Some see favoritism in hiring

School board member Barbara Graham and others are saying that qualified prospective employees have been passed up by the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools in favor of relatives of current employees.

Police functions merger scrapped

By Joanne Maliszewski Staff Writer

Canton Township's role in efforts to consolidate some police functions with the Plymouth and Northville communities has come to an end.

"It besically brings the curtain down on a two-year endeavor," said Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack.

Leaders in Canton, Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Northville and Northville Township announced Dec. 13 that attempts for a single joint dispatch won't pay, and attempts to involve all five communities are over.

"It provides no cost benefit to us and no cost benefit that accrues to the other four communities," Yack said.

But it is expected that the four remaining communities will continue to investigate the potential of some joint services. Plymouth and Plymouth Township recently merged fire

"For the two Plymouths, it makes total sense to do something jointly because of the joint fire service," said Plymouth Township Supervisor Kathleen Keen-McCarthy, a co-chair of the Intergovernmental Cooperation Committee's dispatch, records and lockum subcommittee.

Plymouth Mayor Doug Miller agreed. "The city of Plymouth and Plymouth Township have been talking about joint dispatch and lockup. The city of Northville and Northville Township expressed an interest."

Who's who

Goldman said 7 percent of the 126 certified staff hired since 1988-89 - eight teachers and one administrator - are relatives of current employees. He said figures aren't kept for non-teachers ecause of high turnover Administrators with relatives working in the district include transportation director Dale Goby, executive director for instruction Tom Tattan; curricu lum coordinator Sheila Alles; principals Chuck Portelli, George Selvitch, Dave Farquharson and Jim Burt, faculty athletic manager Gary Balconi; community education director Larry Masteller. and area coordinator Lynne Lonigro. In the board office, mother and daughter Merilyn and Karen Stemberger work as administrative secretaries.

And to think that just a few years ago, this same procedure would have meant many days in the hospital and weeks of recovery. Not a "family reunion" the same day. New techniques like laser and laparoscopic surgery are revolutionizing gallbladder and appendix removal, laser prostatectomy, gynecological procedures and more. The result is less pain and faster recuperation for the patient. Surgeons at St. Mary Hospital have taken the lead in offering these breakthroughs to our patients. They know how important it is to have the strengths and staffing of a full-service hospital available, should special needs arise. And they understand that the sooner a family member can return home and to work, the better it is for that family's economic and notional health.

Female pols tend to favor regulating assisted suicide

BY TIM RICHARD STAFF WRITER

If women legislators had their way, Michigan would lift the ban on assisted suicide and regulate it

Women of both parties favored crippling amendments as the House tried in vain to pass a ban on assisted suicide that would be acceptable to the Senate.

The pattern was similar to past years' gender gaps on abortion: Men favored restrictions on abortion 3-1; women opposed them 4-

The Legislature adjourned after failing Dec. 14 to pass Senate Bill 1311, which would have made assisted suicide a four-year felony.

A key test came on the so-called "Wallace substitute" — a complete rewrite of the main bill. It would have allowed doctor-assisted suicide after a psychiatrist attested the patient was mentally competent, two physicians examined the patient, and a social worker had counseled the patient. It failed 36-65 with eight absent, Republicans tended to favor banning assisted suicide. They voted 23-30 against the Bobier amendment; Democrats voted 32-15 in favor.

Lawmakers scattered quickly after the session. No one was available to comment on the latest Lansing gender gap.
The cleanest indication of where House members stood came on the Wallace substitute because it wasn't cluttered with amendments.

Here is how Observer area members voted:

YES - Lyn Bankes, R-Redford; Justine Barns, D-Westland;

NO - William Keith, D-Garden City; Jerry Vorva, R-Plymouth; Deborah Whyman, R-Canton; Richard Young, D-Dearborn Heighta.

The issue finally was decided not by lawmakers but by the state Supreme Court, which made two key rulings in the middle of the House debate:

The 1992 ban on assisted suicide was constitutional. It reversed lower courts, which held that the bill was flawed because lawmakers had a dual purpose: setting up a study commission and making assisted suicide a fel-ony for 18 months. (That ban expired in mid-November.)

