan," released in May, explains the profit motive in educating adults with less than a 12th-grade education. In some cases, that motive was so strong that it led to abuses in the system of state aid.

RESEARCH FOR the report was done by Robert McKerr, who previously served 18 years as state associate superintendent for legislation and finance.

Ironically, McKerr as a state employee and the council's executive director had knowledge of reported abuses in the Wayne-Westland school district. That case prompted the council to review the "overall issue" of aid to districts that educate adults. McKerr said.

that what's faulty in state aid for adult education is the system itself.

the more state aid to in-formula districts.

In years past, inflation and cuts in state aid ordered by Gov. William Milliken squeezed the general cost of kindergarten through 12th grade education. Some inormula districts compensated by developing marketing strategies to boost their enrollments and, consequently, state aid. The numbers are significant. In the 1983-84 school year, adult students accounted for 24.52 percent of enrollment in the Redford Union school district, according to the report. That district operates an adult ed program for the two Redford districts and Livonia, which gets no state aid.

In 1981, the Legislature passed a law requiring every motorist to have insurance - the so-called "Essential Insurance Act.

Someone figured out that many Detroiters, with high theft and damage losses, couldn't afford essential insurance.

So instead of letting insurance companies use actual losses to set premium rates, government decreed that there could be no more than a 10 percent differential between one rating zone and the next. Thus, if the rate in the central zone of Detroit were $1,000, the rate in the next zone would have to be $900, then $800, etc.

There was another political proviso The lowest rate charged by an insurer could be no lower than 45 percent of the highest rate - or $450 in our example.

First, suburban motorists got socked because their rates were tied to Detroit's. According to Sen. Doug Cruce. R-Trov. Detroiters pay $40 million in premiums Richard

THE THIRD effect of the Essential Insurance Act is a little more difficult to pin down. It appears the insurers are trying to reduce their losses by avoiding the Detroit state administrative officials as estimating that up to 40 percent of Detroit drivers aren't insured - even with the heavy subsidies paid to them by suburbanites.

Detroit lobbyist William Ryan, former House speaker known for thinking up ways to subsidize Detroit, declared a 'subtle form of redlining" is in effect Rep. DNR ought to recall and correct it. There are at least as many national forest campgrounds as state forest campgrounds. Moreover, many of the state forest installations are tiny (three to eight sites), poorly maintained mosquito hatcheries.

Like the MDOT map, the campground map could be easily corrected without becoming cluttered. National forests could be indicated in a different color. Soft touch Kids cuddle up to animals

By Richard Lech staff writer

A group of Redford children made some barnyard friends last week.

The kids found the cows "udderly" enchanting, the pony downright "neigh"borly and the rabbit "all cars" for their comments.

Using a basketball to dribble diplomacy

W OFTEN WE, the unworthy and undeserving, have cast envious eyes toward the huge men who prance up and down basketball courts shooting a round ball through a hoop for a living. For eight months of work a year they get paid millions, and while they fly coast-to-coast to play their games we travel no further than refrigerator-to-couch to watch them on TV.

So many times our envy turns to bitterness and despair. Why should they be so fortunate? we demand from an unanswering television. We would cheerily, graciously accept such a job for one-tenth the salary

But whatever magnitude our despair reaches over such an injustice, we let our dream dissipate with little argument, believing the opportunity will never come. The reason is simple: We do not possess their talent.

LIKE A GREAT majority of us, Dennis Nazelli has shared such dreams. But like a minority of us Nazelli has brought his dreams to fruition.

"I have two very serious passions in life," the Livonia resident explained. "One is traveling and the other is basketball. So I just married the two and made it a basketball exchange

It sounds too easy. And yet Nazelli realized his goals with an unelaborate plan: form a team, find some overseas competition, and figure out a method of funding

On that premise, Nazelli created Young Athletes Abroad (YAA) in 1982. It's goal was to take a team of young and willing basketball players to Europe. The learning experience, on and off the court, would be invaluable.

'We use basketball as the passport," said Nazelli, also a Dearborn High School assistant basketball coach. "That's the purpose of our traveling. We don't go over there with the intent of dominating the world. We share our knowledge, our technique and our drills, and we get the same from them.

"So in that sense, it does become a basketball exchange.

NAZELLI RETURNED last month from his sixth trip abroad with the team he coaches, the Livonia Cardinals. He has made two trips a year since founding YAA, normally taking 12- and 13year-olds in April and 13- and 14-year-olds in June.

Their destination always includes Sweden. The April team plays in a minor tournament there, but those on the June squad play for the Stockholm Basketball Cup, the largest such youth tournament in the world. Teams from Egypt, Iceland, Republic of China, Sweden and Finland form the competition.

