Father's Contest

Picture Dad! We're celebrating Dad this year with a special contest. Send us a favorite photograph of you and your Dad with a short caption, explaining why it's your favorite (funny, sentimental or just interesting). We'll hold a drawing of all entries and award a winner from each Observer Newspaper with two tickets to the Ford Senior Players Championship golf tournament at the Dearborn TPC, July 8-14. Participants are expected to include Tom Watson, Hale Irwin, Tom Kite and senior "rookies" Fuzzy Zoeller and Ben Crenshaw. All tickets include a free shuttle bus ride to the front gate of the TPC. To enter, send your photo to Tedd Schneider, 794 South Main, Plymouth, MI 48170. Photos will not be returned. All entries are due by 5 p.m. Thursday, June 6. Even if your name isn't selected for a prize, you'll have a chance to show Dad how much he means to you. We'll have a special

School cuts may not be enough

Ongoing contract negotiations with four employee groups - along with next fall's enrollment - hold the key to any additional budget balancing moves by Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

BY TONY BRUSCATO STAFF WRITER tbruscato@oe.homecomm.net

The announced $950,000 in staff, program and equipment cuts to balance the 2002-03 Plymouth-Canton Schools budget may be just the tip of

The Board of Education began its discussion of the cuts submitted earlier this month by Superintendent Kathleen Booher during a Tuesday night budget workshop session. At the end of the nearly three-hour meeting, board members appeared to have more questions than answers. However, it was clear to several trustees that the cuts presented by Booher may have to be expanded.

"It's possible they could be accepted. But it's also possible, after more information, we might ask for a little bit deeper, whether that be in expense line items or people," said board secretary Darwin Watts.

The biggest problem for trustees in determining the final cuts is the impact of raises for the four employee groups which are currently in negotiations with the district, the largest of which is the Plymouth Canton Education Association with more than 1,000 members.

"It's going to be tight, there's no question about that," said Watts. "Until we apply the numbers of what we agree on with those folks, I'm cautiously optimistic."

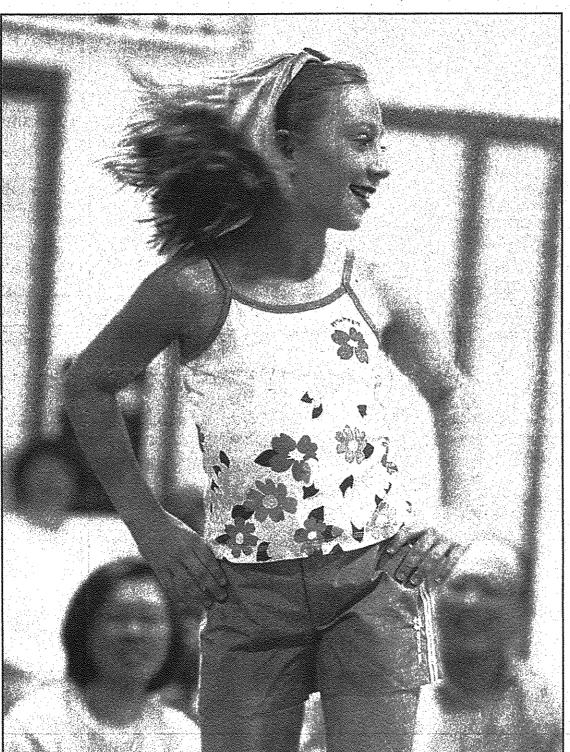

Next year's budget projections show expenditures exceed revenues by nearly $188,000 before negotiated wage increases are factored in.

However, estimates of negotiated wage increases could put the district back in the red. According to financial predictions supplied to the board by Patricia Brand, executive director of business services, one scenario indicates a 2 percent wage hike would leave the district $740,000 in the red, after the $950,000 in proposed cuts. At 3 percent, the deficit would be nearly $1.7 million, after the proposed cuts.

Soccer tourney a regional draw

BY JACK GLADDEN STAFF WRITER jgladden@oe.homecomm.net

This Memorial Day weekend Canton, once known as the Sweet Corn Capital of Michigan, transforms itself into the Soccer Capital.

When the 20th annual Canton Cup Soccer Tournament gets under way Friday, tournament director Greg Demopoulos said he expects around 25,000 people to descend on the township

"It's the biggest thing next to the Liberty Fest," he said of the tournament, which has become one of the biggest in the Midwest.

CANTON CUP

Demopoulos said 374 teams with 6,500 players will take part in the event. About 30 of the teams are from Canton, with others coming from Ohio, Ontario, Indiana and other Michigan communities. Players range in age from 9 to 18.

Opening ceremonies take place at 5 p.m. Friday at Independence Park with 8-year-old Canton resident Amy Zinn singing the national anthem.

"She's great," Demopoulos said. "A great little singer." And she's also a soccer player with the Angels soccer team. Games will continue until 8:30 p.m. Friday, all day Saturday and wrap up Sunday at 6 p.m. The games will take

The party's over: Shuttered store was a business pioneer

By JACK GLADDEN jgladden@oe.homecomm.net

For Canton Township Treasurer Elaine Kirchgatter it was a first - and not a duty that she particularly relished.

But on Monday, April 29, there she was, inside the abandoned Wilderberry Party Store at Ford and Lilley, overseeing a public auction of the store's personal property, watching as display cabinets, refrigeration units and other equipment were loaded into pickups and trailers and hauled

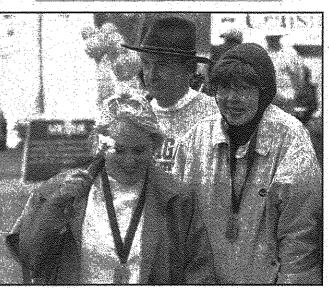

And for the curious little party store that has occupied the site since the strip mall opened in 1972, it was an unseemly demise. Death by (unpaid) personal property

Kirchgatter said it was the first time in her 10 years as treasurer that the township has auctioned off a business's personal property for unpaid taxes. "We've closed and changed the locks on numerous places," she said, "but someone's always come out of the woodwork

Erratic driver facing drug charges

A 39-year-old Wyandotte man is facing narcotics paraphernalia after he was stopped by Canton Police Saturday.

According to police reports the man was stopped at Ford and Sheldon about 2:30 p.m. after a police officer noticed a 1998 Plymouth weaving and stopped the driver for suspicion of drunken driving.

The officers ordered the man out of the car and asked him if he had anything illegal inside. He answered yes.

A search of the car turned up cocaine, crack cocaine, heroin and assorted narcotics paraphernalia.

The man was taken into custody without incident.

Fears unfounded

Canton Police and the Western Wayne County Special Operations Team responded to a suspicious situation at Wyndchase Townhomes on Haggerty north of Cherry Hill early Wednesday morning.

A Canton resident told police she had been talking to her estranged husband, who lived in Wyndchase, sometime after midnight when she heard what might have been a gunshot. The 33-year-old Canton man is a possible witness in a potential criminal investigation and police believe he feared for

Officer made contact with the man shortly after 6 a.m. and he told them he was OK and there was no threat to his safety. Police then cleared the scene.

Computer stolen

A high school teacher at Plymouth Canton Educational Park reported to police that his school-issued laptop computer was taken last week.

The teacher said he last saw it about 1:10 p.m. Tuesday. When he returned to school about 6:50 a.m. Wednesday it was missing. The Compaq computer was valued at

More golf clubs stolen

With spring in the air, thieves appear to be getting ready to hit the links - after hitting some open garages first. Two more residents reported golf clubs taken from their garages in the last several days.

A resident of the 100 block of Mornington Court reported that some took at set of golf clubs out of his garage sometime between 9 p.m. on May 16 and 11 a.m. on

He said there was no sign of forced entry and the garage might have been open. The Ping clubs and bag were valued at $2,000.

A resident of the 1300 block of Kensington reported that between 3 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. on Sunday someone removed a set of clubs from his garage while the overhead door was open.

The clubs were valued at $2,500.

The resident said he watered the grass after the incident and doesn't know if there is any damage or not.

Necklace snatched

A 36-year-old Belleville woman told police she stopped to use a pay phone in the 41000 block of Old Michigan Avenue about 12:30 p.m. on May 12.

While she was using the phone, she told police, two men approached her and one of them grabbed a gold herringbone necklace from her neck. They both fled in an unknown direction.

The woman reported the incident about six hours later and could not offer a gooddescription of the men. When police asked her while she didn't call 911 from the pay phone, she said she didn't think of it.

CARRIER OF THE MONTH: CANTON

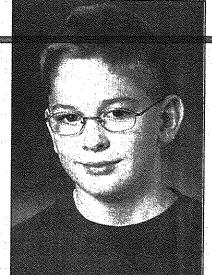

Matt Majzlik, 11, is the Canton Observer's carrier of the month for May

A sixth-grader at East Middle School, Matt's favorite subjects are math and band. He enjoys baseball, bowling, scouts, reading, photography, and of course, . video games. He also emjoys playing the trumpet.

What he likes most about his route is the exercise, getting outside, meeting people and earning a little extra cash. He feels he has developed his math skills, sales managing, and talking to people.

He feels being an Observer carrier has built his self-confidence, developed his people skills, and saving and spending of his money.

One way he feels the route could be improved is to have the papers delivered earlier on Saturday night.

CLARIFICATION

A May 9 story in the Canton Observer on a dispute between a Canton Township woman and the neighboring Conerstone Baptist Church should have indicated the woman, Jimmie Nash, told the Canton Planning Commission that church chimes were played seven days a week. Nash said on Monday-Saturday, the chimes began ringing at 10 a.m. and rang for 15 minutes every two hours until 8 p.m. On Sundays before May 6, the chimes began ringing at 9:45 a.m.

Relay for Life

Despite nighttime temperatures that dipped below freezing, the fourth annual Relay for Life at Canton's Heritage Park was a record-setting success, according to organizers.

Some 1,300 participants spent 24 hours Saturday and Sunday walking around the park ponds to raise money and awareness for the American Cancer Society. The fund-raiser netted $167,000 in pledges for the walka-thon, about $17,000 more than last year's event, said Mary Pattin, ACS community development director. "In addition to raising a phenomenal amount of money, all participants learned cancer early detection guidelines, tips to help prevent cancer and that they can call on the American Cancer Society when they need answers and support,' she said.

Organizers cited several people and groups during the event for excellent preparations and performance during the event. They included:

■ Most money raised by an individual - Eddie Kresentiney,

■ Most money raised by a team - Team Breath of Life, $15,000

■ Best decorated campsite -Team Shufeldt's Soldiers

■ Best team spirit - Team Asian Pacific Club.

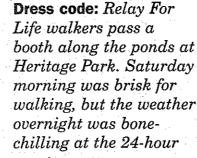

Family matters: Mother and son cancer survivors, Pat (left) and Matt Scheller participated Saturday. Pat is a survivor of breast cancer and Matt had skin cancer.

All dressed up: Tina Jones walks in the relay dressed in renaissance costuming in honor of her father, Daniel Drouillard, and brother, Michael Drouillard, who both died of cancer last year. Tina and friends sponsored a renaissance-themed booth at the event.

Drug bust leads to cash

Detroit narcotics officers recovered $300,000 in ing the cash in an upstairs bedroom. cash from a Canton home on Saturday, following a raid on a Detroit home in which about $9 million the raid on the unoccupied Detroit home produced worth of heroin was found.

A 31-year-old Detroit man was arraigned in 36th District Court on Sunday on seven charges ranging from heroin and firearms possession to being a habitual offender. He is being held without bond in the Wayne County Jail. Canton Police Sgt. Scott Hilden said Canton sent two marked patrol cars to assist the Detroit narcotics squad in executing a search warrant on the Kings Way home.

According to Canton Police reports, the Detroit

Detroit Police obtained the search warrant after evidence that the suspect owned another home in Canton, Canton Police said the man had apparently owned the Canton home since about the beginning of the year.

Detroit Police found five kilograms of heroin in the Detroit home, along with $8,000 cash and seven firearms.