Common law was interpreted as prohibiting assisted suicide. The common-law punishments were harsher than the ones in the Legislature — five years in prison and a $10,000 fine versus four veers and $2,000 in SB 1311.

The high court ruling elated Oakland County Prosecutor Richard Thompson and infuriated Jack Revorkian's attorney, Geoffrey Fieger Fieger said he would appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court. First he must get the highest court's agreement to hear the case. It may be possible because the Michigan Supreme Court was badly splintered - seven justices wrote four opinions.

Local gourmet shops rescue harried hosts

t never fails to happen at least once during the holidays. Somewhere, somehow, or someone misplaced that incredible recipe or ingredient for a party, and you just don't have time to

That's why, when placed between the proverbial rock and a hard place, I always remember my secret stores. These are places I can run into and get what I need, when I need it, and not end up paying an arm and a leg.

You know the kind of places I'm talking about local merchants with plenty of check-outs and cashiers who never ask for a driver's license, two major credit cards and rights to your first born child. Those nifty little neighborhood places that don't mind looking in the back room for some mushrooms, the blue corn chips your friends love, or a long cinnamon stick for your hot but-

Helpful merchants

In Livonia, there's Chimento's. I'll go in to buy a hunk of Parmesan and walk out with $60 worth of groceries. When I'm up in Birmingham or Bloomfield, I go crazy over the gourmet food selections at the Long Lake Market. I've yet to make a stop at Northland without hopping on Northwestern Highway for a five minute ride to The Merchant of Vino in Southfield.

In Rochester there's another one of my favorite markets, Pappa Joe's. The newly opened Roadside Market in Plymouth gets my business, especially when I'm in need of fresh herbs and flowers Heck, I've even driven to downtown Milford for a trip to Colasanti's Market and Snook's Meats.

These are independent retailers who will go out of their way to bring in nothing but the finest in produce, meat, gourmet goodies, wine and specialty foods.

If you have yet to discover them in your area, there's never been a better time to see them than now. In addition to keeping those gourmet retailers on the top of my list, I also wouldn't consider it a holiday without a visit to a GFS Marketplace Tucked away in Westland, Farmington Hills, Rochester Hills and Troy, just to mention a few locations, the GFS Marketplaces are no-membership food service stores that allow folks like you and me to purchase what the restaurants and caterers do. For example, Rumaki lovers know the time involved in wrapping those bacon strips around tiny pieces of water chestnuts and securing it all with a toothpick. GFS Marketplace has these and other nifty hot and cold appetizers already prepared and individually quick frozen at less than what it would cost to make! Last minute entertainers will marvel at their selection of top-of-the-line gourmet desserts. If the thought of renting serving pieces has you up in arms, you won't believe what they're making nowadays in molded plastic that again would be half the price of rentals. Just one of the many little secrets hiding at GFS Marketplace is their unbaked cookie dough - a boon to harried room moms and dads who would normally spend all night mixing ingredients, rolling and cutting cookie dough.

Choice meats

Searching for the freshest turkey, goose, or duck for that special holiday meal? Did you know that you can still see them live, smell them in all their glory and within 20 minutes, take them home all ready to roast? Al's Poultry & Seafood and Capitol Poultry down at the Eastern Market are just two of those Dickensonian places where you can still find live poultry. While down at the Market, if you ever find yourself in need of a whole suckling pig, or some of the best corned beef brisket in town, check out the helpful folks at Ronnie's Meats in the Gratiot Central Market just across the expressway from the Eastern Market. Exotic oyster and shellfish lovers will certainly appreciate the expertise of Kevin Dean and the folks at Superior Fish in Royal Oak.

I'm doing a small party for some special friends who love fresh oysters. Superior Fish will locate and fly in an assortment of Belons, Chesapeaks, Olympias and Hog Island Sweetwaters, just to name a few. Ditto for live lobsters and all the paraphernalia needed to enjoy them.

FAMILY TRADITIONS SHINE BRIGHTLY ON CHRISTMAS. EVE

■ Christmas Eve is filled with the magic of anticipation. It's a time for sharing hope, gratitude and good food with those we love.

