Teachers set strike deadline

The 744-member Plymouth-Canton Education Association teachers' union has voted to set a Jan. 16 strike deadline. The teachers and the schools are locked in contract negotiations.

BY M.B. DILLON STAFF WRITER

Plymouth-Canton teachers plan to strike Jan. 16 if negotiations with the district continue to stagnate.

At a general membership session that preceded picketing and the Board of Education meeting Monday night, the 744-member Plymouth-Canton Education Association decided to strike if a tentative agreement isn't reached in two weeks.

At issue are wage re-openers for this year and next, the 1995-96 school calendar, and contract language about school improvement and site-based decision making.

Currently, entry-level pay for teachers in Plymouth-Canton is $29,793. Top of the scale — for teachers with masters' degrees and 11 years' seniority — is $58,101. Experienced teachers who earn 30 hours of academic credit beyond their master's earn $59,101.

The district reportedly is offering teachers — who deferred a 3-percent raise last year when the schools were financially strapped — a half-percent raise. Teachers are asking for 2 or 3 percent, commensurate with what surrounding districts are giving teachers.

Bentley Elementary, site of the board meeting, was so crowded that the session had to be moved to Salem High School. Board members heard from a string of angry teachers.

Tom Cotner, chief bargainer for the teachers, said, "I'm not here to harangue you, or to make a prepared speech. We are appreciative of your efforts at mediation and regret no more progress has been made.

"But if we are going to fight, let's fight fair. We want no misinformation. It has been implied that the MEA is running the show, or that we must be lying to the membership.

"There is no hiding any information from our teachers by this negotiating team, nor will there be as long as I am chief negotiator. You will not be able to raise the specter of the MEA running this district. That will not happen. Our teachers tell the five of us what to do, and that's what happens."

Cotner was roundly applauded.

Denise Gimpel, who teaches psychology and anthropology, told the board, "I work my heart out. I spend countless hours outside school staying current in my fields. I fund-raise my brains out so I can take kids on archeological digs. I serve on crisis

Canton, Omnicom battle over cable contract

Lawyers for Omnicom and Canton Township went at it on Tuesday in the continuing battle over a cable television contract that will affect Canton viewers in the years to come.

Canton along with the city of Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Northville are locked in a battle with Omnicom over the length of the contract to provide service in those communities. Omnicom is seeking a 10-year franchise with a five-year renewable option. However, Canton and the other communities are seeking a three and a half year contract with potential for renewal. The contract expires in February 1996.

Canton Township officials on Nov. 14 denied Omnicom's request for renewal, sparking a series of complex actions under the Federal Cable Act. The dispute could eventually end up in court, officials said.

At a special Canton Township Board meeting on Tuesday, lawyers for both sides agreed to exchange witness lists and other documents by Dec. 30 to prepare for an administrative hearing that could take place as early as May. Canton Township must decide Canton Township must decide whether to hold its own hearing or a consolidated one with the other communities.

Tom McNeill, the attorney representing Omnicom, told board members that the process could be moved to the federal courts if the renewal is not granted. "These four communities are basically what we do," he said. "We're fighting for our corporate life."

McNeill has estimated that a court battle could cost participants up to $200,000 in legal fees.

Canton along with the other communities formed a consortium to negotiate with Omnicom. The two sides have been talking for more than a Cherry Hill.

This year's cost will total $21,367 compared to $17,280 last year.

The roads that will be added to the county's priority maintenance list are: Sheldon Road, Michigan Avenue to Paimer; Sheldon Road, Palmer to Cherry Hill; Sheldon Road, Cherry Hill to Ford; Lotz Road, Michigan Avenue to Palmer; Warren Road, Beck west for a half-mile; Lilley Road, Michigan Avenue to Ford; and Cherry Hill, Ridge to Napier.

Bennett resigns

Centon Township Clerk Loren Bennett has offered his resignation, which is effective Dec. 31. Bennett was elected Nov. 8 to the state Senate.

With his resignation offered before Dec. 1, the township doesn't have to wait 45 days for an election to be called.

Township officials have hoped to have an election to replace Bennett as soon as possible. Bennett's term has two remaining years.

"We can't call an election immediately. We have equipment (from the Nov. 8 election) that has not been released yet," Bennett said.

He will provide a rough timetable for the election within two weeks.

A Plymouth Township church that houses homeless people one week each year is being taken to court by the township govern-

Ron Lowe, attorney for First United Methodist Church of Plymouth, said Plymouth Township is the only municipality in Wayne County where local officials challenge these visits of homeless people.

Lowe was scheduled to represent the church today in 35th Dis trict Court at a pre-trial confer ence before Judge James Garber. Lowe said it's a centuries-old tradition for churches to provide sanctuary, adding the church should never have asked permis-ion in the first place. "We seriously believe that the only problem is we asked for pernission for something we never needed to obtain," he said, adding the church will file a motion to quash the tickets

About 60 homeless people were bused to the church on North Territorial in October. A township ordinance officer wrote six tickets against associate pastor Kevin Miles and the church on the basis that the church is not zoned for residential use and for failure to provide adequate show-

The issue was first raised around Christmas three years ago when the church sought township permission for a similar visit by homeless people.

Township officials rejected the request, and that got attention from news outlets around metro

Then supervisor Gerald Law echoed Lowe's contention that once the church asked for permission the township government had to follow its ordinances.

Starting a family theater program is a goal of play director Jennifer Tobin, who is directing "A Winnie-The Poon Christmas Tail" Friday through Sunday for the Plymouth Community Arts Council.

Performances, which feature Plymouth and Canton residents, are at 7 p.m. Friday and 2 p.m. Saturday and Sunday at the arts council headquarters on Sheldon at Junction. Tobin recently moved to Michigan from Maryville, Tenn., where she was director of the Blount County Junior Playhouse and instructor for the Maryville College Learning Center's Performing Arts Workshop and the Bijou Theatre in Knoxville. Civics Theatre in Ohio and served as a performing arts administrator and as director-choreographer for the Oglebay Institute Townsgate Theatre in Wheeling, W. Va. With their two young sons, Tobin packed her theater trunks to accompany husband Tom who recently took a job with AP Technoglass in Plymouth.

Tobin said she's thrilled with the opportunity to direct here and is impressed with the arts council's commitment to establish a theater program with all ages of actors involved. "It's wonderful to have a new building with space allotted for theater," she said. Among those involved in the production of "A Winnie-The-Pooh Christmas Tail" are producer Sandra Richards, professional costumer Jan Hiatt

Nelson, lighting manager Jason Richards and musician-accompanist Anne Merenda. After the public performances this weekend, the musical play will tour local elementary schools Fiegel, Field, Farrand, Bentley, Tonda, Eriksson and Allen before Christmas.

"I'm also enthusiastic about establishing a family theater program — The family that plays together kind of idea," Tobin said. "Most communities have children's groups or

Exec to SMART: Scale back demand

L. Brooks Patterson says the suburban bus system is likely to get $4.5 million in new revenue pext year - not the $60 million being requested by its general

"I don't think the public in the tri-county area or in Oakland County is willing to support a tax to the tune of $60 million to support a merger of DDOT (Detroit's Department of Transportation) and SMART (Suburban Mobility Authority, the suburban bus system)," said Patterson, the Oakland County executive.

"That number ($60 million was arrived at, quite frankly, among the Big four (executives of Oakland and Wayne counties, chairman of Macomb County, mayor of Detroit).

Dennis Archer, the mayor of Detroit, said 'I'm subsidizing my bus system to the tune of $30 million, so I want $30 million out of the pot.' So if Detroit wants $30 million and the suburbs want $30 million, that's your $60 million.

