Ryan Ambrozaitis has resigned after 18 months as executive director of the Canton Chamber of Commerce.

Ambrozaitis, 30, stepped down to pursue other opportunities this week in a mutual agreement with the chamber's board of directors. His last day at work was Monday.

"I am proud of the major accomplishments the Canton chamber achieved over the last year and a half," Ambrozaitis said Thursday. "We have a fabulous board of directors, great committees and a good staff."

A one-paragraph statement from the board Thursday praised Ambrozaitis for his many "successful accomplishments over the past one-and-a-half-years" and wished him "continued success."

Deadly decision: Mazin Naim Khoury, the front-seat passenger in this 1989 Mercury Marquis, was killed when the car was struck by a train on Warren Road. Mazin's brother Ziad, who was driving, was injured in the crash.

A 32-year-old Canton man was killed and his brother badly injured Thursday when a train smashed into their car on Warren Road.

Mazin Naim Khoury was pronounced dead on the scene at approximately 5:45 p.m. His brother, Ziad Naim Khoury, 35, also of Canton, is listed in fair condition at the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor.

According to township police reports, the elder brother was driving at the time of the accident. Khoury, police said, went around warning gates just east of Lotz Road and was struck broadside by a northbound train.

"It's clearly a situation where they made a fatal mistake by going around the gates," Canton Police Officer Leonard Schemanske said. "Because of the massive size of the train, it's hard to judge its speed."

A train was parked just north of the railroad crossing facing southbound, said Schemanske. A second train, which police estimate was traveling at 40 miles per hour, came through the crossing heading northbound.

"Witnesses said they kept looking left (or north)," Schemanske said, "and never looked right."

The car was struck on the passenger side door. Force of the impact knocked the brothers' vehicle into a nearby ravine just north of Warren Road.

Mazin Khoury was trapped inside the 1989 Mercury Marquis while his brother was ejected into the ravine. Neither was wearing a ■ Mark Bolger wasn't a star but loved to play basketball as Salem High School's '12th man' off the bench, said his father, Jeff. Family and friends were still struggling Saturday with the teen's sudden halftime collapse during Friday's game with Livonia Stevenson.

Plymouth Salem junior Mark Bolger loved being part of the Rocks basketball team. He was far from being the star player, but he loved the camaraderie with his teammates.

"He was the 12th man, but he loved being a part of the fight and the strategy," said his father, Jeff. "He'd only play about 30 seconds or a minute, and that was generally if the team was in a position that allowed for him to get in. But he knew and accepted his role."

Today, Bolger's family of Plymouth Township is struggling to understand why their son collapsed during halftime of Friday night's home game with Livonia Stevenson, before being pronounced dead at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia.

"He was one of my best friends, one of the best people I know," said Jeff Bolger. "He was very smart, and while not the best athlete, loved to compete."

To borrow a phrase, Canton-Plymouth Mettetal Airport has come a long way, baby.

Since being purchased by the Michigan Bureau of Aeronautics in 1993, the 63-acre facility at the corner of Joy and Lilley roads has undergone dramatic changes.

From improved maintenance and runway lighting to state-of-the-art weather tracking and a new plane taxiway, Mettetal has received much more than a cosmetic face-lift, according to state and local officials.

"A great deal of positive things have happened since the state purchased it," said Al Bosonetto, president of Experimental Aircraft Association chapter 113. "Management is more stable. Maintenance of the grounds is better. I don't think anybody sees long grass or things in disarray anymore. It has become a first-class organization."

One of the people most responsible for Mettetal's turnaround is Randy Collier. The bureau of aeronautics licensing and enforcement manager acts as supervisor of the airport.

He recently made a state-of-the-airport presentation to Canton's Board of Trustees. Collier outlined work done at Mettetal since 1993.

"I'm pleased with the progress we've made," he said. "I think we've done what we said we would do."

The bureau, which is a division of Michigan's Department of Transportation, has completed more than 50 projects at Mettetal since taking over.

Improvements

"It was in pretty bad shape when we bought it," said Collier. "There was a lot of deferred maintenance. Many of the hangars were in bad shape as well."

Enclosed counterweights for doors, roof replacement and other repairs have been done to the airport's hangars. A 14-unit "T-hangar," which cost $450,000, was also installed.

Mettetal currently has 126 hangars. Collier said more will be added as soon as funding allows.

"I'd like to see more new hangars," added Fixed Base Operator Doug Kitz. "We have a waiting list of 200 plus."

Mettetal's runway was rebuilt and widened. Collier said drainage was improved and the runway enlarged from a width of 45 to 75 feet for safety.

"Forty five feet is very narrow," he added. "If there were significant crosswinds, it was difficult to land."

The taxiway adjacent to the runway was also redone. Pilots previously had to steer through several turns before taking off.

"It's a straight shot now," Collier said.

Airport activity takes off with changes

FILE PHOTO

Historical view: The Mettetal Airport office building as it appeared in 1954. Recent improvements have updated the facility, thanks to an influx of funds from the state.

The runway's lighting system was modernized, too. Precision Approach Path Indicator lights were installed to, again, enhance safety, Collier said.

Beyond the runway, a 20,000-gallon fuel farm was installed. It allows pilots to fuel planes themselves.

Mettetal's terminal building was spruced up with new carpeting and painting. Collier said a key move was paving the parking adjacent to the building.

"That was the first thing we did," he said. "That went a long way to improving the airport's appearance."

Jack-of-all-trades

Kitze wears many hats at Mettetal, including maintenance man.

When it snows he's the one who clears the runway. He'll also be the one who cuts the grass and does the landscaping this summer.

As fixed base operator, Kitze is responsible for collecting hangar rents and repairing airplanes when needed. In short, if it needs to be done at Mettetal, see Doug.

"I'm generally here seven days a week," he said.

Kitze, who became Mettetal's FBO in 1994, also runs a flight school. His aviation school is currently working with about 100 students.

Would-be pilots range from early teens to late 70s, according to Kitze. Lessons are conducted every day at the airport.

Kitze believes in getting students off the ground - in a hurry.

"Many of our first lessons are in the air," he commented. "If you can drive to the airport, you can fly a plane."

Driver, 63, killed after car smashes into tree

BY SCOTT DANIEL
STAFF WRITER
sdaniel@homecomm.net

A 63-year-old Ypsilanti man died Wednesday after his car slammed into a tree on Ford Road.

Charles Frederick Carlton was pronounced dead at Ann Arbor Hospital in Wayne. The accident occurred at about 3:15 p.m.

"It was the first fatal crash in Canton this year," said Township Police Officer Leonard Schemanske. "We had nine last year."

Carlton was heading north out of the parking lot behind Kroger's grocery store towards Ford Road and west of Canton Center when he lost control of his 1988 Plymouth Voyager minivan, police reports said.

The vehicle went down an embankment, across a frozen retention pond and back up the other side, reports said. The minivan then crossed both lanes of traffic on Ford and hit a tree.

Police and Canton Fire Rescue responded just minutes after the accident.

Carlton appeared to have a "medical problem just prior to the crash," reports said. It's unclear if he had expired prior to the crash.

A final determination will be made by the Wayne County Medical Examiner's office, said Schemanske.

Drugs and alcohol don't appear to be involved in the accident, he added. No other injuries were reported.

Carlton's death is the first traffic fatality since Dec. 22. Jyothi Eadara, a 48-year-old Ann Arbor woman, was killed on Ford just east of Napier Road. She lost control of her car after trying to pass a school bus and was hit broadside.

Crash victim's condition better

A critically injured Canton Township man is improving following a Westland car crash that killed two people, a University of Michigan Hospital spokeswoman said.

Timothy Edwin Twardokus' condition has improved from critical to serious following a 91 mph, one-car accident that occurred at 3:07 a.m. Jan. 15 on westbound Cherry Hill near Carlson.

Twardokus, 20, suffered closed-head injuries in the accident that killed 18-year-old driver Brian O'Donnell of Westland and 20-year-old passenger Scott Velasquez of Canton.

Two others in the car have been released from hospitals, including Twardokus' 27-year-old uncle, Timothy Andrew of Detroit, and 23-year-old Donald Raymond Woodruff of Westland.

O'Donnell, lost control of a seabell, Schemanske said.

Canton Fire and Rescue workers were on the scene in less than four minutes, he added.

Ziad Khoury was taken to Ann Arbor Hospital and later flown to U-M for treatment. He had multiple head and body injuries, Schemanske said.

Police said alcohol was not involved in the accident.

It was the second fatal accident in Canton in as many days.

Charles Frederick, 63, Carlton was killed Wednesday after his car struck a tree near Ford Road. Police believe the Ypsilanti man may have had "medical problem just prior to the crash."

Helping hands

If Collier and Kitz are Mettetal's glue, the citizens advisory board is the backbone.

The seven-person board was formed shortly after the state took over. Chairman Mark Merlanti says the board's most important function is to provide a forum for frank discussion about the airport.

"When airport issues come up," he said, "they can be heard in a public forum where anyone can attend."

The board consists of four state-appointed representatives, two Canton residents and one from Plymouth Township. Merlanti said the board is a "procedural animal" that has no binding authority.

The board meets monthly. Merlanti said his job is to run a smooth meeting and make sure the right federal, state or local officials are on hand to answer questions.

"We have the appropriate people at the meetings at the appropriate times," Merlanti said.

Numbers up

From all indications, improvement and administrative efforts have paid off for Mettetal.

Since its takeover, "movements," which encompass take-offs and landings, have doubled. Mettetal registered about 30,000 movements in 1993.

That number jumped to about 85,000 by 1998, according to Collier. He said that's more than most similar-sized airports and nearly 20,000 movements more than Jackson's airport—which has two runways.

Mettetal's activity level could go even higher in years to come. While no plans are on the board, Collier said the possibility of adding a restaurant to the airport exists.

It would provide revenue and exposure for Mettetal, he explained. Bosonetto said it's uncommon for a group of pilots to fly to specific airports for breakfast or lunch just for the fun of it.

"We call it the $500 burger," he joked.

Aviation junkies

Bosonetto's Experimental Aircraft Association chapter has called Mettetal home for nearly four decades.

"Our organization is for people that love airplanes," he said. "We love to talk about them and work on them."

Besides pursuing their hobby, EAA members take an active role at the airport. Bosonetto said they help with maintenance and even do a paint-cap when needed.

In addition, Chapter 113 conducts safety seminars and awards scholarships to aspiring pilots. Then there's the Father's Day Fly-In/pancake breakfast.

"We've been doing it for 15 years now," said Bosonetto. "Part of the proceeds goes to the scholarship fund."

EAA is just happy that it can continue at Mettetal. Bosonetto thinks the state did the right thing in buying the airport.

"As an airport user in the community," he said, "it had gone away it would've been a dagger in our hearts. We would've had no place to go."

'Everybody wanted to be Mark Bolger's friend'

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

Quiet. Unassuming. And competitive.

Mark Bolger was all of these things. A highly motivated athlete, Mark would run almost every day. In the fall, he ran cross country. In the winter, he played basketball. In the spring, he ran track.

