Classroom supplies boosted in budget

PLYMOUTH-CANTON SCHOOLS

BY RENEE M. SKOGLUND

Classrooms will have more money for basic supplies for the upcoming school year.

In the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools' $98 million budget for 1997-98, $824,000 is allocated for instructional materials, which includes atlases, dictionaries, encyclopedias and textbooks. More than onethird of that amount will go for new textbooks for middle and high schools.

"It's the biggest percentage of the budget in 15 to 18 years devoted to instructional materials. We still have a lot of catching up to do. We plan to do this in the next four years," said Superintendent Chuck Lit-

In addition to the instructional materials' increase, the budget allocates $141,321 for instructional computer software.

The district also plans to hire 10 additional full-time teachers, which will help minimize overall class size. Specifically, the new hirings will accommodate new student enrollments and "slightly" improve class size in middle and high schools.

Currently, district-wide class size is 27, with 29 students in high school and middle school classes, and 25 students in elementary school classes. "This is the first year the class size in elementary schools was acceptable," said Little.

As usual, the largest portion of the budget goes to employee salaries and benefits. Total salary/wages for all school district employees, including teachers, is $65.9 million. The total fringe benefit package is $21.6 million. Teacher salary raises for the 1997-98 school year were negotiated at 3.2 percent.

"We're definitely leaner than most districts. It's a fact we have less teachers," said Little, adding that Ann Arbor has more teachers but less students.

Monies from the state Foundation Grant - the Monies from the state Foundation Grant — the amount the state sends the district under Proposal A — increased only 2.64 percent, or $154 more per student. The district will spend $5,986 per student in the 1997-98 school year; last year, it was $5,832.

Neither the district's projected enrollment growth of 330 students nor the 8.96 percent increase in taxable value of all property and the 8.70 percent increase in taxable value of non-homestead property translated

"It flipped around after the impact," said Ammerman, a pilot who saw a Cessna 172 crash on the north (Plymouth Township) side of Joy Road as it attempted to land at Canton's Mettetal Airport about 10:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The plane's 40-year-old Farmington Hills pilot and 60-year-old passenger, a Livonia man, were both conscious when Plymouth Township police arrived on the scene. Both were treated at the scene by Plymouth firefighters and transported by ambulance to St. Joseph Hospital in Ypsilanti.

The pilot, who regularly flies out of Mettetal, was reported in serious condition with severe cuts, while the passenger was in critical condition with apparent head injuries, said Plymouth Fire Chief Larry Groth.

The pilot and passenger were thrown from the plane on impact in a field directly across from the runway and between a house and business on the north side of Joy Road. No other injuries to anyone on the ground were reported, according to Police were alerted to the crash by a 9-1-1 call from a nearby business on the north side of Joy Road.

There was no fire when the plane crashed, although fuel was leaking as Plymouth Township and Canton Township police and Plymouth fire officials waited for FAA representatives to arrive from Detroit. Firefighters stood by as a precautionary measure.

Smith said the pilot was landing from the south, had difficulty and came across Joy Road. The plane's wing tipped the ground. The plane was facing south and nose down when police arrived.

"There's a pretty good-sized hole there," Groth said, pointing to the immediate east of where the plane came to a stop and where it was suspected the plane initially hit the

Fest attendance booms

An early-evening thunderstorm Saturday failed to douse a record turnout for Canton's sixth Liberty Fest, according to township officials.

"Saturday's crowd was running about the same as last year until the storm. On both Friday and Sunday we had the largest crowds we've ever had," said Bob Dates, Canton parks and recreation supervisor who coordinates the festival.

Police estimated total attendance at the four-day festival at 50,000-60,000, including 10,000 on Friday and more than 20,000 on Saturday before the storm, which cleared out much of Heritage Park some three hours before the scheduled fireworks display, Dates said.

Attendance the past few years has been in the 40,000-45,000 range, according to Canton offi-

Township officials decided to allow the fireworks to go off Saturday night as scheduled, although the first rocket went up about an hour late due to the weather.

However, what they didn't see was aerial lasers beaming the high-tech multi-colored streams of light into the night sky. The FAA put a damper on the aerial lasers for fear they would interfere with commuter planes from nearby Willow Run Airport.

"The FAA approval of aerial lasers wasn't allowed because it affected airplane flights. Unfortunately, Canton's proximity to Willow Run didn't allow for certain type of lasers to be used," said Liberty Fest organizer Bob Dates.

Postmaster will usher in Canton center

A woman who has been a silent observer in the cities of Westland and Wayne and in the Canton community over the past few months stepped out of the shadows and into the spotlight this week.

Gladys Jolla was sworn in Friday afternoon as the new postmaster for those three communities. As the new postmaster, she will lead one of the busiest suburban postal operations on Wayne Road north of Ford, and oversee the building and operation of the long-awaited new Canton facility, in addition to several smaller "neighborhood" operations. She replaces Florence Richardson, who retired.

Groundbreaking for the Canton post office is scheduled for June 30 at 1:30 p.m. at the Cherry Hill and Canton Center Road

Since February, Jolla has spent time getting to know her new communities and staff through a lot of observation and walking through her communities and talking with people often anonymously, she said. Some visitors to the Westland post office may have seen her with other staff planting flowers in recent weeks.

"I walk the community every day," said the longtime postal employee who also has professional experience selling real estate. "Walking and looking, walking and looking - and just seeing what's going on." "When you get to this level, it's really all about the people," said

Jolla, a Chicago native who has spent 23 years with the U.S. Postal Service. In past years, she worked through regional managers to touch the public: her new appointment gives her a chance to influence how her regional does business. "Now I have a chance to have my own personal touch," she added.

"I think I've been preparing myself for this job since I took my first management job in

In following a postal career

Jolla followed in her mother's footsteps: her mom worked at the post office for some 32 years before retiring. Jolla began as a part-time flexible clerk in Chicago, was a certified supervisor of mail and then entered a twoyear management training program. She was promoted to superintendent of station operations in Chicago and also served in a number of other management positions before being named manager of customer operations in the Detroit District

"We've been doing what we're doing for many years and nobody can do it any better." she said But, in order to continue good service, she said she needs feedback from the business and residential communities.

"I'm looking forward to getting a new experience, staying with the homestay family and getting the feel of how they live," said Rupa Amin, 17, of Canton, an 11th-grader at Plymouth Salem High School.

"Homestays," two-night visits with selected host families, are part of the group's itinerary, which also includes exploring the Great Barrier Reef, hand-feeding kangaroos and koala bears, a "walkabout" through a rain forest and visits to aborigine and Maori villages.

Stephanie Butterfield, 17, of Canton, also a Plymouth Salem junior, has traveled to Canada and Mexico, but never to Australia or New Zealand. She said she was mostly looking forward to "Meeting teens over there, what they do for fun. Also, seeing the animals."

When asked what she'll tell her Australian and New Zealand counterparts about life in Canton, Butterfield hesitated and then said: "It's pretty suburban. Mostly just hanging out with your friends."

Developers selected for county's N'ville property

Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara has selected developers who will purchase and develop 926 acres of countyowned land in Northville Town-

McNamara announced that the development team is expected to be led by Toll Brothers Inc., the nation's leading builder of luxury homes, and Troy-based Biltmore Properties Corp. Other partners are Donald Davis, chairman of Detroit's First Independence National Bank, and a real estate developer with offices in Detroit.