But this year's June team took a side trip - to Leningrad, to play the Russian Spartak squad. While in Stockholm for last year's tournament. Nazelli learned of a ship line, ScanSov, that sailed twice weekly to Leningrad. After a few inquiries, he found he could bunk his team on the ship during a trip into the Soviet Union.

The director of ScanSov used his contacts to set up a game against Spartak. Nazelli later discovered his Cardinals would be the first youth team from the United States to play in Russia

SPARTAK, the second-best youth team in Russia, won the contest 61-46. The Cardinals returned home with a 10-2 record, including a thifd-place in the Stockholm Cup, and as Nazelli described it, "a different appreciation for their

Which perfectly defines what Nazelli hopes to accomplish with the YAA. His method of selecting players has little to do with basketball talent. "I want them to have one or two years of playing experience because I don't have time to teach them the game," he said. But anyone who answers his newspaper notices, which appear in August and September, can make the trip. The team tryout consists of Nazelli imparting his expectations of his players, usually dealing with academics and fund-raising efforts. "Normally, a chance like this only goes to the all-star athlete," said Nazelli. "But I've found an all-star can have an all-star attitude, and I don't need that. I'm more interested in their attitude

FOR THE EIGHT months prior to the trip, team members bury themselves into efforts to raise money. The goal is to collect 50 percent of the amount needed, with a different method each month (raffles, candy sales, etc.). The fundraising is on an individual basis, so some benefit more than others.

The June trip cost $1,350 for each of the eight team members. The least amount raised was $800, the most $1,000. The difference is paid by the player's parents. The success of Nazelli's program has attracted attention. Livonia Ladywood used YAA methods to send its girls basketball team on a trip through Scandanavia, and currently a pair of Swedish female teams are in town.

The Swedish teams started their 10-game tour last night at Livonia Stevenson. In the next two weeks they'll play teams from Bloomfield Hills Andover (July 25), North Farmington (July 30-31) and Ladywood as part of a two-game tournament at Schoolcraft College Monday and Wednesday.

His program is nobly designed to benefit the young, but Nazelli makes no attempt to hide his own gains. "I'm so fortunate to be able to travel and coach all over the world, especially Europe, said the YAA founder.

Surely, it's a dream come true.

Nature stalls star classic

staff writer

Mother Nature made things messy and uncomfortable last year. This year, she forced the postponement of the annual Adray All-Star Sandlot Baseball game Monday at Tiger Stadium with a unrelenting rainstorm.

There was talk among the organizers afterward of setting a makeup date for the annual classic which dates back to 1945, but not everyone is optimistic about the reality of replaying the

"They won't make this game up," said John Moraitis, who managed the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League allstars.

Too bad if they don't. Until the rains came Monday, the prospects looked good for some serious baseball.

THE LIVONIA all-stars took the field against all-stars from the Detroit Adray League's first, third, fifth and seventh place teams at 10 a.m. The game was called after three innings with Detroit clinging to a 1-0 lead. It was to be the first time in three years that Detroit and Livonia had played each other. Livonia, long considered a weak sister to the Detroit league, was out to prove it could compete with the elder circuit.

John Rogers, a Catholic Central grad now playing at the University of Detroit, started on the mound for Livonia representing Redford Little Caesars. He was greeted with a blast to the base of the right field wall by Adray Photo's Tom Hauck for a double.

Hauck, an Eastern Michigan University standout, moved to third on Scott Willis' (Adray Photo, EMU) fly ball to right. University of Michigan's Tom Brock (Adray Sound) then sent a fly ball to left center, some 400 feet away that Tyrone Gaines (Caesars) ran down Houck scored on the play.

Livonia got a single from Todd

LIVONIA PITCHERS Doug Doyle (Walter's Appliance) and Derron Armstrong (Caesars) checked the Detroiters on one hit each in their one inning of

Meanwhile, Detroit pitchers Dave Karasinski (Adray Sound, U-M) and Da-vid Sala (Adray Sound, U-Cincinnati) blanked Livonia. The rains washed out the scheduled duel between the Lansing all-stars and stars from the Detroit Adray League's second, fourth and sixth place teams.

Featured performers in that game were to be former Farmington Harrison football-baseball player Bob Wasczenski who was playing for the Lansing team. Wasczenski plays football at MSU

On the Detroit squad were such area players as Dave Slavin, former all-state catcher at Plymouth Salem now playing for the University of Missouri, and Bob Graham, a former star at Southfield High who now attends Henry Ford Community College.

The rain did go away Monday in time for the clash between the LCBL stars

Tim Osborn scored a pair of goals for the Falcons (1-2).

THE WILDCATS held off the Lakers

"This has to be the biggest shootout in MSHL history," said Lakers coach and league commissioner A.J. Baker.