In all of these, he was a varsity-level competitor. Only natural for Mark. He was also a top-notch student.

"He was at the top of his class," said Rick Wilson, Bolger's junior varsity basketball coach and assistant to varsity coach Bob Brodie. Wilson was also Bolger's counselor.

"He took the most challenging classes we offered," Wilson added. "The kid could run like the wind."

"That's what's so puzzling about this."

The shock surrounding Bolger's death was palpable Saturday. "I've known him since third grade," said friend Ryan Haer. "So did Jeff (Haer)."

Confirmation of his friend's death didn't come until after the game, when the team gathered at Nick Tochman's house. Brodie, Wilson and the rest of the Salem coaching staff brought the tragic news.

"I just started crying uncontrollably," Haer said.

The team spent the night at Tochman's home. What else they might do to honor their friend and teammate was still being considered. A wristband bearing his jersey number — 30 — was one alternative.

His health was not in question. All athletes, from freshmen level to varsity, are required to have a physical examination on file, according to Salem athletic administrator John Robinson. "They don't even get to tryout unless they have a physical on file in our office," Robinson said.

That physical must be signed by a physician; it must include the athlete's history and current condition, and it must be done annually. Bolger had no previous physical problems, Robinson said.

Bolger's cross country and track coach, Geoff Baker, was out of town Saturday. His wife, Sue, knew Mark.

"Everybody wanted to be Mark Bolger's friend," she said. "He was just a wonderful boy. What happened is just a shame. It's awful."

announcer to the boys locker-room at halftime. When he arrived, he saw coaches attempting CPR on Mark.

"He was grasping for a breath, and then stopped breathing," said Bolger, who assisted in trying to resuscitate his son. "I tried as hard as I could, everybody did."

Canton Township EMS arrived and transported the 16-year-old student to St. Mary.

"He was at the hospital for about 20 minutes before he passed away," said his mother, Pam.

Rocks' coach Bob Brodie said Mark collapsed during his halftime talk.

"He was sitting down and then he slumped over," said Brodie. "We gently laid him down and began CPR. I stayed with him until the ambulance left."

The rest of the team was sent back on the floor at the end of halftime to finish the game. The Wayne County Medical Examiner's office said it will take approximately 6-8 weeks to determine the cause of death.

"Mark was in very good shape. He was very careful about what he ate. He took good care of himself," his mother said.

Fam Bolger also described her son as "a teacher's dream."

Mark had straight A's throughout his school career, and had just been accepted into the National Honor Society.

"He worked hard at school, and recently finished in the 98 percentile in the PSAT tests," she said.

According to his dad, Mark did a lot of research on college with his early choices Michigan, Michigan State, Duke, Brown and Cornell. He considered studies in journalism.

What even makes his death stranger is that Mark was in good shape, participating in cross country, track and soccer along with basketball.

"Mark was a very personable young man, well-liked by his teammates, and always had a kind word," said Brodie. "He always gave a great effort. He'll be dearly missed."

The basketball players had begun a tradition of going to a player's home after a Friday night game, and oddly enough, the team was supposed to go to Mark's home after Friday night's contest.

"He cleaned the basement, had the cards ready on the card table," said Jeff Bolger.

Instead, the team assembled at another player's house, where they were told by coaches that Mark had passed away.

The players spent the night together, talking well into the night before falling asleep.

Mark Bolger is survived by his parents and brother, Bryan, 13, an East Middle School eighth grader.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete as of press time. Visitation is scheduled to begin Sunday at the Vermeulen Funeral Home, 46401 W. Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth Township, from 6-9 p.m. Further information concerning arrangements can be obtained from Vermeulen by calling (734) 459-2250.

Canton Library kicks off annual used book sale

BY LAURIE HUMPHREY
STAFF WRITER

Book aficionados and bargain hunters alike should mark Tuesday as their calendars.

Friends of the Canton Public Library will start hosting its 11th annual Big Used Book Sale on that day during regular library hours. The sale continues through the end of the month.

"This is the usually the great big sale in May," said Marcia Barker, Friends and Volunteer Coordinator for Canton Public Library, "but with the new construction going on, the Meeting Room where the sale is held will not be available in May."

This event should not be confused with other sales held by Friends of the Canton Public Library. There are three smaller sales each year as well, but those sales focus only on specific items, such as compact discs.

Barker is excited about this year's Big Used Book Sale saying, "We probably have more books than ever before." She attributes the overflow of books to more people donating than ever before.

"Normally, the books are dropped off in the back, but with the construction, all donations had to be accepted right in the library. The donation boxes were put in the front of the library and more people saw them."

While nobody has ever kept track of how many people attend the Big Used Book Sale, Barker did say the event usually nets $12,000 to $15,000. "That's a week's worth of sales," she said. "This is the first time we've done it for a month."

The two most popular sellers at the book sale are children's books and mysteries according to Barker. However, the sales also draw book dealers who will buy all types of books.

Planning for this event is a huge undertaking, and it takes a year-round commitment from volunteers. Books need to be sorted; transported from the drop-off point at the library to the storage facility, which is a tool shed behind the historical Travis-Bartlett House; transportation back to the library for the sale; and workers are also needed at the sale.

"We have a wonderful crew of about 20-25 people," Barker said.

Admission to the event is free and open to everyone. Regular hours of the Canton Public Library, at 1200 S. Canton Center Road, are 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday-Thursday, 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and noon to 5 p.m. on Sunday. Questions regarding the Big Used Book Sale should be directed to (734) 397-0999.

Money from the sale is used by Friends of the Canton Public Library to support special programs run in the library. Money is also allocated to support special enhancements which are not in the library budget, such as the two large giraffes in the youth section of the library.

Action photographs of local high school soccer players are on display through Feb. 29 at the Plymouth District Library, 223 S. Main St., Plymouth.

Bill Dean, a professional photographer from Plymouth, shot the pictures of Plymouth-Salem High School "Rocks" and Plymouth Christian Academy "Eagles" players during their 1999 seasons. The Rocks were state finalists in 1999 with a 23-2 record under head coach Ed McCarthy. The Eagles were regional finalists with a 15-4 record under head coach Rick Erickson.

Chamber

The board was expected to have a search committee and hiring process finalized late last week, said David Griffin, chamber president.

Griffin said the search should take about two months with the strength of the applicants a determining factor.

The chamber's desire for a higher profile and the current economic climate will probably influence the choice of an executive director as well, Griffin said.

During his tenure, Ambrozaitis began a membership drive and other efforts to help boost awareness of the Canton chamber, which has 460 members.

Griffin said those efforts would continue in the coming months.

Ambrozaitis said the success of last year's auction and golf outing were highlights of his tenure. The auction drew about 450 people and "was our most successful fund-raiser ever for the chamber," he said. The golf Ryan Ambrozaitis outing sold out six weeks in advance, he added.

Ambrozaitis also cited progress on finding property for permanent offices and improvements in the monthly luncheon and breakfast series as accomplishments.

Ambrozaitis also wanted the chamber to become more politically active. For the first time since its inception, the chamber board of directors endorsed a ballot proposal in the August 1998 primary election. The proposed tax increase for locally-funded road improvements failed at the polls though.

Ambrozaitis was selected by the board in July 1998 from a field of 80 candidates seeking to replace the previous director, Carleigh Flaherty.

Flaherty had resigned June 1, 1998 to take over the Farmington Farmington Hills Chamber of Commerce.

Before coming to the Canton chamber, Ambrozaitis, worked in marketing and membership retention for the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce. He also served as vice chairman for the Michigan Republican Party and was appointed by Gov. John Engler to head the state's Bush-Quayle presidential campaign in 1998.

A University of Michigan graduate, he also worked for former state Rep. Debbie Whyman's, R-Canton, successful 1992 bid to the state House of Representatives.

Ambrozaitis said his future plans include a vacation and exploring a career in fund-raising, event planning or government relations.

He will continue to live in Livonia, where he bought a house late last year after moving from Dearborn, Ambrozaitis said.

WTUA talks moving ahead

By SCOTT DANIEL
sdaniel@oe.homedecomm.net

Still talking. That's what Canton, Plymouth and Northville townships and the Ypsilanti Community Utility Authority are doing. And for the first time in months, an agreement for a wastewater treatment plant expansion looks promising.

"I sense a willingness on YCUA's part to get things moving," said Western Townships Utilities Authority Operations Manager Tim Faas. "I think an agreement is possible."

The two authorities have been negotiating for nearly two years. In question is whether WTUA will help YCUA expand its current Ypsilanti Township treatment facility or build its own plant at an adjacent parcel.

YCUA's current facility is projected to run short of treatment capacity for WTUA wastewater flows in about five years. It will take nearly that long to expand or construct a new plant, according to Faas.

After months of posturing and little progress, talks between the little heated up earlier this month. Faas recommended that WTUA's board authorize continued negotiations Monday.

He noted that the two sides have been shooting proposals and counterproposals back and forth over the past few weeks. WTUA attorney Chuck Barbieri said the two sides are close to an agreement on cost issues.

"But we still need time to negotiate," he said.

The board unanimously agreed to continue negotiations. No indication was given when the deal might be finalized.

Canton Supervisor and WTUA board member Tom Yack has been skeptical of negotiations. But he was much more optimistic Monday.

"The tone has changed dramatically," said Yack. "It's more conciliatory. There's less of an edge. It's very positive."

Commissioners say transportation, budget key issues

BY RICHARD PEARL
STAFF WRITER
rpearl@oe.homedcomm.net

Transportation and budget issues are key concerns this year for western Wayne County's four commissioners.

In response to an Observer inquiry, first-term county board members John J. Sullivan and Lyn Bankes and veteran board member and Commission Vice Chairwoman Kay Beard all pointed to the county's transportation situation.

But Bankes, Beard and fellow commissioner Kathleen Husk also expressed concern about budgetary issues.

Sullivan, a Democrat whose district includes part of the City of Wayne and all of Canton Township, was upbeat on transportation, saying he expects the county to continue its heavy spending for major road

Bankes

Beard

Husk

improvements, particularly in Canton. Last year, approximately $21 million of the $63-million county road budget went to his district.

"The county realized the biggest need is in western Wayne because that's where we have the growth," Sullivan said. "The county is working hard to alleviate the (traffic) congestion."

Sullivan, who also represents Romulus, Belleville and the townships of Huron, Sumpter and Van Buren, is equally excited about the $2-billion expansion at Metro Airport.

"It will turn Metro from one of the worst airports to one of the better" in terms of passenger convenience and service, he said, citing the new Northwest Airlines midfield terminal, the renovation of some concourses "to eliminate some of those mile-long walks" and the addition of airline gates.

Metro's expansion will mean "more jobs and businesses for residents" in and around the airport, he said.

25,000 jobs

"We're hoping to create another 25,000 jobs" during the next 15-20 years, he said.

Commissioner Bankes, a former veteran state legislator now on the county's ways and means committee, said there is a need for improved mass transit.