McNamara's recommendations will be forwarded to the Wayne County Commission and Economic Development Corp. of Wayne County for approval.

"We have world-class development teams in place that will transform this property into a superior, mixed-use development that will be a tremendous asset for all of Wayne County," McNamara said.

enue from land sales to total $38.1 million with the completed development expected at $1 billion. When completed, the project will contribute $2.85 million in annual property revenue to the township, $4 million to the county and approximately $7 million to Northville schools.

The centerpiece development will be a luxurious golf course community featuring an Arnold Palmer-designed championship single-family residential. In addition, it will invest approxi-mately $9 million to have the Arnold Palmer Group design and build an 18-hole golf course and at least a 12,000-square-foot clubhouse on 206 acres of land.

"They received the highest score," McNamara said. "Not only do they have tremendous resources, they have an outstanding track record in completing projects of this magnitude. And that was a very impor-tant factor from our standpoint."

Toll/Biltmore will be purchasing 13.5 acres of land zoned for approximately $1.8 million.

McNamara announced other development teams to work on senior housing, adult lifestyle and apartments/condominiums.

The Silverman Development Co. of Farmington Hills and Painia Development Corp. of Detroit were selected for 40 acres designated for apartments and condominiums. This team will purchase the land for $4

Warm weather poses risk for pets

Extremely hot weather can pose risks for pets, warns the Michigan Humane Society.

Animals can overheat quickly and owner must take care not to subject their pets to heat exhaustion or stress.

Never leave an animal in a vehicle, even for a short period

"Many people think its safe to leave a pet inside a car while the run an errand, but it can be fatal," said society veterinarian Dr. Robert Fisher.

"On an 85-degree day, for example, the temperature inside a vehicle can reach 102 degrees in 10 minutes and could go as high as 120 degrees within a half an hour. An animal cannot withstand that kind of heat.

Sign of overheating include lethargy and rapid panting. If you suspect your pet is suffering from heat stress, keep him in a cool area and contact your veterinarian immediately.

The society also advises that a pet who must be left outdoors for any length of time must have adequate shade and constant supply of fresh water. During the hottest part of the day, bring your pet inside.

To report an animal left outdoors without proper care, contact the society's Cruelty Hotline at (313) 872-3401.

Thunderstorms can terrify many pets and lightning is dangerous. Bring them inside in bad weather. The society also offers "Your Pet May Be Dying" alert cards, free at a MHS shelter. The messages, printed on red cardboard in black ink, alert owners who have left a pet in a parked car or outside without adequate provisions.

The society operates shelters in Westland, Rochester Hills and Detroit.

CLARIFICATION

According to Don Zochert, spokesperson for the FAA, laser beams projected into navigable airspace have the potential to cause permanent eye damage and other injuries to pilots and

"Many shows we do there are some restrictions from the FAA. It affected the equipment we set up, but it only forces us to be more creative," Garner said.

The laser show that spectators saw Friday night took one month to produce at a studio in Minnesota. A Lasertainment artist choreographed the music (chosen by Canton officials), the graphics and animation. An ADAT tape provided the means to play back the specially made production in Fest had to configure termination points for the aerial beams so that they bounced off of objects, such as the amphithe ater and trees, instead of shooting directly into the sky and Willow Run flight path.

Laser graphics are manipulated by one beam of light being drawn out at speeds of 25,000-30,000 points per second - creating almost any color in the spectrum, Garner said. ■ Auto insurance - requiring drivers to buy less, if they wish, in order to pay for higher fuel

Chief problem is MDOT's desire to expand its jurisdiction from 9,600 miles of roads to nearly 33,000. Setting aside the money problems, Patterson criticizes the idea because it would also mean MDOT would have to deal with thousands of permits for curb cuts, traffic signals, street signs, sewer digs and so

"This, indeed, would be challenge," said Patterson, in a rare understatement. Actually he thinks it would be impossible for MDOT in Lansing to handle all the requests and complaints with no more staff and no intimate knowledge of local gripes. He said MDOT is playing the "promise 'em anything" game.

Key to progress

Knowing when, how to push rive Canton's major roads and you might be left with the impression resiential and commercial developments

The reality - especially for major projects like the multi-use campus planned for the southeast corner of the I-275-Ford interchange or the just-announced, 894-home Central Park subdivision- is that development is more awkward, slow dance between several partners with disparate interests and goals.

The Ford Road campus, for example, is being led by two developers who have been working since 1995 on the project, a 124-acre tract that could include hotels, movie theaters, restaurants and 250 town homes.

The developers, potential tenants, township and adjacent businesses or residents all get a say in what will go on the now-vacant property. If handled correctly, this delicate balancing act will result in a project that meets most of the parties' needs and that everyone can point to as an achievement.

Like it or not, most of the credit (or blame, if these projects fail) will be placed on the township hall doorstep. More than one major suburban development in this area has been killed by inertia on the part of local officials. Because the region is in the fifth year of an economic expansion, further delays could be damaging. The odds for a successful mixeduse development like the Ford Road project won't improve if the economy begins to slide.

So the move by Canton's planning commission earlier this month to call an emergency meeting and push that project along deserves praise. Rather than wait for creation of a new zoning designation that would help the township control design, lighting and other aesthetics, representatives from Burton Katzman and Phoenix Land Development will meet with members of the Ford-Lotz study group (comprised of planning commissioners and township board members) Monday, June 30 to ccomplish much the same thing.

The Central Park project meanwhile, may take as long as 10 years to go from the barest of blueprints to completion. It too involves complicated negotiations, with the township agreeing in principal to purchase additional to add soccer fields to an adjacent public park and to make water main improvements. The development will also include building a 9hole addition to the Pheasant Run Golf

Phoenix Land Development, and the Selective Group are partners in the project, which will run from Cherry Hill south to Geddes Road, and west from Beck Road almost to Central Park too has been on the drawing board for months while the developers and township planning officials sort through a number of issues.

As long as public notice is adequate - which appears to be the case in both instances using innovative ways to move development forward makes solid sense for the township.

Some hot tips for a safe summer

"Summertime ... and the livin' is easy."

We don't want to put a damper on Ira Gershwin's classic paean to summer. The livin' is easier this time of year, especially after coming out of another Michigan winter

But some of those leisure-time activities can turn dangerous if common-sense safety rules aren't followed. The season brings a slew of warnings from public safety officials and hospital emergency room personnel.

We don't mean to sound like doomsayers, and we can't list all of the safety rules for every single summer activity, but just to sumnarize a few:

■ Watersports. Whether you're swimming in a backyard pool or fishing in Lake Michigan, water can be dangerous. Know the rules. Never swim alone and don't leave a child unobserved near the water. If you have a home swimming pool, make sure you have lifesaving equipment nearby and learn how to use it. If you're boating, wear lifejackets and don't overload the boat. Remember that drinking and boating is just as dangerous as drinking and driving. And whether you're a boater or a Jet-Ski rider, observe the rules of courtesy on the water.

Fireworks. With July 4 approaching, lots of people are stocking up on fireworks. They're fun and they're pretty, but use them properly. Only buy legal fireworks from a legitimate dealer. Read the directions and warning labels. And remember, bottle rockets and Roman candles are not legal in Michigan.

■ Such common-sense rules aren't intended to cramp your style, just to make sure that you enjoy all those summertime activities ... when the livin' is easy.