At the Sunday arraignment prosecutors said police had to use an automated counting machine to count the money recovered from the Canton

Law drops out of race for Senate

BY TONY BRUSCATO STAFF WRITER tbruscato@oe.homecomm.net

What appeared to be potentially one of the most interesting Aug. 6 primary races in the state fizzled before it ever got started.

Former State Rep. Gerald Law (R-Plymouth Township) pulled out of a possible battle with current State Rep. Bruce Patterson (R-Canton Township) in the race for the newly created 7th District Senate seat.

Law, who served in the House of Representatives from 1983-1991 and again from 1995-2000 before being term-limited out, decided not to challenge Patterson for the Senate on Friday afternoon, pulling out just hours ahead of the deadline for filing.

"I've been in the legislature for 15 years, and Bruce is starting his career and doing a good job," said Law. "This is the right thing for me to do.

"Bruce and I appeal to some of the same contributors and supporters," added Law. "It's better that we don't waste a lot of resources in the primary and work toward the general election. I will be there to campaign for him, and help him in any way I can."

The newly drawn Senate district represents Northville, Northville Township, Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton Township at its most northern points to Trenton and Grosse Ile on the southern edge.

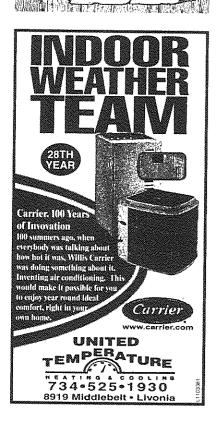

"I appreciate the support of Representative Law," said Patterson in a prepared statement. "It is especially gratifying that I've been able to put together such a broad-based coalition of support in such a short time."

While the two politicians appeared to come to an agreement, political insiders indicate Patterson was ready to use the strength of his $200,000 cam-

Hot Topic Of The Week

Memorial Day marks the beginning of the summer holidays in the U.S. This three-day weekend is traditionally the time for celebration and family gatherings. Celebrated in most states on the last Monday in May, Memorial Day is a time to remember the U.S. men and women who lost their lives serving their country. Originally known as Decoration Day, it was established in 1868 to commemorate the dead from the Civil War. Over the years it came to serve as a day to remember all U.S. men and women killed or missing in action in all wars.

Middle School. Canton police Sgt. Todd Mutchler said the two Canton teens will be cited under a local ordinance involving fraudulent schemes for their part in passing a counterfeit $20 bill in the Discovery cafeteria.

"The parents are very receptive and concerned with the act their sons did, and we're confident they are also dealing with the incident at their level," said Mutchler.

made the fake money with the help of a computer and scanner.

"He made several bills and passed them to a friend at Discovery," said Mutchler. "He obviously knew the severity of what he did because he destroyed the other copies."

Mutchler said the other teen "knew the money was counterfeit" when he tried to pass it off in the cafeteria. The U.S. Secret Service had been called in to dent involved juveniles the federal agency handed the case back to Canton police. Mutchler said the two boys will be sentenced through 35th District Court, and could receive a maximum 90 days in jail.

School officials said the teens were given five-day suspensions. Mutchler said detectives determined the incident was not connected to a similar incident at Central Middle School April 24.

about what happened at Central, which may have prompted the Discovery incident," he said.

Meanwhile, Plymouth police Det. Lt. Ed Ochal said there are no dispositions yet involving a 13-year-old boy who reportedly took five fake $20 bills to Central. The teen reportedly asked two students to exchange some of the money into smaller denominations. Police said several students came into possesused to buy items in the school cafeteria.

The Central investigation also resulted in police questioning the teen's 16-year-old brother and their 18-year-old friend. A computer was confiscated at the home of the oldest suspect. Judy Evola, director of communications for Plymouth-Canton Schools, said five Central students were given suspensions, ranging from 3-5 days.

Watts said he's satisfied with the original cuts outlined by Booher, but he still has questions regarding some expenditures in the proposed budget.

"I think some of the curriculum purchase recommendations are a little large," said Watts, referring, in part, to a proposed $400,000 expenditure for a new elementary and middle school language arts program. "I'm not going to say there are large cuts there, but I need to understand better the rationale behind those decisions."

Booher earlier this month are a reduction of four elementary teaching positions and a middle school teacher, $250,000; the district's allocation of funds for field trips, $90,000; athletic expenditures, $65,000; and general budget reductions, $50,000.

The board will continue its discussion of the budget at its May 28 regular meeting.

and paid the taxes."

Store abandoned

But not this time. Store owner Steve Hamilton was nowhere to be seen. In fact, he has not been seen since the store failed to open on Friday, March 22. For Kirchgatter and Hamilton's neighbors in the strip mall, his m whereabouts are still a mystery.

She said the township had attempted to contact him since it became apparent that the store had been abandoned, but the phone was not answered and there was no response to letters.

"On April 9 we went in and changed the locks," she said. "The office was cleared out ... the papers were all gone. It reconfirmed that he had basically abandoned the place.'

The shelves were still stocked with merchandise, including some refrigerated items that were starting to spoil. Those items were removed, she said, because they were starting to smell and she didn't want the stench to get into the mall's ventilation system.

Kirchgatter said this was not "the first time that the store's taxes had not been paid on time and that she had personally gone to the store to collect them in the past.

Bryan Kepes, president of SRK Realty, the property manager for the strip mall, said he had not heard from Hamilton either. Numerous attempts by the Observer to contact Hamilton, who lives in Dundee, were unsuccessful. SRK now has a "space available" sign outside the mall, which also houses Johnson's Restaurant, a dry cleaners, Little Caesars Pizza and a few other businesses.

Blacktop and corn fields

The party store is the only vacant property in the mall, somewhat ironic because Hamilton was the first and only occupant of that particular site since the mall opened 30 years ago.

In an interview published in the Observer in October 2000, Hamilton recalled how as a young man he opened up a small party store, The Star Stop Party Store, in Belleville. It proved to be a success and, when the mall at Lilley and Ford opened in 1972, he opened another Star Stop there. At that time Ford Road was a two-lane blacktop and the new strip mall was the only developed part of the Ford/Lilley intersection. The other three corners were farmland.

Gone for good: The Wilderberry Party Store at Ford and Lilley was the first business to open in the corner shopping center 30 years ago.

For a while Hamilton also owned the Grapevine Party Store at Ford and Sheldon.

"I had visions of becoming the party store king," he told a

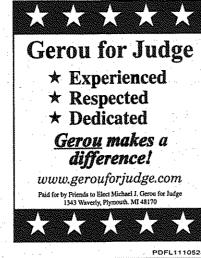

A few years ago he changed the name of the Ford and Lilley store to Wilderberry.

"We had to get a new sign," he id "and it seemed like a good time to change the name. I was tired of Star Stop."

Earlier this year Hamilton had complained to customers that business had been "terrible" recently. But neighbors in the mall said they had no idea he was planning to close.

Store stung

In another ironic twist. Hamilton was in the store on Thursday, March 21, when Canton police sent an underage decoy in to attempt to buy tobacco products as part of the department's ongoing tobacco sting operation. The decoy was able to purchase a pack of chewing tobacco and police issued Hamilton a citation for selling to a minor. Police Sgt. Charles Raycraft, who was conducting the "compliance check," said Hamilton told him at that time he was having some kind of business or legal problems and was planning the close the store at midnight.

"We gave him a ticket, anyway," Raycraft said.

Our fundamental purposes are to enhance the lives of our readers, nurture the hometowns we serve and contribute to the business success of our customers.

Low turnout means every voter counts on June 10

It might sound simplistic and obvious, but voters are in complete control of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools election, and they can control it in two

Number one, they could get out in force and actually vote. However, recent poll performance suggests that isn't likely. Last year, only about 1,800 of the 73,000 registered voters in the district bothered to make it to the polls, although another 800 cast absentee ballots.

But that would lead to the second way voters can control this particular election. Staying home will almost certainly allow the teachers union to decide who gets the two four-year seats and the single one-year term up for grabs.

Teachers are already martialling their forces. Local union president Chuck Portelli says there are roughly 2,000 teachers living in the district. He's taken a look at the numbers, he's been around a long time, and he knows what anyone who hasn't slept through the last several election cycles already knows: It won't take many votes to win.

Last year, in a race for one seat, Tom Wysocki needed just over 1,100 votes to win. The runner up, Fred Libbing, got 873 votes. You don't have to be able to pass the math MEAP to figure out the numbers: Anything approaching a 50percent teacher turnout, and the teachers elect the people they want. Now, there's nothing wrong with that; in fact, we encourage anything that will get the numbers up at the polls. The teachers are doing what they need to do mouth. They will be accepted by mail to support their agenda, to try to get their candidates (for the record, they're supporting Joann Lamar, Carol Saunders and Marcy Staley) elected.

Of course, this is nothing new. Teachers historically turn out to support school board elections. That's great for the democratic process as a whole.

But how good is it if one group can control an entire election? We don't think it's the best thing in the world. Mostly, it means not many other people are turning out for the vote, and that's bothersome. A local school board election is arguably the most important election in which voters can cast their ballot.

Quality of schools has a tremendous effect on property value, on the quality of the education and, ultimately, the life we give our children.

Yet, school board elections are by and large ignored by the voting public, as last year's paltry turnout suggests. That's why an extraordinarily small percentage - if you take Portelli's word for it, teachers make up less than 3 percent of registered voters in the district - can have such a major impact.

So it's up to us to repeat a plea we make on an annual basis, in the hope that the adage about the squeaky wheel getting the grease is true: Get out and vote, which isn't all that difficult.

In fact, the school district makes it easy to cast our ballot, either at the polls or ahead of time. Absentee ballot applications are available from the district offices at 454 S. Harvey in downtown Ply-through Election Day (Monday, June 10), or can be dropped off in person through 8 p.m. on June 10.

Residents can also vote absentee 9 a.m.-2 p.m. Saturday, June 8 at the district offices. However, they won't be able to take absentee ballots home that day, according to elections clerk Elizabeth Adams.

It's time for voters in the Plymouth-Canton school district to take ownership of their school board. Three open seats on a seven-member board sparked a great deal of participation, with 10 candidates vying for the four-year seats and two more for the unexpired one-year term.

Let's hope that carries over into the voting booths, where we hope to see voters taking control the best way they can: By turning in an absentee ballot or going to the polls on June 10.

After 9-11, Memorial Day holiday means even more

Monday marks our annual celebration of Memorial Day, that day we break out the barbecues, cook up some chicken or ribs and take the day off work.

In recent years that's what Memorial Day has become for a lot of people. That's not what it's supposed to be about, of

The holiday is designed to honor the folks who have paid the ultimate price, given the greatest of all sacrifices in service to their country to ensure Americans continue to live a life of freedom and prosperity.

Proclaimed May 5, 1868, by Gen. John Logan, national commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, Memorial Day was first observed 25 days later, when flowers were placed on the graves of Union and Confederate soldiers at Arlington National Cemetery.

The South refused to acknowledge the day, honoring their dead on separate days until after World War I, when the holiday changed from simply honoring Civil War dead to remembering anyone who perished in any war.

Congress established Memorial Day as the last Monday in May in 1968, ironically to ensure a three-day weekend for federal workers. Maybe Congress had a huge barbecue that year.

Since then, most states recognize Memorial Day as the last Monday in May, although a bill was introduced in 1999 to establish May 30 as the official day. Several southern states also still observe separate days on which Confederate dead are honored.

Most communities honor the day with a brief ceremony, or a parade. But watch the crowds at such events. They're made up largely of old-timers, veterans remembering comrades in arms, a more patriotic time. It touches their hearts because it touched their lives. We wonder: Can young people today have the same sense of pride, the same patriotic feel?

If not, it would be easy to understand, because they have no frame of reference. After all, it's been nearly 10 years since the United States has been involved in any kind of military conflict. And, before the Gulf War of the early 1990s, it had been some 20 years between armed con-

Two major military operations in 30 years probably aren't enough to demonstrate to people — particularly young people no longer subject to the draft or any sort of required military service just what a sacrifice military people are called to make.