Bankes, one of only two Republicans on the county board — the other is Husk — was appointed in 1999 by Board Chairman Ricardo Solomon, D-Detroit, to chair a special task force on transportation.

He asked her "to see if I could help come up with a plan" to improve public transportation for Wayne County residents, Bankes said.

So far, she has learned, among other things, that recovering over half the cost of operating any form of transportation is necessary and also that, as the population ages, it will "need more transportation support services."

Bankes who represents Plymouth, Plymouth Township, the two Northvilles and Livonia up to Middlebelt Road, also wants to reorganize "the budget structure."

COUNTY NEWS

She said that, while her own ways and means committee needs to focus "on getting the job done," the key is County Executive Ed McNamara's "making the budget presentation on time."

"If he presents it on June 3 this year" as specified by the county charter, "we can move ahead," she said.

For Kay Beard, it's the auto companies' historic opposition to mass transit that has created the current state of affairs.

Ironically, though, she said, now that "it's too expensive to have underground (rail) transportation," the automakers want better public transportation. General Motors, for example, is creating its own bus system to get employees to the downtown Renaissance Center, she said.

Beard, a Democrat representing Westland, Garden City and Inkster, believes railroads don't want increased passenger service because "they do such good business with freight."

Business need

As for bus service, Beard said the only way communities that opted out of SMART — the Southeast Michigan Area Regional Transit bus system — will get back in is if business leaders get residents to understand they can't get workers without it.

Beard also expressed concern about mental health care.

"It's just a shame that (Gov. John) Engler closed all those (mental) hospitals because now our jails are de facto mental hospitals," she said.

Beard, who is co-chair of the Tri-County Summit, said the group has "put a lot of pressure on the state legislature" to stop it from reducing mental health funding.

Husk, who represents Redford Township and eastern Livonia, praised the ongoing audit of Wayne County by county Auditor General Brendan Dunleavy.

"We're uncovering some problem areas" such as Metro's parking issue, she said.

Other trouble spots she wants probed are the Friend of the Court system, which she said has problems getting payments to the right places, and the county's Register of Deeds office, which she said "takes a long time to get paperwork out."

"We want to make sure the county is providing good services to the people and also not wasting taxpayers' dollars," Husk said.

She said commissioners also are asking county department heads to find cost-cutting areas.

County board creates system to 'get better handle' on budget

BY RICHARD PEARL
STAFF WRITER
rpearl@oe.homedcomm.net

Wayne County's Board of Commissioners, trying to get "a better handle" on spending by administrative departments and agencies, Thursday created a periodic budget allocation system for the current fiscal year.

"We need to have a better handle" on expenditures, said Commission Vice Chairwoman Kay Beard, D-Westland, in discussing the amendment to the 1999-2000 budget by fellow board member George Cushingberry Jr., D-Detroit.

A key part of the amendment states this year's final quarterly report is to be used by the commission's ways and means committee to begin "earlier deliberations" on the budget for 2000-2001.

The fiscal year runs Oct. 1 to Sept. 30.

The amendment requires County Executive Edward

McNamara to create, or before the fiscal year begins, a periodic allotment schedule which is binding on all agencies and which "shall not be exceeded."

However, the new ordinance does say the county exec "may revise the allotments from time to time."

The new ordinance also charges Chief Financial Officer Tom Naughton with "strictly" enforcing the mandate; transferring any unexpended funds to the "unfunded, unallocated contingency budget" within 21 days after the period ends and also informing commissioners no more than seven days after that.

The county is $10 million over budget this fiscal year.

"This has been a long time coming," said Beard of the new allocation process.

She said the amendment is aimed at curbing the executive branch's practice of allowing "certain departments to go over their budgets" and adjusting the budgets, but not informing commissioners until year's end. The board's only choice then is to grant approval, she noted.

"That takes away from us the responsibility" for making budget amendments and other changes — which she said the commission does "at almost every meeting."

"We need to know during the course of the year if departments have surpluses or if they have gone over budget," she told fellow commissioners.

Going over budget "should not be allowed without our knowledge and approval," she said.

The veteran lawmaker noted that, at times, "We may not agree that more money needs to be spent." For example, she said, it's possible "Something may need to be corrected" within a department's administration.

She said she hopes McNamara won't veto the amendment: "This is good government."

Death strikes Salem

Importance of this game . . . getting over the .500 mark . . . a big victory

None of it meant very much to Plymouth Salem's basketball team Friday. The Rocks did emerge from their home game with Livonia Stevenson with a 65-55 victory.

But shortly after the game, at a gathering at one of the player's homes, Salem coach Bob Brodie and his coaching staff delivered the awful news.

Mark Bolger, one of their teammates, was dead.

Moments after Salem had bombarded Stevenson with a 22-2 second-quarter run to open up a 37-17 halftime lead, Bolger collapsed in the locker room.

An ambulance transported Bolger to St. Mary's Hospital in Livonia while the second half was underway, where he was pronounced dead. Players and the opposing coaches were unaware of his exact condition.

Cause of his death was not immediately known, Brodie said. "I really don't know anything," the grief stricken coach said. "He passed away. They don't know what caused it yet."

Bolger was a 6-foot-3 junior guard who played for the junior varsity last

Whalers shutout Spitfires

BY ED WRIGHT
STAFF WRITER

Between the second and third periods of Friday night's Plymouth Whalers game against the Windsor Spitfires, a lucky fan was given the opportunity to win a shiny new Dodge Intrepid if he could shoot a puck half the length of the rink into a four-inch-wide slot.

Not surprisingly, the fan missed the mark — but he did come closer to scoring than the Spitfires did against Whaler goalie Rob Zepp.

If given a choice, the Spitfires probably would have rather tried to score into that four-inch slot than face Zepp, whose flawless play in front of the net led the Whalers to a comfortable 4-0 victory.

It was the second consecutive shutout victory for Plymouth, which whitewashed Owen Sound, 7-0, on Jan. 22.

"The guys in front of me played great," said Zepp, who modestly deflected away any post-game praise like he would a wrist from the blue-line. "I only had to face 14 shots, so that tells you how well our defense played."

The win boosted the Whalers' record to 26-16-4, and left them just three points shy of first-place Sault Ste. Marie in the Ontario Hockey League's West Division standings.

A shocker! Madonna upsets champs

BY C.J. RISAK

It was impossible.

How else can one describe a game featuring a team that has never reached double figures in wins in a season beating the reigning national champion?

That's what happened Wednesday when Madonna University — winner of two of its previous 22 games — shocked Cornerstone College, 82-63 at Madonna. The Crusaders improved to 1-6 in the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference, 3-20 overall; the Golden Eagles slipped to 3- in the WHAC, 14-9 overall.

MEN'S BASKETBALL

"It's a good win — big time," said a relieved Bernie Holowicki, Madonna's coach. "This is probably the biggest win ever for Madonna."

"(Cornerstone's) a very talented team, well-coached. But we played as a team. To defeat the defending national champion we had to."

This was a game in which the team that was supposed to be dominant was dominated. The Golden Eagles apparently felt Madonna, winless in WHAC play, would offer little resistance. After all, the Crusaders have struggled all season.

But things were different this time. "We played unselfish team offense," said Holowicki. "We played on-the-floor basketball."

The shorter Crusaders outrebounded Cornerstone 41-35, led by Chad Putnam's 11 boards. But most impressively, Madonna shot with precision, both from the field and the line.

The Crusaders were 28-of-53 on field goals (52.8 percent) and 20-of-24 on free throws (83.3 percent). They also made 6-of-18 three-pointers (33.3 percent).

The Golden Eagles are used to such numbers, but

Free throws carry Canton to OT win

Farmington Harrison scored the last basket in regulation — a short banker by Joe Hundley with two seconds left, knotting it at 56-all — but Plymouth Canton recovered to outscore the Hawks 10-5 in overtime and get the win, 66-61 Friday at Harrison.

The win improved Canton's Western Lakes Activities Association record to 3-2; the Chiefs are 4-7 overall. Harrison slipped to 7-4 overall, 2-3 in the WLAA.

Free throws ended up playing a pivotal role. Canton converted 23-of-31 at the line (74.2 percent), including 8-of-10 in overtime. Harrison made 9-of-13 (69 percent).

Oliver Wolcott and Kenny Nether were the key contributors at the line. Wolcott gave the Chiefs a two-point lead with two from the stripe in the closing seconds of regulation, then made four-straight in OT. Nether was 3-of-4 from the line in OT.

For the game, Wolcott was 8-of-8 while Nether hit 10-of-13.

"He was (the difference)," Canton coach Dan Young said of Wolcott's performance. "He's starting to really come on, he's playing with confidence."

There were others, however. Nether finished with 20 points and 18 rebounds, the latter one off the school record held by Rob Johnson. Nether also had three assists and two blocked shots. Wolcott scored 14 points and Jason Waidmann had 13.

"We got good play from our bench, too," said Young, noting three players off the bench who scored six points apiece. "All the guys coming off the bench gave us good minutes."

The game was close throughout, with the Chiefs leading 12-9 after one quarter and Harrison up 24-21 at the half. Canton regained the lead after three quarters, 33-32.

The final quarter was a shootout, the Hawks outscoring the Chiefs by one, 24-23.

"We got the ball inside but didn't get any stops on defense," said Harrison coach Dave Turnquist.

Nick Hall topped Harrison with 15 points; he also had 10 rebounds and five assists. Brian Nelson and Terrill Mayberry scored 10 apiece.

"This was a nice win for our team," Young said. "This is the first time we've won two in a row this season. Hopefully it got us over a hump."

CC 69, U-D Jesuit 59: The pieces are slowly starting to come together for Redford Catholic Central.

CC entertained the University of Detroit-Jesuit team Friday night and pinned a 10-point loss on the Cubs.

Junior guard Ryan Celeskey led the Shamrocks (7-5) with 26 points. Senior guard Rob Sparks scored 17 and junior guard Anthony Coratti contributed 15.

"We're playing a little better with our guys getting healthier," CC coach Rick Coratti said. "Sparks is able to play more minutes and is getting close to being able to go a full game."

"Matt Loidas is coming off mononucleosis; he's starting to get a little stronger. This is his second week back and he's lost quite a bit of weight."

The Shamrocks, 5-1 in the Detroit Catholic League's Central Division, got three three-pointers in a row from guard Coratti bridging the third and fourth quarters to keep the Cubs at bay.

Jevon Caldwell-Gross led UD-Jesuit (9-4) with 16 points. The Cubs are now 3-3 in the Central Division.

Catholic Central led by three, 11-8, after one quarter but stretched the margin to 28-22 by halftime and held a 48-37 lead entering the final period.

PCA 66, Baptist Park 55: The Eagles piled up a 34-26 halftime lead and breezed to their sixth win in 10 games.

