Local races also at stake Tuesday

By Emory Daniels
staff writer

While the race between Gov. James Blanchard and Republican challenger William Lucas may be attracting the most interest, if not producing the most rhetoric, there will be many local offices to be decided by Plymouth-Canton voters tomorrow.

For Congress in the 2nd District, which includes Plymouth, U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, is being challenged by Dean Baker of Ann Arbor. An economics instructor at University of Michigan, Baker has a large following in Ann Arbor, has pockets of support in the Plymouth area, and has been campaigning heavily in Jackson.

election '86

In the 15th District, which includes Canton, U.S. Rep. William D. Ford, D-Taylor, has an easier challenge from Republican Glen Kassell of Westland. While this is Kassell's third try against Ford, the 15th is so heavily tilted in the Democrats favor that a challenger against Ford has a far more difficult task than Baker does against Pursell in the 2nd.

FOR THE STATE Senate in the 6th District (which includes Canton, Plymouth, Northville, Livonia and Redford) Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, is challenged by Democrat Thomas Healy of Plymouth.

While Healy has a record of public service as an assistant attorney general, the 6th District has grown into a "safe" district for the GOP — particularly since Canton has lost its Democratic influence during the Reagan years. Geake, a former state representative and Schoolcraft College trustee, went to the Senate as a replacement for Pursell when he was elected to Congress.

For the Michigan House, Canton and Plymouth voters in the 36th District will be choosing between Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth Township, and Democratic challenger Kathy Reilly. Law, a former Plymouth Township Trustee with business experience with Ford Motor Co., has been campaigning while Reilly has not been seen at the League of Women Voters Forum or at other appearances. Law seems destined to return to Lansing.

Likewise, on the Democratic side of the aisle, Rep. James Kosteva, D-Canton, seems certain to return to Lansing in the 37th District, which includes half of Canton, Wayne, Belleville and Romulus. Republican challenger Theodore Jacques of Romulus has a number of traditionally Democratic votes in Wayne, Belleville and Romulus to sway in his direction to produce a close race here. If Gov. Blanchard runs well in Democratic areas as expected, Kos-

SELECT VOICES: The following Centennial Educational Park Vocal Music Department students were selected following extensive auditions recently to sing in the Michigan School Vocal Association Senior High Regional Honors Choir:

Seniors — Sara Erickson and Heather Keehn, sopranos; Kerri Flynn, Sheila Harris, Ann Janette Cuper, altos; Stephan Otten, baritone. Juniors — Jennifer Cherry, alto; Michael Kavalhuna, baritone. Sophomores — Amy Pennington, soprano; Cory Cox, bass. Freshman — Paul Croll, tenor.

These students will now memorize four additional pieces of music and audition again on Saturday, Dec. 13, when a total of 300 singers statewide will be chosen as members of the three senior high state honors choirs for 1987. The CEP will be hosting one of those state honors choirs for three days of rehearsals preceding a performance in Ann Arbor in January.

INTEGRATING ARTS:

The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools' Academically Gifted Program, directed by coordinator Cheryl Johnson, has been awarded the Michigan Association for Academically Talented's annual award for its "Integrating the Arts: A Celebration of Gifted Child Week."

Integrating the Arts focused on written, visual and performing arts, which were interwoven through the curriculum to enhance content learning in math, English, social studies and science. Students were encouraged to create art in response to the concepts or ideas they were learning. Culmination of the yearlong project was a cooperative effort with the Plymouth Community — an anthology of student writing entitled "Concepts." Products were displayed and performances held in downtown Plymouth during Gifted Child Week last May.

Residents with sewer back-up problems lie-ten to Canton Supervisor James Poole outline failures in the system and flaws in the township's involvement in a project known as Son of Supersewer.

Canton wins 2 battles in ongoing sewer war

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Canton reportedly received a temporary permit Friday from the state Department of Natural Resources allowing the township to pump storm and sewage drainage during rainstorms in an effort to curtail basement flooding.

In some cases, though, even the pumping doesn't help keep basements dry.

Bill Caie, a Brandywine resident, said his basement has filled with 17.5 inches of sewage backup at its worst. When a nearby pump is running, it's not as bad but he still gets some flooding. The backup has cost Caie a washer, dryer and a many toys, among other possessions.

"We haven't flooded in about a year because of the pumping," said Gloria Arndt, a Brookside subdivision resident.

SOME 20 residents showed up for a Friday meeting called by Canton Supervisor James Poole to discuss their sewer problems and the effects of recent legal tangles blocking Canton's involvement in the North-Huron/Rouge Valley sewer project.

The project is a 20-year-old revised sewer plan commonly known as Supersewer and now Son of Supersewer. Actual construction on the project — designed to improve the sewer capacity for 16 communities — has not begun.

But residents aren't the only ones up in arms about sewer disputes.

The DNR banned sewer construction in Canton effective Oct. 24 because the township pumped untreated sewage into the Rouge River.

The ban — issued after Canton backed out of the Son of Supersewer project in September — is affecting between $50 million and $100 million in development, Poole said Thursday.

Canton will include this loss in a previously filed lawsuit that claims Canton is charged an unfair percentage of the total project cost, Poole said.

WAYNE CIRCUIT Judge Sharon Tevis Finch ruled Friday that before the DNR can deny sewer construction permits in Canton, a hearing must be held before an administrative law judge within seven days on each developer's request.

When the pumping station at Haggerty and Cherry Hill is in operation during heavy rainstorms sewage drains out of these pipes and flows to the Rouge River.

Poole said the ban was issued to force Canton to join the supersewer project.

He argued that Canton pumps raw sewage that's vastly diluted by water.

"Why is there 191 other sites dumping raw sewage, and Canton Township is the only one to get a ban?" Poole asked. "What are we supposed to do when basements fill up?"

A stipulation of the ban maintains that Canton has until Nov. 30 to come up with a sewer improvement program that is satisfactory to the DNR and ensures adequate capacity.

C. Gerald Hemming, attorney representing Canton, said in court Friday that Canton could become involved in the Ypsilanti Utility Community Authority, which treats sanitary sewage for Ypsilanti and for Washtenaw County townships. He said that system is 50 percent under capacity now and would welcome Canton's participation.

Police, fire head needed, study says

By Susan Buck
staff writer

The Canton Township Fire Department has been effective in fire suppression and prevention but lacks direction and focus.

Consequently, many organizational and operational problems remain unchecked.

That's one of the conclusions published in the long-awaited, $13,000 fire department study conducted by the Pennsylvania-based consulting firm of Bartell and Bartell Ltd.

AS A RESULT of Canton Township Board authorization of the study last February, the team spent more than 300 hours assessing the $1.5 million, 30-man fire department through tests and technology.

The study was discussed at the Oct. 28 board meeting. Another meeting is scheduled for 5 p.m. Nov. 13.

Bartell and Bartell issued nine recommendations which included: identification of the fire risk level; shift of department emphasis from fire suppression to fire prevention; professionalization and development of management; use of the National Fire Protection Association standards for hiring entry level personnel to develop a technical career path; development of a training program,

Fire department problems are outlined procedures manual and records system and establishment of a joint dispatch and communications center with police.

The study also cited recommendations for the eventual appointment of a public safety director to head the police and fire departments. Giving police Chief John Santomauro the dual hat of public safety director was cited as an option.

"I think the guys do a good job down there. They take a lot of pride in what they do," said township clerk Linda Chuhran.

Chuhran introduced the idea of doing a fire department study more than a year ago when Bartell and Bartell was conducting a similar study on the police department.

Chuhran said she was impressed with the good response time of 3.6 minutes that the fire department has been credited with for the last three years.

ACCORDING TO the report, approximately 439 fires occurred in 1985 with an average property loss of $946.92 and per response cost of $1,809. No civilian or firefighter lives were lost. The average number of firefighter injuries in the past three years is 5.33 per year.

The fire department provides two distinct types of services: fire (suppression, prevention, inspection and alarm response) and Emergency Medical Service (EMS or response to a medical emergency, rescue and transportation.)

In the past three years, the number of rescue runs increased an average of seven percent per year, from 730 to 1,321, while fire runs increased at an average of six percent per year from 401 to 682, said the report.

The frequency of rescue runs is 3.6 per day.

Canton has a population of 56,000.

"This raises a concern in assignment of personnel," said Bartell and Bartell in the report. "Currently all Canton Township EMS technicians are also firefighters. However, not all firefighters are EMTs. Therefore, an EMT is required to respond to rescue runs and to fires. An EMT then will respond to two runs to every one fire run, plus he must also respond to the fire run. In reality, an EMT is responding three times for every one time a firefighter responds.

"This is an indication of disproportional workload rather than a too heavy workload. . . . EMTs are paid an additional $400 per and many firefighters felt it was not 'worth it'."

The study said firefighters are divided into three teams that work 24-hour shifts, providing optimum coverage with the least amount of people but also with the disadvantage of too much free time, the report said. Dispatch is performed by a cadet. Forming a joint fire-police dispatch would free up three additional trained firefighter/EMTs who now work as dispatchers.

Claude Gersky, president of the Canton chapter of the International Association of Firefighters, declined comment on the report. Fire chief Mel Paulun was unavailable for comment.

IN ADDITION, Bartell and Bartell saw no need or justification for a third fire station.

"The desire (versus need) to have a third fire station may be prompted by the lack of available space in the current fire stations to house more large equipment. When the average emergency response time increases beyond five minutes for response to a fire run, the third station is justified.

"If the citizens wish to be provided with a faster response time and are willing to pay for it, the third station could be justified."

Low morale among firefighters also was found. Test scores revealed that firefighters "felt they were underemployed and that the future looked equally dim, if not worse, and felt that the 'management' doesn't seem to notice, care and/or be able to address the issue."

"Lack of a current program of rewards, passive management direction and seniority used for promotions are all a serious part of the motivation problem," the study said.

The average Canton firefighter has 10 years of service. The majority (18) have more than 10 years. Except for three cadets who were hired last year, the least seniority is six years.

The study also found that firefighters turn to their union activities to give them an avenue of expression and some recognition.

"In essence, the union has become a surrogate manager to augment the current management."

Jack-o'-lanterns flooded out

Canton farmer Duane Bordine shares the plight of every Wayne County farmer suffering from this summer's drought and heavy rain spells.

But the optimistic, undaunted Bordine is determined to weather the low yield and poor harvest. "Next year's going to be better," he says over and over. "Next year's going to be better."

BORDINE, 43, is unpretentious-looking as he talks. The conversation takes place at the kitchen table in the traditional American setting for airing farmers' concerns.

"We went weeks and weeks without any rain. My sweet corn went from a nine-inch ear to a four-inch ear. You don't know what crops are salvageable because you can't get into the field. I feel so sorry for the farmers in the Saginaw area where they lost everything."

If Bordine could play God, he would arrange for no more and no less than an inch of rain a week.

Bordine, who operates a vegetable stand at Ford and Ridge roads, lives one-half mile from where he was raised. Both he and his brother, Roger, followed in the family trade.

In total, Duane Bordine farms about 175 acres. Of 45 acres of sweet corn grown this year, Bordine estimates that 10 acres of corn valued at $6,000 were lost. Nine acres of pumpkins valued at $6,000 were lost. He estimates the total loss on crops this year to be $12,000-$15,000.