"We're just never going to reach it. I buy into that (need for public transportation). I don't buy that t takes $60 million to achieve it. If we learned anything (Nov. 8), it's make do with what you've got, Lansing and Oakland County: don't ask for more.

Michael Duggan, acting general manager of SMART and deputy Wayne County executive, told the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments late last summer that it would take $60 million in new revenue to accomplish the merger of SMART with Detroit's system and to extend the bus system to employment areas compet ing for workers.

Duggan cited the Chrysler Tech Park in Auburn Hills and the area in Livonia east of Middlebelt Road as places seeking workers who lacked public transportation to get there. "They are paying bounties $1,000 for engineers. California has 460,000 designers and engineers (laid off from the aerospace industry). We're bringing back people to fill the jobs. As county exec, I've got to have workers for those jobs, or the jobs will go right back to California," Patterson

"According to the University of Michigan, which does a research project into our county every year, we will create 52,000 new jobs, which is 47 percent of all the new jobs in Michigan. "It's just exploding out there.

Lifesaving decisions

Documentary tells of need for organ donors

BY MARY RODRIQUE STAFF WRITER

What do U.S. Sen. Carl Levin, the Rev. Jim Holley and radio personality Dick Purtan have in common?

The trio has independently made the same lifesaving decision — to be organ donors. All three also appear in a new video documentary, "Legacy, the Gift of Life"

The 27-minute film produced by Bob Senglaub, a kidney recipient, is a film that brings the subject of donation out of the hospital and into the living room.

Donor families, recipients, doctors and people waiting for organs share their stories. The message is simple: donation is a wonderful legacy, but you must discuss your wishes with family members.

Shortly after completing the film, Senglaub died of a heart attack. The Gift of Life agency has picked up where he left off and is making the film available to groups and individuals wanting more information free of charge.

Michael Cosgriff of Farmington Hills knows too well the importance of organ donation. He is one of more than 32,000 people across the country currently waiting for a transplant. In Michigan that translates to about 1,500 people waiting for a vital organ.

"Four years ago I had a bad heart attack," said Cosgriff, who is 53 and totally disabled. "Doctors hoped that eventually part of my heart's functioning would come back, but it didn't. My heart is only 18 percent functional."

That means stairs are too much work; everyday chores are too tax"I'm always short of breath and my stamina is very limited," he

After 29 years as a homemaker, Cosgriff's wife had to go back to school and re-enter the workforce. "It's rough," he said. "We have

"It's rough," he said. "We have a daughter, she's going to Eastern (Michigan University) majoring in speech pathology. She's doing Cosgriff has been on the waiting list for a donor heart for 32 months now.

"I probably would have had one by now, but my antibodies are extremely high. We have to get the numbers down before I can get a new heart," he said. "Otherwise I might not make it off the table.

"I'm on an experimental drug and doing OK. You get up, you do the best you can. I take it one day at a time. I'm always glad to see the sun. It means I've made it for another day." Every year, 2,000 people on the national waiting list die because no organ is available. In Michigan, several die each month while waiting. Filmmaker Senglaub wanted to do what he could to help the number of organ transplants rise.

"Studies consistently show that a great majority of the population favor organ donation and would want their organs donated," said Tom Beyersdorf, executive director of the Gift of Life Agency of "The problem is they don't tell family members, who at the time of death are asked to make that decision. Legacy encourages family members to sit down with family and say "I want to be an organ

Proposal A reflects national trend

BY TIM RICHARD

Michigan's 1994 school finance reform was part of a broader national trend away from local to state funding, a University of Michigan economist said.

"The trend is away from the property tax to anything and everything else," added Paul Courant, U-M professor, at last week's annual seminar on quantitative economics.

"It was especially interesting because there is an enormously strong tradition of local finance and local decision in Michigan," Courant said.

"As an economist, I believe he who pays the piper calls the tune," he said, predicting stronger state supervision of public K-12 education.

Before the Proposal A changes approved last March by voters, Michigan ranked third (behind New Hampshire and Oregon) in the percentage of school funding that came from the local level. "It was in the top handful of states in property taxes per $1,000 of personal disposable income," he add-

Proposal A, a constitutional amendment and a package of legislative bills, drastically cut locally levied property taxes for school operations from a statewide average of 34 mills to 6 mills on residences and 18 on non-residential property.

Voters replaced the $7 billion in lost revenue with a two-cents increase (to six cents) in the sales tax, a tripling of the cigarette tax (to 75 cents a pack) and other non-income taxes.

Effects of the massive school finance reform, Courant said, were:

A "small potatoes" change toward regressivity in the overall tax package. The sales tax will be less stable as a revenue source than the property tax used to be.

A hefty revenue increase for poorer school districts, which will be brought up to $5,000 per pupil.

Little change for districts spending $5,500 to $6,500 per pupil.

Downward pressure on districts — largely in the southern Oakland suburbs — spending more than $6,500 per pupil. They must vote local tax increases if they wish to preserve their spending differentials.

■ Little help for Detroit schools. State treasurer Douglas Roberts noted the reform of operations funding didn't stop Detroit voters from voting a $1.5 billion capital improvement bond issue on Nov.

Asked if the massive effort to equalize per-pupil funding will result in equalizing of student outcomes, Courant said the answer is "very unclear" because little correlation has been found between high spending and high student outcomes.

Courant, a Princeton University Ph.D. who has lived 10 years in Michigan, called the new "charter" school system "a wild card" in its impact on schooling but of little significance fiscally.

Charter schools may appear cheaper, he said, "because they can hire teachers without a whole lot of seniority. They're not cream-skimming, but they do have students with high motivation and strong parental input."

COMMUNITY LIFE

KAREN MEIER

Holidays begin with clean slate

ike most refrigerators ours has things stuck on the outside. The eclectic mix of magnets holds up school work, spelling lists, lunch menus, chore charts, drawings, paintings, and leaf and cottonball art. And on the inside, like most refrigerators, perishables are stored. And the occasional piece of clothing with bubble gum stuck on it. (It helps to freeze the mess before scraping it off.)

Now I'm about to divulge some refrigerator information which is very personal and more than likely quite damaging. It's about what else is inside. I'm going way out on a limb here by telling you this. But here goes.

Up until Saturday afternoon my refrigerator had several grams of Cajase stored in it. That's right, Cajase. It pains me and shames me to admit it to you. Years ago I never thought this could happen. I was just not the type to be caught up in such a thing. But you know what? It's just like they say on TV, one thing led to another and before I knew it, boom, I was in it, up to my eyebrows. And to break away is tough.

If my dear mother knew about my possession of Cajase it would tear her apart. Actually, when I think of it, during her visits these past few months she probably saw it in there, in my refrigerator, and just couldn't bring herself to beheve her own daughter was capable of such a thing. As for my husband and children, they just look the other way. They don't want anything to

Craft shows have been around forever but really soared in popularity alongside the country decor

Now that fewer ducks and calicos are used in decorating, craft shows seem to appeal to a broader audience of discriminating shoppers who appreciate the quality and singleness of an item crafted by hand.

Canton Township residents Sue Smith and Molly Pemberton have been riding this wave of craft show popularity from the beginning. They met about 20 years ago, two artisans working side by side in their own craft booths at weekend shows Pemberton works with wood, and Smith makes spice wreaths.

The ensuing friendship has taken them through a series of business relationships bringing them to this point as the area's best-known craft show promoters Pemberton and Smith are Handcrafters Inc., promoters of popular craft shows in Northville, Mount Clemens and Taylor Handcrafters started out about 12 years ago as part of a co-op of 17 craftspeople selling their goods at a Northville shop.