Never light fireworks indoors or near dry grass. Keep a bucket of water or fire extinguisher nearby. Let the kids watch, but leave the lighting of the fireworks to a responsible

■ Barbecue grills. Just about everybody uses them, but there are some cautions to keep in mind. If you use a gas grill, check the nection between the propane tank and the fuel line to make sure nothing is blocked. If you're a charcoal user, be careful using lighter fluid. Never add fluid to an already lit fire. And NEVER use gasoline to start a charcoal fire. Don't leave children unattended near a burning grill.

Sun and heat. That's what summer is all about, after all. But too much of either can be dangerous. If you're going to be outdoors for an extended period of time, wear sun block and reapply it every couple of hours, even if you're in the shade. Drink lots of water and fruit juice. Avoid strenuous activities when the temperature is extremely high. Wear light, loose clothing and a wide-brimmed hat.

would like to explain to you and the community why I didn't finish the last seven days at Canton High School this year. It is not because I don't like my students. It is not because I don't enjoy my profession. I love teaching and working with young people. It is because of the stress that has been put on me by some Plymouth Canton employees.

I knew that when I started to communicate with the board that pressure would be brought on me. I knew that my professionalism would be challenged. But I did not know I would receive harassing phone calls, hate mail (unsigned), destruction to my home and most recently, threats to me and my family.

I was warned by many people what to expect. However, because I care about my students, I still felt I had to try. The sad part is they were right. I will continue to help students and parents at Canton High. I am not retiring - I will be back for the 1997-98 school

I feel I need to set the record straight regarding a few things I have been quoted as saying. I never said that all students at Canton High-School are breaking the rules daily. I have said that the majority of the students do what they are supposed to do and try to follow the rules. We do have great students. But we also have a lack of discipline and supervision by some of the adult population. I never said, or will say, that all of the teachers, administrators and other professionals are not doing their best. I publicly apologize to anyone who thought that was my intention. There are many of you who are caring, dedicated teachers. I would like to be able to list all your names and all the great things you do and say to the students in your care. You know who High know who you are.

I also have to say that some of our teachers and administrators are selling the students short. They are not acting or working as they should as professional members of the staff. They are not disciplining students as far as tardies, unexcused absences, hall behavior and classroom conduct.

To state my goals once again. I feel students need pre-established consequences for misbehavior and need to have these consequences administered right away. Parents need to know right away about students not going to class so they can help. All staff, teachers, social workers, psychologists, administrators, secretaries, maintenance workers, nurses, paraprofessionals, counselors and cafeteria workers must not tolerate infractions of the rules. We, as a team, must help these young people follow the rules prohibiting vulgar language, verbal abuse, classroom disruptions, inappropriate dress, loitering or undue familiarity. We should remember that discipline

I know there are many of you who support these goals and the need for change. Many of you feel you can't speak up for fear of your job security or what the system might do to you. If at all possible, I feel the board would like some of your opinions as to what is going on in, or near, your classrooms. The board needs

I would like to thank the board of education for caring.

cine-preventable diseases such as measles, mumps, rubella and pertussis (whooping cough) exceeded the U.S. Surgeon General's projections for the entire decade of the '90s and their incidence continues to increase

Since January 1993, in Michigan there have been at least 37 cases of measles and 246 cases of pertussis reported in babies less than 1 year old. During this past year, numerous state and local efforts have been under way to improved Michigan's mmunization status in children. Our goal in Michigan is to raise these immunization levels to at least 90

Durant defeat's a repeat of 1925 Scopes trial s he trotted off into the moonlight – it was after 2 a.m. June 20 – Clark Durant resembled no one more than William Jennings Bryan, who 72 years ago made a fool of himself in a Tennessee courtroom denouncing evolution.

Bryan assisted the prosecution in convicting public school science teacher John T. Scopes, though the verdict would be reversed on appeal. But in the court of public opinion, Bryan humiliated the cause of Christian fundamentalism for more than 50

"Bryan lived too long, and descended too deeply into the mud, to be taken seriously hereafter by fully literate men," said a scribe when Bryan died a week later. "If the fellow was sincere, then so was P.T. Barnum. The word is disgraced and degraded by such uses. He was, in fact, a charlatan, a mountebank, a zany without sense of dignity."

After listening to a mob for hours, the State Board of Education rescinded the "mission statement" Durant rammed through two years ago. Like Bryan, who vowed to amend the U.S. Constitution to cover the Bible, Durant, now a minority member of the State Board of Education, vowed to take his "mission statement" to the voters and impose it on the state constitution.

Durant fought the bad fight, all the

He refused in 1995 to operate in the collegial way in which public school people and governmental bodies operate, but fashioned his mission statement in secret. He discussed it with board members, one by one, by telephone. If anyone had bothered to prosecute, it would have been a pure violation of the Open Meetings Act sec. 3 (3).

At his first meeting, Durant brought it up by surprise, amending the agenda during the "board business" portion of the meeting, the place where you approve the minutes of the last meeting and elect officers. That way, he prohibited public comment, a violation of the Open Meeting Act sec.

So stealthy were Durant's tactics that no one but board members could even see a copy of it until after it was approved. It was a rambling mission and philosophy statement, poorly outlined, pious platitudes that would be graded "not yet novice" on the state proficiency test for writing. No matter. It never had a place in the constitution, Michigan Compiled Laws or the rule books.

But it did contain the germ of the "parents' rights" movement, an effort by authoritarians to allow parents (guided by appropriate clergy, of course) to object to anything in the curriculum and overrule elected boards, superintendents, principals and teachers. In this respect, my brethren in the media missed the ong-range significance of the mission

Durant portrayed the effort to

When it came time to erase his nission statement, Durant changed his mind about public discussion. A new State Board president, Kathleen Straus, allowed the public comment that Durant in 1995 had blocked. Straus, who is Jewish, was a better

Christian ("Do unto others," etc.) than Durant. Following the Open Meetings Act, Straus let Durant's pals filibuster for hours, as was their right. But voters last November had decided the issue when it replaced two of Durant's allies on the board. This time the vote was 5-3 to rescind.

The 1925 obituary writer said of Bryan: "It was hard to believe, watching him at Dayton, that he had traveled, that he had been received in civilized societies, that he had been a high officer of the state. He seemed only a poor clod like those around him, deluded by childish theology ...

One can only hope that Durant doesn't make fools of his Christian followers the way Bryan did.

Election reform report has good recommendations ormally, I'm not a fan of special advisory commissions, blue-ribbon or not.

Too often, such commissions are announced with great fanfare, saddled with inadequate and/or incompetent staff, dominated by the status quo views of big interest groups and left to languish when the politician who created the groups loses interest.

So it was with some amazement and more light that I read through the report "Recommendations for Improving the Efficiency and Effectiveness of Michigan's Elections System," issued last week by a commission convened by Secretary of State Candice Miller.