All of that should have changed in the wake of Sept. 11, when thousands of innocent people died in an act of war perpetrated by a coward holed up in a desert hideout.

Opinions should have changed, understanding sharpened, sacrifices made more clear in the days since, when Americans have died trying to ferret out a monster and wipe out the network with which he terrorized a nation.

The terrorist attacks of Sept. 11 seemed to pique a renewed zeal for American patriotism.

Sure, we'll still barbecue our steaks and have our picnics and take our day off. But let's hope we all do one more thing Monday. For the sake of those who died last year, and in all years past, let's remem-

■ Water park made sense

I am disappointed in those who think a recreational water park would devalue their property or quality of life. We have many natural parks in the area. We have a senior center, we have playscapes for younger children and golf courses for adults. But we do not offer enough diversified activities for very active 9-17-year- olds. Most people consider pre-teens and teenagers a nuisance. We do not consider that they are out of school all summer. Many are old enough to get a part time job, but find it difficult due to college students who are able to start work a month earlier. What a great opportunity to employ our area teens! My 9- and 11-year- olds enjoy Putt-Putt golf, batting cages, sports, bikes and the movies like all kids. But if you're a parent you know these activities get old fast.

We live in Michigan and we are lucky to get four-five months of good weather. We want to spend every minute outside and would greatly appreciate and support a family water park in our neighborhood. I have faith that architects and planning committees can and would do an excellent job of creating a classy looking park for all of the community to enjoy. The opinion of some others, is that this is a dead subject. After all, they claim that there were public meetings held and the majority of the people were against it. Well, exactly when did the majority of the public find out about the proposed water park? Possibly after the public meeting?

It was apparent that neighboring subdivisions were notified of this issue in advance of the meeting, the rest of the community slowly got informed over months of articles written in the paper. There is a reason why "The Silent Majority" got its name. It's because a few loud voices spout off so much that people often get tired of talking about it, even if it is a good idea.

So to Linda Whiteaker, who wrote "no" means "no," please speak for yourself. It is apparent that the community children and teens are not in your best interest. I hope Mr. Tom Yack doesn't give up on this welcomed park for all to enjoy. It is a Great Idea.

Opinions were valid

The recent letter of Linda Whitaker (Observer, May 2, 2002) makes a great deal of sense to me. I think that many citizens of Canton expressed their opposition to the creation of a water park.

I like the idea of setting aside some land in Canton Township for a natural park. My family often drives out to Kensington to take nature walks, walk the dog or just get away from it all. I think it would be great if Canton had a nature park.

I have known Bob and Linda Whitaker for several years now, they are tireless advocates of better living for township residents. They volunteer much time working for our Homeowner's Association. Hopefully, other citizen groups will join in to oppose a water park and support a nature park.

Council is worthwhile

I was deeply distraught by the tone of the letter "Kiddie Politics" (Canton Observer, April 25) about the recently established Canton Youth Advisory

As a graduate of Canton Youth Leadership and Canton Youth Leadership Government Awareness Program I decided to enter the Youth Advisory Council with an expectation that my fellow youth and I would be able to contribute to the enhancement of Canton's youth programs and activities. Although I do not currently pay taxes or vote, I will some day. When I do I will stand proud of my endeavor to assist the youth in Canton community.

I understand that I will not always be a minor but I also believe that it's a community's responsibility to help cultivate its youth, for they will be the leaders of tomorrow. If we ignore our youth without taking into consideration their position as components of this community. In closing, I would like to comment that I thoroughly benefited from our gateway gathering with Mr. Yack, and he has been tremendously helpful in getting this committee on track.

Bill hurts poor

Through the HealthChoice program, Wayne County has helped local businesses provide health care coverage to more than 22,000 low-income workers. These are hardworking individuals who choose work rather than collect welfare. Another 30,000 of the county's indigent receive health care through the county's PlusCare program.

With his airport parking tax legislation, State Rep. Bruce Patterson (R-Canton) has told these low-income workers and the indigent that improving outstate airports and putting more concealed weapons on the county's streets is more important than health care. House Bill 4454 strips nearly $15 million a year from Wayne County, without cutting any state-mandated services the county must provide by

The current airport parking tax was created in 1987 to close an annual budget deficit caused by state-mandated services including indigent health care services. This county has recorded 14 straight balanced budgets while providing cost-effective services such as HealthChoice and PlusCare to our residents. The county is already struggling to balance a $20 million budget deficit primarily due to other state funding cuts. How many cuts in services should Wayne County taxpayers shoulder because of the legislature's misplaced priorities?

It's time to ask our legislators in Lansing why they feel Wayne County's indigent and low-income working people should be forced to lose their health care coverage so that the state can fund airport improvements in Traverse City and Marquette. We must also ask our legislators why it's more important to put more concealed weapons at our children's soccer games and on our crowded roadways at the expense of our local businesses and workers.

Wayne County has worked hard to build a solid economic foundation and a good quality of life for our residents. As Rep. Bill O'Neil (D-Allen Park) said, "We're going to lose a lot of those quality of life facilities that are so very important." Reps. Laura Toy (R-Livonia) and John Stewart (R-Plymouth) also showed their leadership by stepping away from partisan politics and voted against Patterson's bill. They clearly understand that their constituents need the services Wayne County has been providing. It's time some of their colleagues put their partisan politics aside and do what's right for local working families and business-

Parents are key

Last year I tutored in a public elementary school. I worked with students whose reading levels were below their grade levels, not realizing that these children were representative of more than a third of American elementary school students.

According to the 2000 National Assessment of Educational Programs (NAEP), 37 percent of America's fourthgraders have not achieved basic level reading skills, and only 31 percent are within the Basic level; a mere 24 percent read at the Proficient level.

The link between parental involvement and elementary literacy levels is undeniable. NAEP studies from 1999 and 2000 showed that for fourthgraders, 13-year-olds, and 17-year-olds, average reading scores were proportionately higher for students who saw their parents reading more in the home.

It would be easy to say that our nation needs to return to the family values of earlier times. The fact is, though, that single-parent families do exist, mothers and fathers do work outside the home, and parents do spend less time with their children than in times

So what do we do? A study in 1996-97 found that programs promoting literacy awareness significantly affect parental involvement in children's literacy development. The study suggests that parents read more to their children when they are made aware of the correlation between reading to their children and the actual success of their children in reading; the next step is to make more parents aware.

Whether this awareness is increased by state-sponsored programs or individual school boards, the parents of our society should be more fully informed that their involvement in their children's learning will lead to improved lit-

Of course, this is not the only possible solution, because parental involvement is not the only contributing factor to elementary student literacy. But it is a start. And as the statistics have shown us, we need to start somewhere.

Recreation proposal on ballot deserves support

Memorial Day weekend is coming up. It's the first spring holiday of the year, and for many families it's the first time to get out in our magnificent parks and recreation areas. If you're looking for good places to get out into nature over the weekend, I suggest three:

• Bald Mountain Recreation Area, near Lake Orion in Oakland County. The 4,637-acre area

Phil Power

Township, located in north central Livingston County. Visitors can enjoy nature trails abundant with wildlife in the rolling hills and fishing in the lake. The land was acquired for preservation and public use with $2.8 million from the Michigan Natural Resources Trust Fund.

Natural Area, a spectacular 400-acre

park in Deerfield

 Near Lansing, the Lake Lansing Park North contains more than 400 acres of natural recreation area, including five miles of nature trails through mature oak and maple woodlands. The park was created largely with funds from the Michigan Natural Resources Trust Fund.

Attentive readers will have noticed one thing in common for each of these great places: The land was acquired for public use with money from the Michigan Natural Resources Trust Fund, one of Michigan's most vital devices for preserving our wild woods and waters. What's most remarkable about the Fund is that it doesn't cost taxpayers a single cent!

Since its start back in 1976, the Fund has become Michigan's principal source of state funding for conservation and outdoor recreation projects. Revenue for the Fund comes from the sale of oil, gas and mineral leases and from royalties from oil, gas and minerals take from state-owned land. According to the state Constitution, the interest and earnings from the Trust Fund are to for "the acquisition of land or rights in land for recreational uses or protection of the land because of its environmental importance or its scenic beauty, (or) for the development of public recreation facilities."

The Fund is perhaps Michigan's most important conservation tool. Since its start, it has distributed more than $537 million for 1,200 conservation and recreation projects touching every county in Michigan. Earlier this year, for example, $12 million from the Fund helped the Michigan chapter of the Nature Conservancy buy and preserve for public use and enjoyment some 6,000 acres of unspoiled land at the tip of the Keweenaw Peninsula in the UP.

The Fund, however, urgently needs protection and improvement. So while you're driving north this Memorial Day weekend, I urge you to think kindly about the best way to do this. It's Proposal 2, an amendment to the state Constitution, which will appear on the ballot in the August 6 primary election. If passed, the Proposal would allow Trust Fund assets to be invested at a higher rate of return than possible now and raise the cap on funds from $400 million to $500 million.

Taken together, the value of Proposal 2 to conservation and outdoor recreation in Michigan would be more than $500 million over the next 20 years - all without costing the taxpayer a single cent! This is a sensationally good deal, one that will strengthen the Michigan Natural Resources Trust Fund and assure that Michigan wild woods and waters are preserved and our state parks and recreation areas are strengthened and improved.

Because it's such a good deal, Proposal 2 is receiving support from an unprecedented range of constituencies and organizations, from the Michigan Chamber of Commerce on the right (good state parks and conserved wild lands make for good tourism) to the Michigan Environmental Council on the left (conservation is a holy grail of the environmental movement). Hunters and fisher folk are represented by support from the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, while even the Michigan Oil and Gas Association is greasing (ahem) the skids in support.

Proposal 2 and the vote in August won't make big news between now and the August primary election. Everybody's for it; it's non controversial; it makes incontrovertible sense; it costs the taxpayers nothing. But it is a vital tool in the effort to preserve forever Michigan's great places for public use and enjoyment ... before it's too late. It deserves your support.

A community steps forward - without being asked

Ginnie Hauck will tell you that the residents of Canton Place are a proud lot. They don't complain. If a tenant at the senior apartment community on Sheldon Road is struggling to keep her cupboards filled or pay for prescription medicine on a fixed income, even family members might not have a clue. Especially those tenants who grew up during the Depression and World War II. "It's a generation that made do without, so it's just not in their nature,"

Funny, but her charges aren't the only ones whose pride gets in the way when times are tough. Hauck can demonstrate that same stubborn streak.

That's why it was such a kick the last week or so to see the community response as word got out that the Helping Hands fund - which Hauck uses to quietly bail Canton Place tenants out of financial trouble – was running dangerously low. Much of the money was used last fall, when the adjacent Sheldon Place complex was closed down due to structural problems. The fund was down to about $300, 10 percent of its typical balance.

Hauck will make surreptitious inspections of apartments and use the fund to buy whatever is

The replenishment effort culminated with Monday night's silent auction for sports memorabilia at the Crow's Nest lounge during the Red Wings playoff game.

"I saw the flyers and thought I would come take a look," said Canton resident Tom Niedzielski, as the Wings battled the Colorado Avalanche on a half-dozen TVs in the background. "It's definitely a nice thing to do."

Steve Knoespel of Canton said he wasn't aware of the fund-raiser. "We just came to watch the Wings and eat some (chicken) wings," he quipped. But Knoespel said he latched onto the spirit of the evening and was mulling a bid on a signed, framed print of Detroit's famous "Production Line" of Gordie Howe, Sid Abel and Ted

Of course, Hauck never said a word about the situation, at least not publicly. But the news leaked out via e-mail earlier this month - thanks to the Canton Chamber of Commerce - and things started happening. The Observer ran a front-page story on May 12 and other media outlets soon weighed in on the matter.

The auction was the idea of Canton resident

Jim Reed, who runs a fund-raiser program for his Original Six Memorabilia business. Reed donates anything over the minimum bid to the charity he is working with. It's a way to help his company's bottom line and get involved in the community at the same time, he said.