"As a group we started doing the Northville craft shows, and we even tually outgrew the business," Smith said. The two women preferred the shows to the shop so they parted un-

As promoters of six area shows they provide advertising, arrange the location, send out applications to crafters, jury the works, arrange spaces, arrange catering and basically run the show

We still exhibit (our crafts) so we know what we like as crafters," Pemberton said. "We treat them well and try to make things easier for them. So many times at shows they aren't treated with respect, but we do respect them and their work.

This is their eighth year as promoters, and the shows they do each year are well-received. They only do fall and winter shows, and they like to get one show really going before they start another one.

We think of Northville as our home and that's the biggest in terms of attendance," Smith said. "It's where we started, and we know the setup well. We would like to add another show in another city, but everything has to be just right."

Setting up and arranging a show can be difficult work. They keep a current mailing list of crafters in and out of the state and send out applications for the individual shows.

Smith and Pemberton have to review hundreds of applications and photos of crafts and narrow them down to just 65, in the case of Northville, who are actually invited

The right mix "We try to get the right mix of rafts," Smith said. "We want to make sure the crafter has a nice display and that they are going to have ample supply of their crafts to sell during the weekend. We don't want it to look like the same show all the time."

The crafters pay a fee to display their work, but unlike some promoters, Pemberton and Smith do not receive commission from

"Crafters don't like that," Pemberton said. "They worked hard on their items and want to keep the money they make." And Smith added that most are more comfortable knowing what it will cost when they go in.

Lunch and snacks are always available at the shows and Hand-crafters sets that up as well. The days preceding the actual show are spent laying a floor plan for the displays and making sure appropriate electrical service is available to the individual

"Everytime we're on our hands and knees putting tape down (to mark the displays) we ask ourselves if it's worth it," Smith said.

Apparently it is. The weekend of the event, Smith and Pemberton don't step off the premises of the show. They are there to handle emergencies and make sure things run smoothly, rarely finding an opportunity to sit down or eat. When they aren't promoting their own show, Smith and Pemberton still exhibit their own crafts, and Smith volunteers as organizer for the Westland Lutheran High School craft show each year.

"It's a lot of work, but our fami lies always come first because we are free to set our own schedules for the most part," Smith said. The two enjoy buying many of the crafts they see each week and watching the trends they see in

The emphasis, Smith said, has moved from country to really fine arts, like painting. There are still some people specializing in very specific country-style crafts, but they aren't as popular. Smith also said more men are interested in looking at the displays and even pick special things out as gifts for Junk Accumulated Since Easter. Handy acronym - Cajase.

Anyway, like I said, my refrigerator had several grams of this Calase in it until Saturday after noon. That would be the Saturday just before Thanksgiving You see, the last time I really cleaned the refrigerator out was just before that other big eating holiday, Easter. Eating bolidays - that's when relatives come to my house and invariably look in various food storage areas and then judge my worth as a human being. And now with relatives due to arrive again in mere days, it was time for the pre-Thanksgiving cleaning.

the refrigerator was begun and finished in one afternoon. The children sensed I was on one of my missions. They didn't aues tion me and they didn't whipe at me. They knew better. And so away I went. I worked feverishly for nearly two hours. And I fin ished with a flourish. One last wipe, one last unidentifiable thing tossed, and I was done. And then I packed up the children and off to 5 p.m. Mass we went. And my refrigerator was clean. It all seemed so fitting. You know that old saying, "Cleanliness is next to Godliness.

And you know that other old saying, "You are what you eat." I wonder if the inverse/reverse transverse (whatever) of that is true. "You aren't what you don't eat." I found a fair share of what my family isn't in the refrigerator during this purging. Like empty candy wrappers. What's with that? Empty wrappers wedged between the milk shelf and the Mir the holiday season, when people make an effort to share with those less fortunate Many such deserving local organizations are asking for help. They are organizations that feed, clothe and in general help people who can't

This year, one local organization that needs some immediate help is First Step, the only domestic-violence and sexual-assault program to serve western Wayne County

First Step is facing its largest funding gap $200.00 - in its history

Domestic violence has been in the nation's consciousness this year because of news coverage of the Nicole Brown Simpson and Ronald Goldman murders and the trial of O.J. Simpson

Thousands of local victims in Observerland have received the message that domestic vioience is a crime and that help is available

According to First Step Executive Director Judy Ellis, "survivors are now reaching out for hein in record numbers."

Ellis reports that in 1994, First Step provided costs. 12.798 nights of shelter to women and children fleeing violent homes. That'a 31-percent increase replace the funds, it will be faced with eliminatdential families assisted also increased over the previous year by 24 percent. First Step advocates provided 3,500 more counseling hours than last year, a 22 percent increase. Crisis calls, often the first contact that clients have with First Step, are averaging 530 calls per month, says

In addition, since the summer of 1993, First Step has started two new programs - a non-residential children's program which provides ageappropriate support groups to children living in violent homes and is the only such program in Michigan. In August 1993, First Step launched a 36 week program for men who batter, one of the most comprehensive batterers' programs avail-

Ellis says First Step has "stretched donation dollars to the maximum limit to keep the 24hour line operating, maintain the 42-bed shelter and to keep counseling and support group services available free of charge. "We utilize volunteers to their fullest potential," says Ellis.

"Last year, volunteers contributed the most time in First Step history - over 22,00 hours, the equivalent of 12 additional full-time staff. This year we have 15 student interns at the undergraduate and graduate levels from area colleges and universities. Interns provide crucial counseling and group services, perform intakes, work the crisis lines and help manage the shelter."

But it's not enough to compensate for a $200,000 budget gap because of recent reductions in state and federal funds and increased

Public support is critical. If First Step can't

A donation - in any amount will make a difference. Your help will keep open shelter doors, put linens and blankets on the beds, purchase meals and stuffed animals to comfort children.

If you are able, put First Step on your holiday list. Any donation amount will be appreciated. Send your donation to First Step, 44978 Ford Road, Suite C, Canton, Mich. 48187.

Domestic violence has existed a lot longer than a year. However, First Step is here making a difference and playing a part in the drive to reduce it in western Wayne County.

eality Bites! What an understatement and a big disappointment in the world that we live in today. I've been going back and forth with the people in charge at our local Target store and nobody there or at the headquarters in Minneapolis seems to care. I keep thinking of the old saying "one person can make a difference." I owe it to myself as a human being, my three children and our community

On Nov. 15, while shopping at our local Target store I was appalled at what I heard on their promotional video tape playing overhead in the video/book department. It was advertising the soundtrack from the movie Reality Bites. The name of the song is Spin the Bottle and in it the four letter "f" word is used. I went to the front of the store and asked to see the manager. The young lady listened, said that she was a supervisor and would let someone know. She brushed me off. I called the store's district headquarters.

They were understanding and said they would get in touch with the people in charge of distributing the promotional tape. They explained that they could pull any video, book, CD or cassette tape that was found to be offensive from the store's shelf but didn't have the authority to stop the promotional tape being played in the store.

With the Christmas shopping season here, more people will be hearing this tape. I don't think this is a positive type of image or example Target wants to project in our commu-

One man even argued with me that the "f" word wasn't used in the song. When I told him that I had the written words from the pamphlet that is included with a purchase of the soundtrack, he then stated that on the tape he reviewed it was bleeped out. This statement leads me to conclude that he didn't actually even review the promotional tape. He explained that the promotional videos are cut from the one master tape and maybe the tape at my local store somehow slipped through. I informed him that the same cut, complete with "f" word and all, was also being played at other local Target stores.