Although the report makes six major recommendations - including easing restrictions on voting by absentee ballot, simplifying the petition process for candidates and experimenting with mail-in voting - the most far-reaching was to propose consolidating elections into four fixed dates each year, each on the first Tuesday following the first Monday of the month: A winter election to be held in February; A spring election to be held in May;

A primary election to be held in August; A general election to be held in November. One of the unusual things about the commission is that it included some people who actually know what they're talking about, including Kathy Dornan, Farmington Hills city clerk, Joan McCotter, Livonia city clerk, and Bernie

Apol, the retired (and revered) state elections Also serving on the commission was Rep. Bob Brackenridge, R-St. Joseph, a former Berrien County clerk, who pushed similar ideas last year when he headed the House Local Government Committee. One community in his district held nine elections in a single year! To take effect, the package needs to be adopted by the Legislature, which is no sure thing, what with roads, taxes and casinos all on the agenda, not to mention all the old chestnuts about "local control." If enacted into law, though, there would be lots of good consequ

No more special millage elections, votes held at oddball times, usually pushed through by an alliance between local school officials and teachers unions to get millages and bond issues passed by a low turnout of "school people." We've all heard of such elections with 3, 4, 5 percent turnouts. They're unrepresentative, and they're expensive. Former Ingham County clerk, Rep. Lingg Brewer, D-Holt, complains, "I've seen school people as cynical as Chicago ward-heelers. They say, 'We've got a multi-million dollar project. Let's sneak this through with Monday

In Livonia, for example, holding the 1996 June school election cost $32,000; with 4,120 people voting, the cost was $7.77 per vote.

Another important recommendation is to create centralized registered voter lists (called a Qualified Voter File) on a big computer. Although most Republicans and many Democrats favor local control over voter lists, Miller's panel disagreed, arguing that "Michigan is the largest state, both in terms of its population and its geographical size to (maintain local voter

"Involving 273 city clerks, 1,242 township clerks and 261 village clerks, Michigan's voter registration system comprises 1,776 separate registration jurisdictions, making it the most decentralized - and hence the most complex voter registration system in the country," the panel said. "In effect, Michigan maintains 25 percent of the nation's registration jurisdictions to serve less than 4 percent of the nation's population."

Right on, Commission! I'd urge conscientious voters reading the column to contact their local legislator, urging prompt and favorable consideration for the Miller commission's report.

Livonia man named public safety director at Schoolcraft

A veteran of the Wayne County Sheriffs Department has been appointed Schoolcraft College's director of public safety.

Lt. John Monge was appointed to replace Gordon Baumgartner, who retired.

Monge served in various positions with Wayne County Sheriffs over the past 23 years. He started as a deputy sheriff patrolling the streets, and spent time in dispatch, the marine division, the jail, the motorcyle squad, and on the airport, Hines Park and narcotics units and the SWAT team.

He left the department in charge of the SWAT team and narcotics units.

Monge retains the title of lieutenant in his new post. He is no stranger to Schoolcraft, having served as the firearms coordinator in the Police Academy at Radcliff Center for the past eight years, a position he will retain.

His duties include overseeing the campus security system and emergency and disaster plans, aiding staff and students with problems such as lockouts, coordinating forces with local police and fire departments and continuing to dole out those pesky parking tickets.

Monge grew up in Westland and graduated from Franklin High School in Livonia. He earned a bachelor's degree in criminal justice and a master's degree in administration from Madonna University.

Monge and his wife, Kathy, live in Livonia.

JACQUE MARTIN-DOWNS

Graduation is celebration of her 'growth'

n a kind moment, the kindergarten teacher commented that the 5-year-old was a "busy" little girl who really enjoyed playing and socializing more than learning.

"Busy" was a kind way of saying hyper in the '70s. Today, she might have been labeled ADD. But the first-grade teacher wouldn't tolerate the busyness and renamed her "the talker." Years later, this little girl would speak out about how the first-grade teacher told her she'd had enough of her mouth and put her in the storage room next door to do her assignments.

The rest of her elementary school experience went from bad to worse as talking and socializing became her trademark.

"She doesn't listen ... she daydreams ... she talks while I'm talking. She doesn't turn in her homework." On and on it went. Teacher after teacher had little to say that was positive.

Middle school had no redeeming value except for the resource room teacher who tutored her when she had time. School became more and more difficult and her desire to please her teachers and her parents waned. Parent-teacher conferences were painful for her parents, as they knew that they were going to hear. And she knew what she was going to hear when they came home from them.

Her only self-worth came from her exceptional horseback riding ability. Her riding instructor commented that she seemed to "stick to the horse like glue." Riding ribbons soon adorned her room. Although school wasn't going well, she was at least gaining some attention for her riding talents.

Dropping the bomb

Then the bomb dropped. Mom and dad made a grave error. In their effort to set consequences for the bad grades, they tied the riding to the grades and said "no more riding until the grades

Under most circumstances, it would seem appropriate to take away the good stuff until the grades improve, but in this little girl's life, her ego and self-regard were linked to her riding abilities. Coinciding with their ultimatum was

Mason will delve into music theater during the second session, with students presenting a revue, featuring four-five different musical theater styles on Aug. 14. "This is a little bit unique because we won't gather and do musical theater," Mason said. "I'll take them on a historical journey through musical theater from vaudeville until now.

While Gumina will be the instructor and director for her session, Mason will be bringing in professionals to share in the instruction. Included in the group will be Judy Holler, who co-authored the musical stage production of "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," which was performed by the Huron Civic Theatre last year. Holler is looking for the musical to be picked up by major producers, Mason said.

"She'll actually be working with us in the capacity of a musical coach," the Dearborn resident said. "In straight theater, the director is it; but in musical theater, you have the director, musical director and choreographer.

Jaclyn Svec has received the Gold Award from the Huron Valley Girl, Scout Council. The Gold Award is the highest honor given to girls in Girl Scouting. For her Gold Award project, Jaclyn planned and ran a preschool unit at Girl Scout day camp at Maybury State Park last summer. "Working with the children taught me a lot about myself," she said. "Girl Scouting has taught me that other's needs should often be put before your own." Jaclyn, a member of Senior Girl Scout Troop 501, is a senior at Plymouth Salem High School, where she is manager of the wrestling team. She plans to attend Eastern Michigan University to study early elementary education for the emotionally impaired.

Flames roar

The Canton Flames, an under-15 girls premier soccer league team, won the Ohio Celtic Cup last weekend outsoring their opponents 12-1 in the process.

Players for the Flames are: Susannah Bryant, Jessie Bucks, Amy Dorogi, Jessica Palis, Andrea Schimmel, Heather Thompson and Noelle Swartz of Canton; Megan Kelley and Stephanie Krieg of Redford; Karen Kramer, Julie Murray and Melissa Sultana of Livonia; Jessica Booth of Dearborn; and Emily Wilkinson of Belleville.

The team is coached by John Schimmel, Ernie Bucks and Gary Palis.

Mets/Tigers win Invite

In the first-ever Plymouth-Canton Junior Baseball League Invitational for 11 and 12 year-old boys, the Mets/Tigers team used a strong start to gain an 11-7 victory over the Dodgers/Royals in Saturday's championship game at Plymouth Township Park.

A total of eight teams competed in the Invitational, six of them from the Plymouth-Canton area and two from Northville. The field was divided into two four-team divisions, with each team playing the other members of its division to determine a divisional winner.

The Mets/Tigers and the Dodgers/Royals each advanced by virtue of three-straight victories in pool play. The Mets/Tigers beat the Diamondbacks/Rockies 12-8; the Cubs 15-9; and the Northville Padres 13-9.

Dodgers/Royals beat Athletics/Twins 15-7; the White Sox 10-9; and the Northville Pirates 13-9.

In the championship game, the Mets/Tigers built a 7-1 lead, then held off the Dodgers/Royals comeback to gain the title.

Shark Club perfect site for showdown

It was everything the crowd that jammed into Canton's Shark Club could have asked for.