"We don't own this property here, we only rent it," said Bordine who believes that farmers are being pushed steadily out of Wayne County.

"Wayne County is dead for farming."

LESS THAN A dozen farmers operate in the Plymouth-Canton area, he said.

"Farmers are independent people. They don't like another farmer telling them what to do."

"There's just no money in farming," Bordine said. "I have three girls (Jeanine, 17, Heather, 16, and Melodie, 14) and they say, 'Dad, we would be stupid to stay on the farm as hard as you work and as little money as you make or even marry anybody on the farm. We can go to the factory and make more money or go into the medical profession.'"

Bordine is quick to make price comparisons. "In 1943, you could buy a three-plow tractor for $1,600. In 1986, the same tractor is $12,000. Taxes in 1943 are $1 an acre. Taxes today are $50-$80 an acre."

Add to Bordine's problems the problem of acid rain and the vandals and drunks who haphazardly drive across his acreage — further evidence of modern society's encroachment.

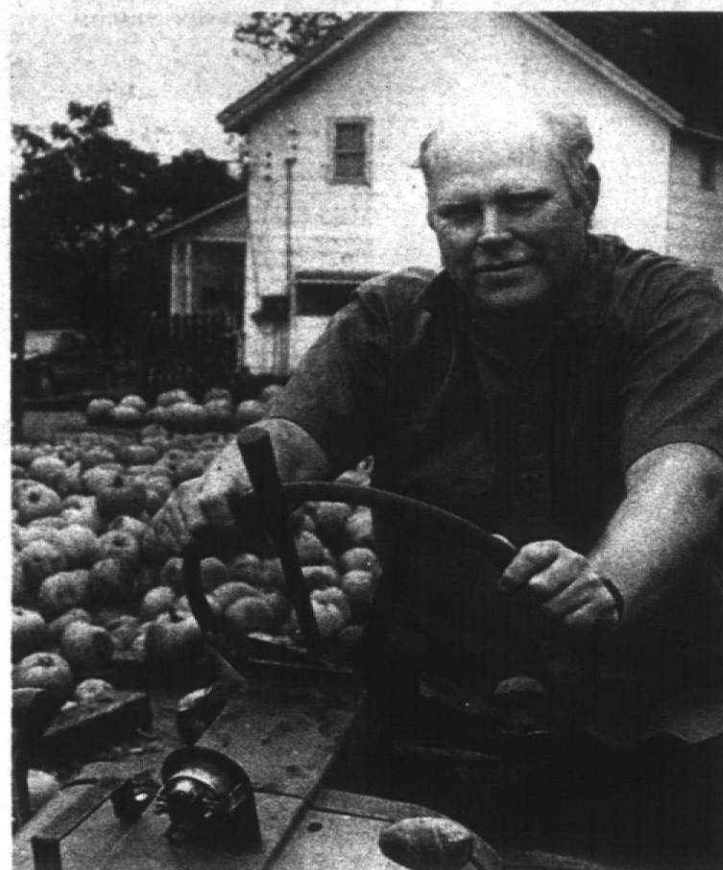

"There's so much acid rain around, I don't know how much damage that has on crops. You'll find acid rain on the muskmelons. Muskmelons are very susceptible to acid rain. The leaves will change in color."

BUT ALL is not bleak for Bordine and his wife, Sharon. Two years ago both decided to become certified clowns, named Blossom and Frolics, respectively. Both have entertained at 4-H benefits and taken part in parades. "I had to have something to laugh at."

Monday, Bordine donated and delivered 125 pumpkins, decorated by Plymouth-Canton commercial art students, to Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor and Penrickton Home for Blind Children in Taylor.

Before long, Bordine is singing the praises and benefits of farming again.

"You can go out in the morning and see the moon and the stars. You find peace with God."

Duane Bordine talks of better days as a farmer.

Would a prestigious optical store like NuVision resort to gimmicks like coupons during their Fall Sale?

(Couldn't hurt.)

There are those who consider it a bit undignified to offer quality eyewear at a discount price.

In most cases, the people who feel this way are the people who sell eyeglasses or contact lenses. Not the people who buy them.

After all, most people in the market for designer frames welcome the opportunity to save as much as $40 on their next pair of glasses. They don't mind taking scissors in hand in order to pay $20 less for a pair of daily wear soft or extended wear contact lenses.

But, if the prospect of clipping coupons out of a newspaper strikes you as a bit unseemly, feel free to continue paying too much for the latest innovations in eye care. The rest of us will be holding these coupons in our hot little hands and heading to NuVision before the big Fall Sale ends Nov. 22.

Canton-Plymouth TV has been called "unsatisfactory" by the Better Business Bureau for failing to respond to customer complaints.

The shop reportedly went out of business Friday.

Complaints precede TV repair business closing

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Canton-Plymouth T.V. was to have its last day of business Friday after numerous customer complaints about long service delays and unkept promises.

Rick Nadeau, owner of the business at Ford and Lilley roads, said Friday he planned to repair televisions out of his home as his primary business and work out of other locations. He has been operator of a television repair business in Plymouth-Canton under three names for the past 15 years.

Nadeau said he would contact the owners of the televisions he still has and give them the option of having him repair it or return it to their homes.

Customers complained about lengthy repair delays — some extending to almost a year. They also argued they were unable to get their televisions returned because they couldn't contact Nadeau.

A telephone number printed on the sign in front of the business has been disconnected for more than three weeks. Nadeau said he hopes to use the same number for his new business ventures.

He said he could understand why customers would be irritated because they were often unable to reach him by telephone, and because he was often away from the shop.

"I've been in and out so much and they thought I wasn't here and panicked. I've been trying to handle this the best I could."

THE BETTER BUSINESS Bureau has listed Canton-Plymouth T.V. as an unsatisfactory company "for failure to respond to customer complaints presented by the Better Business Bureau."

Canton police have fielded "about 12 verbal complaints" and "about eight written" reports on the business in the past few months, according to Canton Police Lt. Larry Stewart. They complained about being unable to get their merchandise and broken promises by Nadeau to be at the shop or to return their goods.

However, the Wayne County prosecuting attorney and the state attorney general's offices told police no criminal charges should be filed.

Canton police officers made appointments with Nadeau so residents could pick up their merchandise.

"I would go down there and say these people want their sets back, and then I'd call the customer back and that they could go down and pick it up," said Canton Police Detective Richard Pomorski.

"Every time an officer gave me a list of names I took care of them," said Nadeau. "I don't know of anyone right now that I haven't taken care of. I haven't charged anyone for something they didn't get back."

Karen Dempsey of Canton said she took her battery-operated Sony black-and-white television to Canton-Plymouth T.V. about one year ago. The exact time is unclear, she said, because the claim check is without a date.

"He repaired the same television for us and he had it done in a few days. I thought this guy is really good. It broke again but for a different problem."

Dempsey returned the television to the shop and was told it needed a resistor. Dempsey said, in the meantime, Nadeau informed her that an antenna broke and that he would repair that at no cost.

After repeated telephone calls and visits to the shop, Dempsey said Nadeau failed to return her television. On Oct. 13, Dempsey filed a Canton police report.

"I just think that people should know about this."

"This just seems so silly but it's the principle of the whole thing," Dempsey said.

Two weeks ago, Dempsey received her television, which was repaired at no charge. It worked in the shop but when she returned home, she said, it still didn't work. Nadeau offered to repair the television again, but Dempsey declined.

Resident named principal of Kettering Elementary

Warner Frazer of Plymouth has been appointed an elementary school principal in Wayne-Westland Community Schools.

The Wayne-Westland school board unanimously approved the appointment last week of Frazer as principal of Kettering Elementary and praised Superintendent Dennis O'Neill's recommendation.

"It's an excellent choice," Trustee Kathleen Chorbagan said. "He's done a marvelous job at Glenn."

Frazer had been John Glenn High School assistant principal. "At the risk of this sounding like the Warner Frazer fan club, I have to say he does more than is required of our administrators," board president Mathew McCusker added. "It'll be hard to go over to Glenn and not see him there."

Frazer replaces Sally Stavros at Kettering. Stavros was granted a leave of absence in October to accept an appointment as director of curriculum in the Ypsilanti School District.

Wayne- Westland School District

FRAZER, 43, has been with the school district for 20 years, starting as a social science teacher at Marshall Junior High School in 1966.

In 1968, he moved to Stevenson Junior High School, where he taught reading and history until 1979 when he was assigned to John Glenn High School as a reading teacher. In 1983, Frazer was appointed assistant principal at Glenn.

During his 20 years with the district, Frazer also has worked as a track coach and cafeteria supervisor and served as secondary reading chairman, the district's secondary reading department head and as sophomore, junior and senior class sponsor.

Frazer has a bachelor of science degree in history and a master of arts in reading, both from Eastern Michigan University, and an education specialist degree in elementary education from Wayne State University.

O'Neill is recommending Frazer for the appointment noted that he is "a recognized expert in curriculum and has earned an excellent reputation at the county and district levels in reading."

Teaching at Focus:HOPE

Tim Trahey, a 1980 Plymouth Canton High graduate, someday would like to become a teacher.

But, in the meantime, Trahey is helping underprivileged children at Focus:HOPE, a civil and human rights organization in Detroit.

A Madonna College senior, majoring in child development with a minor in elementary education, Trahey is a Focus:HOPE volunteer.

He volunteers his services at the food center, one day a week, teaching children from low-income families.

"As the parents wait in a food line, sometimes one to four hours, the children come to 'kidd corner' where I read books, tell stories and even teach them the alphabet."

"They love coming to my table to learn and play. If they are attending school, I encourage them to do well."

Trahey believes if you give children "nutritious food and encourage good learning skills, they will get off on the right foot."

Dr. Diana DelCampo, associate professor in Madonna's child development program, said:

"Focus:HOPE is the culmination of all of the theory that Tim has learned in the classroom — understanding children and meeting their individual educational needs."

One of eight children, Trahey understands what it means to help others.

"I come from a family of helpers. My mother, formerly a Madonna College English teacher, is now teaching writing skills at a community college."