He promised that another tape would be cut with the "f" word bleeped out and sent to my local Target store.

I'm very disappointed that a reputable corporation would allow such a tape to continue playing in their stores even after this matter was brought to their attention.

hanks! We would like to thank you for your coverage of the Plymouth Canton

To the entire community we say thank you. Whether you were the bus driver driving us to our next game, one of our cross campus rivals helping to cheer us on, or the pizzerias who donated pizzas and made our victory party a success, we are grateful.

The invitation from the Canton Soccer Club to participate in their trophy ceremony was great, even more so the signing of autographs is something these young men will not soon forget. As a team we know our parents and dedicated fans will be there, but it was truly heart warming to have the entire community come together and share in our final championship. This can only emphasize to these young athletes and coaches to continue their efforts and the importance of a job well done. Don Smith and Jeff Neschich, coaches just waned to "thank" the lady who ran the red light at Wayne and Palmer on Friday, Sept. 28. Thanks to you, my husband, who is already in a wheelchair, has whiplash and many bruises and pains. He also has no van to drive and because it was fully equipped with lift hand controls, etc., it will take months to fix.

Thanks to you, you have ruined my anniversary, our Christmas shopping together for our kids, our excursions that families do at the holiday time. Not only that but you almost killed my dog who has been part of our family for 8 years and means a much to us as one of our children.

Thank God for the EMS guys who were at the right place at the right time. If it hadn't been for them just happening to be there and the quick thinking they had, I'd be at a funeral right now. Also, I hope in the future you will pay attention to your driving or get off the road. Sherry L. Creech, Canton

The Fair Grounds, of course, is a state operation. The parking charge is a fee, not a tax, but it's still governmental revenue. What's doubly galling is that the site is Eight Mile and Woodward, a commercial wasteland that doesn't warrant such gouging

Gov. Engler's Blue-Ribbon Commission on the Headlee Amendment recently said some harsh things about fees. That panel - chaired by freemarket economist Gary Wolfram and including such GOP stalwarts as Patrick Anderson and Milford Township's Elaine Skarritt - said we voters should decide the fate of some of those

Where there is a "mandatory jurisdiction-wide" fee, it said, voters should be consulted, according to the panel's interpretation of the Headlee AmendExamples: recycling fees, 911 emergency telephone service, the 30 percent Wayne County tax on parking at Detroit Metropolitan Airport, the Detroit utility users tax, and that kind. The blue-ribbon types did not suggest a vote on such non-mandatory governmental fees as skating rinks and college tuitions. Too bad.

It's about time somebody besides the news media woke up to the fact that governmental revenue is more than ust taxes. We tried to tell Dick Headlee that in 1978 when he was selling his tax-limitation amendment.

Headlee had a clever sales pitch so clever that I listened to it three times before I caught the subtlty of his wording. Headlee's reasoning was that governmental spending was rising far faster than the consumer price index (very true, and a very valid criticism) But then he would shift gears and say that, therefore, taxes should be limited Headlee said nothing about two other major sources of governmental revenue: (1) federal aid and (2) fees and tuion't expect to see a whole lot coming out of the two-day lame-duck session of the Legislature this week. The real action will come next year, when Republicans add slin control of the House (56-54) to their majority in the Senate (22-16) and the governorship.

Dems need new strategies to replace shopworn ideas

You'll hear much confident talk this week, though. Republicans will be riding on the crest of their election victory, talking about their conservative "Contract with Michigan." Democrats will insist that things weren't so bad, really, with only a one-vote swing in the House in the middle of a national GOP landslide.

Both need to look beyond their noses, and this week's session is as good a time as any to do it. Being the minority party, Democrats have the more intense need.

Their problem is not finding a charismatic candidate and better media consultants. Their problem is that they are largely out of ideas.

It has been a long, long time since G. Mennen Williams and Neil Staebler built the modern Democratic Party on a base of liberal ideology and broad citizen participation. The ideology, like most, has had its 50-year run and is now pretty shopworn. And broad citizen participation is often an unnecessary inconvenience in the eyes of a lot of party bosses.

Recasting the Democratic Party is going to take some time, great effort and a lot of thought One good place for minority lawmakers to start is to steal a useful device from the Republicans: legislative task forces. Beginning in the late 1980s, when they were a minority, GOP lawmakers created a series of task forces.

Their purpose was to propose specific policy and legislative changes for a series of high-profile policy issues. Minority status being what it is, most of their ideas were not adopted. More importantly, they represented a concrete way of acting on the conviction that political majorities are the consequence of good ideas.

Lansing hypocrisy. Consider, just for fun, the likely durability of GOP commitments to term limits, now that Republicans are the majority. More important, it's time to reflect on an unintended consequence of term limits that shows up in this past election: There were more than a dozen hotly contested legislative races, each involving more than $200,000 in advertising.

Where do you think the money came from to finance these races? Certainly not from grass-of these absurdly expensive elections. The cash will be raised just as it is now: by House and Senate leaders who bundle contributions from special interests and dispense it to local candidates who go along with the program. Result: More negative campaigning, more partisanship, more control by big money.

So far, the Republican response to this problem has been hotly partisan: Shut down the Democrats' successful bingo operations. Certainly, something more far-reaching and more in the public interest is called for. Phil Power, chairman of the Observer's parent company, may be reached at 953-2047, Ext.

Westland actor enjoys role in 'Miss Saigon'

BY BRIAN LYSAGHT

Leo Daignault, an actor who is in town for three months with the hit musical "Miss Saigon," recalls his senior year at Westland John Glenn with "My senior year was pretty packed with fine arts classes," said Daignault, 29, a 1983 graduate. "I had one required class, political science, and the rest were either dance, drama or choir. Then I

Not that he was slacking off. He played the lead in the school play, "Pirates of Penzance" and won an award as the school's top fine arts student.

They were really good to me there," Daignault After a year at Eastern Michigan, he decided to go to Chicago to further his performing career. In August 1992, he joined the national touring company for "Miss Saigon." The company has done 850 performances in Chicago, Boston, Washington, D.C, Denver and Minneapolis. The mam-moth production is at Detroit's Masonic Temple Theatre until Jan. 7.

Daignault has relatively small ensemble roles as a Marine and a Vietnamese villager. The show is a love story about an American soldier and a young

He said he's glad to be home for an extended stay, and that opening night at the Masonic in October, with about 25 friends and family members in the crowd, was a thrill.

His mother, Joann Daignault of Canton, has seen the show five times in several cities. She said she is very proud of her son, whom, she recalled, used to put on puppet shows in the backyard." "At first I thought that it's just because I'm his mom that I felt he had a great voice. Then I realized other people liked it too.

Bruce Graden, then a Glenn music teacher, said Daignault was very focused on the performing arts. He was "a great singer, great actor and very good dancer.

"It was pretty obvious to me that he had everything going for him," said Graden, now retired but still in touch with his former student.

Daignault also stays in contact with Dan Cooney, who graduated from Glenn a year later and performed the role of Perchik in "Fiddler on the Roof' this fall at the Fisher Theatre in Detroit.

Daignault took an early interest in theater. He was doing makeup for Garden City and Westland theater groups as an eighth grader. As a ninth grader, he summoned the courage to play his first lead role (Ichabod Crane) in a Marshall Junior High School production of "The Legend of Sleepy

"I always wanted to perform," he said. In Chicago, he took whatever roles he could and paid his dues. "I did shows where I was making $50 a week and supporting myself waiting tables, just for the love of thester." He performed in Midwest premieres of touring shows like "A Little Night Music," and "Pacific Overtures." He managed a restaurant. Eventually he joined the actor's union, which ensured better-paying roles.