The top two-rated players in the Women's Professional Billiard Association emerged from a field of 48 to face off in the final of the $50,000 Imperial International Detroit Classic last Sunday.

And as one might have hoped, it was a showdown worth waiting for.

No. 1-ranked Allison Fisher, the WPBA's defending national champion, found herself in a battle against No. 2-rated Jeanette Lee. The championship round (the first to win 11 games is the champ) was a backand-forth struggle, with Lee opening up a lead of 5-0.

But Fisher showed her title form by turning the tide, eventually tying the match at seven games each. A split in the next two games left it still tied at 8-all before Fisher took her first lead, 9-8.

Lee could not regain her earlier form, as Fisher prevailed 11-8.

The victory, Fisher's third this year on the 10-event WPBA Classic Billiard Tour (Canton marked the fifth stop), earned her the $6,000 top prize. Lee collected $4,000 for second place.

Robin Dodson placed third to take home $3,000 in winnings, with Vivian Villarreal, the 1996 Detroit Classic champion, finishing fourth to earn $2,200.

The tournament attracted greater numbers than last year's first-time appearance at the Shark Club, according to Shari Stauch, public relations director for the WPBA. "Last year it was a little slow," Stauch said, citing the new location and May date as reasons. "This year it was jammed. Saturday night we had a full house, and so was Sun-

"In 1995, I was diagnosed with cancer.

I FELT ALIENATED. I felt I would no longer look at myself the same way. And one thing I noticed when I WENT TO ST. JOE'S in ANN ARBOR, was that they were well aware of those emotions. I TRUSTED IN THEM that they were honest and forthright, and cared about me as not just their patient, but as a person. What was so comforting, and still is, is knowing that they're there. It's knowing that they're there.

Loss of a beloved pet brings tears

JOE GAGNON

Last Thursday evening I was watering my flowers out in the front yard when this beautiful lady walked up to me and said she wanted to give me a hug.

This mother of two young children who lives just two houses up the street almost broke into tears as she put her arms around me. I quickly wondered what the neighbors were thinking as they saw this raw display of emotion, and I was hoping they wouldn't get the wrong idea.

I've been very faithful to my Valorie and I don't plan on changing my ways

The story begins earlier in the day.

I had come home that evening after stopping at Doc Morrison's office to check on my cat, which I had brought over the previous day for a complete physical.

I was outside with my garden hose giving the plants an evening bath and thinking about what Doc had told me about the cat.

The tears were flowing down my cheeks as I thought of the words from him just a short while before.

"Pee Wee is having a complete breakdown of all his internal organs and his blood tests show him to be diabetic. He may have a slight chance of survival but you will have to give him a shot every morning for the rest of his life."

He explained the long sheets of paper which showed the normal blood counts and the readings on my cat Pee Wee, and he knew what I was going to say even before I said it.

"I was hoping you would see it that way, Joe." He asked me if I wanted to see Pew Wee before the cat was put to sleep.

I said no way and got out of there before I broke down in front of the whole world.

I knew he was sound asleep before I even arrived home, and I still had to tell Valorie with at least a little composure.

I called my son Mark who found the cat ten years ago when he and I shared an apartment. He described it best when he said:

"Dad, that cat lived a short but the best life of any cat in the world. You fed him steak and lobster and treated him like a baby and he thought you were his father. No cat has ever been loved so much."

Ten months ago my son Andrew came in the back of the store with a little orange cat no bigger than the palm of your hand. The mother had abandoned the kitten which was so very close to death; when Andrew lifted an old Kenmore dryer, there it was.

Doc Morrison saved that kitten (Kenmore) and I brought it home as a companion for Pew Wee. He would jump on Pee Wee's back and ride all over the house without ever a complaint from the big guy, who weighed in at 36 pounds

For the last six months the little guy would bathe the big guy and you could tell Pee Wee was no longer able to cope.

The last words from Valorie regarding the cat were an example of the attachment between human and animal

"Do cats go to heaven, Joe?"

Yes, cats go to heaven and so does anything that shows love, kindness, tenderness and the ability to draw feelings from anyone _ feelings that equal goodness. This is the way of nature and it was created by someone smarter the you or I.

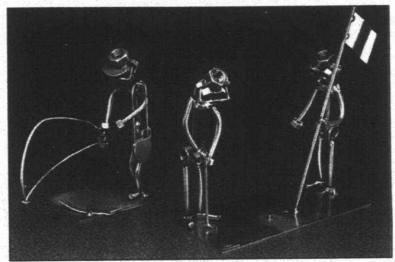

Today, we still have Kenmore, and his nature was created by Pee Wee So, to my neighbor: Thanks for the hug when I needed it the most.

Joe Gagnon, the Appliance Doctor, will answer your questions about maintaining and repairing large appliances. Gagnon is president of Carmack Appliances in Garden City.

Showing metal

Scrap it up: These nuts and bolts scrap metal sculptures by Hintz and Kuntz are available at Jacobson's in 13 designs depicting jobs and favorite pastimes. For the avid fisherman, Jacobson's suggests the scrap metal and copper "Gone Fishin'" statue for $43. The golf buff is sure to like the two-person "Golf Putter" sinking the shot, $58. Surgeon, physician, dentist and desk pen holder are also available.

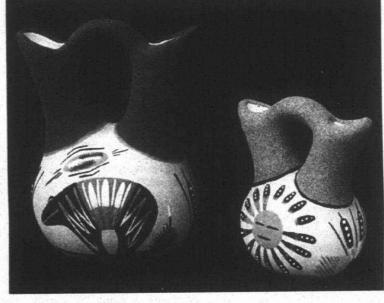

Good vibrations

Chime in: This double-bell ornament, made of a special bronze alloy, symbolizes marriage: Each of the two bells has different vibrations, representing distinct personalities. When joined with a single design, they create beautiful harmony. And talk about a commitment - every wind chime and bell produced by Ann Arbor-based Harmony Hollow has a 350-year guarantee. The Wedding Bells retail for $69.98 at the four English Gardens locations, including the store at 6370 Orchard Lake Road at Maple in West Bloomfield (call (248) 851-7506). Other styles of bells and wind chimes are also available.

a valuable piece of equipment every photographer should own. Without one, many photographic opportunities will be forsaken and many exciting shots missed.

Most tripods are constructed of light metals such as aluminum. These are fine because they are lightweight and easily fold for storage.

For greater stability, always extend the "thickest" legs first. And, to increase sturdiness, place one of the legs pointed forward under the lens.

Two kinds of tripod heads are available. The most common has separate handles for panning and tilting. A second kind contains a single handle that unlocks a ball joint to permit turns and tilts in any direction. Which is best for you is a matter of personal preference.

When should you use a tripod? While a tripod will always produce a sharper picture, here's a good rule to follow: Use your tripod when the shutter speed (as a whole number) is slower than the focal length of the lens on the

For example, the nearest shutter speed to your 50mm lens is 1/60 second. This means you can hand hold your camera at speeds of 1/60 or faster. But if lighting conditions demand a speed of 1/30 or slower, better get out

Nighttime is a great time for tripods. Beautiful photographs are obtained after dark not only of street scenes but also of floodlit buildings and monuments.