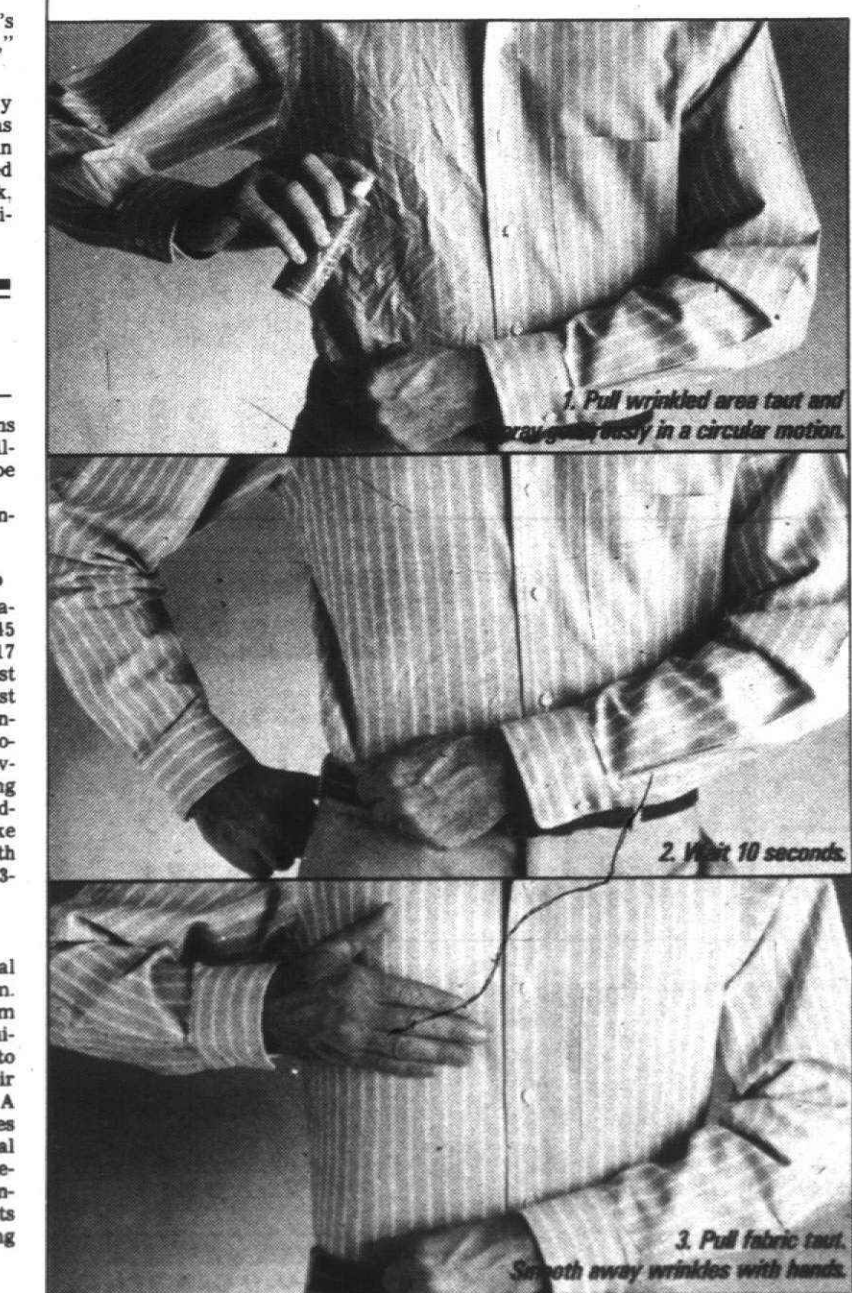

"My brother is a business major at Madonna with a minor in emergency technology. After he graduates, he intends to become a firefighter."

Trahey has two sisters — one a nurse, one a veterinarian — whom both enjoy helping others.

After graduation, Trahey plans to continue working with children at the Focus:HOPE food center together with volunteering his time between church organizations and community projects.

School district passes financial report card

By Sue Mason
staff writer

Wayne-Westland school district officials received some good news last week.

Their handling of the district's finances for fiscal 1985-86 earned a good report card from the auditors, Plante and Moran.

One piece of good news was in $2.1-million ending cash balance which made it possible to reinstate the elementary arts program and hire more teachers for larger-than-expected elementary enrollments.

The balance was substantially higher than the $363,023 projected when the school board approved the budget at the beginning of the year in June 1985.

But it was far less than the 5 percent of the operating budget — or about $3.5 million — auditors would like the district to have on hand for emergencies and to avoid cash flow problems, said Woody London, assistant superintendent for business services.

"We were caught flat-footed (on the larger-than-expected revenue)," London admitted. "So it (the audit) was very good news."

LOWER COSTS for operations and a substantial saving in the cost of health insurance were primary reasons the larger-than-anticipated balance, he added.

Wayne-Westland School District

The district serves southeast Canton.

Of the $2.1 million, more than $800,000 was restricted funds, or money needed to cover prepaid procedures for inventory and proceeds from land sales that are kept in a separate account and spent only as determined by the school board.

With revisions in the current budget, London pointed out, the board has already used up $1.3 million for the revisions covered the reinstating of the arts program and the hiring of the additional teachers.

THE AUDIT, presented to the board last week, included more good news — state aid topped local property tax revenues, reversing a four-year long trend.

Property taxes generated $32.6 million, while the state school aid added $32.7 million to cover the district's $65.3-million budget.

Most of the budget, 68 percent, went for instruction and support services, with business costs, such as operations and maintenance and transportation, accounting for another 24 percent. Six percent was used for administration and 2 percent for other expenses, according to the audit report.

In comparison to Wayne County as a whole, Wayne-Westland spent more per pupil for instruction, but less for support services. Overall the district spent $3,140 per student compared to the county average of $3,392.

The state equalized valuation of property in the district rose to $809 million, up more than $40 million from last year, but when adjusted for inflation, the SEV dropped to $717 million.

The auditors also compared the Wayne-Westland's SEV with five neighboring districts — Dearborn, Livonia, Plymouth-Canton, Garden City and Romulus. In that comparison, it ranked fourth behind Dearborn, Livonia and Plymouth-Canton.

When the SEV was compared on a per pupil basis, Wayne-Westland dropped to fifth, with Romulus moving into the fourth spot.

A LAWSUIT over the death of a child on school property left the final figures in the audit subject to change. The school district is a co-defendant in the suit.

School attorneys were unable to provide information on the district's potential liability in the case and as a result, the facts and figures in the audit are subject to the outcome of the lawsuit.

While pleased with the audit, London admitted that next year's report may not contain such good news. He expects the ending fund balance will be far less, possibly between $1 and $500,000.

He said school officials are hoping the assumptions on which the budget was based hold true throughout the year, but there are "many variables" subject to constant change.

Local races decided Tuesday

teva should produce a large plurality here tomorrow.

FOR WAYNE COUNTY positions, probably the closest race, which also might be ignored by many voters, will be for three spots on the Wayne Circuit Court bench in the 3rd District.

The six candidates running for three non-incumbent seats are Sean Kavanagh, Kathleen Macdonald, John A. Murphy, James J. Rashid, Gregory J. Stempien and David J. Szymanski.

For Wayne County Executive, Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara is the odds-on favorite even though Republican Bob Murphy has been more visible since the primary. For countywide offices though in Wayne County, a Republican has not been elected for decades.

For county commission, Northville Township Supervisor Susan Heintz is expected to win by a wide margin over Democratic challenger John Kopka of Livonia in the 10th District, which includes Plymouth, Northville, Livonia. The winner Tuesday will replace Mary Dumas who retired after a long career on the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

In the 11th District, which includes Canton, attorney Milton Mack, D-Wayne, is the incumbent. Republican challenger Scott Press, also of Wayne, has not the aggressive campaign needed to produce a GOP winner in a district which is heavily Democratic.

The lone county ballot issue (D) is a proposal to eliminate the office of county drain commissioner. There also will be three state proposals on Tuesday's ballot but there will be no local millage or other ballot questions.

The polls will open at 7 a.m. Tuesday and remain open until 8 p.m. Anyone standing in line at 8 p.m. will be allowed to vote. Residents showing up at the precincts will be voting punchcard in Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton as they did in August — the first time punchcard voting was used in both townships.

Because this is a general election, residents will be voting at municipal precincts — not at school precincts — for those who vote at different polling places.

Blanchard cool to capital funds

By Tim Richard
staff writer

If re-elected, Gov. James J. Blanchard will cast a wary eye at the request of some community colleges for capital funds.

"Every college wants capital funds. We'll have to take a look or we'll go broke," Blanchard said at a news conference last week as he wrapped up his re-election bid.

"We're solvent. I have a feeling everyone will be in Lansing for money."

The Democratic governor, a resident of Pleasant Ridge and the Oakland Community College district, was asked about the consortium of OCC, Wayne County Community College, Lansing Community College and a handful of other two-year schools. They plan to ask for state capital funds in 1987.

OCC Chancellor R. Stephen Nicholson contends the "urban" colleges had a special case to make.

BLANCHARD, while cool to construction for community colleges, said the state has made great strides in funding higher education during his four-year-old administration.

"We've increased support for public four-year colleges by 50 percent and for community colleges by 40 percent. We've made a massive investment in higher education."

"We've doubled the number of student grants. We've got the colleges to exercise tuition restraint."

"Four years ago, higher education was being cut," he said, referring to the economic recession and budget cuts of 1979-82.

"Community colleges are an important weapon for economic development. They are one of our principal weapons for job training."

THE STATE funds both operations and construction for the 15 four-year colleges and universities. They also charge tuition to cover operating funds. But they have no tax revenue of their own.

The 29 Community colleges get their operating money from three sources: state aid, local property taxes and tuition. They get no construction money from the state, relying on local bond issues repaid from voted property taxes.

An exception was the one-time grants community colleges received from a penalty imposed by a federal court on Exxon Oil Co. for overcharging home heating customers during the oil crisis of the mid-1970s.

Earlier last week, the Republican ticket of William Lucas and Colleen Engler was asked the same question in a Bloomfield Township news conference. Engler, a state representative, replied encouragingly. Lucas nodded agreement.

Standard Federal to sell stock

Standard Federal Bank, headquartered in Troy, has received Federal Home Loan Bank Board approval to convert from a mutual savings bank to a stock form of ownership. The conversion is expected by the end of the year, according to Thomas R. Ricketts, chairman and president of Standard Federal.

The bank will offer 23 million shares of common stock at a maximum subscription price of $15 per share. Standard Federal has applied to the New York Stock Exchange for listing of its stock. Proceeds raised from the stock sale will be used for loans and investments, expanding financial services and possible acquisitions.

The stock will be offered to eligible depositors and borrowers of the bank and will then be available to residents of Michigan and Indiana and other people to whom the offering circular is delivered in a subscription and community offering. Any remaining shares will be sold in a public offering underwritten by Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith and Solomon Brothers. Standard Federal will hold a series of investor meetings throughout the area beginning Nov. 12 and running through Dec. 5. Bank employees will be available to discuss the conversion.

A toll-free telephone number has been set up for those seeking more information regarding the conversion. Call 1-800-233-6775 from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. weekdays.

Standard Federal is a $7.5 billion financial institution with 83 branch offices located in Michigan and Indiana.

Proceeds raised from the stock sale will be used for loans and investments, expanding financial services and possible acquisitions.

Owners talk about chardonnay

Two extremely competent and successful California winery owners recently were in town, both with interesting things to say about chardonnay, winemaking and wine selling.

Fred Fisher, a Michigan native, escaped many years ago to various lands. He has now found his calling as owner of the Sonoma winery that carries his name. The winery is in the western slopes of the Mayacamas Mountains that separate Napa and Sonoma.

Fisher produced his first commercial wines in 1979. His vineyard was planted to chardonnay and cabernet in 1974, and he sold off his initial grapes. In their fifth year, he deemed them ready to make wines bearing his name.

The occasion for Fisher's Detroit-area appearance was to unveil his new 1984 chardonnay. It will be marketed as the "Coach Insignia," a designation to be used hereafter with his top-of-the-line chardonnays and cabernets.

BEGINNING IN 1985, there will be two of each flavor each vintage, the lesser wine to be called a Napa-Sonoma. Not yet priced, this "C.I." wine will be expensive, probably in the $20 range. But such a wine!