A 'blue' year: Bluebird numbers are up

TIM NOWICKI

This season is the winter of the bluebird. Last winter there were lots of robins around, but this year there are a tremendous number of bluebirds. During the Detroit Audubon Society Christmas Bird Count, conducted on Dec. 19, 1999, participants counted 218 eastern bluebirds within a 15-mile diameter area in northwest Oakland County. This is the greatest total number of bluebirds ever counted over the last 55 years for this area. In 1998, a total of 117 bluebirds were counted — which was the all-time high until the 1999 count. Though eastern bluebirds are insect eaters, a portion of the population in southeast Michigan does not migrate to warmer climes, like most other insect eating thrushes. Bluebirds are cousins to the robin, wood thrush, hermit thrush, veery and others. Most birds of these species head to the southern states, or to Central America or South America to find insects and some berries. Since insects are absent in winter here in Michigan, those bluebirds that stay must find an adequate number of berries to feed upon. Spring of 1999 was mild and did not have any killing frosts. A large percentage of the flowers that bloomed were not killed by frost and were pollinated. More pollinated flowers resulted in more berries. Bluebirds passing through southeast Michigan, or local residents, may have found enough berries to justify staying north in December instead of migrating south. Mild temperatures in early winter did not require birds to use as much energy to stay warm, so the berries provided adequate food. It's hard to determine exactly what may have caused such a large number of bluebirds to stay this far north in December, a modest number always stay north. Even robins stay north in winter. Though we think of the robin as the harbinger of spring, bird surveys almost always find a few in southeast Michigan each winter. In fact, the winter of 1998 had the greatest number of robins ever counted by the Detroit Audubon Society Christmas Bird Count. A total of 199 robins were seen compared to the previous high of 132 in 1983. Other count areas have recorded even higher numbers. Within a population of birds there is a great deal of variety. Not every robin or bluebird looks exactly the same if you examined them carefully, especially if you could examine their inside make-up. As a population gets bigger, there are more individuals that may have the same variation. Maybe that variation is not to migrate.

In the early years of the bird count, when summer bluebird populations were low, very few, if any, bluebirds stayed in the area. Since the introduction of bluebird trails, or the erection of many bluebird houses by concerned people, more bluebirds are being raised in the area, and hence more bluebirds are staying during the winter. Just because lots of bluebirds were counted in December, due to a mild November and earlier part of December, does not mean that they will not move south if the weather gets cold, or food runs out. Birds are mobile enough that they can adjust their situation if they are strong enough to do so. It won't be long before the first of March is here and bluebirds start establishing their nesting territories. Those that stayed in the area will be able to choose the best territories before the southern population arrives. So when you walk the field in winter keep your eyes open for those early bluebirds.

Bass fisherman takes aim at a top-25 finish

BILL PARKER

On a recent winter afternoon, Kyle Greene sat patiently on Lake St. Clair waiting for the perch to start biting. Although the action was slow, it was a relaxing task and a welcomed break from the pressure-filled action of the professional bass fishing circuit. Greene, of Bloomfield Hills, has been competing at the professional level for 10 years and is off to his best start yet. With four of seven qualifying events under his belt in the Bass Kmart Top 150 Circuit, Greene is in the running for a coveted berth in the Bass Masters Classic world championship. That approach paid off in the Lake 20 tournament when the weather kicked up on the second day of competition. Facing wind gusts of 30 mph, Green had to change his tactic and left the main lake for the wind shelter of a nearby bay. He finished with a four-day total of 20 fish that weighed 43 pounds, 7 ounces. For his efforts, Greene won a Chevy pickup truck valued at $25,000 along with a check for $5,000. "I just bought a house so I wasn't planning on a new truck anytime soon," he said. "It came at a good time." Greene said he caught most of his fish on a Zoom Super Fluke, a soft plastic jerk bait. "So far I'm off to my best start, my most consistent start," Greene said. "The key to this whole sport is being consistent." The next stop on the Top 150 trail is at Lake Seminole, on the Florida-Georgia border, the second week of February. The Mega Bucks Tournament will be held on Lake Murray in South Carolina in March and the final tournament will be held in May on Lake Wheeler, Ala. New shooting range

The DNR opened a state-of-the-art shooting range recently at the Island Lake Recreation Area. Located on Grand River between Kensington Road and Kent Lake (Exit 151 off I-96), the range features 40 stations that are handicap accessible and offer shots of 25, 50 and 100 yards. A mechanized skeet and trap range and a concession building is scheduled to be built this summer and the entire facility is expected to be completed and dedicated by Sept. 1. Sporting Flies reminder Don't forget about the sixth annual Sporting Flies Challenge, slated for Thursday, Feb. 3 at the Southfield Civic Center and sponsored by the Paul H. Young Chapter of Trout Unlimited. The event, held in conjunction with the annual "What's New in Tackle Night," will run from 7-10 p.m. The Sporting Flies Challenge allows anglers to compete against each other in an effort to raise money for stream improvement projects statewide. Participants cast at targets on an artificial trout stream and accumulate points for hitting the targets. There are three divisions of competition including an individual challenge, a club challenge and a team challenge. For more information call up the Paul H. Young Chapter's web site at www.paulyoungtu.org or call (248) 683-3688. (Bill Parker writes a weekly outdoor column for the Observer & Eccentric! Newspapers. Hunters and anglers are urged to report their success. Questions and comments are also welcomed. Send information to: Observer & Eccentric! Newspapers, Outdoors, 805 E. Maple, Birmingham, MI 48009.)

Seniors want to end Youths' reign in tourney

AL HARRISON

Saturday, Feb. 5 will mark the fifth annual Senior/Youth Challenge at Mayflower Lanes in Redford. As in past years, the kids will try to beat the seniors (55 and over) in a Match of the Ages. It is about time this year for the seniors to finally beat the kids, which has not yet happened. The seniors have even stacked the deck by bringing some hall of famers from the past, the likes of Eddie Lubanski and Tony Lindemann, both in the American Bowling Congress Hall of Fame. The event is also a fund raiser for a local child abuse agency, the Evergreen Children Services and a youth scholarship program, in which these kids can earn hundreds of dollars toward their college education. Opening ceremonies start at 10:30 a.m. On Jan. 16, a bowler's dream came true as Beth Jenkins of Canton Township scored her first 300 game and 700 series in the Sunday Rollers Mixed league at Wayne Bowl.

Her first game gave no indication of what was just ahead, a mere 179 which was followed by the 300 and a strong 251 for a nice 730 series. Beth will be receiving her 300 ring, a 100 over average watch, a 700 pin and a Tri-Cities Award for 150 pins over average. She has a good chance at the Bowler of the Month award as well. *Updating the Michigan State Tournament leaders: Team Scratch: Ansara's Big Boys No. 1 of Farmington (3,287). Doubles Scratch: Quintin

Greene and Mike Lee with 1,449; Singles Scratch: Tod Grams of Holland 770. All-Events Scratch: Rick Eierman of Garden City, 2,147. This tournament continues into May and we will keep up with any changes as it goes on. *The Great Lakes Senior Bowling Association held its most recent tournament on Jan. 15 at Vision Lanes in Westland and it was a good day for Windsor's silver-haired Scotty Laughland to come through with the title and $1,000 first place money. Whalers from page B1

Coach Pete DeBoer's icers are in the midst of a two-month, 180-degree overhaul that started in late November when their record was a lackluster 12-13-3.

"We started slowly this year, but we keep playing better as the season wears on," DeBoer said, commenting on his team's red-hot surge. "We only have 20-some games until the end of the season. Hopefully, we can keep this going and carry it into the playoffs."

DeBoer said his team's defensive effort Friday night was head-and-shoulders above the one it turned in the last time the Whalers played Windsor on Jan. 13. The Spitfires torched Plymouth, 7-4, in that contest.

"Our defense was great tonight, and it all started with our goaltender, Rob Zepp," DeBoer said. "Windsor is a very good offensive team and we held them to just 14 shots. Anytime you can hold a team to 14 shots, you're going to come out on top a lot more than not."

"Although Rob didn't have to face a lot of shots, he made key saves at key times in the game when we needed him."

Windsor goalie Ryan Aschabar matched Zepp save-for-save in a scoreless first period Friday night. Zepp's most impressive first-period save came at the 13:32 mark when he turned back a Vincent Grant shot from the doorstep. He then smothered a rebound shot, bringing most of the 2,656 fans to their feet.

Plymouth opened the scoring just over seven minutes into the second period when defenseman Shaun Fisher fired a knee-high screamer at Aschabar, whose reflexes couldn't react quick enough when Rob McBride redirected the shot into the net from a few feet away for his fifth goal of the season. Stephen Morris also assisted on the play.

The Whalers doubled their lead mid-way through the final period when Randy Fitzgerald fed the puck to a driving Justin Williams, who deked a sprawling Aschabar and slid the puck through the five-hole to make it

2-0.

Less than three minutes later, Tomas Kurka rebounded an Eric Gooldy slapper past a now dazed Aschabar, giving Plymouth a commanding 3-0 advantage with just 7:44 left in the game.

If that goal didn't seal the Spitfires' fate, the next one did: a one-timer off the stick of Cole Jarrett, who was assisted by Morris and McBride.

Shortly after Jarrett's goal — his second of the season — a young Whaler fan added insult to injury when he boldly waved a hand-painted sign in the direction of the dejected Spitfires. The sign read: "Warm up the bus."

The Whalers peppered Aschabar with 27 shots, 12 of which came in the opening 20 minutes.

Plymouth's defensive pressure seemed to intensify during the Spitfire's four power plays. In fact, during two of the short-handed situations, the Whalers did not allow their opponents to get a shot off — let alone score a goal.

It's a sure-fire key to success.

PREP HOCKEY

"I wish their program much success — except against us!"

After a scoreless first period, the Rocks took a 1-0 lead on a goal by Mark Nagel 3:54 into the second period. Mike Thackaberry and Joe Connolly drew the assists.

Salem made it 2-0 when Andy Peters scored, assisted by James Pawlica, just 58 seconds later.

But Franklin regrouped quickly. Paul Statham narrowed the gap to one with a power-play goal at 8:49; Andy Garbutt and Sam Dismuke assisted.

Josh Garbutt then knotted it at 2:40 with a second power-play marker with 2:34 left in the period. Andy Garbutt and Statham assisted. John Nichol got the go-ahead — and game-winning — goal from Chad VanHulle and Andy Garbutt in the period's closing seconds.

If there was a closing-of-the-door on Salem's chances, it came five minutes into the final period. The Rocks had an ideal chance to get the tying goal, playing with a two-man advantage. Instead, they gave up a two-men-short goal to Franklin's Sam Dismuke, making it 4-2.

Brandon McCullough got the final Patriot marker with 1:55 left (VanHulle, Frank Geluso assisting).

Jim Dogonski stopped 16 of 21 Franklin shots on goal for Salem.

Rocks fall short against state-ranked Brighton

Bethany Bartlett turned in a strong performance for Plymouth Salem's gymnastics team, but the Rocks were still far short of matching Brighton, one of the state's best.

With both teams going without key contributors, the Bulldogs prevailed 134.65-127.2 Thursday at Brighton.

The dual-meet loss was Salem's first in the Western Lakes Activities Association, dropping the Rocks to 2-1-1.