Another use of tripods is in shooting photographs that intentionally show

It's common to "freeze" flowing water in a waterfall with a fast shutter speed, but what if that same waterfall was shot with a time exposure on a tripod? You'll get a totally different result with the water appearing as a soft blur that gives a feeling of movement and mood to your photograph. Try it some-

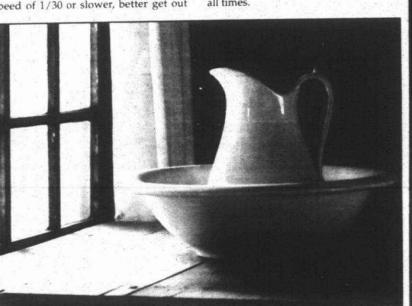

Keep in mind, you'll require a very small aperture and perhaps filtration in order to get the slow shutter speed

One other reminder. A cable release goes hand-in-hand with a tripod. Use one every time you take a shot on your

What if you're out shooting and the situation arises where you should use a tripod but you've left it home?

Try to improvise by tucking your elbows in, spreading your feet apart, and bracing yourself against a wall or tree. Or you can set your camera on a fence post or car hood for steadiness.

Better yet, keep your tripod handy at

Campfire cuisine for the grownups

With all the kids leaving the city and heading North, or out of state for camp this month, it started me thinking ... in a "green" sort of way.

I wish I were still going to camp those were the days! I spent 10 years at the same camp - Camp Petosega, situated in Emmet County right outside of Petoskey. Those wonderful (and sometimes wild) camp activities, beautiful star-filled evenings in the brisk northern air, great friends (male and female), and those delicious cookouts. Certainly the hot dogs we ate at home during offcamp season were the same type of hot dogs we ate on the beach. Camp wienies were cooked on green sticks over a

Do "camp" in your own backyard - or nearby park (make sure there are no city restrictions for this type of outing). Set up a tent, make a campfire, prepare adult campfire cuisine and relive some camp memories, or create

If the spirit moves you - you can even go up north to Camp Petosega it's no longer a campers camp, but a county park with lots of space for RV's. Only two original cabins still exist, one large one, cabin "F" that sleeps 6 (it used to be called Bunk Esther), and cabin "D" (it used to be called Bunk Maccabee) that sleeps 6-8.

The county has installed what they call hard-sided tents - 3 mini cabins that sleep 4 (no electricity or water). Take a drive up there, and do CAMP. Bring your own bedding, this is not the Ritz outdoor plumbing and a bath house included. The camp site phone number is: (616)347-6536. The location: 11000 Camp Petosega Rd., Alanson, MI.

Once your hot dog is hollowed out, stuff it with an interesting cheese and wrap it in roasted peppers or bacon, and grill them over an open flame.

Another stuffed idea is to do stuffed burgers - of course if I were making these, as I sometimes do, I use ground bison - you can use any ground meat from turkey to lamb. Make two patties (equal in size and weight) per person on one side of your raw meat, add your favorite cheese, vegetables or crispy bacon. Then top with the other meat patty, and pat and pinch together. Grill the burgers (without an actual grill, you will need a burger rack, or something durable and fireproof to hold the burgers) cook to desired doneness.

If a more gourmet approach to your campfire is what you are looking for use seafood. Shrimp grills easily and beautifully over an open fire - you may choose to pre-marinate your raw

Bright ideas can save a dark kitchen

Q: We own a home that was built in the early seventies and is in great shape in a great neighborhood. We thought we might trade up, but have decided to stay put and update this home. Our biggest problem is a very dark kitchen. What do you suggest we do to update this outdated space?

A: For starters, while every kitchen remodeling job is at least slightly unique from every other, your specific needs are not uncommon. This might be one of the most frequently posed problems in kitchen remodeling today.

The first recommendation would be to talk with friends and family to see if you could identify a design firm that works in your area specializing in kitchen design. Spend the time required to find a contractor that is licensed and insured, and with whom you feel comfortable. Be sure to check out professional affiliations.

Since many kitchen arrangements are possible and must take in details like room configuration, size, decor and budget, let's use a specific kitchen that required the same improvements

Boundless beauty: Roger and Barbara Beaune have spent 19 years transforming their property into a bounty of designerly plantings. Staff photos by Jim Jagdfeld.

Garden delights at every turn

Giant poplar trees and little else were growing on the property when Roger and Barbara Beaune built their ranch style home just down the street from Greenmead Historical Village in 1979.

A portion of the 1-1/2 acres remains untouched and serves as home to a variety of birds, rabbits and

The Beaunes' property is one of seven private gardens along with Greenmead's on a walk 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, June 28. Proceeds will go toward restoration of the Alexander Blue House at Greenmead.

If you're looking for new ideas to add to your outdoor gardens and landscaping, the seventh annual garden walk sponsored and hosted by Friends for Development of Greenmead should offer plenty of

"It's hard for me to pick just one," said Janet Bennett, Friends president and walk chairperson. "All of the gardens are all very different, so I think we'll have something to appeal to everybody.

"There's everything from the house with the North woods to another with literally hundreds of hostas from celery color to green into blues." Many of the gardeners like the Beaunes will be on hand to greet visitors and answers questions.

"The walk will give people ideas whether they have a small space or a large yard," Bennett said, "and the enthusiasm of the gardeners is infectious."

Tickets for the garden walk are $7 in advance, or $8 on the day of the walk.

They are available in advance at all Livonia libraries, the Civic Center Library Gift Shop, and the Community Resources department on the fifth floor of Livonia City Hall. On the day of the walk, tickets will only be sold at Greenmead and the Livonia Civic Center Library.

For more information, call Community Resources at (313) 421-2000, Ext. 351.

Terrain transformation

When the Beaunes first moved to northwest Livonia 19 years ago, there was nothing but trees, a few homes and a horse who lived next

Roger, a mason operating his own business with sons Roger Jr. and Tony, has transformed the terrain into a labyrinth of walkways and flower boxes filled with rhododendrons, azalea and German irises.

Brick walls greet and guide visitors to the back yard. Along the way, a three-tiered fish pond with waterfall soothes with the sounds of rushing water. Roger originally built a single fish pond five years ago, then decided to add two more tiers

"It took a while, so we did a little bit at a time," Roger Beaune said. "Trying to maintain everything is a job in itself."

"All we do is work in the yard," Barbara added, "but we love it. We're very family oriented and have a lot of barbecues. This is our weekend getaway. It's just like going up north.

Hostas, daylilies and deep purple Oriental irises with reed-like leaves dot the landscape. Peonies line a walkway to the back where a deck features a gas grill brick fireplace.

A heart-shaped flower bed of red and white begonias lies under a maple tree. Pachysandra covers the ground beneath towering white and iack pines planted from seedlings. Beyond the deck, raised brick flower beds guide visitors toward a rustic gazebo.

Cut-up telephone poles form one edge of a flower bed and lead visitors toward an untouched nature area. Yet another keystone and paver walkway leads visitors through the wooded site where Roger "sees a deer every now and then."

"It feels like country to us," Barbara said. "There were only a few homes when we moved in. We raked out all of the rocks and seeded all the lawn."

The Beaunes' garden was on the walk in 1992.

Play it safe for summer: Order home inspection

Statistics indicate that more people are injured at home than in car wrecks and work-related accidents combined. Summer is especially dangerous, as more people are involved in physical activities and household projects.

Finally, a three foot by six foot skylight was added for a focal point and to provide additional natural light.

This unusual and exquisite show features many award-winning specimens, Plant materials, pots and tools will be offered for purchase.

Twenty-plus years ago there was very little information in this area about the art of bonsai, said Dean Atkinson and Peter Evanoff of Southfield and George Randall of Livonia. These men have collectively devoted 78 years to their hobby and are still practicing.