Things have been going well since, and Ann Dubay said it may be because they keep the place clean, the prices low and the food good. And they're not afraid to serve shrimp for breakfast, even if it's not on the menu.

The Dubays are high school weethearts from Garden City (he East Class of '82, she Garden City High Class of '83). He started as a 17-year-old short-order cook, graduated from the culinary arts school at Schoolcraft College and worked as a chef at the Hyatt Regency, Grand Cafe in Farmington and Oakland Hills Country Club, among other places.

But they always wanted to own their own place, and for the last three years, they've been working toward that goal.

"Our dream was always to have a small mom and pop show, and that's how this came about," said Ann Dubay. She saw a for-rent sign in the window, and that's where it all began. She did the decorating. There

Hydrophonic — The Soup Dragons

Now pared down to a mere dragon, vocalist Sean Dickson seems to have lost some of his fire. He's drifted to a more rock-oriented sound, much in the same regard s fellow Brits Primal Scream.

Bootsy Collins, Neville Staples, and Tina Weymouth have tagged along for the "Hydrophonic" (Raw TV/Mercury) ride, but the songs don't live up to The Soup Dragons' earlier hits.

"Freeway," which sounds eerily like Primal Scream's "Get Your Rocks Off," comes the closest The harmonica solo in "Freeway" is worth taking a quick listen. The feel-good lyrics are there, but the hooks aren't.

(Dickson and his cast of touring musicians hit the Majestic in Detroit on Saturday, Dec. 3. Call (313) 963-7680 for more information.)

Autogeddon — Julian Cope

even to the British

Go ahead and throw Julian cope in that musty pile with Iron Maiden albums, mystery shows on PBS, and all other things way too British to be understood by najor American audiences. Then gain, Cope (once the leader of the Teardrop Explodes) is probably inaccessible

Always a critically acclaimed artist, his late two albums "Peggy Suicide" and "Jehovahkill," both drew raves from the music press, but went mostly underheard by the alternative crowd he is pitched to in the United States.

"Autogeddon" is his first album for Rick Rubin's hip American Recordings label, but don't expect Copemania to sweep the country anytime soon. This album is a thoroughly frustrating listen. There are decent songs scattered through. "Autogeddon Blues" is a spluttering acoustic Cave, and "Ain't No Gettin' Round Gettin' Round" is a bare-bones rocker. However, Cope's vocals don't add to his songs, but seem to instantly deflate whatever life they showed in their first ten seconds. He starts in with either an adenoidal, robotic drone or sings like a wacked-out character from "Looney Tunes," showcasing on the infuriating "Paranormal in the West Country." The nine songs here are thematically related, all spitting at the automobile as a thing of evil. Cope's press release calls "Autogeddon" a "gripping and coherent rant against cars, the crap that comes out of them, the crap that springs up wherever they go, and the idiots - for the most part who drive them. Now this could be nitpicking, but it might be a little easier being called an idiot by some eccentric English musician ,if his music was actually likeable. In a way, it's fitting that Julian Cope thinks the majority of North America, Europe and the rest of the civilized world are idiots; they're certainly not buying his albums.

"Autogeddon" makes no argument to change that fact, either.

Stones' 'circus' is back in town

Never mind the Ben Gay and Geritol jokes, aging only makes the Rolling Stones better. See for yourself as the Stones play the Pontiac Silverdome Dec. 1.

BY TODD WICKS SPECIAL WRITEP

It's been almost three months since the Rolling Stones played Spartan Stadium in East Lansing. Much has happened since then. The leaves fell from the tree the air got colder and colder, and the T-shirts sold at that show were washed a few times and quickly became see-through.

Christmas decorations are everywhere, the "Crazy Clearance" Wonderland Music ads are back on TV, and Keith Richards has worked his way through roughly 180 more packs of Marlboro Reds (they reportedly have the same effect on him as vitamins do on the rest of

But it's time to forget all of this and get excited once again, because the rock'n'roll circus is coming back to town once again: the Rolling Stones are playing the Pontiac Silverdome Dec. 1. It's their second Michigan appearance on their '94-'95 Voodoo Lounge tour. This very well could be your final chance to see these living legends in concert, but there are several more important reasons to pay the $25 or $50 and go. Put simply, this concert will be a textbook les son in rock'n'roll. Pink Floyd gave the Stones a run for their money in ticket sales over the summer, but the Floyd show was about special effects and stuffy, plodding mood music. Live, the Stones deal exclusively in an earthy blues-influenced rawness that is the essence of their art.

The Voodoo Lounge show positively kicks with energy for a solid two hours, so don't worry about getting your money's worth. Then there are the weathered, wrinkled, been-there-rocked-it Stones themselves. International playboy/vocalist Mick Jagger showed no signs of slowing back at the September show. Yes, the lips are still huge. Yes, his butt was officially measured to be smaller than a postage stamp. The age lines may be visible, but Jagger's ability to sing, dance and generally work a crowd into a frenzy emains unchallenged. He is in incredible shape for a man half his age and in equally fine voice, so leave the Ben-Gay jokes at home.

Childhood friend and sometimes bickering partner Keith Richards embodies the Stones' image. He comes out, guitar slung low, stalking the stage slowly, but by show's end is leaping and jerking around almost as much as Mick. His playing remains inspired: if your pulse doesn't quicken at the opening riff for 'Jumping Jack Flash," you just might be clinically dead.

And parents, bring the kids; there is no finer role model for America's youth than Richards. The Telecasters, the skull ring . . . the mileage He must be seen to be believed.

Then throw in the loveable antics and king-bee slide guitar of Ronnie Wood and impressively irreplacable drummer Charlie Watts. There's not a dull one in the bunch. The show's set list sticks mainly to the '70s and the new album. A handful of tracks off the classic "Exile on Main Street" are sprinkled throughout, along with more intense cuts off "Voodoo Lounge," and favorites off 1978's "Some Girls." Almost every song played is or was a hit, from the recent "Love Is Strong" to massive crowd pleasers like "Shattered" and "Happy."

Changing play list The Stones have stressed in recent interviews that the song list will change from show to show, so let's hope for more surprises. In September, "(I Can't Get No) Satisfaction" was one of the first songs played, sending the already-excited crowd completely over the top. On Dec. 1 anything could happ Maybe "Gimme Shelter" or "Wild Horses" will make the cut this time In any case, here's hoping for "Angie." Just don't expect stage-diving or drum solos - let's be reasonable. The stage on this tour lets the band interact with the audience more than the traditional stadium show. Two walkways allow Jagger up almost into the nosebleed seats on either side, and a catwalk high above the drums lets him get down in front of a massive video screen.

The futuristic set is a sight to ehold, but should be seen mainly as something to look at and talk about as it looms ominously overhead during the Spin Doctors' open ing set. Once the Stones begin playing, the stage will quickly become an afterthought.

Notoriously tricky for live music, the Silverdome will prove a daunting task for the Stones' sound crew. But don't let these facts affect your decision negatively. The Stones will make it up for you, I promise. The official list of reasons you should go see the Stones on Dec. 1 goes on and on. Most importantly, i will be great fun, and this could be your last chance to experience the group known as the Greatest Rock'n'roll Band in the World live. But no one in the audience was getting depressed over sad goodbyes or farewell tours in East Lansing. They were all smiling and dancing and having too good a time. At least I think they were; once the Stones came on, I couldn't be bothered to Clapton to the current chart-topping act Nirvana. It's interesting that the acoustic, bare bones approach to music making has achieved such a wide spread following, especially in light of the fact that a Royal Oak-based band named Skeleton Crew has been playing that way for about five years. They were "unplugged" before it was cool.