Bartlett won both the balance beam (9.3) and the uneven parallel bars (8.7). She also scored 8.85 on the vault and 8.5 on floor

Other notable performances: April Aquino, 8.85 on floor, 8.4 on vault, 7.9 on bars and 8.2 on beam, 33.35 all-around; Kelsey Ensor, 8.15 on floor; AnnMarie Zelinski, 7.45 on vault; and Kara Dendrinis, 7.7 on floor.

It won't get easier for the Rocks. On Thursday, they travel to Hartland, another of the state's top-five teams, for a WLAA dual meet starting at 6 p.m.

roster played and 10 of them scored.

Visiting Taylor Baptist Park (2-8) got 19 points from Matt Reed and 16 from Jared Setser. The Wildcats are now 1-4 in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference.

Plymouth Christian, 3-2 in MIAC action, was led by center

Mike Huntsman and his 23 points plus 11 rebounds. Dave Carty scored 14 points while Derric Isensee had 10 points plus 13 rebounds, 10 assists and five blocks.

season.

Matt McCaffrey led Salem with 16 points and 12 rebounds. Andy Kocoloski had 12 points and Nick Tochman eight, with 14 rebounds. Keshay McChristian scored 14, Mike Lenardon 13 and Harland Beverly 12 for Stevenson.

Salem is 6-5 overall, 3-2 in the Western Lakes Activities Association. Stevenson is 2-9 overall, 0-5 in the WLAA.

DENTISTRY
For The 21st Century
by Herbert M. Gardner, D.D.S.
CHILDREN AND ORAL HYGIENE

Until children reach about age four, they do not have the manual dexterity required to brush their teeth properly, and parents are encouraged to help with brushing chores for at least two minutes each morning and night. Using a soft toddler- or child-sized brush, apply only a pea-sized amount of toothpaste until a child knows enough not to swallow it. The most important element of tooth brushing is the mechanical part of the brushing process. As for flossing, parents should introduce this part of the oral hygiene regimen as soon as a child's teeth get so close that the brush cannot get between them. Children cannot be expected to effectively floss their own teeth until about age ten.

During February, "National Children's Dental Health Month," we would like to increase dental awareness and stress the importance of regular dental care. We stress preventative dentistry for the whole family. It's never too late to start good dental hygiene. Remember that nothing is more economical than regular dental checkups. For gentle, compassionate dental care that will take you into the 21st century, call LIVONIA VILLAGE DENTAL ASSOCIATES, at 478-2110 to schedule an appointment. We're located at 19171 Merriman Road. Smiles are our business.

ARTISTIC EXPRESSIONS

LINDA ANN CHOMIN

Professor inspires budding writers

For the last 33 years, Arthur Lindenberg's been encouraging fledgling student writers at Schoolcraft College. In fact, I might not be writing this column today if it hadn't been for "Mr. Lindenberg."

Creative writing students in his class were required to submit their work to at least five publications. I mailed my verses out because I wanted to pass the class not expecting to have them published in the North American Mentor and other literary journals. That experience inspired me to go into a writing career.

The MacGuffin

Lindenberg continues to nurture young writers as well as established writers by editing and publishing The MacGuffin literary journal three times a year.

"We look for the best works we can find," said Lindenberg. "We're an open solicitation magazine. We accept submissions for all over the country and globe."

An open house, held twice on Thursday, Feb. 3, in the McDowell Center at the college, will allow the community to learn more about the publication. A display will feature 16 years of The MacGuffin. M.L. Liebler, director of the Writer's Voice literary newsletter, and Northville poet Kathleen Ripley-Leo will read from their works. Members of the MacGuffin staff will be available to read and critique writing samples.

"We want to familiarize people in the community with this wonderful journal and hopefully get more readers," said Lindenberg. "It will give people the opportunity to get on the mailing list and we always give discount prices on subscriptions. They can find out how to become a member of the staff. Anyone can join. We have a great time. People will read short stories and poems. There will also be an open microphone."

Literary journal: The fall issue of The MacGuffin spotlights emerging as well as established artists.

Lindenberg founded The MacGuffin 16 years ago after prodding from then associate dean of liberal arts Lawrence Ordowski. It seems Ordowski kept leaving student journals in Lindenberg's mailbox.

"I didn't want to publish a student journal but something of a mix of students' works with prominent works," said Lindenberg. "We set up a work space with three students."

Before long, Lindenberg and The MacGuffin staff were typing up the poetry, short fiction and creative non-fiction for the first 8 1/2-by-11-inch journal.

"We were using an IBM electric typewriter with a ball for different colors. Then we'd sit down to cut and paste. Later, it evolved into the 6-by-9 format that today averages 160 pages."

The MacGuffin gives more experienced writers an opportunity to find a voice or place when they might not be able to publish in commercial magazines such as Atlantic Monthly. For new writers, it's a great opportunity to be exposed and become discovered."

As with all of the arts, finding the funds to publish the journal can be a challenge. Subscriptions, fees from an annual Poet Hunt, and The MacGuffin Fund help raise the $5,000 needed

Victor Goines finds it hard to separate his life as a musician from educating people about jazz. The clarinetist/saxophonist for the Jazz at Lincoln Center Orchestra and Sextet serves as educational consultant for programs that inspire a love for the all-American art form in students, teachers and audiences around the world.

Goines knew from the days he played in an elementary school All-Star band, with Wynton Marsalis, now artistic director of Jazz at Lincoln Center, that exposing students to jazz at a young age will help them appreciate it throughout their life. Although they may not go on to tour 250 days a year as he does, Goines believes they'll enjoy attending concerts like the ones the sextet will be presenting Feb. 4-5 in Ann Arbor as part of the University Musical Society series.

Earlier in the week, members of the group which includes Detroit's Rodney Whitaker, will present educational programs for students, teachers and the public. A workshop 10:30-11:30 a.m. Thursday, Feb. 3 takes them into the studio of Wayne RESA for a live broadcast that is available to schools throughout Michigan. Cable viewers can access the long distance learning workshop by turning to the educational channel.

"A lot of times I think exposure has a lot to do with someone liking or not liking something," said Goines. "We want to catch them by 16, 17 or 18 and give them a dose of something that's truly American. We're going to track jazz from its roots in New Orleans to Chicago and New York. Long distance learning is one of the most effective ways to touch many people at the same time."

Goines was inspired to take up clarinet after watching his brother play trumpet. After blowing those first few notes, he was hooked.

What: Performs music from Ellington to Monk and Jelly Roll Morton.

When: 8 p.m. Friday, Feb. 4, and 2 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 5 (one-hour family performance).

Where: Michigan Theater, 603 E. Liberty, Ann Arbor.

Tickets: $18-$36 for Feb. 4 concert; $20 adults, $10 children for family performance on Feb. 5. Call (734) 764-2538 or visit the Web site at www.ume.org

"I started playing clarinet for a therapeutic reason," said Goines. "I was asthmatic and my mother thought it would strengthen my lungs. I like to tell people, 'Mother knew best.'"

Goines continued playing clarinet in high school, where he began doubling on saxophone after studying with Carl Blouin, Sr. at St. Augustine High School. Goines earned his master of music degree at Virginia Commonwealth University in Richmond in 1990.

Great teachers

"It was important to have great teachers from junior high to college where I studied with Steve Cohen, principal clarinetist of the New York Philharmonic, and then with Ellis Marsalis," said Goines. "Because of my teachers I've gravitated toward teaching."

As Jazz at Lincoln Center educational consultant, Goines put together a student musician handbook that will be distributed during residencies which in the past have taken the sextet through the midwestern and southern states as well as Japan. Students in workshops at Cass Tech and the Detroit High School for the Performing Arts and a jazz clinic at the University of Michigan School of Music, will use the handbook to learn about the basics of jazz and musicians they should listen to and study. Before becoming a member of the Jazz at Lincoln Center Orchestra, Goines taught at Loyd University, the University of New Orleans and Xavier University so teaching comes natural to him.

Of course, so does performing and recording. His third album as a leader, "To Those We Love So Dearly," was released in August and is dedicated to his mother. Comprised of all his originals, the clarinet album employs horns ranging from E flat to B flat, alto and bass.

"It's very diverse and goes through different grooves," said Goines. "It pulls from all the different music I've been able to encounter."

Growing up in New Orleans, Goines heard all kinds of music on the street corners and in clubs and churches.

"It gave me an unfair advantage, an exposure to a variety of styles," said Goines. "New Orleans has a very rich musical community from jazz orchestra to Latin music."

Lincoln Center Sextet to broadcast jams

Victoria Holley-Foster practically vibrates as she talks about introducing Rodney Whitaker and members of the Jazz at Lincoln Center Sextet on a live broadcast to schools in the region and around the state.

It's one of the many perks she receives as arts education consultant for Wayne RESA. Holley-Foster worked with Whitaker, a Detroit bass player, on the long-distance learning broadcast. It is one of several programs the sextet is presenting during a residency and performances for the University Musical Society in Ann Arbor.

The Wayne RESA program focuses on the geography of jazz and an appreciation for the art form which launched a migration of African American musicians from the south to the northern cities of Chicago, New York and Detroit. Holley-Foster is tying the live session into the Michigan Curriculum Framework to help teachers focus on social studies. A map of the U.S. will detail past routes the musicians took. Cable viewers can access the program by turning into the educational channel. Whitaker and the rest of the members will answer questions from the studio audience and viewers during the broadcast and for 30 minutes afterwards.

"The broadcast goes out to 34 school districts in Wayne County. Oakland and other counties throughout Michigan are able to access the broadcast by downloading it," said Holley-Foster. "It has a potential of reaching one-half million school children plus viewers at home with access to the educational channel."

Chinese painting reveals 900 years of culture

Marshall Wu spent the last five years researching Chinese painting and found that philosophy plays as much of a role in the art form as technique.

Wu, senior curator of Asian art at the University of Michigan Museum of Art, humbly led a tour of the exhibit that resulted from his studies. "The Orchid Pavilion Gathering" features 60 paintings that survey nearly 900 years of painting in China. Selected from the museum's collection, the exhibit continues through Sunday, March 26.

"It was a project," said Wu. "I had to do research on 60 individual artists, the work, historical background and meaning, and translated every Chinese character and seal on the paintings. Through the exhibition one can see the development of Chinese painting and the major schools. It is the first time we've ever displayed the major part of the Chinese painting collection from the museum. Quite a few works are displayed for the first time because of size and condition."

Chronological

Arranged chronologically from the 12th century to present, the exhibit opens with a scroll of a countryside scene in the Southern part of China. A herder boy in a straw raincoat tips his hat to indicate a torrential down-pour.

"Chinese painting does not give you obvious depiction," said Wu. "It doesn't give you snow or rain. It's the viewers responsibility to find it. The sky is tinted to show darkness of approaching evening. This is a typical rainy day in Southern China by Early Chinese paintings are very rare because all of the works have been collected by major museums. The University of Michigan Museum of Art acquired its first work, "Crane on a Pine Branch," in 1930 from an estate. An endowment enabled the museum to seriously begin collecting Chinese painting in 1936.