"Usually, you see something reported once and then it kind of goes away," Reed said. "But when I kept hearing things, seeing stories, I knew there was a problem."

Although Monday's crowd was on the slim side and there wasn't exactly a mad scramble to fill out the bid sheets, Reed said he was glad to help out. "We've collected a few donations and that's the whole point," he said.

An autographed Steve Yzerman jersey did attract a bid of $300 by the end of the first period. And it was interesting just taking in some of the more unusual items set out on the auction tables. A plaque featuring the original NHL stadiums (Detroit's Olympia, Madison Square Gar-, den, Boston Garden, Chicago Stadium, Maple Leaf Gardens and the Montreal Forum) as a backdrop to the "Original Six" Zamboni machines. is a sure conversation-starter.

The hockey fan in Reed slipped out as well. When the bar erupted after Kirk Maltby's second? period goal, Reed raced over to pick a Maltby jersey from his rack and wave it in joyous celebra-

Auction proceeds were supplemented by a couple of checks dropped off during the day, from Lansing legislators Bruce Patterson and Thaddeus McCotter.

With that, the fund is solvent again, according to Hauck. "I'm just blown away at how compassionate everyone is. With all that's been going on since 9/11, it's wonderful that there are still peon ple willing to step up and take care of these, needs," she said Monday from her table at the Crow's Nest. There are even people who have offered to do additional fund-raisers, she added.

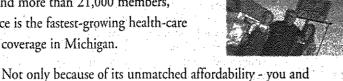

As for spending an evening watching hockey in a local lounge, Hauck, decked out in a bright red polo shirt with the Red Wing logo, said she wouldn't have it any other way. "I'm a fan too. I' probably would have been watching the game at home," she said.

County health care efforts would feel brunt of tax cut

BY TEDD SCHNEIDER

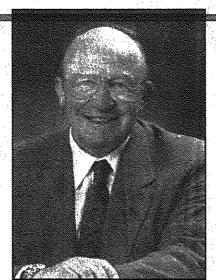

tschneider@oe.homecomm.net

Detroit Metropolitan Airport patrons could save a few bucks on parking with passage of a bill that cuts the current 30-percent tax in half.

But critics of the legislation, including Wayne County Executive Ed McNamara and some local state representatives, say the move will come at the expense of providing health care for lowincome workers and indigent county residents.

Others suggested Thursday that the proposed repeal of the 15-yearold Airport Parking Tax Act was just another skirmish in the ongoing battle over money and attention between state legislators and Wayne County officials.

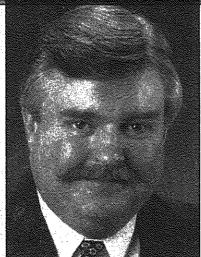

Wayne County Commissioner Lyn Bankes of Livonia called the

The Michigan House of Representatives passed HB4454 on a 55-41 vote late May 15 after several amendments. The bill will likely summer and could be signed by Gov. John Engler before holiday travelers descend on Metro's terminals in the fall.

Patterson has been pushing for a repeal of the parking tax since his election in 1998. The bill that passed this week was first introduced in March 2001.

It reduces the parking tax to 15 percent and redirects most of the remaining money it will generate to a bond program for security improvements at airports throughout the state.

The parking tax was originally approved by the legislature in 1987 to make up a county budget deficit and pay for state mandated indigent health care services. Money from the tax is also used to pay for the county's HealthChoice program, developed in the late 1990s so that small businesses can provide low-cost health insurance to their employees.

The law had no sunset provision be approved in the Senate this but Patterson said it was designed as a one-time fix. He also said finding additional money for antiterrorism efforts is a priority.

"Wayne County never saw a tax it didn't like. It's time to finally put a stop to that," Patterson said Thursday.

The tax cut would cost the county about $15 million a year in revenue, according to McNamara, a figure that Patterson disputes. Patterson said county officials aren't taking into account higher revenues from the garage at the new terminal and an increase in overall parking rates at the air-

Three Wayne County legislators supported the bill, along with several representatives from Oakland and Macomb counties.

"I think this is going to hurt people, people that I deal with all the time (as a member of the Family Independence Agency appropriations subcommittee)," said Rep. Laura Toy, R-Livonia.

Toy was a supporter of the original legislation but took her name off the bill that passed Wednes-

Reps. John Stewart (R-Plymouth Township), Glenn Anderson (D-Westland) and James Plakas (D-Garden City) voted against the bill. Rep. Bob Brown (D-Redford) didn't vote.

Bankes said in addition to hurting people who can least afford it, politics played a prominent role in the push to pass the bill. "This is just one more 'I don't like Ed McNamara' piece of legislation,'

Artists create work from a female perspective

ora Chapa Mendoza went home haunted by one of the art works she juried into the exhibit presented by the Womencenter at Oakland Community College in Farmington Hills. Chervl Gordon's installation brought back memories of Mendoza's mother who died when she was only four-years-old. Out of 455 entries in From Our Perspective, the woman lying on the bed moved the West Bloomfield artist enough to award it Best of Show, a decision she shared with co-juror Leslie Masters, an instructor at the Birmingham Bloomfield Art Center.

Mendoza is an award winning artist herself. She's currently working around the clock preparing for shows in Battle Creek and Detroit galleries, and the Plymouth Community Arts

"A juror always looks for something new and fresh, something that talks to you whether it's because of the feeling and emotion or because it is well executed," said Mendoza.

Gordon's Reflection disturbs the viewer. Who is this woman with a body made of disjointed tree branches and tortuous projection resting like a crown on top of her head? Family photos and a trunk of memorabilia tell the story of her life, but what's the significance of a vintage dresser with fractured mirror and bowl of faded rose petals

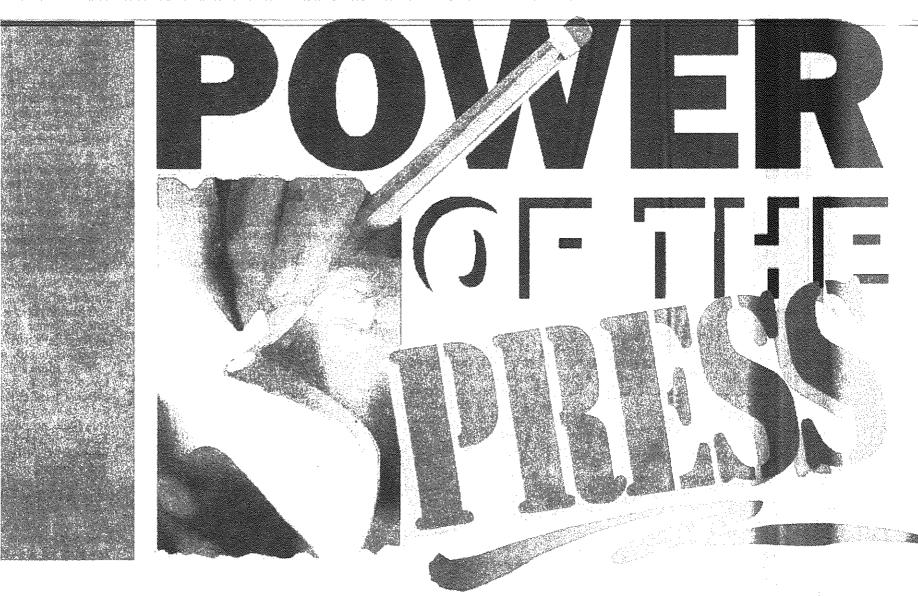

"When I saw it I felt this emotion in my body," said Mendoza, "It was so powerful it almost moved me to tears. Afterwards I examined my feelings about it. It healed a part of my being I hadn't thought about in years.

"The purpose of painting is to bring joy, happiness, to heal and bring up issues not often thought about. The show is an opportunity for women to express and get into their own personal feelings, to have courage to paint about what they really feel. A show like this gives them a reason to paint (these subjects), to start exploring themselves.'

Playwright examines ethics in journalism

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN lchomin@oe.homecomm.net

Berl Falbaum prides himself on never having used a "No comment" during all his years in journalism. The phrase implies guilt, a theme that runs through his first play. No Comment makes its world premiere at a benefit performance Saturday, June 1 at the Livonia Civic Center Library Theater then continues Thursday-Saturday, June 6-8 at the Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford.

Falbaum seems nervous as he visits one of the rehearsals at the Theatre Guild in Redford. He's chosen not to rewrite the script but let director Maxine Parshall interpret the material. His only input so far is to suggest that reporters use a narrower notebook

"It's frustrating writing a play and other people interpreting your words," said Falbaum, a West Bloomfield resident who has taught journalism at Wayne State University for 34 years. "I'm going to be a basket case opening night but this (theater) is not my field. I debated what to do (as far as being there for re-writes). They wanted to temper the language a little and they do but not at the end when it gets heated in the city room, because that's what you hear in the city room.

Falbaum's hands-off approach doesn't mean he's not serious about the subject of ethics in journalism. He stresses, reporters must remain objective especially when reputations of innocent people are at stake. In No Comment, Joe Castle crosses the line when he agrees to write about a guhernatorial candidate who's been accused of sexual harassment by a female student at the university where he serves as president. The prosecutor, who has political aspirations himself, promises an exclusive if Castle leaks the information – but his source must remain anonymous. It's important to note that no charges have been brought by the prosecutor but a search warrant for the man's home revealed a plethora of pornographic material. Circumstantial evidence, letters written to the student on the university president's computer, clinches his guilt in Castle's mind. "It's an ethical issue," said Falbaum, "We don't deal with it. We just talk about it. If there's any institution beyond reproach it should be the media. The reason it's so important is the media affects our lives. I base my decisions on how to vote for candidates based on the media. Media can destroy reputations. I think a reporter has no idea of the power they wield.

Sinfondalia yazuman eteksi kusuma.

"I hope a lot of journalists come. There are a lot of issues with media that need examination. It takes little to change it.'

Ethics in journalism rates a high priority in Falbaum's classroom at Wayne State University. It's a subject he wrote about in his first novel A Matter of Precedents.

Ten years as a reporter for The Detroit News gave Falbaum an insight to the inner workings of government and ethics in journalism. He eventually resigned from his position as chief of the City-County Bureau to write speeches and handle media relations for Michigan's then lieutenant governor. Today, he's president of Falbaum & Associates, a public and media relations firm in Farmington Hills.

"All my subjects are around journalism," said Falbaum "I've spent 45-years in journalism. I have a passion for it but there are a lot of things wrong with it. I'd been thinking about this theme for some time, it's an expansion of the theme in the novel that deals with ethics and was written three to four years before Enron occurred."

Long-standing tradition: Preservation Hall Jazz Band brings the music of New Orleans to Southfield. The band first began playing in the historic hall 40 years ago.

Jazz band carries on New Orleans tradition

By Linda Ann Chomin STAFF WRITER lchomin@oe.homecomm.net

Benjamin Jaffe grew up in New Orleans loving the jazz that flowed out of the clubs and onto the streets. For him, the music paints a picture of the history of the city where his father Allan and mother Sandra began holding jam sessions in a historic home which was then an art gallery. Built as a residence in the heart of the French Quarter of his father. in 1750, the structure survived the War of 1812 as a tavern. Allan and Sandra bought the building in 1961 and turned it into a place to enjoy jazz, New Orleans style. Jaffe carries on the tradition of offering the music to locals and tourists every night of the year in Preservation Hall. He took over management of the establishment in 1993 when his mother semi-retired after the death

A string bass player, Jaffe and the Preservation Hall Jazz Band bring the sounds of New Orleans to the Southfield Pavilion Thursday, May 30. The band recently recorded a CD at Preservation Hall to allow people to experience the New Orleans sound if they can't visit the hall or attend the concert. Locals

When Dean Gaboury dances across the stage as the lead character in Singin' in the Rain he won't have to worry about slipping in a puddle. in the show. "They're talking about filling the drum with hot water a couple of hours before the show starts.