In spite of the band's acoustic approach, Skeleton Crew's music is tough to label. Even the members of the band couldn't completely agree.

Vocalist Bill Pilipchuk, whom you may remember from Bitter Sweet Alley during the early '80s, says the group's music is a blend of "the Beatles, Jacques Brel and Chicago blues." Bassist Chris Badynee prefers the term "alternative folk." TRAVEL

Port Austin is a great getaway any time of year

BY SANDRA DALKA-PRYSBY SPECIAL WRITER

When cold weather arrives, most people head for the sun. Others head for the Thumb.

The Thumb, of course, ir the descriptive name for northeastern part of Michigan's lower peninsula. And Port Austin, located at the tip of the Thumb, is a great place for a weekend getaway because it offers shopping, fine dining and a whole lot of nature.

This resort village on Lake Huron is just a two- to three-hour trip from Detroit's western sub-urbs. In fact, just as the kids get restless in the car, you've arrived at this haven for fishermen. (Perch and salmon are among the wealth of catches available in Lake Huron.)

You can break up the ride to or from Port Austin.

Stop in Bad Axe, on M-53, which bisects the Thumb, for some great family shopping. The Huron County seat offers Norman's, located just south of town on M-53, where last year's over-stocks of clothing can be mapped up for just a few dollars. (And do take cash or a credit card. Norman's will not accept checks.)

Right in Bad Axe, and also on M-53, is a wonderful little "junk" store called The Jungle. This establishment carries resale items and finds, like inexpensive, but attractive jewelry, a vast assortment of sunglasses, seasonal items and other assorted things.

If you're looking for "the good go 17 miles north to your final destination, Port Austin. Right in the center of town, on Lake Street, is the Porthole, a small gift shop that carries antiques, unusual and quality new wares and hand-fashioned (versus the more common "handmade") items, like quilts, decorated denim clothing and wreaths.

The Porthole's proprieteress, Sharon Upthegrove, makes browsing in this shop an even more enjoyable experience (just looking at the stock is a treat) by offering friendly words and helpful and expedient service. (This shop will be open weekends until Christmas, then closed until April).

After shopping, Port Austin visitors can enjoy a number of natural and man-made attractions, starting with the many public parks. A family favorite is Bird Creek County Park that's within the village limits. Gazebos and a boardwalk with cutouts for seating and covered picnic shelters provide a view of the lake and harbor at this park.

For year-round recreation, Port Crescent State Park, five miles west of Port Austin on M-25, is the place to visit. In addition to offering almost 200 modern campsites, day visitors can swim during summer months, view nature close up from hiking trails most of the year, or enjoy cross-country skiing on groomed trails during the winter — including candle-lit trails on certain days. For further information on Port Crescent State Park, call (517) 738-8663.

No matter what a visitor does in Port Austin, if it's near the beach it's combined with fantastic views of natural shoreline, outstanding sunsets and the tranquility of the sounds of the lake.

All this fresh air can make you hungry, and Port Austin has the perfect solution in its three worldclass restaurants.

Both the Garfield Inn (a favorite summer retreat of President James Garfield) and The Bank 1884, fashionable eateries just a few steps from each other on Lake Street, share the honor of being National Historic Sites. They also share the distinction of offering fine cuisine in comfortable surroundings.
The Garfield, at (517) 738-5254, is open year round. The Bank, at (517) 738-5254, however, closes during winter months when owners Anthony Berry (a teacher) and Marilyn Berry (a librarian) concentrate on their other profes-

Excellent view: Port Austin, perched on Lake Huron at the tip of the Thumb, offers long stretches of beach, including the 800-feet of beachfront in Bird Creek County

The newest entry in fine food specifically "Cuisine of the setland" — is The Farm, Heartland" owned by Jeff and Pam Gabriel and located west of town on Port Crescent Road, Jeff is a certified master chef and an instructor in the culinary arts program at Schoolcraft Colletge. The Farm, at (517) 874-5700, also has seasonal hours.

For hearty appetites with modest budgets, there's Chuck & Jane's on State Street. The food is inexpensive, abundant and tasty (try the breakfast specials and homemade cinnamon rolls.)

Lodging is just as important as food. Port Austin offers a number accommodations, including motels, cottages and camp sites.

One of the oldest and most popular refuges is Lakeside Resort Motel, at (517) 738-5201, on Lake Street. It is owned by Dottie and Charlie Parks, whose father opened a livery on the site in 1926. Patrons back then paid 10 cents to feed and water their hors-

For those who like bed and breakfast accomodations, there's The Green Apple Inn (517) 738-8495 and The Garfield Inn (517) 738-5254, to name a few.

For more information on Port Austin and the surrounding area, call the Greater Port Austin Chamber of Commerce, (517) 738-ow if only the remainder of his collegiate career can match the start. James Head, the 6-foot-6 all-state forward from Plymouth Salem, opened his playing career for Eastern Michigan's basketball team by playing 10 minutes in the Eagles' season-opener Monday — a 72-62 win over St. Joseph's.

Head's first shot was a three-pointer, and he connected. He also hit his second shot, finishing with five points (making both his floor shots) and a rebound.

His start sounded somewhat familiar to his finish at Salem. Against Detroit Pershing in the state regionals, Head also scored five points, but converted just 2-of-9 from the field.

But that was then. His start with the Eagles bodes well for Head's future.

Canton won all three rematches. The latest came in Tuesday's quarterfinal against Western Lakes Activities Association foe — and champion — Walled Lake Central, which had beaten Canton 63-49 Oct. 25 at Canton. This time, however, it was the Chiefs with a 14-point victory: 49-35 at Walled Lake Western.

The victory propels the Chiefs to their third Final Four appearance in the past six seasons. Canton plays Flint Northern (23-2) in a Class A semifinal at 1 p.m. today at Battle Creek's Kellogg Center.

When a team loses three starters and its sixth man - including one of the state's premier players - there is cause for concern.

But Plymouth Salem coach Bob Brodie isn't expecting much sympathy from his fellow basketball coaches in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

"Everybody will still want to he added the reason why: "We can challenge all of 'em. We'll be in the thick of it again."

When weren't the Rocks in the thick of it would be an easier question to answer. They finished 19-3 last season, reaching the state regionals before losing to Willie Mitchell-led Detroit Pershing 45-32.

The biggest loss is, of course, James Head. The 6-foot-6 allstater is now a freshman playing for Eastern Michigan.

"We're James-less for the first time in four years," said Brodie.

Also gone are guard Sanjay Seth and forward Harold Shanks, both starters, and sixth man Joe Mensel. It's a lot to replace, but Brodie believes he has all the right parts - starting with returnees Doug Herriman, a 5-10 senior point guard, and James McDonald, a 6-4 senior forward. Both were starters last season.

Brodie called Herriman, who averaged four points a game as a "one of the best guards around as far as quickness, speed and defensive ability." He expects McDonald, who averaged 10 points a game last season, to pro-vide even more offense. "He runs the floor real well," Brodie said.

Size won't be a problem, that's certain. There are three other seniors who saw action last season, and two of them stand 6-6: Dan McKian and Dave Bol. Both figure to be in the starting lineup. So does Justin Marcis, a 5-9 enior who Brodie thinks will give the Rocks one of the best starting tandems at guard. "He has great quickness," the Salem coach said of Marcis, who played extensively last season.