BY RENEE SKOGLUND SPECIAL WRITER

"Twas the night before Christmas.

And all through the house, soups are simmering, cakes are baking, and roasts are roasting in preparation for an evening of feasting with family and friends. About the only thing not on the menu are sugar plums, but those are bound to dance in the heads of sleepy children later on.

For many, Christmas Eve is the focal point of the entire holiday season. Whether a cultural or religious tradition, or simply a matter of dividing time between "his" and "her" family, celebrating Christmas Eve is filled with the magic of anticipation. "Everybody waits with hope and new adventure for the new year a big welcome," said Alice Lozinski of Livonia who works as a nurse at St. Mary Hospital.

Lozinski immigrated from Poland in 1968, bringing with her Christmas customs from the old country. On Christmas Eve, her family, which includes hushand Weldemer and children David, 22, and Diana, 26, share "Opatek," unleavened wafers of bread, which symbolize peace, with their guests. Aunts, uncles and in-laws arrive early in the evening to participate in the 12dish Polish feast.

In keeping with tradition, no meat is served, but it's not missed. No wonder. Mushroom, fruit and poppy seed soups, sladze (herring in vinegar), pierogi made with cabbage, potatoes and poppy seed, apple and cheese cakes fill the table. And, of course there's Lozinski's glorious nut torte. "Very moist, melt-in-your-mouth," she says.

Christmas Eve remains wonderfully predictable in the Lozinski household. "First of all, before dinner you get the holy bread (Opatek) and exchange good wishes among each other. After dinner, especially when there's lots of children, you exchange presents. After that, you relax, talk and then leave the house at 11:30 p.m. for Midnight Mass."

After church, there's sneak previews of the Christmas ham. Lozinski doesn't plan on altering tradition. "My parents have done this, my grandparents, and I have done this for 27 years. My children do this."

Mary Callaghan Lynch, a sings with the Michigan Opera Theatre, knows all about tradition. Growing up, she and any number of her 17 brothers and sisters participated in a family Christmas play directed by her mother, Mary Callaghan. And, being a musically inclined family. the Callaghan's sand lots of carols.

"We'd all sing Silent Night by candlelight and walk upstairs. My father was choir and music director of Holy Name Church in Birmingham, and the older kids would all sing in the choir. When we came back we'd have breakfast at 1:30 or 2 a.m.

Lynch now lives with her Patrick and dren, Caitlin, 14, and Patrick, Pop a cork, let the celebration begin!

Elegant, welcoming, celebratory, life-style enhancing, the epitome of holiday celebration and conviviality wrapped in a distinctive bottle. What is it? Champagne of course!

The one and only champagne comes exclusively from the province of the same name in France. Other countries and the United States make sparkling wine using the centuries-old, traditional champagne method (methode champenoise). Many of these products are of high quality, but cannot be considered champagne, even though some producers continue to misuse the term Champagnes and sparkling wines come in a variety of styles. Nonvintage (NV) is a blend of wines from one year's harvest with a small percentage of reserve wines from previous harvests. It is generally aged two to three years on yeast in the bottle before being disgorged and readied for market distribution.

Vintage is a blend of wines from one harvest only. Reserve wines are not used and the vintage year can be found on the label. These wines generally age on the yeast in the bottle about four or five years in the producer's cellars.

Prestige cuvee is a special blend (cuvee) of wines from the producer's best vineyards. Generally aged for more than five years, it has top billing from any producer.

Blanc de blancs is made exclusively from chardonnay grapes in the champagne tradition.

Blanc de noirs is a blend of red grapes, pinot noir and/or pinot meunier. As a champagne, it is rarely exported, but several California producers make very good exam-

Rose is pink as the name implies. It obtains its color from the skins of pinot noir or pinot meunier grapes.

Champagne and sparkling wines have degrees of dryness (sweetness if you like). It is established by the amount of dosage (wine and cane sugar added at bottling). From very dry to sweet, the degrees are named Brut, Extra-dry, Sec and Demi-sec. While this may seem confusing, extra-dry is slightly sweet. Brut is the driest.