In the '60s and '70s, University of Michigan art history professor Richard Edwards guided the museum in adding works by major Chinese artists. Today, the museum's extensive collection allows scholars and students of Chinese painting to learn first hand about the philosophy behind brush painting.

Wu shares his expansive knowledge of Chinese painting and culture in a two-volume catalogue that goes with the exhibition. In it he tells about Chinese artists using ink and "mineral color from rocks" to create the works.

"Chinese painting was not designed for the masses but for the educated, the elite to enjoy total meaning of the painting," said Wu.

The catalogue also explains how works in the museum's collection were acquired. Wu Wei's large-scale scroll, "Traveling on a Mountain Pass," was donated to the museum by Dr. and Mrs. Clyde Wu in 1981. When Dr. Wu, coordinator of educational programming for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, first brought it to Marshall Wu's apartment, the scroll was so large they couldn't unroll it all. Since that time, eight feet of the work has been removed and it has traveled as far as the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City.

"There were two groups of painters, the literati or scholar, and the professional," said Wu. "The professional had the support of the government and painted for official buildings. The literati's colors were more honest because they were away from the bourgeois."

DETROIT'S BEST SUBURBAN VEHICLE IS MADE OF NEWSPAPERS. SPRING NEWSPAPERS!

SPRING Newspapers cover over 90% of the Detroit suburbs. What's more, the 62 papers that make up the Detroit Suburban Press Ring deliver almost double the readership scores among suburban female shoppers than either the Detroit Free Press or News.

That's important, because 87% of the spending that takes place within the Detroit metro area happens in the suburbs.

So, considering the facts, SPRING Newspapers are without a doubt the best vehicle for any advertiser to drive the message home.

SINGING VALENTINE

Nothing says you care like a Valentine from the Renaissance Chorus. A barber-shop quartet will serenade your sweetheart at home, work or anywhere else you choose in the Wayne, Westland, Garden City, or Livonia area.

Your thoughtfulness will be remembered, too. Your special package of gifts will say "I love you" long after the song has ended. In addition to the Valentine serenade, the person of your choosing will receive a red rose and a personalized Valentine's Day card.

The vocalists will even deliver your special personal gift.

The cost for a Singing Valentine is $40. Call now to schedule the singers between 8 a.m. and 9 p.m. Monday, Feb. 14. To make your reservation, leave a message at (313) 438-2364. Be specific about the time (within a 4-hour window), location, directions, spelling and pronunciation. Also leave your name, phone number and when to contact you.

the University Musical Society have brought a group into the studio. Last February, the American String Quartet introduced classical music to students from Abbott Middle School in Birmingham, among others.

The broadcast with members of the Jazz at Lincoln Center Sextet is one of several being produced this semester as part of the Cultural Collaborative for Learning. The Detroit Public Library's Azalia Hackley Collection will be featured Feb. 8, and the Martha Graham Dance Company on Feb. 17.

U. Musical Society

Ben Johnson coordinated the residency for the Jazz at Lincoln Center Sextet which includes Wayne RESA's long-distance learning broadcast. The University Musical Society director of education has scheduled 150 educational events related to 60 different performances during the UMS series.

"We have 75 partners throughout the region and we've already been talking with Pontiac and Bloomfield Hills school for next year," said Johnson. "We do everything in partnership, we look for opportunities to develop new ideas."

Once a year, the University Musical Society and Jazz at Lincoln Center collaborate to bring this all-American art form to as wide an audience as possible. The Jazz at Lincoln Center Sextet, in addition to a mainstage concert, will perform a one-hour program for families during which musicians talk about jazz with the audience. The concerts are the culmination of a four-day residency in schools in Ann Arbor and Detroit. A teacher's workshop is scheduled for 4-6 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 2. Call (734) 615-0122 for more information or to reserve a space.

The general public is welcome to listen in on a jazz clinic for high school and college students at the University of Michigan School of Music in Ann Arbor 7-10 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 3.

"We have a stance to be out in the community and to bring a lot of experiences to high school and college students," said Johnson. "It's a segment overlooked. They're at an impressionable age. We want to create positive role models in the arts."

TRAVEL

The play's the thing in nearby London, Ontario

BY MARY AUGUSTA RODGERS
SPECIAL WRITER

One door closes, another opens. The stages are dark now at the Shakespeare Festival in Stratford and the Shaw Festival at Niagara-on-the-Lake, but London, Ontario, and its Grand Theatre, are ready and waiting.

For a get-away winter weekend built around a play, London deserves more attention than it gets.

"We went the first time ten years ago, out of curiosity," said Julie Candler of Bloomfield Hills. "And we've gone back every year since then. It's fun and the plays are always excellent. Steve Martin's 'Picasso at the Lapin Agile' was one of the best productions I've ever seen anywhere."

London isn't Toronto, but that's part of its charm. It's an easy drive — two hours from the Canadian border — less expensive and easier to cope with.

If you stay at a downtown hotel, you can walk almost everywhere. There are good restaurants, shops and places to stay, all with a subtle but distinct Canadian flavor.

The restored Grand is an elegant old theatre, built in the early 1900s, with murals, chandeliers, even (it's said) a resident ghost. Plays range from classic favorites to new works by Canadian playwrights.

This season's schedule includes "Patience," a contemporary play Feb. 18 to March 4; "Communicating Doors," a comedy, March 17 to April 1. And a bonus performance, "Mom's The Word," May 9-27.

Special deals for each production: actors will discuss the play, and theater in general, in a question-and-answer format after the third Saturday matinee. And, one hour before the first Saturday matinee, the box office will sell all remaining tickets at $5 each.

London is a business and medical center as well as a university town, with the University of Western Ontario. The London Regional Art & Historical Museum, a striking building all glass and steel tubing, with an aluminum rhinoceros guarding the grounds, has interesting exhibits. An Imax Theatre is at 900 King St.

Also open to winter visitors: the 1834 Eldon House, at 481 Ridout Street North, and the London Museum of Archeology at 1600 Attawandaron Road, off Wonderland Road, south of Highway 22.

Downtown Victoria Park, once the drill ground for a British garrison during the Revolutionary War, has a public ice-skating rink.

London's downtown is a mix of Victorian brick buildings and sleek glass towers.

The Delta London Armouries Hotel combines both styles; a contemporary building with a steep glass roof, tucked inside the shell of an 1890 brick military armory.

You see a similar mix of people: for instance, a Queen Elizabeth lookalike in a tweed suit, having tea and a cozy chat with a purple-haired teenager wearing a nose ring.

Last year, the waiter at a favorite restaurant remembered us. "Welcome back," he said. Then he disappeared and returned with something wrapped in tissue paper. It was small, limp, worn. "Madam," he said. "Your glove. Left here last year."

Can you imagine that happening in an American restaurant? I can't.

Here's our schedule for a London theatre weekend. We leave Birmingham (five couples, three cars) about 8:30 on a Saturday morning, arriving in London in time to check in at our hotel and have lunch at the Gallery Cafe in the London Regional Art & Historical Museum. The cafe has a good lunch menu (carrot-ginger soup, guiche, almond chicken salad) and the best view in town — you look out at the snowy woods of Harris Park, the Thames river, and a castle that is, in reality the Middlesex County building.

After lunch, we walk to the Grand Theatre on Richmond street, in time for a 2 p.m. play. Afterwards, we explore the shops along Richmond Row, checking out antiques, books, fancy chocolates, sweaters, tweed caps, vintage dresses.

Then we walk back, often through a soft, scenic snowfall, to our hotel to rest up before going out for dinner.

The next morning begins with a brisk walk along the Thames River. Then we treat ourselves to a lavish brunch at the Delta Armouries Hotel. Canada is another country, after all.

COOKING CONQUESTS

CHEF CAROL HASKINS

Resolve to entertain more this year

Now that New Year's has come and gone, how many resolutions have already been broken? Are you remaining steadfast in your commitment to diet, exercise and spend less money? While I cannot offer much advice in those areas, I can provide guidance for those of you who resolved to do more entertaining during the coming year.

Matching food and wine

Instead of buying wine at the grocery store, visit a wine merchant or local sommelier who can provide recommendations to accompany the meal. With these insights, you might even discover a new interest in a particular wine grape or region.

In good weather, take a trip to Detroit's Eastern Market and choose from the best produce available. Also, gourmet food shops are plentiful across metro Detroit, and helpful merchants are available to explain the finer points of their products to you.

Setting

Rather than an elaborately set dining table, a buffet dinner can be just as extraordinary. You will spend less time in the kitchen (plating each entrée), and guests are more likely to mingle if they do not eat their entire meal from the same seat. This way, guests can talk to everyone at the party and not just the people seated nearby.

For those of you who prefer a traditional seated meal, there are easy ways of garnishing each plate of food. Make certain your dinner plate is colorful. Mixed greens add variety and color to a salad. Place a sprig of your favorite herb on the plate. Drizzle the sauce and offer extra in a gravy boat. Food always looks more stunning on a large plate.

The sample entrée selections below were planned for buffet service, but can easily be adapted to a plated dinner; simply portion your salmon at 5-6 oz. each and reduce the cooking time, as smaller portions cook more quickly. Salmon can be served straight from the oven or at room temperature.

Two or three slices of tenderloin, if you start slicing from the small end, is an appropriate serving. Overlap the meat slightly when placing on the plate. You can serve your favorite sauce, but do not completely cover the meat; you can pass additional sauce if necessary.

There you have it: a few guidelines to help you prepare a delicious and wonderful meal, graciously served! Time for dessert, coffee, and mingling with your guests.

OVEN POACHED FILET OF SALMON

2 to 2-1/2 pounds skinless salmon filets (boned with belly fat removed)

1 cup vinaigrette (store bought)
1/2 cup white wine
1/4 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup water
1 tablespoon kosher salt and fresh ground medium black pepper
2 thinly sliced lemons yogurt-dill sauce (your favorite recipe)
Lime or lemon wedges to garnish
1 bunch fresh dill

Place salmon (skin side down) in a flat oiled pan with sides 1-inch or so high. Whisk the marinade and pour evenly over the fish. Lightly season with salt and pepper.

Cover the fish with lemon slices and sprigs of fresh dill. Take a second sheet pan, the same size as the first and invert it over the fish pan. Line it up

Jeff Gabriel calls it "humble cookery." Gabriel, a Certified Master Chef and instructor at Schoolcraft College in Livonia, believes soups and stews are a way for people to put together a meal with little mess and big results.

"It's one of my favorite cookery methods, because it's humble cookery. You can take an inexpensive cut of meat, and it becomes an elegant meal," Gabriel said. "It's tender. I think it's beautiful food."

Marilyn Szamanski Suter, an instructor at Henry Ford Community College in Dearborn, and a Certified Executive Chef at Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti, said researchers are finding more

Build your cooking portfolio with these stock tips

Chicken, beef, fish or veal stocks represent the most critical ingredient for soup or stew preparation. Good stock represents the foundation of delicious soups and stews, and creates them with clarity, consistency and great flavor.