Senior guard Nate Ledbetter, sophomore guard Nate Gray (both 6-foot) and sophomore forward Andre's Lopez (6-2) will play a lot, too. Then there's juniors Ryan Andrzjewski, a 6-1 guard; Kirk Craggs, a 6-3 forward; and Andy Makins, a 6-0 guard.

'So we've got some guys with ne game base," said Brodie. "It's just a matter of how they jell.

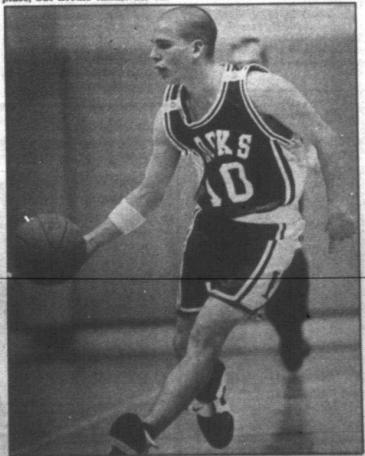

Head's offensive skills and rebounding will be hardest to replace, but Brodie thinks his current crop can score. "Any one of those four (McDonald, Herriman, Marcis, McKian) could do it for us," he said. "I hope they all do - we'll have a helluva season.

Still, Salem's season could hinge on how well it does the small things. "We're going to have to rely on a lot of hustle and quickness," said Brodie. "We run the floor pretty well, we've got some size. We'll make people

Harrison survived tough schedule for 7th state championship

BY DAN O'MEARA STAFF WRITER

The 1994 football season ended the same way as the last one, but it was a little different experience for Farmington Hills Harrison.

The Hawks had to deal with much higher expectations as they battled their way to a second straight Class A championship.

Being the defending league and state champ would have been a full plate for any team, but Harrison also was ranked No. 1 in Michigan and 20th nationally in the preseason.

"A year ago we weren't favored to do anything, coming off a 4-5 season," Harrison coach John Herrington said. "Most teams were geared up to play us, and we did OK. We didn't sneak up on anybody; that's for sure."

Following a loss to Birmingham Brother Rice in the first game, the Hawks won all the rest, capturing a 10th Western Lakes Activities Association title and seventh state crown.

This year marked the 12th time in 15 seasons (1980-94) that Harrison has won 10 or more games.

Harrison faced three playoff teams - Class AA champ Troy, Marysville and Clarkston - in its preseason scrimmage and four more during the regular season -Rice, Westland John Glenn, Livonia Stevenson and Oxford.

"We had 12 victories in a row, and the kids did a tremendous job playing against that kind of competition," Herrington said.

While the Hawks had important and exciting wins against Stevenson, South Lyon and Grand Rapids Forest Hills Central, they probably played their best game against Oxford.

Harrison dealt the Wildcats their first home-field defeat in five years while posting a 42-0 victory in the last game of the regu-

"Maybe they weren't the best team we played, but it was our best overall performance," Herrington said.

When he recalls the '94 season, Herrington will remember how the Hawks overcame so many in-

Harrison had its smallest squad in many years and had only 23 healthy players after six games, but the Hawks persevered.

Seniors Dave Hensel and Kevin Bryant, a pair of important twoway players, made it through the playoffs despite injuries. Hensel "limped through the last three games" with a bruised shin and Bryant had a slight shoulder separation.

"The difficult thing was overcoming injuries," Herrington said. We changed the lineup time and

The Hawks were more of a vet-eran team, with established players at some skill positions — the main reason for the high preseason ratings. But Harrison also had many new starters who picked up where others had left Sophomore quarterback Kevin Bambenek took over when senior Jake Lawson (15-35-300) was injured and completed 61 percent of his passes (51-84) for 737 yards.

Both threw seven TD passes. Senior defensive end Jeremy White, senior tackle Brian Gurwin, junior center Brad Donahue and sophomore linebacker Nick Shaieb also were pleasant surprises as first-time

The Hawks will miss Bryant, who has committed to the Michian, and bruising fullback Nick Williams, who plans to visit Mi-ami (Florida), Michigan State and Michigan.

Bryant caught 33 passes for 360 yards and 10 touchdowns, and Williams rushed for 1,351 yards and 21 touchdowns on 206 carries. Senior linebacker Evan Jefferson, defensive backs Dave Hensel and Lawson and defensive ends Scott Gurke and White hope to continue playing in college, too.

The Hawks also lose four twoway linemen to graduation: Steve Shaieb, a three-year starter at guard, Tony Valdez (guard), Jim Struble (tackle) and Dave Wolff

But Harrison will return a good nucleus of talent and plans to be competitive next year in Herrington's 26th season as head coach.

"(Junior Jason) Granger will be back, so we'll still have the big-play threat," he said. "Bambenek will have another year of experi ence, and we have some solid linemen coming up from the JV. W think we'll be a good football team.

Granger led the Hawks with 1,551 yards and 13 TDs on 164 rushing attempts. Sophomora tackle Francis Gojcaj was the leading tackler (14) and also had one sack in the state final.

The kicking game will be sound with all-league junior Kyle Ves-sell, who hit 50 of 51 extra points.

'Last House' fills the bill

"Last House on the Road: Excursions into a Rural Past," by Ronald Jager (262 pp., $18.00, Beacon Press)

don't always understand why perfectly-intelligent people often choose to pull up stakes in a relatively-comfortable neighborhood and move, with great anticipation, to the edge of an ever-encroaching wilderness. Here, beside the road that leads to nowhere much, and blissful as well-fed puppies, they buy a drafty old house that is riddled with stuff like plaster-turned to dust, squirrels' nests, oozy pipes, and lots of mouse manure, and settle in for a taste of the country life. (Maybe I got my fill of "untamed" places when I grew up in one of them?)

Despite my perplexity, people make these moves all the time, though. And actually, Γm very glad they do. Some of them turn out to be writers like Ronald Jager, and little books like this get written as a result.

"Last House on the Road" is not another one of those we-moved-to-the-country-and-restored-anold-house books. It's more like a we-moved-to-the country-and-it-really-set-me-to-thinking books.

Ronald Jager, you may recall, is a Michigan native who, in 1990, wrote "Eighty Acres," an acclaimed account of the family farm in Missaukee County where he grew up. He is also a former professor of philosophy at Yale University who, with his wife, Grace, bought an abandoned farmhouse some 30 years ago in the granite hills of southern New Hampshire. They live there today. (Unfortunately, not even a small sketch of the house is included in this book.)

Having been a Michigan farm boy, Jager was fairly well-equipped for the rustic life. But he likes to stress here that country living, though it may have its very real and endearing charms, is not always an especially pretty piece of cake when you get right down to it.

We come to know his "nest built by others" and its environs, not just by walking through the front door and taking a look around in the company of Jager, his family, and his friends. He introducesus from many different angles and directions, and even from different time pe riods. We get a taste of its essence in a kind of circuitous, unpredictable way that sometimes feels a bit odd, but ultimately fills the bill.

Here is the Revolutionar Ebenezer Wood, who built the small Cape Codstyle home in the 18th century. Here is yet another traveler, lost on the dead-end road that runs beside the house, knocking on Jager's door in the dead of night, asking where the road goes to. (Here is Jager, answering the knock, tempted to reply, "It's been here. . . . 200 years. . ain't gone nowhere yet.") Here is the nearby village of Washington, whose city fathers still

PERFECT HOLIDAY ART GIFT

If you're looking for art as gifts for family and friends this holiday season, Observerland galleries offer a treasure trove full of ideas.