It's Dolly Scheibelhut's job to eliminate any problems created by the famous scene where Kelly swung around lamp posts as he tapped through the street after dark. That hasn't always been easy. It takes four crew members just to move the rain machine incorporated into the set to the front of the stage. After the rain falls and gathers in the gutters, they must mop up the water before moving the set back.

Scheibelhut's spent hours learning about the system that re-circulates the rain water back to a 55-gallon drum. So far, none has ended up in the pit, where the 12-member orchestra will sit, but another area of the theater was not as lucky.

"The first time we made it rain, it flooded the basement where costumers work," said Scheibelhut, Stagecrafters treasurer and one of the costumers for the 25-member cast. "It's quit leaking in the basement now.

"I'm happy we resolved the problem because this theater was built in 1922 as a Vaudeville house that members worked very hard to restore after a fire."

Purchased from a theater group in Grand Rapids a year ago, the rain machine sets the mood for the boy meets girl, boy falls in love and uses all his powers of persuasion to ensure a happy ending.

"It's a funny script," said director David McIntosh of Beverly Hills. "It still makes me laugh. It takes place in 1927 when The Jazz Singer, Al Jolson's talkie movie came out and the silent movie business knew they had to adapt. Lina is a big silent movie star and she had a horrible voice. We're incorporating a film portion that shows the progression from silent film to talkie.

"I love the scene where Lina is trying to aim her voice toward the microphone. It made me laugh in auditions; it makes me laugh now."

Mary Ann Redhage has as much fun playing the part of the fictitious movie queen as the audience does watching her strut through the play in a flashy white flapper costume.

"She's the epitome of annoying, completely full of herself," said Redhage, who acted in her first play at Troy High School before going on to study theater at Wayne State University. "Her looks have gotten her through life. She's not able to make the transition because of her voice and she's in love with her costar Don Lockwood. It's the role of a lifetime. There are big

Broadway numbers and the rain is something people don't expect to see on stage. If people enjoyed the movie, they'll love being up close and watching it rain at night." Kelly Janney and her late father loved the movie. That's why she's thrilled to be playing Don Lockwood's love interest.

"As a kid I watched the movie with my father. He's gone now, so it's very special," said Janney, a Rochester Hills resident. "It's like a dream to perform in it. The three of us (Gaboury and Doug Clark, who plays Donald O'Connor's character in the movie) are friends off stage and it helps the chemistry on stage. The movie and music are incredibly famous. It's going to get applause."

"I think the audience will see this explosion of music on stage," added Clark who puts all of his dance lessons to use in the part. The audience doesn't expect it for community theater."

Bob Czaplicki's sound design sets the mood for the upbeat show and scene where the Gene Kelly character twirls his umbrella while laying down fancy footwork.

There's a tremendous amount of sound effect - rain, thunder," said Czaplicki, a Plymouth resident who's worked with the Plymouth Theatre Guild. "The hardest part as a sound designer is you can't have as many microphones as people so you try to group these body mikes around the leads. There are also floor mikes and shotgun mikes projecting from the walls in the Singin' in the Rain Scheibelhut said Czaplicki's behind-the-scenes contribution is what makes the 300-member Stagecrafters community theater group a sell-out with audiences. Next season, promises to top this one with five main stage productions which include the musicals Pirates of Penzance, Chicago and A Secret Garden, 2nd Stage productions of contemporary shows - How I learned to Drive, Floyd Collins and Cowgirl, and for younger audiences the musical Pippy Longstocking. Over the last 10 years Arlene Frank's seen certain themes appear again and again – abuse, divorce, memories of a troubled family. These are all issues Frank faces as director of the Womencenter where counseling, scholarships, seminars and workshops help women' find their way in life.

Artists in the exhibit use paint, clay, photography, and sculpture to do the same. Carole Snizek-Vogler fractures a woman's body in her ceramic wall piece. Canton artist Connie Lucas takes apart the body of a baby doll to make a statement about the promise of education. Inside a box which represents the babies torso, Lucas places a pouch filled with dozens of miniature dolls. At the base of the assemblage is a toy fireman, soldiers, baseball player, and a lone female teacher. On a brighter note, Livonia artist Regina Dunne created a pastel drawing of a nude model whose hair takes on the vibrancy of a red pillow lying nearby.

"Women often do their art from a different perspectives," said Frank. "When the exhibit began 30-years ago as Our Visions, women were under represented in galleries and shows."

Darcy Scott is able to show her acrylic painting Lost Souls (9/11) because of efforts on behalf of women artists. Currently, she has work on exhibit in the Alfred Berkowitz Gallery at the University of Michigan-Dearborn and Huntsville Art Museum in Texas. On May 25, she'll be in the Michigan Water Color Society show at the Ella Sharp Museum in Jackson.

Scott's surreal Lost Souls painting won an honorable mention for portraying the loss of thousands of lives in the devastation wrought by the terrorists attacks on America. Oak stools and a lone fireman's helmet swirl through an abyss.

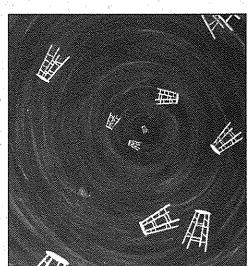

"It's my reaction to everything that happened," said Scott, a West Bloomfield artist who's shown work at the Birmingham Bloomfield Art Center and Cary Gallery in Rochester since the early 1980s. "I wasn't ready to show it emotionally before. It helped me to get my emotions out."

Mary Danko Schraffenberger used mixed media to express her feelings as well. The Livonia artist fears Cajun and Zydeco music is dying. She hopes to draw attention to the music she came to love while learning to play the triangle, rub board and Cajun accordion at a camp in West Virginia last year. Energetic ink lines flow from an accordion in her photographic litho print which blends computer technology with watercolor painting and pen and ink.

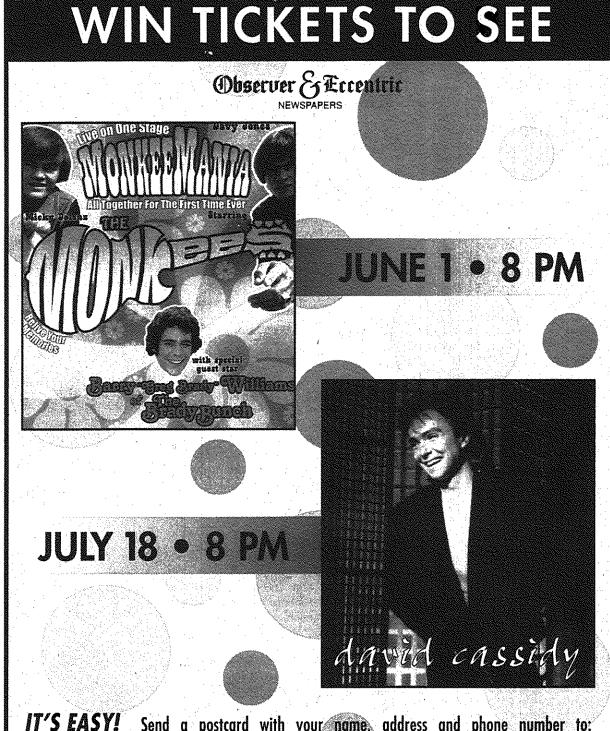

"I have a feel for the music, the excitement that comes out of it," said Schraffenberger who graduated with a bachelor of fine arts degree from the University of Michigan last December. "There is such a small amount of musicians doing this in southwest Louisiana. I don't want it lost. I've been photographing musicians about a year and a half to document who's playing the music."

Theatre Guild looks to a brighter future

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN STAFF WRITER

Maxine Parshall knew the minute she read the script for No Comment, the drama would draw crowds to the Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford. Berl Falbaum's commentary on ethics in journalism would not only increase ticket sales but be a perfect vehicle for a fundraiser. It's no secret the Theatre Guild has struggled to remain a viable venue in the community. What better way to announce the turn around than with a world premiere Saturday, June 1, at the Livonia Civic Center Library Theater.

"We've decided to use it as a fundraiser because we've had some financial difficulties in the past couple of year," said Parshall who directs No Comment. "The Theatre Guild's been in

"I think the play addresses important issues. It's very exciting to be involved in an original play. The last 10-years we've made the stage available to local playwrights for a one acts festival. No Comment, a fulllength play, addresses the public's right to know versus privacy issues important to every-

Assistant director Genevieve Terry believes the play will give audiences reason to pause and reflect on the practices of media in this country. Terry is a Farmington Hills resident who frequently works with SRO Productions in Southfield.

"I like the play because it gives you something to think about," said Terry who's been with the Theatre Guild 15years. "It tells you about issues that should be corrected."

Examining the facts is one of the steps the Theatre Guild took to ensure a brighter future. Last fall the 90-member organization began redecorating the interior and box office, organized cos-operation since 1953 and over tume and prop inventory, and early evening hours will make purchased new packs to power

> "We have a new board as of last September," said Joe Agilone of Farmington Hills. Agilone is treasurer and producer of the current production. "We now hold open auditions. You don't have to be a member to be in a play."

Agilone's experience in the field will help guide the Theatre's Guild to success. As manager for the Federal Bureau of Entertainment, he develops and promotes one-person shows which includes Steven Berkoff playing Shakespeare's villains June 26 at the Power Center as part of the Ann Arbor Summer Festival.

"We're celebrating our 50th anniversary season in September and I see the future as stable," said Agilone. "In early October we're opening with the musical Clue, Gaslight, a romantic mystery follows in December when we'll also do Babes in Toyland for children, and we're offering a summer camp for children in theater beginning in June. It's for second grade to high school students. Morning, afternoon and years in theater should help attract new interest in the Redford venue. Her InterACT business is presenting children's theater camps at The Community House in Birmingham June 24-July 12 and July 15 to Aug. 2, at First Presbyterian Church in Farmington Hills Aug. 5-16, and at the Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford June 10 to Aug. 30. The two week camps will spotlight beginning and advanced acting, vocal training, improvisation, and a pop and rock opera workshop with full electronic band as accompani-

"I've known they've been in trouble for a couple of years and have turned themselves around," said Tedrick, a Farmington Hills resident. "In May 2000 I produced a show for them, Cabaret Calypso, as a fundraiser and wanted to help them again to make some money and to attract people."

Laura Jerome's mind. She was required to take a class in it to complete her MBA at the University of Michigan-Flint. Jerome plays Sue Little, a young reporter who casts doubt on Castle's presumption of guilt.

"She's a fascinating character and I'm able to relate to her, said Jerome, a Royal Oak resident who works for a performance management firm in Farmington Hills and frequently acts with SRO Productions in Southfield. "Most of the newspaper people are focused on getting the exclusive. She accesses the conscience. Should we be doing this? What if he's innocent? She's the only one to raise the question and discuss the line between what is legal and what is ethical?

"In the class we learned that whenever in doubt ask yourself, would you be comfortable telling your mother what you've done?"

Yvonne Thomas thinks probably not in the case of the student accusing her character's husband of sexual harassment. Thomas confront the young girl in a riveting scene. There's more at stake than the political aspirations of her husband.

"It's tense," said Thomas of Southfield. "I'm pleading for my husband's life with this girl. I'm a family woman, strong, with a lot of faith in my husband and faith in the system." Unfortunately faith isn't enough to save Thomas's character from the heartache she endures as a result of the allega-"I like the subject matter." said Thomas. "It's relevant and ing about it and discussing it." After playing the role of the prosecutor in No Comment, Jim Charles says he'll read articles with a sense of skepticism.

provocative. You go home think-

"Ralph is pretty sharp with a definite plan about where he's going with his career," said Charles, a West Bloomfield builder who's doing his first show with the Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford. "He will do whatever it takes. He's not a bad guy but bends the rules.

"The show isn't about choreography, staging. It's about the words Berl has written. It reinforces the fact that I have no interest in politics. It's an interesting show. I think the audience will be entertained but it will make them think when they pick up certain articles.'