Champagnes reflect a style chosen by the producer. Often called

I love the seasons," said Floreen Halpern of Amaryllis fatering in Birmingham. "I live differently in each, and entertain differently as well. On Sundays in winter there is something heartening about a big pot of spaghetti sauce simmering on the stove with enough for friends who might call for an early movie."

Here's one of Halpern's favorite Sunday dishes. She serves it with French bread and a Romaine salad made with dried cherries, walnuts, red onion rings, and raspherry salad dressing

"I'm not known for my culinary expertise. Last year the big joke was how good the turkey was even though Mary cooked it. that gets the most praise.

For the past several years, Susan Shelton, a Plymouth Township resident for 24 years, has done her celebrating on Christmas day. Not this year. Since she and her husband John, a former police officer, are retiring and moving to Indiana early next year, they decided to resurrect an old tradition - a big Christmas Eve

"Basically, it's a sentimental gesture since this is our last Christmas we'll spend in Plymouth with other family members. We wanted to recreate the Christmas Eve my parents had when they were alive. They hosted a dinner with the children, spouses and grandchildren. Mom always fixed a turkey and roast beef.

Stuffing dresses up bird

As chestnuts roast on an open fire, more and more America are roasting juicy, fresh turkeys in their ovens. The second most popular occasion for turkey gobbling, Christmas is the perfect time to savor the succulent bird.

"Fresh turkey is a very popular menu choice for Christmas, cording to Rick Chenoweth, director of sales for Shady Brook Farms, the country's third-largest supplier of fresh turkeys. "As family chefs prepare large meals for relatives and friends, they realize that fresh, whole turkey offers the variety and flavor that's sure to please everyone.

A delicious, whole turkey becomes even more special when dressed with a spectacular stuffing. While traditional bread stuffing is always tasty, why not try a mouth-wateringly distinct Garlic Cornbread and Sage Stuffing? Pleasingly pungent garlic is added to a savory combread recipe along with fresh sage and parsley and rich cheddar cheese. Don't be surprised if this supreme stuffing becomes a Christmas meal request year after year.

The Lady Ocelots had a 23-21 lead at the half, but Lansing got the better of them in the second half to secure a 49-45 win.

On Dec. 10, SC's trip to St. Clair College for an Eastern Conference game was disappointing. It ended in an 87-70 defeat.

The Ocelots trailed 50-35 at the half and never made a serious run at St. Clair in the second half. Megan Heslip's 15 points paced SC; Shawn Krause had nine. St. Clair was led by Alicia Kallmorgen's 21 points; Jill Schneihofer had 17.

Kallas meets Saban

Nick Kallas, a 1994 Redford Catholic Central graduate and a freshman defensive end on the Michigan State University football team, watched Cleveland Browns' defensive coordinator Nick Saban coach against the Dallas Cowboys on television Saturday afternoon.

On Sunday afternoon, he listened to Saban, the newly appointed MSU football coach, who came to East Lansing to meet his players.

Saban is as impressive in person as his defense was in the Browns' 19-14 victory over the Cowboys, Kallas said.

"I heard he was precty big on discipline," Kallas said. "He spoke about character, how it's got to change. He's got a pretty dominating voice

The 6-foot-4, 245-pound Kallas was red-shirted last fall and has four years of eligibility remaining. He said one of the things Saban talked about was making improvements by "rearranging the weight room" and hiring a strength coordinator.
"I prefer a defensive-minded coach," Kallas

"Coach Saban is real excited about what he thinks we need to improve the program.

Salem middle too much for Huron

The middle two quarters spelled doom for Ann Arbor Huron Friday at Plymouth Salem.

Certainly Salem will be wearing a bull's eye throughout the season, earned by being the team to beat. The Rocks' strength will still be in the middle, with 5-foot-10 senior Paula Dombrowski and 5-11 junior Shellye Sills at middle blocker.

That's where our offense is based," said Suffety. "If we have to depend on going to the outside too much, we'll be in trouble."

David Foster benefit concert packed with popular artists

The Christmas season is a time for giving to others, so it is appropriate to schedule a benefit performance during the holidays.

On Thursday, Dec. 22, CBC presents David Foster & Friends. For the Children, a telecast of a concert to raise money for the David Foster Foundation.