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN

There's nothing like handmade to say I love you, to say you're special. Handmade, handcraft ed art gifts abound in Observerland for giving this Hanukkah and Christmas season. The variety of mediums is endless. Painting pottery, glass, photography, jewelry, and wood items can be found at local galleries. Spend as little as $5 for a clay cow lapel pin to $500 for a wildlife print. If you find it impossible to decide, most of the merchants offer gift certificates.

Blown glass ornaments made with ash from the 1980 Mt. Saint Helens eruption, mesmerize with swirls of color as they glitter in the light at Penniman Showcase of Arts and Crafts, 827 Penniman Ave. in Plymouth. Hundreds of bulbs, giftboxed and ready for giving are sure to become collectibles, perhaps a seasonal tradition.

Handcrafted by American and German artists in 38 styles from round to chili pepper, the ornaments can be displayed by themselves on a stand, or in groupings on a Christmas tree. Some crebeautiful item that they can collect." Smith sold hundreds of the blown glass ornalast Christmas. By the end of October, he had stocked drawers full of them in the 11 year old shop. Smith thinks they're so popular because of the fact more and more customers are choosing beauty over novelty in gift purchases, quality over quantity. There's a return to elegance, a lot of metallics, gold and patinas. I think people are enjoying shopping again, and people are decorating more of their homes not just their trees." Prices for the blown glass ornaments start at $20; softball size bulbs are $40. Along with the bulbs, Penniman Showcase carries lead free, dishwasher safe pottery, wood boxes; glass vases, bowls, and paperweights; jewelry and raku.Environmental art

ART BENEFITS CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

The Elizabeth Stone Gallery, exibiting children's book art through Dec. 24 at the Livonia Civic Center Fine Arts Gallery, hosts an opening reception for Russian illustrator, Gennady Spirin to benefit Children's Hospital of Michigan 5:30-8:30 p.m. Friday, Dec. 2 at the gallery, 536 North Woodward Ave. in Birming-

Tickets are $25 (Friend), $50 (Patron), or $75 (Benefactor). Original art work and children's books by Spirin will be available for purchase Three limited edition lithographs printed especially for the exhibition from the books, "The Frog Princess, "Snow White and Rose Red," and fulliver's Adventures in Lilliput" are available for $100 each.

The reception kicks off an exhibit of Gennady Spirin's children's book art running through Jan. 14 in the Elizabeth Stone Gallery. Spirin is among the best-known and most dis tinguished illustrators of children's books. His opulent yet translucent palette of watercolors illustrate Russian fairy tales, folk tales and fine literature. Some of his most popular books are "The Nutcracker," "The Tale of the Unicorn," "The White Cat," "Rumplestiltskin" and "The Children of Lir," winner of the Society of Illustrators, Book Category Gold Medal in 1993. Canton condos want families

Buyers with an eye for a colonial model can choose from among three basic floor plans in Stonecrest, a smallish site condominium subdivision in Canton expected to be especially attractive for families with children.

BY DOUG FUNKE

Stonecrest, detached site condominiums Canton, is developer/builder Bob Kime's first project since spinning off his own operation after a long, fruitful partnership with his brother. Nearly a third of the 45 building sites off Palmer between Lilley and Sheldon have sold since the model opened in August. "What sets us apart, number one, is the style of the house," said Kime, president of RDK Homes in Plymouth. "It opens up. We tried to stick with old standards, ceramic tile, masonry fireplace, things we think people like. "It has an attractive exterior, curb appeal, and interiors with good functional space and quality contruction," he added.

Buyers at Stonecrest have a choice of three basic floor plans featuring nearly 2,000 square feet and three bedrooms and an open loft or four bedrooms upstairs for less than $150,000.

Castlestone: This model at Stonecrest features three bedrooms and a loft upstairs, a family room, living room and dining room on the main level.

Standard features include attached, two-car garage, basement, first-floor laundry, ceiling lights in secondary bedrooms and dishwasher.

Popular options include fireplace ($3,200), air conditioning ($2,500), deck ($2,300) and finishing of the bath in the master suite ($2,900).

The main level of the Castlestone model provides a living room leading to a formal dining room, kitchen with eating nook and family room with a peaked ceiling.

The half bath in the Castlestone is right off the foyer at the front door, a highly-unusual placing.

"It's away from and a little private from the family room where people are and convenient for kids outside they don't have to run through the whole house," Kime said.

The laundry is off the garage

"It makes a good mud room," Kime said. "Kids can drop off their dirty clothes and coats and wash their hands here before mom catches them in the kitchen.'

A bridge and loft area overlook the family room on the second level.

"People can use it as a study, a little computer area, sewing," Kime said. "There's a good view outside. You can look down at the fireplace. It really opens the house."

Upstairs, the master suite is separated from the other two bedrooms with a walk-down step and a lantern light at the door.

The master has a cathedral ceiling, walk-in closet, shower and double-sink vanity.

A second full bath is upstairs. A small step down leads from the kitchen/eating nook to the family room downstairs to create an impression of spaciousness.

With optional bay windows, the Castlestone model features 28 windows, said Greg Kime, Bob's son and sales manager at the site. "It really adds another dimension to . and a lot of light, the house .. Greg said.

Kmart honors volunteer spirit

BY MARY RODRIQUE STAFF WRITER

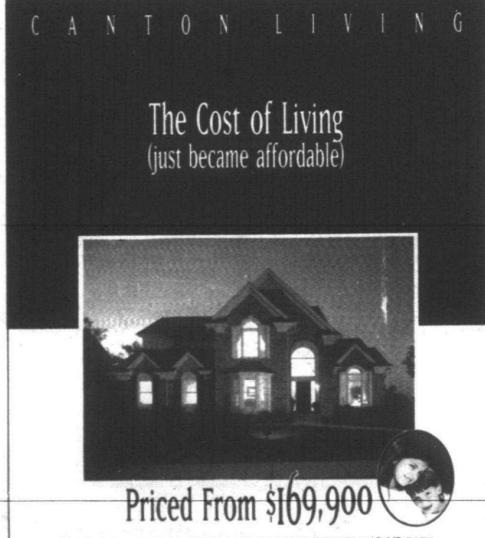

To recognize and encourage social activism, Troy-based Kmart Corporation has designed a program to honor its workers who volunteer in their communities.

The international retailing giant recently recognized 10,000 of its employees across the country for outstanding commitment to helping the homeless, feeding the hungry and raising funds for nonprofit organizations.

Kmart calls the effort Community Volunteers.

"Our premise is that to have a positive impact on the communities where we do business, we must encourage

The Cobblefield model is similar to the Castlestone on the first level except that there s no peaked ceiling in the family room and a fourth bedroom replaces the loft upstairs.

The Alabaster has the largest family room, an island in the kitchen and tucks the power oom off the family room next to the laundry The upstairs is similar to the Castlestone. All three models are about the same size and carv the same basic sticker price.

Exteriors are brick, stucco and aluminum. with some brick on all four sides. The subdi vision is serviced by city water and sewers and will have sidewalks.

Stonecrest is in the Plymouth Canton Com nunity Schools. The property tax rate for a house in Canton Plymouth Canton school district is about $31 per $1,000 of state equalized valuaion, half of market value.

That means the owner of a $150,000 condo Stonecrest would annually pay about $2,325 in property taxes for township, school and county services. The association maintenance fee is $95 quarterly. Condo owners are expected to main tain their own lawns. Tim and Donna Dowling, along with son, Kevin, will move into an Alabaster model.

We decided to look in the Canton area because it has good schools," Donna said. We're in Wayne-Westland now and they're having some problems.