The Lakers, down 8-3 late in the second period, twice pulled within a goal of the Wildcats. But Tim Helber's goal late in the third period iced the game for the Cats.

Mike Finn scored twice and added three assists; Kerry Kennedy scored twice for the Wildcats.

The loss dampened a huge night for the Lakers' Jason Tratechaud. Celebrating his .5th birthday, he scored twice and had three assists. Troy Thrun added a pair of goals for the Lakers.

Also on Sunday, the Wolverines notched their first win of the season busting the Broncos 6-3. Bart Cammarata scored twice and Scott Robins chipped in a goal and two assists.

First. Pat Day, the nation's leading jockey over the past three years, disappointed many race fans by riding just one winner in eight mounts. That left him three victories short of his 3,000 win goal.

There was more disappointment to bettors who made Day's mount, Big Pistol, a 7-10 favorite in the feature event. Big Pistol ran fourth in the Mile while Michigan-bred Badwagon Harry pulled away down the stretch to win the $189,120 race. Harry. ridden by Ricardo Lopez, went off at 13-1 and paid $29 for a $2 win bet

Ladbroke DRC officials attributed the solid turnout to an excellent racing program led by Day, good advertising and marketing; and a pair of speial promotions — a free $2 daily double bet and a new car giveaway.

The betting was also the best since Shoemaker's appearance: $1,782,065. The 1982 Mile drew 14,000 fans, who bet over $1.8 million while watching the egendary Shoemaker

The showing boosted hopes of Ladbroke DRC officials. Since their takeover and subsequent switch to an all-thoroughbred racing program, attendance has improved from an average of 3,500 last year to 4.100 this year, with betting increased from an average of $616,000 in 1984 to $666,000 currently. "Saturn 3" (1980), 8 p.m. Friday on Ch 4 Originally 88 minutes TV time slot 120 min-

No one raves about "Saturn 3," but there are a few things undeniably appealing about it. One is its futuristic premise about an outpost on one of Saturn's moons. The lifestyles of the outpost's inhabitants - played by Kirk Douglas and Farrah Fawcett - are idyllic until a serpent, in the form of a robot named Hector, enters their Eden, Hector and the inhabitants eventually clash, of course, but ideas clash first. That's one nice thing about "Saturn 3" - ideas and action take precedent over special effects. Yet the special effects, which are used most economically, are quite convincing. It's also nice to see Fawcett appear comfortably convincing in one of her first grown-up roles after she abandoned the bubblegum-brained "Charley's Angels." Harvey Keitel co-stars.

WHAT ARE YOU DOING AT NIGHT? IF YOU WANT TO GET AHEAD, GO BACK TO SCHOOL!

HOW TO

Holding a garage sale is a fun way to do a little business on your own ... but it takes a bit of planning. Like you'll want to decide what to sell and how much to charge for each item ... and then you'll need price tags so other people will know what you're

And you'll have to be able to make change for all your customers . . . so that means you should have lots of one dollar bills and an assortment of coins.

Then you'll want to advertise your sale to attract that crowd. You can do it with a sign or signs in your neighborhood . . . but you'll want a bigger crowd than that . . . so you'll run an ad in Classified which tells the time and place of your sale to a host of potential buyers.

Have fun with your little business adventure!

Pick up your tree Garage Sale folder in our office when you place your ad! (Contains two signs, two arrows, a handy ledger, 14 tips for a successful sale and nine tips for a successful ad)

Ann Arbor art fairs offer rich diversity

There's something new about the oldest of Ann Arbor's art fairs, and visitors can see for them-selves Wednesday-Saturday, July 24-27, when the Ann Arbor Street Art Fair comes to life on South and East University avenues, near the University of Michigan campus in Ann Arbor.

For these four days, Ann Arbor becomes an open air art gallery. Each booth offers a new art treasure and the chance for conversation with an artist. Fair hours will be 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Wednesday-Friday and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday. The Ann Arbor Street Art Fair is the city's oldest and original juried fair, the one that started Ann Arbor's art fair tradition in 1960. A RIGOROUS jurying process has led to the fair's reputation as one of the most outstanding in the country. This year, a change in that selection process has brought in more than 100 new artists, (out of a total 250) to exhibit their work.

Whether or not an artist is invited back for the next fair depends on the results of the on-street jurying done during the art fair itself.

"In the past, only a limited number of openings for new artists were available because each year 75 percent of participating artists were asked to return," said Jean Lau, co-chairperson of the art fair's Acceptance Committee. "As a result, the 900 new artists applying to the fair every year were in competition for 40 to 60 spaces.