It is almost thick, with honeyed overtones, abundant viscosity but not fat and buttery. Only five percent of the cuvee underwent malolactic fermentation; the lack of any sharp edges in this young wine comes from winemaking skills, not from induction. The use of limonin oak has been most judicious.

The premier showing of this wine was the only one nationally. A real tribute to the developing Michigan market.

Fisher also brought along his 1982 cabernet, tasted later in the meal with Bavarian Blue cheese and French bread (does the London Chop House ever miss?). Elegant, charming, full, yet delicate, this is a model cabernet, rivaling France's and California's best.

A couple of days earlier Cecil DeLoach hosted a variety of audiences at several tasting events, marking only his second-ever visit to our area (the first being the Sonoma Wine-growers event last spring).

HE IS ANOTHER Sonoma grower, whose wines offer further evidence of the great leaps in quality that Sonoma wines are taking. Indeed, many wine observers — this one included — believe Sonoma has crept ahead of Napa with all wines except cabernet.

DeLoach Vineyards, some 10 miles west of Fisher in the western Russian River area, is a producer of wine

Richard Watson

10 wines, an unusually large number these days. Full production this year will be in the range of 50,000 cases. Hardly small, DeLoach is a whole dimension apart from Fisher with its two wines at 8,000-case-per-year production.

The tasting event reconfirmed for me that DeLoach is one of the most consistently superior wineries in all of California. I do not think he has every issued a weak wine. Most are excellent and, as important, affordable.

DeLoach delighted in telling the story of his original marketing strategy in 1977 when he began. He wanted to make only infidel, sell it all from the winery door and charge $2 a bottle. Naive and ridiculous!

HIS FIRST customer was Robert Stemmler, then still at Charles Krug, who upon tasting the wine, exploded, telling him he could not sell such a wine for $2. Stemmler meant "only $2," of course, but it took DeLoach a while to figure that out. Wise counsel, as it developed.

Today, DeLoach makes two chardonnays, both fume and sauvignon blanc (each treated distinctively to produce dramatically different expressions of this wine); two gewurztraminers, one a stunning late-harvest; cabernet; pinot noir; a fine zinfandel, and the inevitable white zinfandel (which accounted for 20,000 of his cases in 1985). Asked why he made so many different wines for a winery of his size, he said, "Because I like to have fun doing this. I have three winemakers and I like to keep them all alert and interested."

The two styles of the men reflect, I think, the two Sonoma approaches to wine. As laid-back as DeLoach is, Fisher is intense and serious. Court-tried Sonoma is also making intense steps forward to catch and surpass its more famous neighbor to the east. It remains a much more rural environment but the determination to excel is there. And it is now paying off.

C. Thomas Howell is Mark Watson, who pretends he is black in order to qualify for a scholarship to Harvard Law School in the comedy "Soul Man," with Rae Dawn Chong as Sarah Walker.

the movies
Dan Greenberg

Storyline offends in silly 'Soul Man'

"Soul Man" (PG-13) takes a clever idea and turns it into a slow-moving, uncomfortable film that should offend blacks, whites, bigots, liberals, lawyers and everyone connected with Harvard University, particularly its Law School.

Harvard folks who subscribe to the PR dictum, "As long as they spell the name correctly," will appreciate "Soul Man" because the university is well-photographed. Beyond that, however, any reasonable Harvard person should be appalled.

Mark Watson (C. Thomas Howell) is excited when admitted to Harvard Law School but his elation turns to despair when his wealthy father, Bill (James B. Sikking), decides to make a man of his son by letting him pay his own way. The three-year total for attending Harvard is more than $53,000, and Mark sees his dream fading rapidly.

His best friend, Gordon Bloomfield (Arye Gross), tries to help but there's no solution. Mark visits his father's therapist, Dr. Aronson (Max Wright), who has ill feelings toward his own son and has generated Bill Watson's hostility toward Mark.

THAT'S PRETTY tenuous and typical of the film's weak structure. While there's nothing wrong with that motivation — it has realistic potential — it is so slowly paced that the farce falls flat. Hesitant drama that leaves too much time to contemplate logical gaps is generally unsatisfying.

Mark is not to be denied by his father's weird therapist, and he raises tuition money via the scholarship route. The kicker is that the Bouchard Scholarship is for black students. Using friend Seth's (John David Bland) experimental tanning pills, Mark crosses the color line — in an unusual direction.

Sorry, but you guys in makeup should know that dark pancake and an Afro hairpiece don't make Caucasians black.

THE POTENTIAL for fast-paced farcical commentary on American race relations is lost, with poor execution in every department except photography (Jeffrey Jur) and music (Tom Scott).

Critic has no squabble with this comedy

Performances of "Squabbles" by Marshall Karp, presented by Jimmy Launce Productions, continue Fridays-Saturdays through Jan. 17 at Somerset Dinner Theatre at Somerset Mall in Troy. Dinner is at 6:30 p.m. at Sebastian's or 6:30 p.m. at Cafe Jardin. Theater-only tickets also are available. Doors open at 8 p.m. for the show in the lower-level theater. For ticket information, call 649-6629.

"Squabbles" at the Somerset Dinner Theatre is a jolly evening of entertainment about a pregnant yuppie couple (Alice and Jerry) who share their house in Connecticut with her big-mouthed, cheerful father, Abe, and his always-have-the-last-word mother, Mildred.

When it comes to slinging words, Alice (Nancy Minckler), who is a New York lawyer, and Jerry (Lindel Salow), who writes advertising jingles, are no match for their parents. To this articulate foursome add Hector, the cherubic Mexican gardener who shows up in every crisis talking goodness in wetback English. Kenneth Kelley's Hector is surely the most lovable, blue-eyed Mexican in all Connecticut.

Director Rebecca Smith allows Marshall Karp's picket-fence domestic comedy to make its points about intergenerational diplomacy and the art of aging wisely. Even picket fences have sharp points.

A lion's share of the credit for the play's delightful warmth goes to Howard Egan's ebullient portrayal of the 72-year-old Abe who moves in with his son-in-law and daughter after he has a heart attack. Abe believes a good squabble a day keeps him feisty and fit. He lacks a worthy squabbling partner until Mildred's house burns down and she moves in, too. Dody Broderson more than holds her own as the assertive Mildred.

and bicker happily ever after. Somerset Dinner Theatre offers theatergoers the choice of restaurants — Sebastian's for an elegant, gourmet meal, as well as dinner at the Cafe Jardin in the center court of the mall. Theater-only tickets also are available.

WHEN BABY arrives, Alice and Jerry decide they don't want to raise their child in a war zone, so either Abe or Mildred must go. The kicker comes when the two sworn enemies fall in love and decide to move out Cathie Breidenbach of West Bloomfield has always loved theater. A former high-school English teacher, she works in public relations, advertising and as a freelance writer.

County needs bailout loan, team says

A team asked by Wayne County Executive Democratic nominee Edward McNamara to examine the county's financial structure has reported that Wayne County will run out of money by Nov. 15 unless something is done now.

The team, consisting of four accountants and Livonia Mayor McNamara's administrative assistant, finished its examination of county financial records last week and said immediate short-term borrowing is needed.

Incumbent county executive William Lucas' staff had earlier announced that the anticipated sale of more than 900 acres of county-owned land in Northville Township could generate some $22 million in needed cash.

But hopes for that new capital have died out, particularly since bids received last month fell short of the projected amount by some $7 million.

"IT APPEARS at this point that that sale won't be consummated, at least until after the fiscal year ends," said Jack Dodge, chief of Livonia's finance director and one of four accountants on the team.

David Katz, McNamara's administrative assistant and the only non-accountant on the panel, called the sale of that property "an unrealistic expectation," especially when "every one of them (land parcels) has a cloudy title," he said referring to a still-unresolved dispute between Wayne County and the state of Michigan over property titles.

Referring to the potential for payless paydays, Katz said: "There are problems that are going to hit real quick in November. We feel we should speak out now to mount whatever pressure we can on Lucas and his people."

Katz said the committee had met for three weeks before issuing a preliminary report.

BUT DODGE said accountants have been combing public fiscal records since McNamara became the Democratic nominee for county executive last August.

The preliminary report cited several weaknesses in the county's accounting "internal controls," referring to some $1.5 million in bills the county has failed to charge for its services.

"The county is in the Neanderthal Age in doing that (internal controls)," said Katz. "The auditors (the county's outside accounting firm, Ernest and Whinney) found $1.5 million worth of unpaid bills just sitting in boxes. Some were two years old, still not paid."

"The outside auditors said it would be a lot easier to find things if they would just put the bills in alphabetical order. It's embarrassing."

ASKED WHETHER the county would sell the land in Northville

Township, county commission chairman Richard Manning said, "Heavens, no. A land sale at those prices doesn't get my vote or even two votes on the board."

Manning, who also favors short-term borrowing to stem a fiscal crisis, said he asked county attorneys last week to research whether "any one other than the county executive and his officers" can initiate short-term borrowing procedures "in case of some foul-up."

The county has not had to borrow money against future tax collections since before the charter change and the executive form of government was enacted four years ago, Manning noted.

IN A RECENT letter to county employees, Lucas said the idea of payless paydays was engineered by political opponents in an attempt to discredit his administration.

Friday, Lucas spokesman Michael Conway reiterated that "the money situation is tight but there will be no payless paydays. We're not going to miss a payroll. That's a drastic measure to take."

"Our official position is we have the resources to meet all the projected expenditures," Conway added.

The county's more than $200 million general budget was designed to last until Dec. 1, the end of the 1986 fiscal year.

County fiscal officers were not available to discuss how shortfalls will be met, though.

EARLIER LAST month county treasurer Raymond Wojtowicz alerted commissioners to an impending fiscal shortfall. A dispute arose between state and county financial staffs, as well, over the legality of using $24.5 million in state funds tagged for mental health services. Wojtowicz said that money, currently in use for countywide obligations, is supposed to be paid back on Nov. 15.

Adding to this year's financial troubles is the high cost of the county's indigent health care program, a responsibility shared with the state, and currently in dispute in court.

This year's bill of $44 million rose from $32 million last year, and county officials are putting the blame on the state for allowing unauthorized patients into the program. Several months ago Lucas filed a $50 million lawsuit over the issue.

Estimates on just how much of a deficit could result in the next few months have ranged widely, between some $30 million to up to $70 million.

McNamara's staff members said they've gotten involved in examining fiscal records because they don't want to find themselves surprised at an "inherited" financial mess.

McNamara is expected to be elected the next county executive in Tuesday's election. He would take over the duties in January.

Groceries delivered to the home in the 1930s

(Part 5)

A resident of Plymouth 45 years ago could buy a reconditioned radio for $5, have feed ground at five cents a bag and take lessons on the banjo.

His wife could pick up the phone and have groceries delivered to her home any morning or afternoon, she could take a course in permanent waving through a local agent of the Foundation of Permanent Waving or she could keep her figure "within the bounds" set by Dame Fashion through a Plymouth masseur who specialized in Swedish massage.

Advertisements for all of these enterprises appeared in the 1939 Plymouth where-to-buy-it "Red Book."

RECONDITIONED cabinet or table model radios at prices ranging from $4 to $8 were available at 437 Blunk Street.