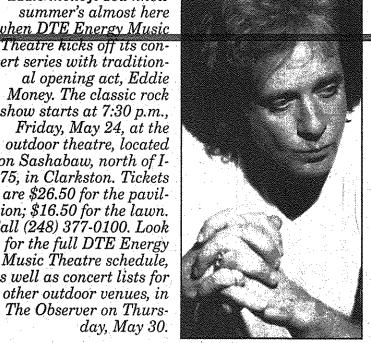

Jason Romero refrains from using the word entertaining but admits the play does make an impact on audience members, especially when it's revealed the university president is innocent and has taken matters into his own hands. Romero, a Livonia resident, plays Sam Hintz, the city editor urging Castle to make a deal for the exclusive.

"The play recognizes certain ethics of newspapers have to be upheld," said Romero. "It's a very good story. You get to the ending and wow."

and tourists from age 9 to 90 visit the hall simply to listen to the music. There's no food or drink but admission is still only $5 for the evening.

"New Orleans was a hotbed of jazz," said Jaffe, age 31. "The band's original members were founders of jazz in America. I've lived in New Orleans my whole life and grew up listening to and observing musicians play the music. The music is a testament to the history of New Orleans and its survival. It's a pure representation of the culture of New Orleans. The music is something you absorb as a child. It's never formally taught. You stand next to people who are playing it. It's an oral tradition. "It's a music that serves a social function. It's a music we play at funerals and parades at appropriate tempo, not so fast people can't walk to it, not so slow people can't dance to it. I love that the hall and music brings people together, lets them share in the happiness we get to experience every day."

The hall brought joy to Jaffe long before he played in the band though. Like he said, he spent hours listening to veteran musicians. One of his favorites a few nights there (Preservation will be at the concert if her Hall). She tore the house down.

SPIRIT: STALLION OF CIMARRON

This animated story follows the adventures of a wild and rambunctious mustang stallion as he journeys through the untamed American frontier. Encountering man for the first time, Spirit defies being broken, even as he develops a remarkable friendship with a young Lakota brave. The courageous young stallion also finds love with a beautiful paint mare named Rain on his way to becoming one of the greatest unsung heroes of the Old West. Voices include James Cromwell, Daniel Studi and Bryan Adams. Directed by Kelly Asbury and Lorna Cook. (Dreamworks SKG) Rated G.

ENOUGH

Billed as a suspense drama, the story centers on a young waitress who marries the man of her dreams, a wealthy contractor, and slowly realizes that he is actually an abusive psychotic husband. When she is forced to run away from him, he pursues her, forcing her into a final showdown. Stars Noah Wyle, Jennifer Lopez, Billy Campbell, Juliette Lewis. Michael Apted directed the film. (Columbia Pictures) Rated PG-13.

THE IMPORTANCE OF BEING EARNEST Two young gentlemen living in 1890's

England use the same pseudonym ("Earnest") on the sly, which is fine untilthey both fall in love with women using that name, which leads to a comedy of mistaken identities. Stars Rupert Everett, Colin Firth, Judi Dench, Frances O'Connor, Reese Witherspoon. Directed by Oliver Parker. (Miramax Films)

Sent from the city to investigate the murder of a teenage girl in a small Alaska town, a police detective accidentally shoots his own partner while trying to apprehend a suspect. Instead of admitting his guilt, the detective is given anunexpected allbi, but this "solution" only multiplies the emotional complexity and guilt over his partner's death. He's also still got a murder mystery to solve, in addition to the blackmail and framing (of

Local pubs with multiple screens score with Red Wing fans

BY MARY QUINLEY SPECIAL WRITER

Hockey fever has struck like a wild fire. Have you caught it?

Symptoms range from an unquenchable thirst for a cup named Stanley to nail biting and loud delirious outbursts.

The cause? The red hot Wings.

On game day, neighborhood sports bars offer a haven for the afflicted. Many of the establishments feature a variety of multiple TV screens. "I'm a Red Wings' fanatic!" said Kevin Dudek of Farmington Hills, who enjoys watching the hockey games at The Sideline in Livonia.

drinks and food choices and

The atmosphere, he said. reminds him of the camaraderie on the television show "Cheers." The staff is friendly and they go out of their way to be nice to the customers.

Hockeytown fans, said Sandy Beslach, manager of The Sideline, are loyal, love to party and have a good time while rooting for the home team.

At The Sideline, Beslach said, patrons get a "big kick" out of the blast of the truck horn and the flash of the revolving red light when the Wings score a goal.

Feel that hockey fever coming on? If so, slip on something red and mosey on down to your favorite neighborhood pub.

Here are some suggestions for bars that cater to sports

The Sideline - 36000 Seven Mile Road, Livonia, (248) 478-4550, open 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Sunday, 11 a.m. to midnight Monday-Saturday. Nine TV screens, appetizers, specialty pizzas, sandwiches and salads are featured on the menu.

Coach's Corner Bar & Grill of Livonia - 19170 Farmington Road, (248) 615-1330, open noon-midnight Sunday, 11 a.m. to 2 a.m. Monday-Saturday. This family-owned, upscale tavern with 11 TV screens features homemade soups, burgers, steaks, fish, daily lunch and dinner specials.

Kicker's All American Grill - 36071 Plymouth Road,

Livonia, (734) 261-5500, open 11 a.m. to midnight Monday-Tuesday, 11 a.m. to 2 a.m. Wednesday-Friday, 5 p.m. to 2 a.m. Saturday. Closed on Sunday except during football season. Fifteen TV screens, full menu includes appetizers, salads, steaks, and grinders.

■ Champps –19470 Haggerty Road, Livonia, (734) 591-3334, open noon-midnight Sunday, 11 a.m. to 2 a.m. MondaySaturday. The full service eatery features 10 TV screens, a wide variety of appetizers, salads, sandwiches, steaks and fish entrees.

■ Beaver Creek Restaurant - 1609 Wayne Road, Westland, (734) 722-5330, open noon to 2 a.m. Sunday, 11 a.m. to 2 a.m. Monday-Saturday. Fifteen TVs, full course meals, sandwiches, soups, salads and fresh-from-the-oven chocolate chip cookies.

■ Malarkey's - 35750 Warren Road, Westland, (734) 421-0746, open noon to 2 a.m. Sunday, 11 a.m. to 2 a.m. Monday-Saturday. Twenty-three TV screens, menu offers soups, salads, burgers, sandwiches and "steak bits," a house specialty.

■ Mason's Lounge -13490 Farmington Road, Livonia, (734) 427-0650, open 9 a.m. to 2 a.m. Monday-Saturday, closed Sunday, nine screens available. Looking for the "best bar burger" in metro Detroit? You'll find it here.

■ Damon's - 43750 Ford Road, Canton (734) 207-7427, open 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Sunday, 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Monday-Thursday, 11 a.m. to midnight Friday-Saturday. This family-friendly eatery has 16 TV screens, and a full menu that features ribs.

■ Bench Pub - 33653 Five Mile Road, Livonia, (734) 427-8460, open noon-2 a.m. Sunday, 9 a.m. to 2 a.m. Monday-Saturday. Watch sports on one of four TV screens while feasting on basic bar food.

Johnston's Sports Den -11666 Woodbine (west of Telegraph), Redford, (313) 531-4644, open 10 a.m. to 1 a.m. Monday-Friday, closed Saturday-Sunday. A neighborhood bar with three TVs, menu includes burgers, tacos and daily specials.

day doesn't goes by without me getting two to six voice mail messages about hot water tanks and defective dip tubes. These people haven't heard about the problem nor do they know that the whole thing was settled in court. Manufacturers are no longer paying for

An estimated 18 million homeowners did not replace their dip tubes when they should have - by the end of the year 2000.

I've learned that many of these folks purchased a new washer or dishwasher during the past few years. If they cleaned the screen on the water valve they wouldn't have had to replace their appliance. I tell them the defective dip tube sends out little white flakes that plug up everything hot water flows through. These conversations prove over and over that an uneducated consumer is a confused one. I'm now going to tell you a little story to explain the importance of being an informed consumer. The story concerns General Electric or Hotpoint washing machines from the 1960s through 1980s. If I should happen to come down with cancer in my coming years, and a doctor can prove that it was caused by asbestos, I am going to file suit against the General Electric Compa-

For many years I repaired the clutch assembly on these washers which had several brake shoes made of asbestos. Every time I did this I would blow out the fine dust that accumulated during the years of wear. I used compressed air like all appliance shops do in the repair business. The dust I was breathing was pure asbestos, the same stuff that was introduced into millions of laundry rooms across America for 25 years. In the past 10 years General Electric hasn't used a clutch assembly like I describe, and in the 1980s, they changed the material on the brake shoes. They had to because asbestos was proven dangerous, but do you think anything was ever publicized about the subject? I don't think so folks and what you are reading here today is very similar to the way the defective dip tube story in hot water tanks was revealed to the American public. The story was published in this paper before it appeared on national TV across the country. Be an informed consumer. Most people aren't, which helps explain why 18 million consumers didn't get the dip tube repaired on their hot water tank repaired for free. Stay tuned.

New Greenmead trail pays tribute to Livonia

Marsh marigold, lily of the valley and may

This colorful hint of blooming and fragrant plant life is more than an aesthetic at Livonia's "mini Greenfield Village." At the Greenmead Historical Park on Newburgh Road, a special Livonia gardener will always be remembered. Virginia B. Matley, a dedicated member of the Livonia Garden Club since 1976, did more than her share of sprucing up this

Members of the club and visitors will now be able to stroll among the lively greenery and see the animals frolicking around the Matley Trail at Greenmead.

Taking in the view: Joe Guibard sits on one of the benches made by his two Eagle Scout sons, Jeff and Matt. The bench is situated along the trail and next to a large patch of May apples.

The trail, which was a cooperative effort of five area Boy Scout troops and the Livonia Garden Club, was dedicated Sunday to the cherished gardener and garden tour leader, a native of Virginia who was 82 when she died in 2000. Fifty people, including 20 of Matley's family members, attended the dedication and a tour of the trail.

"We think it's such a beautiful tribute to someone who has played such an important role in everything that has gone on over here," said Marian Renaud, program supervisor at Greenmead.

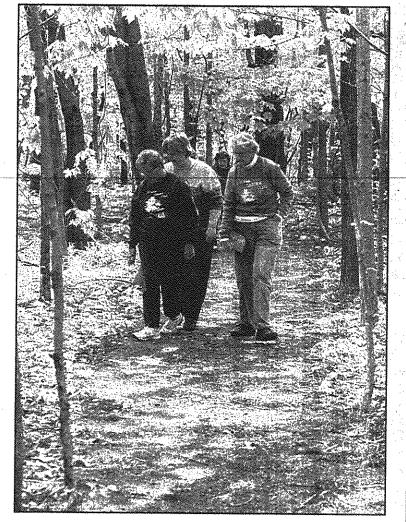

The club members and Greenmead staff say Matley had a personality they won't soon "She was genteel, but then there was just

Wear and tear: This is one of the pictures submitted by Pam Pearson of Garden City that won the Ugly Bathroom contest. Pearson said the three-dimensional toilet seat is a newer model, but due to hard wear such as kids standing on it to see the mirror, it is already "wrecked." A previ-ous attempt at bathroom remodeling, which involved removing a cemented- in bathtub in order to replace it, resulted in damage to the floor and

Having the ugliest bathroom is good news for this Garden City family

BY SUSAN STEINMUELLER STAFF WRITER

Learning that you have the ugliest bathroom of them all is not usually something to be elated by.

But it was music to the ears of Pam Pearson of Garden City.

The reason?

On Saturday, Pearson was announced as the winner of the 2001-2002 Ugliest Bathroom Contest during WJR's The Appliance Doctor show hosted by Observer & Eccentric columnist Joe Gagnon.

As the grand prize winner out of 393 entries, she will receive a bathroom makeover worth $10,000.

Pearson's renovated bathroom will include an Air Masseur Massage Bathtub by Jason, bath cabinetry by Bertch, faucets by Harden, an ultra-flush toilet by Gerber, a tile tub surround and more. Installation will be by J&M

Home Improvement.