The bones and vegetables provide protein and water-soluble vitamins and minerals. For that reason, stocks must be simmered only long enough to extract the maximum flavor and not to destroy any nutritional value.

Chef Jeff Gabriel offers some stock tips (for soup, not mutual funds):

- Fill the stockpot with enough water to cover the bones. "Have the right relation of water to bones," Gabriel said. "Too much will make the stock weak, too little and it will scorch." The water should be cold when you start.

- Never stir a stock. Simmer gently.

Herbs should be added after the first hour of cooking, while vegetables should be added in the last hour. That keeps the stock clear. "Otherwise the vegetables will dissipate and the stock gets real cloudy," Gabriel said.

- Strain, then cool stocks quickly. Put it outside in the snow, or fill a sink with ice and place the pot in it. Putting the pot in the refrigerator will warm everything else up in the refrigerator, Gabriel said.

Girl Scout cookies aren't just for snacking anymore

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK

You've seen them stacked up on tables outside of supermarkets.

Boxes and boxes of cookies. The green boxes of mint cookies, the orange-red boxes of peanut butter patties, the shortbread and the caramel delights. You continue to walk away, but you know you can't. You look away, but it's no use.

The world's greatest salespersons suddenly clinch another deal, asking shyly and quietly:

"Would you like to buy some Girl Scout Cookies?"

"Why, yes, I'll take 600 boxes, please."

While millions enjoy the cookies right out of the box each year with a glass of milk or a cup of coffee, they aren't just for eating solo anymore.

Girl Scout councils are also conducting baking contests to raise funds for the Girl Scouts, according to Susan Tamme, product sales and special events manager for the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council. Contestants must use Girl Scout cookies as an ingredient.

"Some councils will get chefs to cook with them, making a dessert using the cookies," Tamme said. "That's fairly new. Most people just eat the cookies

PEANUT BUTTER AND CHOCOLATE ICE CREAM PIE

10 Girl Scout Peanut Butter Patties
1 quart vanilla ice cream, softened
1 cup non-dairy whipped topping, thawed
1/2 cup chunky peanut butter
Prepared chocolate pie crust

Place cookies in a small, self-sealing plastic bag. With a rolling pin, crumble cookies into small pieces; set aside. Combine ice cream, whipped topping and peanut butter. Spoon half of ice cream mixture into pie crust. Sprinkle half of crushed cookies over ice cream. Top with remaining ice cream; smooth top of pie into an even layer. Top with remaining crushed cookies. Freeze until firm. Cut into 8 wedges.

CHOCOLATE COCONUT CARAMEL DESSERT

1 box Girl Scout Caramel deLites
3 tablespoons margarine, melted
8 ounces cream cheese, softened
1/4 cup sugar
2 tablespoons milk

1/4 cup toasted coconut
1 1/4 cups cold milk
1 1/4 cups non-dairy whipped topping, thawed
1 package (4 servings) instant coconut cream pie filling
3 tablespoons semisweet chocolate mini morsels
Nonstick cooking spray

Place cookies in a food processor or blender, process until fine crumbs. Spray the bottom of a nine-inch square pan with nonstick cooking spray. Combine cookie crumbs and margarine; press evenly in the bottom of pan. Using an electric mixer, beat cream cheese with sugar and two tablespoons milk until smooth. Blend 3/4 cup whipped topping. Spread evenly over cookie layer. Pour 1 1/4 cups milk into a bowl. Add pudding mix and beat 1-2 minutes or until smooth. Pour over cream cheese layer.

Chill several hours or overnight. Spread a thin layer of coconut on a baking sheet and bake in 325°F oven for 6-8 minutes, stirring frequently; cool. Just before serving, spread remaining 3/4 cup whipped topping evenly over top of dessert; sprinkle toasted coconut and mini-morsels on top of dessert. Cut into 12 portions.

Bake away: Girl Scout Cookies taste delicious all by themselves, but you can bake them into desserts.

For starters, here's some stock recipes

See related story and photo on Taste front.

BROWN STOCK

8 pounds of beef or veal bones, or beef shank
Oil (as needed)
6 to 8 quarts of cold water
1 pound mirepoix (4 cups onions, 2 cups carrots and 2 cups celery)
1/2 to 3/4 cup tomato puree or paste
1 sachet d'epices (a sack of spices created with a sprig of fresh thyme or one teaspoon of dried thyme, two bay leaves, a few peppercorns and two tablespoons parsley stems, wrapped inside cheesecloth and tied with string)

Rinse the bones. Brown the bones in a 400°F oven. Combine the bones with the water and bring slowly to a simmer.

Bring the mirepoix and tomato puree. Reserve.

Simmer the bones for 6 to 8 hours. Add the sachet and mirepoix and simmer an additional one to 2 hours. Strain, cool and store properly.

Recipes courtesy of Jeff Gabriel, certified executive chef at Schoolcraft College.

CHICKEN STOCK

8 pounds chicken pieces (legs, thighs, backs and necks)
6 quarts cold water
1 pound mirepoix (4 cups onions, 2 cups carrots and 2 cups celery)
1 sachet d'epices (a sack of spices created with a sprig of fresh thyme or one teaspoon of dried thyme, two bay leaves, a few peppercorns and two tablespoons parsley stems, wrapped inside cheesecloth and tied with string)

Rinse the bones. Combine the bones with the water.

Bring them slowly to a boil, then simmer. Skim the surface as necessary. Simmer the stock for 5 hours. Add mirepoix and sachet d'epices and simmer for an additional 1 to 2 hours. Strain, cool and store properly.

VEGETABLE STOCK

1/2 cup vegetable oil
1 cup onions
1 cup leeks, green and white parts, chopped
1/2 cup celery, chopped
1/2 cup cabbage, chopped
1/2 cup carrots, chopped
1/2 cup turnip, chopped
1/2 cup tomato puree
3 garlic cloves, crushed
4 quarts cold water

Standard sachet d'epices (a sack of spices created with a sprig of fresh thyme or one teaspoon of dried thyme, two bay leaves, a few peppercorns and two tablespoons parsley stems, wrapped inside cheesecloth and tied with string)

1 teaspoon fennel seeds
4 whole cloves

Heat the oil. Add the vegetables and sweat them for 3 to 5 minutes. Add water, sachet and herbs and simmer for 30 to 40 minutes. Strain. If desired, fresh or dried chilies may be added.

and more evidence that proves the age-old story — eating home-made soups and stews, particularly chicken soup — is good for you.

Jeff Gabriel — chef and instructor at Schoolcraft College

"Researchers believe there are some antibodies in the fat of chicken," Suter said.

Gabriel also likes soups and stews for the convenience of having a one-pot meal without preparing separate vegetables in separate pans.

"It's not sautéing or frying. It's a very healthy way to prepare protein. It's cold and they want a nice warm stew that satisfies them," he said.

Homemade soups and stews have lower sodium levels than canned, and the vegetables and meats are fresher.

"One of the most important things about soups and stews is, it's easy to do when you have a good stock," Gabriel said.

Simmering shanks

You can create a good stock by placing bones, beef or ham shank in cold water.

You should never stir a stock because you want the clarity. You simmer it gently," Gabriel said. "The water should be cold when you start." For a chicken stock, the chicken pieces should be brought to a boil, then simmered and the surface skimmed of the foam.

Stocks must be simmered long enough to extract the maximum flavor and not boiled to destroy any nutritional value. "Stock takes all day, depending on the size and the thickness of the bones," Gabriel said. Fish stocks take about 45 minutes to one hour to prepare because fish bones are narrow.

Chicken stocks take about five to six hours, while veal and beef stocks take 12 to 24 hours, again depending on the size and thickness of the bones, Gabriel said.

Mirepoix (onions, celery and carrots) should be added after the bones and water simmer.

"If you are making brown stock, you should brown the bones and put them in the oven." The vegetables also should be browned until you get caramelization, Gabriel said.

Brown stock is used for brown stews, while veloute, a white sauce made from chicken, veal or fish stock, should be used for white stews, such as chicken stew or chicken pot pie. Veloute is made from white stock and blonde roux, a thickened mixture of butter and flour.

The stock should be strained, then cooled quickly by placing the pot in a sink full of ice water, or outside in the snow. Once cooled, the stock can be frozen in a freezer bag or container for up to six months.

It's in the stew

Creating a soup or stew can be easy if people prepare ahead of time. "One of the secrets of cooking and the way professionals do it, is 'mise en place' which means 'everything in place before you cook,'" Gabriel said.

Vegetables can be cut up the night before the meal. Parents can incorporate their children to assist with meals by cutting up vegetables. "Teach your kids 'mise en place.' That's a very important element of cooking is being ready ahead of time before you start preparing soup," Gabriel said.

Once your stock is finished, choices of soups or stews are endless. A good chicken stock will make an excellent cream of broccoli soup. Home chefs can use basic herbs and spices for various soups depending on individual tastes. Thyme, parsley, rosemary or peppercorns are popular choices to flavor soups.

"For a mussel soup, you will use different spices, such as dill and saffron, to enhance the soup," Gabriel said. "For a red lentil soup with smoked ham hock, you can use caraway seed to give it that German flavor."

"Like stock, the soup should not be boiled but simmered." For stews, Gabriel recommends using inexpensive meats, such as turkey thigh meats, smoked garlic sausage, beef or lamb shank meat or beef brisket.

"Cheap, inexpensive meats make the best stew," Gabriel said. Turkey thighs are better than turkey breasts, because the breasts are dry, Gabriel said.

Stews should be cooked at a "very low, gentle" simmer, Gabriel said. "There should be a light breaking of the surface, but never boiled. That's why Crock-Pots are nice."

Eric Ersher, co-owner of Zoup!, a restaurant on Northwestern Highway in Southfield that specializes in soup, believes what tastes good is personal preference. "So we're open to everyone's opinion," he said.

Weeks before the restaurant opened, a chef made 12 to 15 different soups each weekend for a sample group of eight to 12 people. That's how the restaurant developed a repertoire of 200 soups.

"What's good for you may be too hot for me, but it may be good for another person," Ersher said.

Ersher said the key to good soups is fresh ingredients, good stocks, and consistency from batch to batch. "We like to have a layer of flavors," Ersher said. "As you eat a mouthful, the flavors change and are multi-dimensional."

Simmered to the bone

Suter likes to use a good Amish or kosher chicken for her homemade chicken soup. Suter places it in a pot of water and brings it to a boil to remove impurities, then removes the chicken pieces and places them in new water.

The foam from the chicken can contain impurities such as blood, Suter said.

"You have to start with a good chicken, so you don't have to add broth or bouillon," Suter said. "Bones are what makes a good stock," Suter said.

Suter uses carrots, celery, parsley and garlic in her chicken stock. For those on low-sodium diets, they should just add more fresh herbs, Suter said.

"I don't think there is anything better than you can eat than soup," Suter said.

evenly so no steam escapes.