The radio man was Max Trucks, whose parents should have thought twice before deciding on his first name. Also offering radio service in 1939 were Daggett's at 831 Penniman and Swain Radio and Sound Service at 577 S. Main.

Glen Penney, at 1735 Joy near Sheldon, would grind your animal feed at five cents a bag in lots of eight or more. Banjo lessons could be had at the Somerset Music Studio at 840 Penniman Ave.

Hanna Strasen, still a resident of Plymouth, was then instructing in the piano and pipe organ. Hanna was a member of the Plymouth High School debating team, coached by Ruth Huston, the woman who won the state championship in 1920. The team defeated Kalamazoo's Western State Normal High School. The question debated was whether Congress should adopt a system of universal military training for able-bodied male citizens between the ages of 18 and 25.

Bill's Market, still operating at 584 Starkweather but not under the same proprietor, offered free morning and afternoon delivery of grocery orders. Almost all of the 14 other grocery stores listed in the Red Book were located on Main, Penniman or Liberty.

Main Street had the A & P Food store, Robert Joffile's, the Kroger store and Arthur Todd's. Penniman Avenue had Bartlett and Kaiser's, W.C. Brown's, C.F. Smith & Co., the Purty Market, Wolf's Market and William Pettengill's. On Liberty Street were the Liberty Market, William Pfeifers and the Gayde Brothers. K.A. Olds was on East Ann Arbor Trail.

The correspondence course in permanent waving could be obtained through the director of Foundation Permanent Waving Research. His name was Romeo LaCore. Lagore didn't give his street address, only a box number. It is difficult to phone complaints to a box number.

THERE WERE nine beauty shops listed in the Red Book. Four of beauty shops were on Main Street: Effie's Beauty Salon, Orchid Beauty Shoppe, Steinhurst's Beauty Shop and Thelma Beauty Shop. Three were on Penniman Avenue: Housley's Beauty Shop, Sybill Simmons' and the Whipple Hair Shop. Fisher's Beauty Shop was on North Mill, the Moderne was on North Harvey.

The Swedish massage advertisement was run by John W. Johnson, experienced graduate masseur, at 1388 W. Ann Arbor St. Johnson practiced the art as taught by the National College of Massage and Hydro-Therapy in Chicago. He recommended steam and Turkish baths for such ailments as sciatica, rheumatism, lumbago, neuritis and arthritis. He also gave special foot and sinus treatments.

William C. Hartmann had an ad on page 54 of the Red Book. He was a commission agent for the Sinclair Refining Company for the sale of gasoline, motor oils, greases and heating oils. The firm's bulk plant was in Northville. Hartmann, still a resident of Plymouth, served on the City Commission in the 1940s and past and present

again in the 1950s. He was mayor of the city in 1949.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce's ad in the book suggested that business firms sponsor the membership of male employees who were 35 or younger. It indicated that the Junior Chamber — today's Jaycees — had been formed to fill a young man's need not fully satisfied by any other organization. The organization was non-partisan and non-political. Its purpose was to promote business success, to teach civic responsibility and to express the young man's point of view.

The ad listed the officers of the Junior Chamber and its board of directors. Many of them were to play an important part in the life of the community in subsequent years. President was Robert Wesley, vice president Ernest Henry, secretary J. Rusling Cutler, treasurer Charles Van Vleck. The board of directors, in addition to the officers, included Robert Lidgard, Marvin Terry, Jack Taylor, John MacLachlan, Kenneth Groth and William Rambo.

Bob Wesley became a vice president of the Daisy Manufacturing Company and was president of the Plymouth Board of Education in 1950-51. Ernie Henry became Plymouth's assistant postmaster. Russ Cutler was an attorney and served as Plymouth's municipal judge. Marvin Terry served on the City Commission. Jack Taylor became vice president of a local bank. Robert Lidgard served on the City Commission and was mayor of the city. Only Ernie Henry and Marvin Terry are still living.

Suspect

The drawing above depicts the appearance of a suspect wanted for break-in and entering with the intent to commit a criminal sexual act at an apartment in the area of Ford and Sheldon Roads, Canton, at about 4:50 a.m. Oct. 20. The man is described as a white male in his late 20s, 6-2, very thin, with sandy brown, messy hair and several days patchy growth of beard. The suspect, who appeared sickly, was wearing a navy blue jacket, black gloves and blue jeans. He entered the victim's apartment through an unlocked door, pulled the victim from a chair, and struggled with her, then fled after the victim obtained a butcher knife from the kitchen.

Sisters of Mercy serving our community since 1911

"They are as dedicated to their work as I am to playing the trumpet"

Armando Ghitalla

An internationally respected musician, Armando Ghitalla was able to resume his active career after cardiac surgery at St. Joe's.

Armando Ghitalla is an internationally known musician. He is also one of many St. Joe patients who have returned to an active life after cardiac surgery.

"St. Joe's really has given me my life back. I can't think of myself without playing the trumpet," states Ghitalla. "Eight months after my operation I was giving recitals in Japan. I'm forever grateful for the treatment I received at St. Joe's."

"I was delighted with the positive attitudes of the staff," he adds. "I must say that I felt so confident. They are as dedicated to their work as I am to playing the trumpet."

Since 1911, when the Sisters of Mercy were invited to this community, Catherine McAuley Health Center has evolved into a comprehensive health care center touching the lives of tens of thousands of families each year. We invite you to join us as we celebrate 75 years of health care service to the community.

For more information on the health care services of Catherine McAuley Health Center, please call 572-4000. For a physician referral, please call 572-5500.

To those who would listen

To the editor:
I must begin by giving you my state of mind: I am angry.

I am angry that a few individuals would dare to speak for my Christianity. I am angry that so many have missed the lessons of history, especially that of our nation. And I am angry that some leaders in our community would knuckle under to the demagoguery of the haters and the simple of thought.

Our country is founded on an essential principle which permits the minority, the non-conformist, the outsider, to speak his or her mind so long as there is no intent to harm others.

The latest haters, book-burners, do-it-my-way-or-you're-going-to-hell spokesmen (or women) use the system in more subtle ways using their definitions of goodness and truth, appealing to us as Christians to support their unpatriotic, unAmerican attempts to control our society, our schools, our minds.

I contend that we are not a Christian country — perhaps we use many principles in common with the Judeo-Christian ethic — but we are not in a proper sense tied to Christianity. Virtually all of the world's religions and indeed most humans, whether religious or agnostic, atheist espouse the principles of good, decent behavior which we who are Christian recognize in our beliefs.

But let us not be so guilty of pride that we think we are the only group of humans who accept these ideas as good. Goodness is not a function of religion. Religion helps us to focus on the ways to be good but does not assure it.

A special quality of America is the principle that education is intended, not to mold minds, but to allow them to expand. The role of schools is first and foremost to show our children how to think, how to seek ideas, how to decide how to discover the truth of themselves.

Parents are the primary providers of a child's sense of ethics, of right and wrong. I doubt that any movie, any book, any teachers can change the direction of any student whose parents have set reasonable standards. Only the weak-of-heart and soul fear an open society.

We are a nation and a community of Christians, of Jews, of Muslims, of Buddhists (I know of many Christian Buddhists) of Hindus, of Krishnas, of agnostics, of atheists, of witches I suppose, of those who don't care.

We are also a nation of people who believe that the other guy is entitled to his beliefs and who believe that education is for learning about the world and its ideas, not a system for controlling minds (perhaps these latest know-nothings have us confused with Iran or some totalitarian state).

The fact that some of our educational administrators have knuckled under to those of small mind does not bode well for our principles of education, or of our American society.

Appearances of substance abuse, or "dirty" words, or fantasy tales will not corrupt us, only fear of living up to our principles will bring us down.

Six finalists aim for circuit court

Tuesday's election of three judges to the Wayne County Circuit Court has drawn special attention from the offices of local election clerks all the way to the state Legislature.

Like many court races, the 3rd Wayne Circuit election has been fraught with voter apathy.

To battle that, local election clerks are trying to get voters aware of the non-partisan portion of the ballot. Wayne County clerk James Killen is helping by distributing posters to encourage awareness of judicial races.

In the Wayne County circuit race, six candidates are vying for three positions, which are becoming vacant by retiring judges. The remaining nine incumbents also are running for re-election, but there are no challenges to those seats.

All are six-year terms and pay $74,888 annually.

SEEKING available positions are candidates John Murphy, currently serving as a judge in the 36th District Court; Gregory Stempien, a trial attorney from Northville; David Szymanski, an attorney from Harper Woods; Sean Kavanagh, an attorney and magistrate in Livonia; James Rashid, a Dearborn attorney; and Kathleen McDonald, a law clerk from Grosse Pointe Park.

Murphy, 38, is the only candidate with judicial experience. Legal experience has become an issue in this election, particularly among the candidates and in the legal community. A Detroit, Murphy has 12 years of legal experience and served in the common pleas court before the district court.

Stempien, 45, an attorney for 15 years, has a Livonia law practice and lives in Northville Township. Besides practicing law and teaching at the Lawrence Institute of Technology, he has worked as a special assistant for state Attorney General Frank Kelley. He also works as a mediator in the circuit court and as an arbitrator. His brother, Marvin, is a member of the 3rd Circuit bench.

Rashid, 32, has been a practicing attorney for six years and once served as a Wayne County commissioner. He is a Dearborn resident and the son of former circuit court judge, Joseph Rashid. He attended Detroit College of Law.

Szymanski, also 32, is waging his first campaign for the bench. He has been a practicing attorney for almost four years. Szymanski works for a law firm in Birmingham. One of his major clients is the Detroit Police Officers Association. After graduating from Notre Dame University, Szymanski taught school and was a high school coach. His father serves as a judge in the county's probate court. He attended Wayne State University Law School.

Kavanagh, 28, has been an attorney for almost three years. Besides working part-time as magistrate of the Livonia District Court, he works as an attorney in private practice. He attended the Detroit College of Law.

Macdonald, 40, is employed as a law clerk for Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Michael Connor.

This year's court election has attracted the attention of state Sen. William Faust of Westland who plans to introduce legislation this month that addresses experience of judicial candidates. He said a minimum of six years should be required of judges.

McNamara aides on CEO staff

Dodge to head finance staff; Duggan, Katz seen in top jobs

By Teri Banas
staff writer

Livonia Mayor Edward H. McNamara, who is almost certain to be elected Wayne County Executive in Tuesday's election, told a group of county commissioners Friday the names of those he intends to appoint to key administrative positions.

While the mayor's aides would not confirm who is expected to be appointed until after the election, sources said his likely appointees would include:

• Michael Duggan, McNamara's campaign manager, who is currently employed as an assistant corporation counsel under corporation counsel John O'Hair.

Duggan, 28, is expected to be named deputy county executive and be McNamara's top aide. Under the county charter, he would assume McNamara's duties in his absence.

• David Katz, McNamara's chief fund-raiser during the executive campaign, who is slated to become an assistant county executive in charge of liaisons with other governmental agencies.

Katz, 28, also a Livonia resident, presently serves as McNamara's administrative assistant.

• Jack Dodge, 57, is slated to become the county's chief financial officer. Presently Livonia's finance director, Dodge has been a member of McNamara's transition team and involved in a probe of financial records in past months.

Dodge confirmed Friday that he would be appointed. He said he was would be responsible for a staff of about 200 persons.