"I'm thrilled. I am so happy. You have no idea how much I'm going to enjoy it," said Pearson in a telephone interview this week.

Pearson, the grandmother of seven, said the bathroom is the only one in the 1950s house she shares with her husband, William, and two adopted grandchildren.

'We've lived here for so long. I raised my four kids here, now I'm raising my grandchildren. We wanted to redo it before, but if there was money, there was no time. If there was time, there was no

"I'm happy about winning, but embarrassed at the same time. What a contest to win, right?"

Pearson, however, isn't the only person who feels strongly about his or her bathroom being ugly.

The contest was judged earlier this month at the WJR studios in downtown Detroit's Fisher Building.

Overflowing boxes of entries contained not only pictures, but emotional letters or booklet presentations aimed at describing the sorry state of owner's bathrooms.

A sample: A first time home-owning couple said money ran out before they could fix the bath-

"Consequently, this is the evesore that we have to live with for who knows how long," the woman wrote.

"The walls are terrible because the previous owner decided to use 3 gallons of glue to hold up four pieces of paneling." As for the medicine cabinet, "we just have a piece of mirror loosely rigged to the wall.

"Despite it being small," she had no doubt, however, that there would be room for a new tub, "especially after you rip out the Toiletzilla.'

Others were more somber. A Wayne resident wrote that her brother with multiple sclerosis finds it nearly impossible to maneuver his wheelchair into the bathroom. Others were humorous.

■ A Farmington Hills resilent sent in a picture of an outhouse, but that was disqualified.

The Ugliest Bathroom Contest was sponsored by WJR AM 760 Radio, The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, the Building Industry Association of Southeast Michigan, and Mathison Supply of Livonia, Garden City and Canton.

Judges were Rosalie Lamb and Denise Rosenthal of the Building Industry Association of Southeast Michigan, Joe Fisher of Jason Harden Co., Frank Mathison of Mathison Supply, Mike DeSmith of J&M Kitchen and Bathroom Remodeling, Nancy Rosen of Nancy Rosen & Co. Inc., Joe Gagnon, and Observer & Eccentric At Home editor Susan Steinmueller.

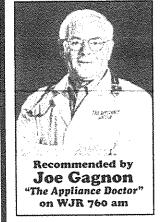

The bathroom remodeling is expected to start in Septem-

When the renovated bathroom is complete, it will be featured in an Observer & Eccentric At Home article.

over the years," said Renaud. The trail has a mixture of plentiful other wildflowers and plants, such as tulips, trout lily, Jack-inthe-pulpit, Solomon's seal and spring beauty. But there's one plant that's extra special to the club.

"The May apples are our biggest pride," said Joan Peterson, who was a close friend of Matley.

But there's more than meets the eye within this trail. Animals, particularly foxes, woodchucks, deer and rabbits, have taken their own interest in the woods of this trail. Several birds, such as killdeers, barn swallows, blue birds, blue jays, robins, and wild finch, have also been spotted here and there.

Although the trail has officially been open for the public, the members say improvements, such as birdfeeding stations, will be added to improve the area.

"It's going to be an ongoing commitment for the garden club and future Boy Scout projects," Renaud said. "It's going to be a living, gi ing environment.

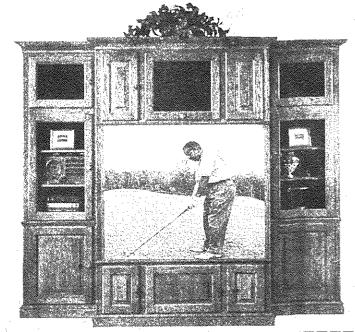

"It's very much a nice memorial." Greenmead Historical Park is owned by the city of Livonia and operated by the Livonia Historical Commission. The Livonia public service department forestry division and the 16th District Court Probation Department also assisted in the creation of the trail.

On the trail: Plant identification along the trail is accomplished with pieces of flagstone. The stone blends in better and is not as intrusive as signs on stakes in the ground.

some of the blue hills, but forget a black diamond or the moguls.

My 6- and 8-year-old are already way beyond my skill level, and my toddler is waiting in the wings. But I no longer think I'm a terrible skier nor do I steer the kids toward a different activity when skiing is an option.

I've conquered my lack of confidence on the ski hill because I've come to the realization that it's acceptable to make mistakes - to occasionally fall down when I go beyond what my mind believes are limitations - in front of my children.

My children care about being together on the hills (even if it means I only see them at the bottom of the hill where the blue and the green marked hills cross paths), whether it's with Mom or Dad. Each time they traverse a hill, they know we are sharing in their victories, no matter how big or small.

Our chats on the chair lift are memorable whether we talk about what we can do better on the hill or share everyday experiences.

I love to play tennis. Each time I'm on the court, I'm learning something new. I gain more confidence. It's a sport my husband and I enjoy playing together. My two older children are just starting to like the sport.

When one of them has an "off" day on the court, he might not jump at the chance to go to the next week's lesson. But I encourage him to get out there and try again.

■ Weak skills make strong lessons about working harder next time to focus on what went wrong and how to correct it. Practice, hard work and experience breed success.

When we're not good at something, we lack confidence and self-esteem. We shy away from it, and gravitate to our comfort zones. When we do that, we miss out on a slice of life we may never get the chance to experience to the fullest

The key is to try something more than once. If the first experience left an unfavorable impression, try it again. Maybe the surrounding circumstances contributed to the lack of success.

We might retreat when a mentor or peer infers we need more work on something.

Perhaps we blame our lack of interest on age -- the older we get, the more often we gravitate to what we're good at and refrain from what we're not.

Teacher falls under a parent's "job description."

My children and I talk about how there is nothing wrong with making a mistake because you just get right back up and keep trying.

I'm not concerned about how well they think I can ski. I think it's good for everyone in my family to see each other learn new skills.

Some of my family may be better at one thing, while the rest of us are good at another. I'm more interested in helping my children learn something they have a passion for as an early age. The last thing I want to do is hold them back because I'm not good at something and don't want them to see me make a mis-

Remote control switch for lamp is a bright idea

FOR AP WEEKLY FEATURES

We have a decorator lamp in our TV room. It is colorful and rests atop a tall floor speaker in a corner between the entertainment center and the wall.

The lamp is unusual and, therefore, a conversation piece. That's the good part. Turning it on and off is the bad.

The lamp switch is on the cord instead of on the lamp itself. Getting to the switch is awkward because we drape the cord over the back of the speaker to keep it concealed.

And, the area surrounding the lamp is congested _ television cabinet, speaker and lamp all crammed in a corner. That's why getting to the switch is a big pain. We've found a solution to our problem, one we think you will find interest-

Recently, a company that makes unusual electrical products contacted us about their wares. This company makes, light switches. We checked out their products. There were switches galore.

As we were rummaging through them, we noticed a box that looked like a wall receptacle.

It was packaged in a plastic container side by side with a device that looked like a garage-door opener _ gray with a white button.

We realized it was another form of an electronic switch. However, it wasn't motion-activated. It was button-activated _ remote button-activated. Wow!

What a discovery _ an adaptor for a wall plug that could be switched on and off remotely.

A few hours later, the two-piece contraption was in our house and plugged into the receptacle where our showpiece lamp with the inconvenient switch control was connected.

All we had to do was plug the adaptor into the receptacle and the lamp cord into the adaptor.

I Did you ever wish that a certain light fixture in your home could be controlled from more than one location? You know, like from a three-way switching system? It's possible, and without any wiring.

The switch on the lamp cord was turned to the "on" position, and from that point the remote control did all the work. It was nice to have a remote control for lights and other small appli-

Come December, it was time to put up a tree. Only that year we had help from a device we previously didn't know

It was a kick to arrange the lights on flick the tree lights off and on with a remote control.

By the time Christmas rolled around, we were intimately familiar with their other products.

We had learned that they also offer a similar unit that was developed for use outdoors. Want to turn your decorative house lights on and off at the flick of a switch _ without opening the front door?

And that's not all. Did you ever wish that a certain light fixture in your home could be controlled from more than one location?

You know, like from a three-way switching system? It's possible, and without any wiring. You now can purchase devices that look exactly like wall places, but it's possible - and without wiring.

Remote-control switching uses radiowave technology to turn household power to a specific appliance on or off. We couldn't believe it when we discovered how inexpensive these units were _ a mere $12.

If it's a bathroom makeover, kiss your privacy good-bye. And couch potatoes take notice: Your cable may be cut while your den is updated.

But there's no need to star in your own remake of The Money Pit. According to a seasoned contractor who orchestrates rehabs and re-dos, you can mitigate the impact on family life with preplanning and common sense.

"A lot of it gets back to communication," says Mike Turner, vice president of Contractor Networks for The Home Service Store, a company that manages' home projects for consumers. You really need to understand what's about to happen and address those issues in advance."

Turner identifies "points of chaos" that homeowners should recognize before construction

Strangers will be in your home for an extended period; your family and social life will be disrupted; a general lack of privacy may grate on nerves; services may be severed _ television, plumbing, utilities, etc.; there will be dust, lots of dust.

Turner advises homeowners to host a pre-construction conference with workers, including subcontractors, to establish verbally and in writing what he calls the "rules of order."

Discussion items include your expectations for daily cleanup, work start and stop times, rooms the family can use, work schedule changes to accommodate inhome social functions, how to control dust, no smoking, work schedules and who has access to the house and when.

This last point, security, should be of significant concern to homeowners.

Turner says contractors should conduct criminal background checks on workers and subcontractors. One home entry key should be kept in a lock box with access limited to key staff. Valuables, jewelry and guns should be removed from the home.

Then there is ongoing communication. In most two-wage-earner homes, no one is around during the day to answer inevitable questions. Turner suggests a dry erase board or cell phone _ even a custom e-mail address per job to create daily give-and-take between homeowner and contractors.

Convene a sit-down with the contractor once a month. Don't talk about work in progress but how the family _ children, too _ is holding up under the strain.

This usually causes a big sigh of relief," says Turner. "It keeps everyone up to speed on what's going on. It's an eye-opener."

Role of religion in health care

When I first began this series of a healthy body, mind and soul. rticles over a vear ago I wrote first about the role of faith as a factor to help bring one to healing and wholeness. I wanted to revisit that topic just recently to share some of what is going on there. Two important arenas where healthcare professionals and religious professionals work together are in general wellness care. In many

and in medical

hospitals across the country there are Spiritual or Pastoral Care Departments; they may be called Chaplaincy offices. Chaplains can be of several faiths but are very often Jewish, Muslim, or Christian, either Protestant, Catholic, or both. Most Chaplains are certified by any one of a number of a professional bodies which have national standards to accredit chaplains.

The chaplain works with both patients and staff to not only understand the physical and emotional pain present in with each patient but to offer spiritual support through visits, prayer, the offering of religious resources and religious services. The chaplain is often a crisis counselor with patients, their families, and staff. National standards of medical care in medical settings require the availability of spiritual or pastoral support. General wellness, or raising awareness of lifestyles, patterns of living and habits which may inhibit good health and its maintenance also include the integration of one's spiritual or religious perspective as contributing to tion of healthcare and wellness is seen is in the network of Parish Nurses present not only in many local congregations but in hospitals as well. Parish nurses do a variety of important tasks; they conduct education and training on various health issues, they assist the pastoral staff in the visiting of members of the congregation with health related issues, either physical or spiritual, and offer particular interventions where one's spiritual needs are integrated with emotional and physical needs. The parish nurse is a trained medical professional with advanced training in religious and spiritual study. Healing services take on a new dimension in congregations with the input of a parish nurse. Health education for family members of all ages becomes part of congregational outreach to families with parish nurses on the staff.