Place in a 350°F to 375°F preheated oven for about 15 minutes or until the fish flakes easily. Do not overcook. Remove from the oven, take off lemon slices and dill. Allow to cool a little, and remove to a serving platter carefully using two wide spatulas end to end. Refrigerate until serving time. Garnish with citrus wedges and dill. Serve sauce separately. Serves 12.

ROAST BEEF TENDERLOIN AU POIVRE

Marinate ingredients:
Combine 1/2 cup salad or olive oil

1/4 to 1/2 cup coarse freshly cracked peppercorns
3 cloves minced garlic (more if you love garlic)
1/4 cup brandy

To Roast:
Preheat the oven to 500°F.

1 tablespoon kosher salt
Few sprigs of rosemary and thyme

Whisk up the marinade and rub it on the filet. Marinate, covered and refrigerated, from a few hours to overnight.

The Meat:

Purchase a large beef tenderloin at least 6 to 8 pounds before trimming. Have the butcher remove all of the silver sinew, or split it half way from the bottom and bring it back over the meat and tie it in place.

Place room temperature meat on oiled sheet pan.

Season lightly with kosher salt. Place in the center of the oven, lower temperature to 350°F.

Cook meat to 120°F for rare. Meat will continue to cook when removed from the oven. Start checking the temperature with an instant read thermometer after 20 minutes. Let the meat rest 10 minutes before slicing. You may accompany your filet with your favorite sauce of a ragout of mushrooms.

Spice up tomatoes for quick soup

Using canned tomatoes, in the depths of winter, you can make the best tomato soup, bursting with ripe tomato flavor. In fact, most of the year, using canned tomatoes for soup and sauces is often smarter, as well as less expensive and more convenient, than cooking with fresh tomatoes.

This may surprise you, given the emphasis today on fresh produce. Tomatoes, it seems, are decidedly exceptions to the fresh-is-best rule. Except when you can get locally grown, just-picked, vine-ripened fruit, a good brand of canned tomatoes is the preferable choice.

If you are still skeptical, think of the great Italian cooks, all of whom regularly use canned tomatoes and bottled tomato sauce — which they have not put up themselves. The aroma, taste and color of their sugos, ragus and filletto di pomodoro suffer not a bit when they use good quality canned tomatoes.

In a small Dutch oven or large saucepan, heat the oil over medium-high heat. Sauté the onion until it is translucent, about 4 minutes. Add the tomatoes, with their liquid, the cilantro, basil, and sugar. Bring to a boil, reduce the heat, cover, and cook 20 minutes.

In a blender or food processor, puree the soup. Blend in the tomato juice. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Reheat, and serve, with the croutons, if using. Each of the six servings contains 64 calories and 2 grams of fat.

Organization helps women overcome the hurdles of high-risk pregnancy

BY KURT KUBAN
SPECIAL WRITER

Confined to her hospital bed, Kelly Iles's view of the world was becoming dismal. Five weeks without a change of scenery can grow old on anyone. For Iles, a Livonia resident who was pregnant at the time, being bedridden was particularly stressing. Not only was she concerned about the health of her baby, she was also worried about how her husband and children were getting along at home without her.

Plagued with a condition known as a complete previa, which is when the placenta shifts and blocks the baby's passage through the cervix, Iles was considered to have a high-risk pregnancy. Throughout her five-week ordeal at St. Joseph-Mercy Oakland Hospital, she constantly fought through complications, labor contractions, and the nasty side effects of various medications.

Isolation began to set in. "Why is this happening to me?" Iles started to wonder. Then, with the help of a hospital official, Iles was introduced to the Sidelines National Support Network, which in turn introduced her to another woman who had just faced similar adversity through her own pregnancy.

This woman, a volunteer with Sidelines, told Iles all about her bed rest experiences, and the stories sounded very familiar. Every conversation that Iles had with this volunteer made her feel more at ease about her own predicament, and her depression began to fade. So, with added strength from knowing someone else had once been in her shoes, Iles continued to fight through her pregnancy. Although her baby was born two months premature, the result was a healthy daughter, named Casey, who was born last August.

"You try to keep your baby as long as possible."

Every week makes a big difference in its development. One week could be the difference between the baby being blind, or having undeveloped lungs," said Iles, who went into labor six times.

"There is a point when you think 'Is it worth going through this?' because you don't know if you are going to have a healthy baby."

Being able to talk with someone that experienced a similar situation gives you a little bit of hope and inspiration to keep looking forward and to be positive."

With 35 chapters nationwide, the nonprofit Sidelines is made up of women who have shared similar experiences as Iles, having gone through high-risk pregnancies that caused them to be bedridden, either at home or in a hospital.

"Being bedridden while pregnant is very scary," said Amy Meylan, a coordinator for Sidelines Michigan/Wisconsin chapter. "Our overall goal is to give emotional support. We want to help these women get through the rough times. And there are going to be rough times when you are pregnant and bedridden."

Meylan has plenty of firsthand knowledge about such times. Back in 1995, Meylan was bedridden for over three months during a high-risk pregnancy.

"I had no support to help me with my problems. I felt like I was all alone. I had no idea a group like Sidelines was out there. When I saw a story about it in a national magazine sometime later, I wanted to get involved because of what I had gone through," Meylan said.

In 1996, after realizing the closest chapter was headquartered in Wisconsin, Meylan and another woman, Jamie Nichols, formed a local satellite chapter headquartered in Auburn, just north of Saginaw.

Since that time, volunteer numbers within the group have soared to 125. In fact, Meylan estimates that 70 percent of the women who are helped by Sidelines end up becoming volunteers after their pregnancies. The main objective of the group is to match a volunteer that has had the same physical condition of the woman who is seeking support. Many times, this can be achieved with a volunteer within the local chapter, but sometimes a match must be found somewhere else in the national network.

Sidelines services are not limited to the weekly conversations volunteers have with the women who seek help. The group also sends a wealth of information to the bedridden woman, offering advice on a host of topics such as keeping a journal, remaining emotionally balanced, breastfeeding, educational and medical resources, maintaining personal hygiene and handling visitors.

Grateful for the help that Sidelines had provided her, Iles has now become a volunteer herself. "Being bedridden for most of your pregnancy, you may think your story is the worst story, but then, through Sidelines, you find out about someone who was in worse shape and had a healthy baby. Knowing this gives you such emotional support," Iles said.

For more information about Sidelines National Support Network, contact Jamie Nichols or Amy Meylan at (888) 743-3540 (toll free, MI only). The group also has a Web site at www.sidelines.org.

Madonna University to offer advanced nursing degree

Anticipating the future career needs of nurses, Madonna University will offer a new master's degree and certification program with an adult nurse practitioner (ANP) specialty. The program, which begins in January 2000, prepares nurses to diagnose and manage primary health needs of adults.

According to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, future career opportunities will be best for nurses with advanced education and training, such as nurse practitioners. Overall, the Bureau predicts that employment of registered nurses is expected to grow faster than the average, or 21 to 35 percent, for all occupations through the year 2006.

"The adult nurse practitioner specialty provides the advanced practice nurse with the knowledge to make sophisticated health management decisions," said Dr. Mary Wawrzynski, dean of the College of Nursing and Health. "The program will benefit from the expertise of faculty members who are active nurse practitioners."

"The nursing faculty are pleased and excited to now offer the adult nurse practitioner specialty and post master's certificate. The nurse practitioner specialty will allow our graduates to work in multiple advanced practice settings, offering comprehensive primary health care in collaboration with the master's degree or the certificate, students will have the educational theory and clinical practice necessary to take the National Adult Nurse Practitioner Certification exam through the American Nurse Credentialing Center and become licensed as a Nurse Practitioner in the state of Michigan."

Students enrolled in the program will benefit from the expertise of faculty members who are active nurse practitioners. "The nursing faculty are pleased and excited to now offer the adult nurse practitioner specialty and post master's certificate. The nurse practitioner specialty will allow our graduates to work in multiple advanced practice settings, offering comprehensive primary health care in collaboration with the master's degree or the certificate, students will have the educational theory and clinical practice necessary to take the National Adult Nurse Practitioner Certification exam through the American Dornbrook will coordinate the program with Deborah Dunn, also an assistant professor and nurse practitioner. Assistant professors Gail Lis and Therese Jamison, nurse practitioner, will teach in the program along with Dunn and Dornbrook.

For the convenience of students, classes will be scheduled in the evenings and other suitable times.

"We recognize that students who enroll in the program will most likely be working adults, so we have designed the program so it can be completed on a part-time basis," said Dr. Edith Raleigh, dean of graduate studies.

E-working is a stroke of genius for employer, employee

MIKE WENDLAND

Karenann Terrell's office is wherever her computer, her wireless phone and her Palm Pilot happen to be. She is one of a growing number of Americans who do their work virtually, in cyberspace. Call her an "e-worker."

And what Karenann Terrell does will soon be common. It's estimated by the U.S. Department of Commerce that within the next five years, 30 to 40 percent of all Americans will be able to do their jobs on the Internet.

Very often, Karenann's "e-work" is done from her home in Oakland Township, with the family beagle "Willow" sleeping contently at her feet. But it is unusual for her to work in a hotel room, or an airplane, or somewhere in Europe, South America or Asia. Karenann Terrell is an up and coming GM executive, the director of GM's e-vehicles, part of the automakers massive E-GM division, which is all about using the Internet to better connect it with customers and suppliers. Last November, GM introduced the first web-equipped production vehicle and at the just-concluded North American International Auto Show in Detroit, the Internet was a big part of GM's offering.

But for Karenann Terrell, it's all part of a day's work. Her days are non-stop, beginning with 7 a.m. Internet video conferences and followed by numerous other online meetings, presentations and budget planning sessions. She manages a team of hard charging and highly-motivated information age specialists and marketing experts. And all of them, from Karenann on down, do much of their work in cyberspace, on the Internet.

"I can sit here and be videoed into Europe to Latin America, collaborating on a tool," she said from her virtual office at home. On the 20-inch computer monitor in front of her were pictures of two other e-GM teams, one at the Tech Center in Warren, the other at GM's RenCen headquarters in downtown Detroit.

A TV camera, microphone and high speed Internet access allows Karenann and her team to work together as if they were in the same room, no matter where they happen to be.

"It's amazing but this seems quite normal," Karenann says during a break between meetings. "What now seems very unusual is the hassle of bumper to bumper traffic on I-75 or trying to find a parking spot downtown. Working online makes everything much more convenient."

Pablo Valencia, a specialty vehicle manager for GM and another "e-worker," says he is now able to walk his daughter to the bus stop every morning before school. "I don't have to waste all that time commuting anymore," he says. "It means more quality time with my child and, frankly, more work for the company because there's no down time going from place to place. The Internet hooks me up immediately."

The GM e-workers say they don't feel like pioneers. All they know is working virtually... works.

"The technology is seamless," Karenann says. "Pretty soon you're not even aware you're on a computer network talking across sometimes thousands of miles. It seems quite natural. The Internet is very conducive to team-building. I love it."