"There's going to be a lot in store for both the mayor and I. It's going to be quite a challenge," he said.

• County commissioner Samuel A. Turner, who ran for the county executive post only to finish second behind McNamara in the Democratic primary, is rumored to be McNamara's choice for corporation counsel.

Turner, a long-time attorney and a Detroit resident, gave up his commission seat to run for the office of executive. McNamara said following the primary that he had high regard for Turner and likely would have a place for him in a new administration.

If appointed, Turner, 60, would take over one of two jobs now being handled by John O'Hair. O'Hair is also the elected county prosecutor but reportedly has indicated a desire to hold only one job.

The county charter adopted in 1981 prohibits county commissioners from being appointed to county jobs within two years of serving office. But Turner was one of those excluded because he had served before the charter was adopted.

RUMORS ABOUT possible appointees have been making the rounds of county buildings for weeks.

One source said McNamara decided to inform the commissioners of his choices to eliminate some rumors and to give the commission an opportunity to become acquainted with some of the appointees, many of whom will have to be confirmed by the commission.

McNamara reportedly told commissioners of appointments of department heads in such county departments as public service, personnel and accounting and to his central staff.

A source said McNamara plans to run a "leaner" county executive office than that run by incumbent county executive William Lucas.

McNamara hosted a luncheon for the commissioners at the Detroit Club Friday.

Salem maintains its CEP mastery

By Chris McCosky
Staff writer

Well, what do you know? The big game, the cross campus showdown, the CEP grudge match — whatever you want to call it — it finally lived up to its pre-game hype.

Remember last year? Plymouth Salem ran roughshod on Plymouth Canton 33-0. The year before Salem won 14-7 in a close-but-dull game played in the rain. The year before that, 13-7 Salem in a close-but-dull game.

Not this year. Plymouth Salem, using two sudden strikes, survived Canton 14-9 Friday night.

This one was a lot of fun. (Well, maybe not so much fun for Canton.) Defense dominated. Canton managed 197 total yards, Salem 117. The hitting was fierce. Ask Canton's Tony Boucher. Boucher was separated from the ball and nearly from consciousness by a blast from line-backer Dave Frigerio in the third quarter. And if you don't believe Boucher, ask Salem quarterback Chris Hill. Hill took on several solid pops from Scott Browne and Wes Johnson that would make a lesser young man seek shelter.

"I'll tell you what, both team's really came to play tonight," said Salem coach Tom Moshimer, whose teams have never lost to Canton. "Heck, I think they were even up higher than we were at the start. They've got some good, hard-nosed players and they were popping us pretty good."

THE GAME was decided on four big plays: two for Salem, two for Canton.

● Big play No. 1: First quarter. Canton's Scott Browne blocked Jerry Sumner's punt and recovered it at the Salem 14. The Canton offense couldn't move the ball and Mike Gray came on and booted a 30-yard field goal. 3-0 Canton.

● Big play No. 2: Second quarter. Salem's Doug Prater blocked Dave Mroczka's punt, recovered it and ran it to the Canton 5. Four plays later, on a 4th-down-and-goal from the 3, Sumner pounded it home. Brian Storm's point-after kick was blocked. 6-3 Salem.

● Big play No. 3: First play of the second half. Moshimer sensed that Canton's defense was cheating toward the strong side of Salem's offensive line. He sent fullback Leonard Bowe around the weak side end. Bowe rambled untouched for a 64-yard touchdown. The back-breaker. Bowe bulled in for the two-point conversion. 14-3 Salem.

● Big play No. 4: Fourth quarter, 4:17 left to play. Canton quarterback Neil Hubert hands off to back Tony Boucher. Boucher, a quarterback last season, pulled up and chucked one down field to a streaking John Migyanka. A 57-yard TD strike and Canton was back in business. A crucial two-point conversion attempt, however, was botched. Salem 14, Canton 9.

CANTON GOT one last chance and darn-near pulled the game out. With 1:59 left, the Chiefs took over at their own 40. It was fourth-and-10 when Hubert connected with Roger Trice for 24 yards. First and 10 at the Salem 36 with just more than a minute left.

That, however, proved to be Canton's last gasp. Salem's Andy Gee batted away Canton's final desperation fourth-down pass from the 37.

"It was a good ballgame," said first-year Canton coach Bob Khoenle. "We hung in there with them and did a nice job. We came along all year. I'm proud of the kids. Let's face it, two plays beat us. But give credit to Salem. They played awfully good on defense."

Said Moshimer: "The difference was, we stopped them on the goal line and they didn't stop us. We just flat have a good defensive team. I don't know what our exact statistics are, but we haven't given up many touchdowns on the ground. When we've been beat, we've been beat through the air. Give a lot of credit to Jim Jarvey (defensive coordinator), Tom Garrett (defensive line coach) and Tom Alles (defensive backfield coach). They've done a heckuva job."

Bowe, who at 5-6, 205 is one of the premier defensive linemen in the Western Lakes, anchored Salem's defense. He was also the game's leading rusher with 77 yards. Frigerio, Joe Jouppe and Kurt Urban were also very active on defense, along with defensive backs Prater, Gee and Jeff Armstrong. Armstrong picked off a pass at the close of the first half.

FOR CANTON, Browne and Johnson were outstanding. Take away the 64-yard TD run and Salem's long run of the day was an 8-yard plunge by Sumner. Salem managed just five first downs in the game.

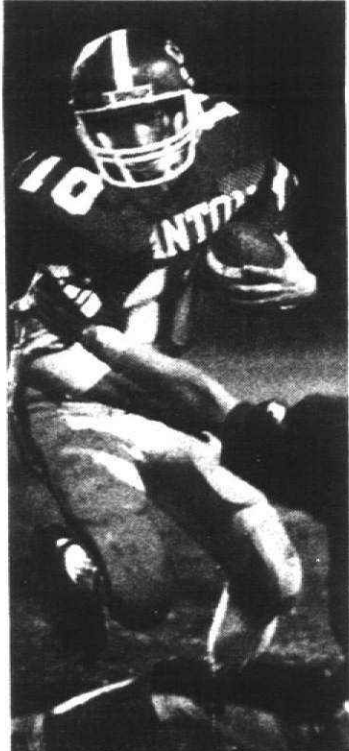

But that, judging from the teary expressions on the Canton players' faces as they walked off the field, provided little consolation.

Both teams close the 1986 season with 3-6 records.

GC back pounds Pats; Borgess wins

Joe Petruski couldn't have asked for a better way to end his high school football career. Except maybe extending it a few games.

No doubt that's how the Garden City senior felt after Friday's game against visiting Livonia Franklin. Petruski decimated the Patriots, rushing for two touchdowns and 222 yards on 22 attempts to carry the Cougars to a 24-6 triumph.

By comparison, Franklin, which struggled offensively all season, was limited to just 185 yards in total offense. The Patriots only score came midway through the second quarter on a 1-yard dive by Jeff Kroll, set up by a fumble recovery at the Garden City 41. A 21-yard run on a reverse keyed the drive.

But that score had little effect on the outcome of the game. Not with Petruski running wild for the Cougars. The 5-foot-8, 185-pounder plunged 1-yard for a first-quarter TD, capping a 52-yard march that included a 15-yard run by Petruski and a 15-yard pass interference penalty.

That score came on Garden City's first possession. On the Cougars second, Brad Armstrong fired an 11-yard scoring pass to Tom Flannery to make it 14-0. That TD ended a 61-yard drive that included a 17-yard pass from Armstrong to Jason Crandall. Tim Dvonch booted the second of his three successful placements.

Petruski ended any Franklin comeback hopes by streaking 71 yards for a third-quarter score. The final Garden City points came with just 1:40 left on a 31-yard Bo Homberg field goal.

The Cougars, who finished at 5-4, totaled 300 yards rushing on 47 carries. Armstrong completed three of nine passes for 47 yards, with one interception. Garden City also lost a fumble.

BORGESS 28, AQUINAS 23: The game wasn't nearly as close as the final score would indicate.

Redford Bishop Borgess led from the start and was up 28-9 late in the fourth quarter. But the Spartans second-team offense fumbled twice in the final quarter and Aquinas scored against the second-team Borgess defense after each to make the final margin close.

Rocks yield 1sts but win the meet

You look at the score sheet and wonder how in the world Farmington lost this swim meet.

Against Western Lakes foe Plymouth Salem Thursday the Falcons took first place in eight of the 11 events. And lost the meet 96-76.

The reason for the defeat, of course, is that Salem racked up the points by claiming second, third and fourth places. Salem outscored Farmington in each individual event despite surrendering eight first places.

Tracy Meszaros captured two of Salems three firsts. She won the 200-yard freestyle in 2:08.6 and the 100 freestyle in 58.6. Shannon Murphy won the 200 individual medley for Salem in 2:28.6.

For Farmington (5-3), Lauren Weary won a pair of events. She took the 100 butterfly in 1:01.4 and the 100 backstroke in 1:07.5. Stacy Schalm won the 50 free (27.1), Tonya Slicker won diving (164.25 points), Julie Kendall won the 500 freestyle (5:57.1) and Lori Kiel won the 100 breaststroke (1:16.7).

The Falcons also captured both relays. Katie Hohl, Kiel, Weary, swimming

Schalm won the 200 medley relay (2:03.2) while Hohl, Schalm, Julie Kendall and Missy Kendall won the 400 freestyle relay (4:04.9).

Salem is 5-5 on the season.

PLYMOUTH CANTON rebounded from its heartbreaking loss to Livonia Churchill with a 111-61 drubbing of Livonia Franklin Thursday.

Kelly Rische won a pair of events for the Chiefs (7-1). She took the 200 freestyle (2:14.1) and the 100 free (1:01.7). Cassie Cummins was also a double-event winner for the Chiefs capturing the 50 free (26.96) and 100 backstroke (1:05.35). Both Rische and Cummins are freshmen.

Other winners for Canton were Sarah Schmitz in the 200 IM (2:35.66), Lisa DeJong in diving (201.75 points), Julie Cox in the 100 butterfly (1:01.28), Sue Schendel in the 500 free (6:15.4), and Val Gil-dhaas in the 100 breaststroke (1:19.6).

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Shannon Murphy won the 200-yard individual medley for Salem Thursday in the Rocks' 96-76 win against Farmington. Murphy took one of Salem's three first places in the Western Lakes meet.

Michelle Stackpoole, Cox, Amy Schmitz and Kristi Brugar teamed to win the 200 medley relay (2:03.14). Cox, Rische, Danielle Dickinson and Cummins set a Canton varsity record with a 3:56.52 in the 400 freestyle relay. The old mark was 3:57.0 set in 1984.

LIVONIA CHURCHILL stayed atop the Western Lakes Western Division with a 100-71 win at Farmington Harrison Thursday.

Churchill (7-2-1) got firsts from Carol Baker in the 200 IM (2:28.8), Stacey Tomasewski in the 50 free (28.2), Audra Martin in the 100 butterfly (1:04.4) and Julie Neville in the 500 free (6:17.4).

Kendra James, Martin, Michelle Berry and Jodi Place won the 200 medley relay (2:07.4), and James, Beth Marcy, Jill Ingram and Becky Thomas won the 400 freestyle relay (4:22.2).