They met at this club and found that they are all World War II veterans. They have remained close friends ever since,

Both Evanoff and Randall credit Atkinson with inspiring them to achieve. Atkinson teaches privately (call (248) 365-9295) and, said the other two, 'all the time at the club.'

Atkinson spent time with a shore patrol unit in Japan, and noticed "a great many trees growing in the ground had been trained into bonsai forms, and were a pertinent point of Japanese gar-

When Atkinson returned home, he began looking at pictures and mementos. Photographs of bonsai sparked his interest. His first plant was a gift, a luniper from a magazine advertisement.

He perfected his craft by learning from books, then in 1972 attended his first convention in Kansas City.

"Bonsai is a relaxing hobby for anybody of any age, in fact it's best to get into it at a young age," said Evanoff, who won the Midwest American Bonsai Alliance Award for Excellence last year with an Alberta Spruce Grove.

"It takes three to five years to fashion a bonsai, and we never know what's Bonsaiists are honest, artistic and fascinating, he also said. Each person styles in his or her own fashion.

Many of Evanoff's books, plants and tools have been gifts from his children and grandchildren. He joined the club when Randall was president and has taken classes from both men. Priah at the Bonsai House in Livonia is also very helpful, Evanoff said.

Randall has a soil science degree with a forestry minor and spent lots of time alone in the forest. After marriage he

"I decided I could have those forest giants in miniature form in a pot in the mid-city, and it's fun," he said. "People who get into bonsai are the biggest

They all agree that these plants need a very coarse and fast-draining soil mix.

Randall uses this formula: 1/3 each of coarse sand, turface (a high-fired clay product) and ground fir bark (used for orchid seedlings). He fertilizes with a combined water-soluble mix at full strength in the winter and when plants are indoors, and organic products such as bone meal, cottonseed and dried blood when they're out

He prefers the bone meal or cottonseed, forms it into a patty that disintegrates over time, and lays them on the soil and waters as usual.

Randall conducts workshops and demonstrations; call (313) 525-3677.

SATISFIES MUSICAL TASTE BUDS TOO

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO

he self-described "Sybil of rock 'n' roll," John Hiatt wanted to lighten up a bit on his latest and 14th album, "Little Head" (Capitol) and keep the songs a little less serious than his 1995 Capitol Records debut, "Walk On" (Capitol).

He makes his intentions clear right from the start with the title track, a funky warning about what can happen when a man thinks with the wrong part of his body.

"It's mostly women who seem to appreciate that song. Frankly most of them have suspected it's the truth anyway. Some of the fellas seem to be in denial," Hiatt said with a laugh via telephone from his Kentucky hotel suite.

The song, he said, "just kind of showed up one day. I actually stole the line. We had a tour manager four or five years ago who used to warn us, 'You're in trouble when the little head starts doing the thinkin'.'

The song "Woman Sawed in Half" is inspired by Maureen McGovern's "Torn Between Two Lovers." In "Feelin' Again" he talks about "all those nights just killed a billion brain cells." With "Sure Pinocchio" he comes up with the clever rhyme "You put me in a box, like God and his uncle/Smellin' like old gym socks, lookin' like Artie Garfunkel

Musically, the album "Little Head" is less somber than "Walk On."

"There's no mandolin," Hiatt said. We kind of let the songs tell us what to do. That's what they were saying, 'Lighten up.' They never appeared to need a mandolin. They seemed better suited to the fourpiece rock band.

For the album he collected the Nashville Queens - Hiatt, guitar and piano; David Immergluck, guitar, pedal steel, dobro, and electric sitar; Davey Faragher, bass; Gary Ferguson, drum; Peter Holsapple, organ and piano; and Efrain Toro, percussion.

"They can really do the do. We flushed it out a little bit with percussion. ... The record was cut live which is a real key to the fun factor in the record. All the cuts are first take. It's got that sort of excitement,

I think, of the initial blush of inspiration.

Fans can feel the "fun factor" themselves when John Hiatt closes out the five-day Michigan TasteFest in Detroit's New Center Area on Sunday, July 6.

Themed "Savor the flavors - feast on the fun," the ninth annual TasteFest features 65 free performances and 36 Michigan restaurants selling "tastes" of their specialties including Cajun, Thai, Polish, Italian, Greek, Indian, British, Mexican, Middle Eastern, Japanese, soul food, seafood, and desserts Wednesday, July 2-Sunday, July 6.

"This is a civic celebration of the best kind, a showcase of community harmony, business resources and enthusiasm," said Patricia Haller, executive director of the Michigan

"We've described it as a worldclass smorgasbord, but TasteFest is more than food and free entertainment, it's a coming together, a blending of business and community, a family-oriented activity-filled five organized by those of us who dearly love and are proud of the progress of metropolitan Detroit."

The community feel is one of the reasons why Hiatt likes to play events like this, The Taste of Chicago, and Summerfest. Milwaukee's

"They're just a lot of fun. The people are there. The city is involved and it just seems like more of a community kind of atmosphere not just

Plus, he added with a laugh, "we like to eat."

Thirty six Michigan restaurants are participating this year including Fishbone's Rhythm Kitchen Cafe of Southfield which will provide bourbon street whiskey ribs, crawfish etouffee, and bourbon street pudding; and the Orchid Cafe of Troy which will serve crispy shrimp toast, spring rolls, chicken fried rice, and garlic beef noodle.

Smoke' En Gators of Rochester Hills will serve up gator bites with pineapple salsa, sweet and sour gator with southern green beans and rice, red beans and rice, authentic fried green tomatoes with ranch dressing; while Steve's Back Room of West Bloomfield brings tabbouleh, hummus, vegetarian Middle East combo, and vegetarian stuff grape leaves.

Proceeds generated by the festival fund the New Center Foundation, Inc.'s, annual work program as well as a number of charitable programs serving the community, including an award-winning summer youth program at the local Fairbanks Elementary School. In the last two years, the New Center Foundation has donated $22,000 in TasteFest proceeds to Fairbanks School for computer hardware and software, blacktop for a parking lot play space, and individual subscription to Weekly Reader for each child.

Hiatt's appearance at the TasteFest is one of a handful that he's doing to warm up for his summer European and fall U.S. tours.

"We're just kind of doing a few gigs through the summer to call ourselves professionals. We're kind of getting started slowly," Hiatt said.

He's spent the last year driving his kids "all over God's creation. I almost feel like a taxi cab.

A car racer since 1995, he's been burning rubber with his 5/8-sized classic race car at the Nashville Speedway at the Nashville Fairgrounds. This season he's planning on racing more than any other year. His best finish has been fourth

His car's number, incidentally, is 61, for the highway intersecting Highway 49, the fabled "crossroads" where Robert Johnson is said to have sold his soul to the devil. His racing motto is "Hell Hounds on My Trail," after the Johnson blues clas-

"I grew up in Indianapolis, where my heroes were Dylan, Hendrix, Muddy Waters, Howlin' Wolf, and racers like A.J. Foyt, Mario Andretti, and Tony Bettenhausen," Hiatt said. "They were every bit the gods."

NO EXCUSES. PLENTY OF REASONS TO ENJOY SUMMER!