"(The foundation) is in is ninth year and it is in support of children's organ transplants," producer Carol Reynolds explains.

The holiday benefit concert features performances by Celine Dion, Kenny G and Paul Anka, with Ed McMahon as the master of ceremo-

"All the major talent is donating its services," Reynolds says. "Celine. David. Kenny G., Paul and Ed McMahon are donating their services and their time to the charity and waiving their fees."

Dion says she is pleased with the opportunity to perform for such an important cause. She not only performs some of her own work, but through music.

"I'll be singing a Christmas song with David Foster that we recorded together," Dion comments. "It's going to be a great pleasure to be sharing the same stage with him

Foster started the foundation after a visit with a family whose daughter was having an organ transplant

He found out the operation was a success, but it had been difficult for the family to be with their daughter during this time, due to costs.

The foundation raises the money to keep the family with the patient throughout the entire procedure

Revnolds is excited about this fund-raiser for the foundation

"For nine years, (Foster) has helped more than 70 families be with the children when they are having the transplants," Reynolds says "He's raised more than a million

For the first eight years of the foundation's existence. Foster put together the David Foster Foundation Softball Celebrity Tournament Many celebrities have participated in this event and attended the small dinner concert afterwards

"This year, he decided instead of also gets into the holiday mood having the softball tournament he would go to a 5,000-seat arena called the Memorial Arena in Victoria, open the doors to the general public and stage this incredible performance." Reynolds comments

Besides staging a different type of fund-raiser. Foster also has decided to film it for television.

There have been news crews that have come in and taken all of this wonderful news footage shots of the celebrities at the softball tournament." Revnolds says, "but this will be the first time for television.

We are just lucky enough to be able to go in there and shoot it for television so that we can share it with all of Canada.

Revpolds says she believes this concert will reach many and help the foundation, especially with the airing time of the show

"We are doing this at a very special time of year, the time of giving" she comments, "so when it goes on the air Dec. 22, people are thinking about giving, and the real spirit of Christmas will be there in

The telecast of the concert is preceded by a three-minute mini-documentary describing and explaining the reason for the foundation.

"This is a very important message that David and we want to get out to the audience, and that is - All of these children are in need and there is a lot of hope there," Reynolds says. "But, we all do not think about something very precious that we have and that we can give. A lot of us don't stop and think about something that we can do to help these kids without actually going to our checkbook and writing a check.

"So the message really is we all can participate and we can all give, and give these children the hope and the second chance at life."

SOAP WORLD

Ward has new look, enjoys role on B&B

BY CANDACE HAVENS

It's been an interesting year for Maitland Ward, to say the least. She won the role of Jessica on the No. 1 soap in the world, The Bold and the Beautiful, and, thanks to the show, she has a new look from celebrity hairstylist Jose Eber. And it is her senior year in high school.

"Everything is so exciting right now," Ward says: "If I stop and think about it, it all seems kind of crazy, but I love it."

She says she is having the time of her life working on the show. "Everyone is so wonderful. It has been great."

Jessica now is involved in a controversial story line with Dylan, played by Dylan Neal Jessica's aunt and uncle have filed charges against Dylan for statutory rape, which mortifies Jessica because she consented to make love with him

"I think that Stephanie (Susan Flannery) and Eric (John McCook) have really overreacted," Ward says. "But I also think that Jessica and Dylan have gotten in a little over their heads.

The young actress says she was as surprised as anyone when she first read that Dylan and Jessica were going to make love.

"I was like, 'Wow, where did this come from?' and I was a little nervous. But Dylan (Neal) was really sweet, and he helped me through the love scenes."

B&B is Ward's first TV show, and she says the cast of the show has been great in helping her learn what to do

"Susan Flannery has helped me so much from my first day on the show she has shown me the ropes. I can't think of anyone more wonderful to learn from."

While this is her first time to act on a soap opera. Maitland says she was very familiar with the genre. "I started watching As the World Turns and The Young and the Restless when I was about 9. Later on I started watching Days of Our Lives. I had actually seen the first episode of B&B."

Ward says her family helps her keep her feet on the ground.

"My parents are very proud of what I do. My mom is beaming. But at the same time she keeps me grounded."