For Harrison, Catherine Tucker won a pair of events. She captured the 200 free (2:09.8) and the 100 free (56.3). Tammi Gaura won diving (165.1), Danielle King won the 100 backstroke (1:10.4) and Lisa Skibinski won the 100 breaststroke (1:22.8).

Kristen Hostynski (pictured in a game earlier this season) and her Salem teammates had an easy time of it Thursday defeating Western Lakes foe North Farmington 62-22. Hostynski scored eight points.

Salem, Canton to collide

Plymouth Salem, the No. 1-ranked girls basketball team in the state according to the Michigan High School Girls Basketball Coaches Association, knocked off Western Lakes rival North Farmington Thursday, 62-22.

Let's see, 50-30 over Northville, 85-22 over Stevenson, 79-17 over Farmington, 66-22 over North — forget about Salem lying down against its lower-level opponents.

"Our intensity has been real good," Salem coach Fred Thomann said. "We really went out and played a nice basketball game tonight."

Dena Head had another big night scoring 26 points and grabbing 12 rebounds. Jessica Handley scored 12 points and dished out four assists. Kristen Hostynski and Barb Krug chipped in eight points apiece.

Sandy Spahn, Kim Gureki and Missy Bossacawen scored four each for North (6-8 in the Western Lakes and 7-10 overall).

Salem, 14-0 in the league and 16-1 overall, has clinched the Lakes Division title in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

CANTON 81, HARRISON 11: Plymouth Canton needs one more victory to secure at least a tie for Western Lakes Western Division championship. Once the title is secured, the Chiefs would force a rematch with Salem for the Western Lakes championship.

Thursday, the Chiefs got 19 points from Heather Miller, 12 from Karen Boluch, 11 from Tony Barger and 10 from Michelle Fortier.

The Chiefs are 10-4 in the league, 11-6 overall.

Harrison, playing without six varsity players (some injured, some ill), got four points Karen Najarian and Steph Kallen.

STEVENSON 51, FARMINGTON 40: The Falcons fell behind 17-2 at the start of the game and trailed 33-18 at half.

But the team fought back and got within 10 in the final quarter.

Triathlon gruel lures Krause

By Bill Parker
staff writer

Television, the modern tool of inspiration. Had it not been for the so-called "idiot box" in the front room of the Krause family home in Farmington Hills, Adam Krause might never have experienced the thrill of competing in a sprint triathlon.

When Krause was 13 years old he was watching the Iron Man Triathlon competition from Hawaii. Afterwards he decided he'd like to try a triathlon. He was intrigued with the newness of the event and the dedication of its athletes.

"I thought it would be neat to try one," said Krause. "It was something different. Something that everyone else wasn't doing. I also thought it would be pretty tough, and I wanted to see if I could endure it."

Now, some three years later, Krause is a veteran of five sprint triathlons and has his sights set on an Olympic berth or even a professional career in triathlons.

"I'D LIKE to go on to the pro circuit but I'll have to see how it goes for the next few years," said Krause. "There has been some talk of a triathlon competition in the Olympics but it's been off and on. Starting next year all triathletes will have to be licensed. That will include a membership in TRI-FED USA, (the major triathlon association in the U.S.). We're hoping the TRI-FED membership will show the U.S. Olympic Committee there is a lot of interest in triathlon competition."

Sprint triathlons, which are rapidly gaining popularity across the country, are considerably shorter than the Iron Man competition, which features a 2.5-mile swim in the ocean, a full 26-mile marathon and a 115-mile bicycle race. In sprint competition the athletes compete in a one-mile swim (in a pool or lake), a 10-kilometer run (6.3 miles), and a 40-kilometer bike race (25.2 miles). But don't be misled; sprint triathlons are still very grueling and demanding races./L

"IT'S AGONY," said Krause. "After my first race my legs hurt for a week and a half. It was really tough and I was glad it was over. At one point during the race I thought maybe I wouldn't do another one. But after I finished I knew I wanted to do it again."

"Completing a triathlon gives you a good sense of accomplishment. What you do, you do by yourself. If I do something wrong it's my fault. I don't have to worry about anyone else goofing up. But if I succeed, I do that by myself too."

Due to age restrictions Krause couldn't compete until last year, after he reached his 15th birthday. In his first competition, the Bud Light United States Triathlon Series event at Pontiac Lake, Krause finished 12th in the 15-19-year-olds division and was invited to the national championships at Hilton Head, S.C. Krause was unable to make the trip due to financial difficulties.

But he won the 15-17-year-olds division of the Hope College triathlon last year.

KRAUSE, A JUNIOR at Farmington High School, competed in three sprint triathlons this year and again met with great success.

The Bud Light USTS triathlon was held at Belle Isle in July and Krause finished 14th in his age group. Overall he was 229th in a field of some 1,200 competitors.

In August he competed in the Bud Light Greater Lansing triathlon and finished fourth in his age group and 39th in a field of 400.

At the Hope College triathlon in October, Krause again placed first in his age group.

"Right now it's hard to place high in my age division because I'm at the bottom of the group," said Krause. "Physically there's a big difference between 15-year-olds and 19-year-olds."

Prior to his start in triathlon competition Krause was involved in swimming and soccer. He started soccer, at age 6, in the Farmington Parks and Recreation program. He was a member of the state champion Kicks, from Plymouth, and has been a member of the Farmington varsity squad for the past three years.

KRAUSE STARTED swimming at age 8 with the Michigan Stingrays. He was a member of the Farmington varsity team as a freshman and plans to go out for the team again this winter. He also plans to go out for the Farmington High track team this spring.

Over the summer, during the triathlon season in Michigan, Krause goes through a strenuous training program under the guidance of his father, Dave.

Three days a week he swims at the Oakland Community College pool. He swims 5,000 yards and works with the weights for one hour in each session. He also runs three to five miles, four times a week and rides his bike 20-30 miles, four times a week.

Krause hopes to compete in 10 triathlons next summer, one every other week, and someday compete in the famous Iron Man triathlon in Hawaii.

"Hopefully, some day, I'll have the money and sponsorship for the Iron Man," said Krause. "The big thing is the money. It's hard to qualify for it to begin with but it costs a lot too. A lot of people go out there a month early so they can train and adjust to the different climate. That's where the sponsorship comes in."

If things work out, maybe someday, somewhere, a youngster will be home watching the Iron Man or maybe an Olympic triathlon on television and he'll be inspired by the performance of a triathlete from Farmington Hills, Mich. The performance of Adam Krause.

I'm part of their future

Being a Girl Scout leader gives me a great sense of personal satisfaction. Every time the girls accomplish something, so do I.

The activities are great — we've gone on camping trips, visited the local newspaper, and talked with area businesswomen about how they juggle their careers and a full family life.

See for yourself the difference being a Girl Scout leader can make — for you and for the girls. You'll want to be a Girl Scout leader, too!

● NATION'S BEST
Kelly Champagne has enjoyed her cross country season at University of Texas. The Lady Longhorns are ranked No. 1 in the NCAA and Champagne, a sophomore from Canton and Livonia Ladywood, has consistently finished in the top five of U-T runners. The Lady Longhorns are 4-0 in dual meets and are shooting for the Southwestern Conference title today.

● TOP HITTER
Lisa Bokovoy continues to sparkle for the University of Kentucky's volleyball team. The sophomore from Livonia (Stevenson) is the Wildcats' leading hitter with a .312 attack percentage and 284 kills in 653 attacks (80 errors) in 89 games. Bokovoy is also second on the team in solo blocks with 25. U-K is 14-9 overall and 3-1 in the Southwestern Conference.

● AWARD-WINNER
Chris Rito, a sophomore from Westland and a Redford Catholic Central grad, was named Kalamazoo

College's athlete of the week for his performance in a cross country dual meet against Albion College Oct. 11. Rito, the team's co-captain, was the overall winner in the meet in a season-best time of 26:26 as KC won 19-42.

● TACKLING LEADER
Ball State entered Saturday's football game at Eastern Michigan University with a 6-2 overall record and a 4-1 Mid-American Conference slate, tying the Cardinals for first place.

Celebrate National Cheesecake Month!

November is National Cheesecake Month — a time to celebrate one of America's most popular year-round desserts. Set for the start of the season when tradition reigns supreme, Cheesecake Month places this time-honored treat in the holiday dessert spotlight.

Everybody loves cheesecake. In restaurants it challenges ice cream and apple pie as the most frequently ordered dessert. At home it's a hands-down favorite for entertaining. Most every cheesecake lover has a special cherished recipe, but devotees are always seeking new variations of this rich and creamy indulgence.

This November, celebrate National Cheesecake Month by baking a delectable homemade cheesecake. Cream cheese gives cheesecake its creamy-rich texture and dairy-fresh flavor.

Try Tempting Trifle Cheesecake as the grand finale to a special meal. Inspired by the classic British dessert, it boasts a coconut macaroon crust, sweet sherry-flavored filling and a topping of raspberry preserves, whipped cream and almonds.

Banana-Peanut Cheesecake is just the dessert to please chocolate lovers in the crowd. Its chocolate crust and topping showcase a rich banana-peanut filling and set a new standard for contemporary taste appeal.

Not every cheesecake is round. Festive Cheesecake Squares are a traditional cheesecake treat with special appeal for kids of all ages. Their rich filling and brown sugar, walnut and candy-flecked base and topping are sure to become a new dessert favorite.

As a clearly classic mealtime conclusion, Old Cheesecake stars. With a graham cracker crumb crust, lemon filling and sour cream topping, it boasts a rich flavor that tastes of tradition.

Festive Cheesecake Squares

- 1/3 cup margarine
- 1/3 cup brown sugar
- 1 cup flour
- 1/2 cup chopped walnuts
- 1 8-oz. pkg. cream cheese, softened
- 1/4 cup granulated sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 egg
- 3/4 cup multicolored milk chocolate candies

Beat margarine and brown sugar until light and fluffy. Add flour and walnuts; mix well. Reserve 1/2 cup crumb mixture; press remaining mixture onto bottom of 8-inch square pan. Bake at 350°, 10 minutes.

Combine cream cheese, granulated sugar and vanilla, mixing at medium speed on electric mixer until blended. Add egg; mix well. Layer 1/2 cup candy over crust; top with cream cheese mixture. Chop remaining candy. Add to reserved crumb mixture; mix well. Sprinkle over cream cheese mixture. Bake at 350°, 20 minutes.

16 servings

Old Fashioned Cheesecake

(not pictured)

- 1 cup graham cracker crumbs
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 3 tablespoons margarine, melted
- 2 8-oz. pkgs. cream cheese, softened
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 3 eggs
- 1 cup sour cream
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine crumbs, sugar and margarine; press onto bottom of 9-inch springform pan. Bake at 350°, 10 minutes.

Combine cream cheese, sugar, juice, rind and vanilla, mixing at medium speed on electric mixer until well blended. Add eggs, one at a time, mixing well after each addition. Pour over crust. Bake at 300°, 45 minutes.

Combine sour cream, sugar and vanilla. Spread evenly over cake; continue baking 10 minutes. Loosen cake from rim of pan; cool before removing rim of pan. Chill.