Relax. It's summer, OK. Remember: in Michigan, summer only comes around once every ten years or so. Just forget that with each passing humid day, your hair feels like an inflatable sponge. Never mind that you've discovered a few extra pounds of insulation around your midsection since last year. Take off the heavy loafers. Step into some sandals. Slip into a pair of shorts. Go ahead, show some skin. The days are longer, and the work week has just gotten shorter.

The following O&E clip-and-save calendar is a start. Carry it with you. Use it as a fan. Better yet, use any of the listed events, concerts and exhibits as an excuse to enjoy yourself. There's only about 80 days before the Michigan hibernation season begins.

Would-be buyers are very clear about what they're after when hiring an inspection service. And it isn't a mess.

"They don't want any surprises," said Harold Weine, owner of Alert Home inspections in Southfield.

"Anything built by man can be fixed by man. But if it's made by man, it's not perfect. We're looking for major items, major deficiencies," Weine said.

Dan Wood, owner of American Inspection in Clarkston, sees his role as an unemotional provider of informa-

"All owners think their houses are perfect, and all buyers think they should be and they're not," Wood said.

"I think the thrust of the inspection industry now ... is to give people accurate, detailed reports. Normally, it's a learning experience, to learn of problems, potential problems. They're looking for major surprise items, a costly item or a safety hazard," Wood said.

Most inspectors look for the same things. The differences lie in degree of experience

Dubel outlined a typical inspection. "We start normally on the outside. We're looking over every loose brick, rot water infiltration," Dubel said.

"We use our hands, feet and eyes," Goewey said. "We try to provide the client with as much information not only about building materials, but mechanical functions important to the The typical inspection takes two to three hours and costs $200-$300 depending on size and age of the house. Clients generally receive a written report and are strongly encouraged to personally attend the inspection.

We want to point out high points and low points so they keep everything in proper perspective," said Weine. "Plus, we explain maintenance, too."

"Our job is to educate as well as inform," said Bob Bowling, an inspector with Amerispec Home Inspection Service in Plymouth. "We try to point out not only defects but why things are the way they are."

Perspective was mentioned by several inspectors.

"A bad roof on a house is like bad tires on a car," Wood said. "It's time for a new one. That doesn't mean it's a bad house.

And realize that inspectors can't probe everywhere.

"We can't look in walls," Dubel said. "We don't do septics. We cannot guarantee the life of a water heater, the life of a furnace.'

It's best to get a line on an inspection service before you actually need one at crunch time when submitting a purchase offer contingent on an inspection. Realtors can make referrals.

"We end up turning down a lot of jobs," Weine said. "If people called ahead of time ... it would be better for

MORTGAGE

This is a weekly col-umn all about shopping for a mortgage that is, getting the best financing for your needs when it comes to buying a home. And there are all kinds of "needs" for mortgages. This week, let's look at owning your own home with a low down payment.

There is much personal satisfaction in living in a home that you own. A home is still a valued investment which can many financial advantages, including tax benefits. The amount of interest you pay on a home loan and the real estate taxes you pay on your home are among the few major federal tax deductions. Owning a home is the primary way most people build wealth.

Still, for many Americans. owning a home remains just out of reach, For more and more families, saving the money for a down payment is the biggest obstacle to ownership.

Traditionally, lenders have required that home buyers be able to make a down payment of at least 20 percent of the purchase price in order to get a mortgage. However, mortgage lenders will grant home loans to qualifying home buyers with a down payment of as little as 5 percent of the purchase price (if the mortgage is insured).

In fact home loans with down payments of less than 20 percent are increasingly popular, and are known simply as "low down payment mort-

Make it possible

Simply put, mortgage insurance protects the mortgage lender against financial loss if the homeowner stops making mortgage payments. Lenders usually require insurance on low downpayment loans for their own protection in the event the homeowner fails to make his or her payments.

In that case, the home would go into foreclosure; the homeowner loses the house and all the money put into it. The mortgage insurer will then have to pay the lender's claim on the defaulted loan

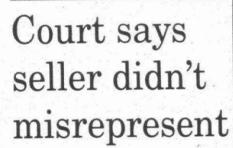

Although the cost of mortgage insurance is paid by the home buyer or borrower, the mortgage insurer directly with the lender. Mortgage insurance is available to commercial banks, savings and loans associations, and mortgage bankers, all of who offer mortgage loans to home buyers.

Secondary market

Three primary investors in home loans are Federal National Mortgage association (Fannie Mae), Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation (Freddie Mac) and Governmental National Mortgage Association (Ginnie

By buying and selling residential mortgages, Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac help keep money available for homes across the country. So their participation in the loan process is essential to the health of the mortgage industry in America.

Q. I am a real estate broker and am wondering how far I can go in regard to "puffing" without incurring potential liability for a false representation. Do have any g guidelines on that

A. The best guideline I can give you is based upon a recent case from the Michigan Court of Appeals, although it is an unpublished decision. In that case, the defendant seller made a representation to the plaintiff/buyer about the general condition of the house, stating that the house was in "good" or "excellent" condition.

The court in that case dismissed the claim against the seller based upon a false representation because of the discovery of termites. The court indicated that those comments "were nothing more than the usual 'puffing' about one's residence and not a false representation about termites."

The case pointed out that fraudulent misrepresentation requires proof of both knowledge and an intention that the misrepresentation be acted upon by the plaintiff. Moreover, In the case at issue, the prior owners knew of the infestation, but that fact did not automatically create a disputed fact regarding whether they had such knowledge.

Whether there is puffing in a given case will usually be a question of fact, although in this instance, the court made a ruling based on a motion for summary disposition.

Cool tips for warm summer weather

(NAPS) - If air conditioning is not your area of expertise, you may be overwhelmed by the various brands, shapes and sizes of the units. Price and appearance alone cannot be the only criteria for making a purchase, but what else should you look for?

Efficiency is the key to air conditioning success. Making the initial investment in an efficient air conditioner will save you money over time and give you plenty of cool air to help tame the dog days of summer.

The first thing you'll want to look for is the green Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers (AHAM) seal located on the unit. An AHAM label indicates that the Energy Efficiency Ratio (EER) - an estimate of the amount of cooling produced vs. amount of electricity used - has been verified for accuracy by an independent testing and certification organization, such as Inchcape Testing Services. Organizations like Inchcape Testing Services test units under a standard set of environmental conditions to ensure that the EER and the capacity ratings are accurate and you won't spend more money on your electric bill than the amount indicated on the EnergyGuide label. AHAM monitors the many brands for capacity ratings and EERs and publishes a certification directory.

The EER is located on the EnergyGuide, the big, yellow tag that can be ound among the various stickers and labels on most air conditioning units. The EnergyGuide also features a capacity rating, which is the expected output measured in British Thermal Units (BTUs). If the capacity and efficiency ratings have been tested by independent third parties, the EnergyGuide should give you an accurate indication of how each unit will perform. Finding a unit with the AHAM label and a high efficiency rating will be a solid first step toward making an educated purchase.

Once you've determined that you're looking at a certified, efficient unit, it's time to pick a size. Like shoes - air conditioners come in all sizes, shapes and colors. You will need to know the dimensions of the room you're cooling, the number of windows in the room and the direction that the windows are facing. All of these factors play a role in deter mining the size and strength of the unit you need. Your sales person will recommend an appropriate unit based on your individual room specifications.

Price and appearance will be your last consideration. Strongly consider sacrificing a few extra dollars up front to save on your electric bill each month. Features and colors are a personal preference. Armed with your air-conditioning know-how, you can be sure that whatever model you choose will be right for you.