THIS YEAR, the Art Fair Board decided it was time to make a change in the rules. From now on, every medium (clay, fibers, etc.) will be completely rejuried every four years, on a rotating basis. The year that a medium is scheduled for rejurying, no artist in that medium will be invited back for the next year's fair. All artists will have to reapply, in competition with new artists who never have exhibited in the fair before.

To apply to the fair, artists send in five slides that are judged by panels of professional artists knowledgeable in their fields.

Clay, sculpture and wood works were completely rejuried this year. As a result, twice as many new artists are in the 1985 fair than in previous years.

ART FAIR Week in Ann Arbor is actually a coming together of three distinct art fairs: the Ann Arbor Street Art Fair, the smaller State Street Area Art Fair and the Summer Arts Festival. Each has its own unique flavor and dedicated following, and the combined fairs present the work of close to 1,000 artists during the four-day event.

The State Street Art Fair, which began in 1968, is a juried fair of some 165 artists sponsored by the State Street Area Association.

The Summer Arts Festival, displaying the work of nearly 600 artists, takes place at two locations: on Main Street, between William and Huron, and on State Street, between William and South University. All of its exhibitors are members of the University Artists and Craftsmen Guild, a national organization committed to the promotion, development and cultivation of contemporary arts and crafts. It

OVER THE years, the diversity of artwork shown at the Ann Arbor Street Art Fair has increased. In 1960, most of the artwork fell into three categories: ceramics, painting and weaving. Now fairgoers can see sculpture, photography, prints, woodcarvings, blown glass, drawings, enamels, jewelry, paperwords, engravings and etchings. The weaving category has expanded to include other kinds of fabric creations, such as clothes created from painted fabrics, soft sculpture and off-loom

All artists are present in their booths, giving the fair the atmosphere of an art colony. Fairgoers can satisfy their curiosity about how a piece of art was produced or what materials were used. And the fair provides the perfect opportunity for finding out about the life of an artist.

The goal of the Ann Arbor Street Art Fair Board hasn't changed over the years.

"We wanted and we still want to put before the public the work of good artists. We like to educate the people," said Esther Rainville, one of the original organizers who still is involved with the fair.

ONE METHOD of educating people - demonstrations by the artists - has proved to be a very popular feature of the Ann Arbor Street Art Fair. This year, 21 individual artists plus the Ann Arbor Potters Guild will give fairgoers a peek at the creative process as they produce original artwork step-by-step in their booths its very beginning.

"We have people who are good in a field and we have them demonstrating so people can see how things are done," Rainville said. "If we just had people selling, the public wouldn't be learning."

COMMUNITY PARTICIPATION is another goal of the Ann Arbor Street Art Fair

In addition to providing an opportunity for visitors to watch artists at work in their booths, the fair operates a supervised Children's Activities Booth, staffed by the Ann Arbor Y, to give youngsters their own hands-on experiences of art. The booth will be open from 10 a.m. to noon and 2-4 p.m. daily.

"Here, children are encouraged to dirty their hands making papier-mache masks, glue and sawdust pictures, paintings, or simply to experiment with new materials, such as wood or clay, said Mary Keren, who coordinates the booth.

Members of the Senior Citizens Guild have been participating in the fair for many years. The guild has a booth on South University between East U and Church streets, where it exhibits its members' work for the community to enjoy and purchase.

The Potters Guild also exhibits and sells members' work at the fair. Potters Guild members demonstrate ceramic techniques during the event.

THE FAIR'S Purchase Awards program gives corporations and individuals the opportunity to be visibly supportive of the creative arts.

From jazz to mime, it's under the Arch

Daylong entertainment at the Ann Arbor Street Art Fair will be

Where to park

The huge popularity of the Ann Arbor Art Fairs presents the city with a parking problem.

As an alternative to parking downtown, the Ann Arbor Transportation Authority will offer the Art Fair Shuttle Bus service. Visitors may park their cars free at Briarwood Shopping Mall or Pioneer High School, and take a shuttle bus to the fair.

One-way fare for the shuttle bus is $1. Children under age 5 ride free. The service will operate continuously from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. Wednesday-Friday, July 24-26 and from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday, July

PIONEER HIGH School is located across from the Michigan Stadium. Take I-94 to the Saline-Ann Arbor exit 175 north. Visitors coming from the north should stay on M-14 to Maple Road and follow Maple and Stadium to the high school. To get to the shopping mall, take I-94 to the State Road exit 177 and follow the signs north to Briarwood.

Two shuttle bus routes will be available. The "Main Street" shuttle will take visitors to a deboarding point at Main and William for the Summer Arts Festival and Main Street Fair. The "South University" shuttle will service the Street Art Fair and State Street area art fair. This bus will stop at Tappan on South University.