10 to 12 servings

Tempting Trifle Cheesecake

- 1-1/2 cups soft coconut macaroon cookie crumbs
- 3 8-oz. pkgs. cream cheese, softened
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 4 eggs
- 1/2 cup sour cream
- 1/2 cup whipping cream
- 2 tablespoons sweet sherry
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 10-oz. jar red raspberry preserves
- 1/2 cup whipping cream, whipped
- Toasted slivered almonds

Press crumbs onto bottom of greased 9-inch springform pan. Bake at 325°, 15 minutes.

Combine cream cheese and sugar, mixing at medium speed on electric mixer until well blended. Add eggs, one at a time, mixing well after each addition. Blend in sour cream, whipping cream, sherry and vanilla; pour over crust. Bake at 325°, 1 hour and 10 minutes. Loosen cake from rim of pan; cool before removing rim of pan. Chill.

Heat preserves until melted. Strain to remove seeds. Spoon over cheesecake, spreading to edges. Top with whipped cream and almonds.

10 to 12 servings

Banana-Peanut Cheesecake

- 1 cup chocolate wafer crumbs
- 1/4 cup margarine, melted
- 3 8-oz. pkgs. cream cheese, softened
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup mashed ripe banana
- 3 eggs
- 1/2 cup chopped peanuts

Combine crumbs and margarine; press onto bottom of 9-inch springform pan. Bake at 350°, 10 minutes.

Combine cream cheese, sugar and banana, mixing at medium speed on electric mixer until well blended. Add eggs, one at a time, mixing well after each addition. Stir in peanuts; pour over crust. Bake at 350°, 40 minutes. Loosen cake from rim of pan; cool before removing rim of pan. Chill.

10 to 12 servings

Jonathan apples are known as the "all purpose" apples because they are an excellent choice for a variety of recipes, from baked apples to apple pie to old-fashioned apple slump. Michigan is the nation's largest producer of these tender, juicy apples, yielding half of the nation's entire crop. Jonathans rank fifth in production in the United States.

Healthy habits Good-for-you foods taste great

If you've been jogging, swimming, walking or racquetballing your way to a healthier body, you probably know you can get more out of your workouts if you watch what you're taking in, dietwise.

Good-for-you foods such as chicken, rice, fresh herbs and vegetables taste great, too, making "eating right" that much easier for health-conscious Americans. Chicken and rice, for instance, can be baked, boiled, steamed or fried. They go well with all kinds of spices and herbs — rosemary, curry, saffron, basil, oregano and mint.

Chicken Rice Medley is an easy-to-prepare recipe that's not only delicious but also provides a large portion of recommended daily nutrients. Serve with a tossed salad, bread sticks and fruit for a meal family and friends are likely to love.

CHICKEN RICE MEDLEY

- 2 1/2 to 3 lbs. choice chicken pieces
- 1 can (14 1/2 to 16 oz.) tomatoes (about 2 cups), drained
- 1 1/2 cups chicken broth or water
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. ground black pepper
- 3/4 cup each chopped onions and green sweet pepper

1 cup uncooked rice

Place chicken, skin side up, in buttered shallow 2 1/2-quart baking dish. Bake uncovered at 450 degrees for 30 minutes or until browned. Combine tomatoes, broth, and seasonings in saucepan. Bring to a boil. Remove chicken from oven. Top with onions, green pepper and rice. Add tomato mixture. Stir. Cover, reduce temperature to 350 degrees, and bake 30 minutes longer or until rice is tender and liquid is absorbed. Garnish with parsley, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

Reduce saturated fat intake to lessen heart attack risk

Are you doing everything you can to lower your risk of heart disease, which causes an estimated 30,000 deaths in the United States each year, according to the American Heart Association?

The AHA says one of several steps that could help reduce the risk of heart disease is to lower your dietary intake of saturated fats. This will help to lower your serum cholesterol, which is a major known contributor to heart disease. This means evaluating all the foods you eat for their saturated fat content and creating a total diet by choosing foods low in saturated fat whenever possible.

A good place to start is with cooking and salad oil. While it is only one component of your daily diet, choosing an oil low in saturated fat will aid your efforts in planning the most effective overall diet. Canola oil, a vegetable oil now available for the first time to American consumers, is a good choice because it has 6 percent saturated fat, or 50 percent less saturated fat than corn or other leading oils.

Although it's new in this country, canola oil has been popular in Canada for many years now.

Jonathan apples are a favorite for recipes

When it comes to the "granddaddy" of the apple family, the Jonathan reigns supreme.

First discovered in New York in 1820 by its namesake, Jonathan Hasbrouck, Jonathans are the oldest, yet a favorite variety.

These small to medium sized apples have a tender but firm, juicy flesh and carry a slightly tart taste.

Michigan is now the largest producer/grower of the Jonathan variety, yielding one-half the nation's entire crop. The offspring of hardy, productive, durable trees, Jonathans rank fifth in production in the United States.

Jonathan apples along with all other apple varieties are an excellent nutritional and dietary food source, in addition to having a delicious taste. In all at a mere 80 calories.

BAKED STUFFED APPLES

- 6 large baking apples
- 1/4 cup light corn syrup
- 6 whole cloves
- cinnamon
- 2 3-oz. pkg. of cream cheese
- 2 tbsp. light cream
- 2 tbsp. honey
- 1/2 cup raisins
- 1/2 cup chopped walnuts

Core apples, being careful not to break all the way through. Do not peel. Set in baking pan. Into cavity of each apple pour 2 tablespoons light corn syrup, 1 whole clove and a dash of cinnamon. Cover bottom of pan with hot water. Bake at 350 degrees about 30 minutes, or until apples are tender, basting occasionally. Chill. Remove cloves. Place in dishes surrounded by syrup. Whip cream cheese with cream and honey until soft and fluffy. Add raisins and walnuts, mix well. Fill apple cavities with cream cheese mixture, heaping generously on top. Makes 6 servings.

OLD-FASHIONED APPLE SLUMP

- 4 cups thinly sliced apples
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 tsp. cinnamon
- 1 recipe dumpling dough*

Combine first 5 ingredients in deep frying pan; bring to a boil; cover and cook 10 minutes. Drop dumpling dough by spoonfuls on pieces of apples; cover and cook 12 minutes, or until dumplings are done. Transfer dumplings to deep dessert dishes, spoon apples over them. Serve with plain cream. Makes 6 to 8 servings. *Dumplings: Follow recipe for dumplings on package of biscuit mix.

The songs and stories sung and told by Pamela Vander Ploeg keep Juli Ziolkowski, Elizabeth Leone, 4, and Andrew Ziolkowski, 2, listening.

Pamela Vander Ploeg tells stories to preschool children at the Canton Public Library program. Vander Ploeg, a Grand Haven, Mich., resident, is a former children's librarian.

Libraries offer Halloween fun

By Julie Brown
staff writer

HALLOWEEN FUN was easy to find in recent days at the Canton Public Library and at the Dunn-ling-Hough Library in Plymouth.

Both libraries held special Halloween programs for local youngsters. At the Canton Public Library, Pamela Vander Ploeg entertained children with songs and stories.

Vander Ploeg has appeared at the library in the past, said Roberta Reeves, department head for children's services.

"She was very successful," Vander Ploeg's combination of songs and stories appealed to the youngsters.

"It's really nice to have that blend," Reeves said.

Vander Ploeg, who is from Grand Haven, Mich., is a former children's librarian. Her experience with children is an asset, Reeves said, as is her extensive repertoire of Michigan stories.

"Having Pamela is just a really special treat for us."

Vander Ploeg held two sessions last Wednesday at the Canton Public Library. The first session was for preschool children, who attended with a parent or other adult. A second session was held later that afternoon for school-age children.

THE SESSION for school-age children drew approximately 85 participants, Reeves said, with approximately 65 attending the earlier session for younger children.

During the session for preschoolers, Vander Ploeg told the story of a little girl named Rose who went for a long, long walk. Rose soon came to a part of the countryside she didn't recognize and found a house there.

"And, oh, she was so curious about that house," Vander Ploeg told the youngsters.

Getting no answer to her knocks on the door, Rose opened the door and went into the house. She found that everything inside was small, just like Rose was.

The mysterious house had a mirror over the fireplace. When Rose looked into the mirror, she saw a face that was different from her own.

"The face that looked back at her was a grown-up person," Vander Ploeg said. Rose figured out that she was looking at her own grown-up face.

"At any rate, she realized she was looking into the future."

Rose didn't have too much time to think about that future, however. She heard footsteps approaching.

The little girl tried to hide from the footsteps, but she didn't have much luck. Rose was discovered by the home's occupant — a witch all dressed in green with a cat all colors of the rainbow perched on her shoulder.

"You've looked in my mirror, and you're going to stay with me now," the witch told Rose.

THE WITCH put Rose to work at her house. Rose soon discovered another surprise. When she was in the attic, the witch's cat brushed by her and said, "You may ask me three questions."

Rose used up her first question asking how it was that the cat could speak (the result of the witch's spell). She used up her second question asking why the witch didn't want Rose to look into the mirror.

The cat told Rose that the witch, as the witch of the future, couldn't let Rose go because the little girl had looked into the mirror that told of the future. At that point, the witch came in, interrupting the conversation.

One day, when Rose was out in the garden planting flowers, the cat brushed by her again. "One question left, make it a good one," the cat told Rose.

Rose thought and thought about what question to ask. She was still worrying about it the next day when a bird flew into the garden and got caught in one of the witch's bird traps. Rose opened the trap and the bird flew away free, Vander Ploeg told the children.

The bird flew back, landed on Rose's shoulder and whispered the magical question in her ear. "Why do I have to stay here? Why is it that I can't go home? Why can't I choose my own future?"

THE CAT TOLD Rose that she would need to go into the witch's house and break the magic mirror. "If you break the mirror, you can go free," the cat told the little girl.

Rose then went into the house and threw the mirror to the floor, where it broke into a thousand pieces. The witch fell to the floor dead, Vander Ploeg said.

The witch's house turned into dust and disappeared in the wind. As Rose ran away, a plain old calico cat brushed by her. The cat's only words to the little girl were "meow."

WRITE IT AND REAP!

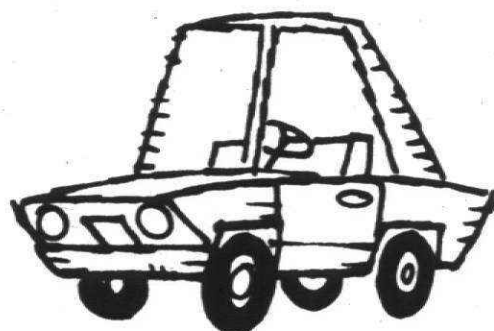

Writing a classified ad that gets results—whether it be for real estate, employment, the personals, transportation, or merchandise—is easy if you follow the guidelines below.

1. Give the reader specific information. Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as color, size, condition, brand name, age, features and benefits. Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts and reap the rewards!

2. Include the price. Don't waste your time or a potential buyer's time. If you advertise the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond to your ad will be those who are genuinely interested. Surveys show that readers are more interested in those items and services they know are within their price range.

4. Include phone number and specify hours. Be sure to let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a sale!

5. Run on consecutive days. Your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your telephone salesperson or outside sales representative.

3. Avoid abbreviations. Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in kitchen) or WSW (white side wall) tires and won't take the time to figure them out. A confused reader is a disinterested reader. Get the most for your money and use complete words.