In congregations where there is a mental health professional on the staff, such as the congregations in the Southeastern Michigan area where the Samaritan Counseling Center has an office, parish nurses and our pastoral psychotherapists, trained mental health professionals, work together on the specific issues around mental and spiritual needs of a congregation and its members. One area that is important to recognize and integrated both medical and psychological interventions around would be the kind of stress that a physical illness or a sudden death might bring to a family. A person with a serious medical problem often has a coexisting depression, which a medical and mental health professional together can recognize.

The final area to look at, already suggested in the preceding paragraph, is the pastoral psychotherapist, that mental health professional who is not only trained in psychotherapy and counseling but also has done religious study as well. The advantage of such a professional is that this person is sensitized to the important of faith, spirituality and belief systems in the overall mental health and stability of an individual, couple or family. As a lay or professional member of a congregation him/herself the pastoral psychotherapist brings to the counseling situation not only a professional understanding of the place of faith or spirituality in a person's life but also a personal experience which brings understanding of why faith is important. Samaritan Counseling Center of Southeastern Michigan is accredited by the Samaritan Institute of Denver, Colorado. Samaritan is the only accredited Service Center and Approved Training Program in Michigan of the American Association of Pastoral Counselors. By holding these accreditations the public can be assured, as with chaplains and parish nurses, of competent care held to the highest standards.

When concerns of health arise it is important to acknowledge what your own particular spiritual or religious perspective is and understand how is a resource for you on your journey for health, healing, or relief of pain.

Dr. Paul Melrose is Clinical Director of the Samaritan Counseling Center of SE Michigan. He can be reached at (248) 474-4701 or at www.paulmelrose.com.

'Group' pregnancy born in nurse's program

ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

Pregnant women's tongues often move much faster than their swollen feet. There are complaints about too-tight clothes and the too-hard kicks coming from the inside, and there are dozens of questions _ always asked aloud _ about nutrition, behavior and medical issues both before and after their babies are

But who really wants to listen? Other mothers-to-be, of course.

This is how group pregnancy, known as The Centering Pregnancy Program at the Staywell Clinic in Waterbury, Conn., was Run by Sharon Rising, a Yale University School of Nursing graduate and former faculty member, the program takes women out of the clinical environment, aiming to give them more control over their pregnancies.

"More than answering questions, I thought that this would really help empower women," she says. "And I think that the group setting is key to achieving Rising was a certified nurse-midwife at the Staywell Clinic in the early 1990s when she realized she was answering the same questions again and again. She had an idea: What if she brought together a their pregnancies so they could all discuss their concerns together? Along the way they could get to know each other, feel less isolated, and create a sense of camaraderie and community.

So far, 23 clinics in the United States and Canada have adopted Rising's Centering Pregnancy model. The expecting mothers meet monthly during the first four months and then biweekly for the remainder of their pregnancies.

The idea tempted Sabrena Wilson away from the routine doctor-office visits she'd gone through a decade ago, when she had her sons.

There were some things about giving birth that she'd never forget but Wilson says she was sure some of the "rules" might have changed since she was last in the game. She needed someone to teach

Wilson signed up for a new program at the Staywell Clinic, where she met new people and heard new ideas.

Rising makes an effort to mix the races and ethnic backgrounds of the women in the program, so they can learn from each other's cultures and traditions. She found that while Latinas sometimes had different ideas from Asians about when to take a baby out of the house for the first time. for instance, they all still had the same basic concerns when it came to newborn.

same stage in their pregnancies, which doesn't mean they are at the same stages in their lives. As a 33-year-old mother, Wilson was one of the older women in her group. The youngest was 14.

"I think having the older women there really helped the younger girls," Wilson says. "I think we helped the new moms feel less tense. They have someone to dispel all the wives' tales they're hearing."

But even the veteran moms took something away from the classes.

Wilson, whose sons are 12 and 10, says that the last time she had babies at home, doctors thought it was OK to put babies to sleep on their stomachs. When she went into the group sessions, she learned that's no longer the standard advice. (Babies are supposed to sleep solely on their backs in an effort to prevent sudden infant death syndrome, according to the Consumer Product Safety Commission.)

Wilson also was surprised to learn about the emphasis on prenatal nutrition something she had overlooked in the

"With my other two I thought that you just ate more when you were pregnant and that would be enough," Wilson says. "But in the classes I learned that different foods give you the different minerals you need more when you are pregnant."

stress relief that the other women offer, Wilson says. "It's good to listen to other people who are having the same problems as you and say to yourself, "Wow. This is normal."

Another difference between the Centering Pregnancy model and more typical prenatal doctor visits is that the women are in charge of their charts. When they come into the meetings they fill in their weight and fetal growth charts, and take their own blood pressures. They also are in charge of keeping track of all their tests results.

Rising thinks the responsibilities give women a sense of accomplishment. She believes in the power of the group and that women can help each other when they have questions along the way.

Most of the women involved in the Centering program have normal pregnancies, but if medical complications arise, they are referred to specialists.

And when the classes are over, naturally, there is a reunion where the new moms coo over the babies and share their widely varying tales of labor. Even though they are all armed with the same information, some opt for birthing centers, others for the hospital.

Springtime is clean-up time at home

Spring is here and it is an excellent time to take a fresh look at what you have and what you want in your home. Getting organized and doing some spring-cleaning can bring a sense of renewal into your home, so here are seven tips to help you start the season off right:

Make a checklist. Write a list of all the springtime jobs that you only do once or twice a year. Type it on your computer and save it for years to come, instead of writing a new list every year. Some examples could include; check the smoke detectors; move and clean under heavy appliances and furniture, shampoo carpet, rugs and upholstery; wash blinds and shades.

If you have a lot you want to do, give yourself an entire week to clean. Start on a Saturday and do one task per day: Sorting and de-cluttering, dusting and polishing, vacuuming and sweeping, washing and scrubbing, organizing and rearranging, laundry and ironing, decorating. ■ Get all of your tools together. Put all of your cleaning supplies in a bucket or caddy, and carry it with you from room to room so you don't have to keep running back and forth to get date to have a garage sale.

what you need. Clear the clutter. Be ruthless when sorting through your stuff. If you don't love it or don't use it, it's clutter. Remember, the less you have, the less you have to dust or clean and the easier it will be to find something when you need it.

■ Donate or sell the things you do not use or want. As you are getting rid of your clutter, set aside the items that are still in good condition. Put them in bags or boxes and decide whether you would rather donate them or sell them. You could drop them off at your favorite charity, or perhaps they will save you a trip and pick up your donations for you. If you would rather sell them, set a

Enjoy the nice weather as you are working. If you are cleaning inside, open the windows to let the fresh air and sunshine in. Don't forget about outside organizing and yard work too. Put all of your gardening supplies together. Replace old and broken tools. Keep the door open while you clean and organize the garage.

Involve your family. If your children are old enough, give them something to do, such as cleaning their bedroom or play area. Divide the to-do list with your spouse and get chores done in half the time. Don't forget to do something fun or relaxing afterwards to reward yourself on a job well done.

Use good manners at bed and breakfasts ne of the most exciting aspects of traveling is where you will be staying.

Whether you are going to another state or visiting a foreign country, taking a cruise or spending a week at a dude ranch, planning a weekend trip or simply relaxing at an overnight retreat, part of the fun is where you will be lodging. Who hasn't walked into "their room" and checked out the closed space, bathroom facilities and what channels you can get on the television set?

With hotels vying for our patronage, they have made all types of services available to their guests — from new exercise equipment to shuttle buses from and to the airport.

Lobbies and guest rooms have been redecorated and dining rooms have added low-cal meals and elegant cuisine by top chefs.

Despite all this, one of the fastest growing "cottage industries" in recent years has been the emergence of the bed-and-breakfast business. Throughout the country, old homes, some of them dating back to Victorian times, have been lovingly restored and converted into multiple bedroom dwellings. Perhaps that is the reason they are so compelling, with their three or four stories, their gingerbread trimmings, their verandahs all reminders of days gone by. It draws out that nostalgia in us and brings back warm thoughts of yesteryear.

Before the Holiday Inns and Hilton Hotels, people simply stayed at coach stops, in small inns or other people's homes. In Biblical times, visitors to the city were welcomed into homes and greeted with food and hospitality even though they were strangers.

In colonial America, slow traveling by horseback or carrier required overnight stays if it was a long journey. Lodging, even at inns, was at the loss of privacy and sanitation. It was not unusual for you to wake up in the morning and find someone else in bed with you because there was no room for them elsewhere.

Fortunately, times have changed considerably and bed-and-breakfasts today are charming and inviting and increasing in popularity. If one is being considered as part of your travels, however, there are certain items that should be remembered:

It is usually an older house where bedrooms may be close together, so you will want to keep noise and loud late-night talking to a minimum.

Accommodations sometimes include shared bathrooms so you may want to check this out when you make your reservations.

n Greet the owners by introducing yourself and with a handshake. Their greeting to you will be warmer and friendlier than at a hotel or motel.

Remember you are staying in someone's home so abide by their rules of breakfast hours, smoking politicos, eating in rooms, etc.

When you are staying at a friend's home as a houseguest, it is courteous to make up your own bed if no maid is present. However, at a bed-and-breakfast this is not necessary as this service is included in the cost of your room.

cost of your room.

If you are traveling with children or pets, check beforehand if there are proper accommodations for them.

Some do not allow young children for lack of necessary equipment. Some places will not allow pets while others allow dogs but not cats. It would be wise to clarify these items before making reservations.

Laundry facilities may or may not be available. Do not assume it would be permissible to use them without inquiring first.

You will most likely be invited to feel free to use the television set usually located in the large living room or parlor. If other guests also wish to view it, be courteous and reasonable in your decision as to which programs to watch.

Let your hosts know if you need to use the telephone or if you are expecting any calls. As a rule, they are not available in guest rooms as in

Redford man marks 50 years with the Shrine Circus

BY DIANE GALE ANDREASSI SPECIAL WRITER

Herb Martin doesn't believe in quit-

At 92 years old, he has been a member of the Moslem Shrine Chanters in Detroit for 53 years. And the only way Martin said he'd stop singing at the many Shriner engagements throughout the year is when he dies.

"That's something that I never do is quit from places that I belong," said Martin, a Mason for 65 years.

For more than half a century, the 23-year Redford resident has sung the National Anthem and other chanter favorites, like the popular 1920s tune The Band Played On, every year when the Shrine Circus comes to town.

This year is no different. The T&C Federal Credit Union Shrine Circus Xtreme, the largest in North America, celebrates 94 years of family circuses in the Detroit area and offers five rings of acts, a carnival with a petting zoo, elephant and pony rides, games and a runway.

Along with singing for the Shriners, Martin also had the responsibility of overseeing ushers on the west side of the stadium, as well as selling candy, a job he stopped doing, he said, pausing a moment and laughing, when the price of candy went up from five cents.

Most of all, Martin is proud to be part of an organization that helps children. Shriners Hospitals for Children is a network of 18 orthopedic hospitals, three burn hospitals and one hospital that provides orthopedic, burn and spinal cord injury care where children up to their 18th birthday receive free medical care.

"That's what it's all about," he said.
"It's rewarding. It makes you feel real good inside."

Several times, Martin said, the Shriners also performed for nursing home residents and shut-ins.

Being in the spotlight comes naturally for a man who decades ago played community theater, spitting out one-liners in the George Burns-Gracie Allen style, according to Moslem Shrine Chanters director Harold Lanning, who talks about Martin with a solid tinge of admiration in his voice.

Lanning said in the 10 years he has directed the singing group he has appreciated Martin's kind nature.

"He's very active, very energetic and always in a good mood," explained Lanning. "He's a great hearted person and sings well, especially for someone his

Last weekend, Martin prepared for a busy engagement performing in Traverse City at a Shriner convention. Every year Shriner programs, like the one in Traverse City, take him to cities around the country.

Martin's mind is quick and his thoughts are focused on the future. The summer months on his calendar are already marked with a dozen or so parades around the state, where the chanters are invited to bellow out their songs from a bus.

"A lot of people sing right along with us," said Martin, with the enthusiasm and vigor of someone half his age.

Martin has seen a lot of changes over the years as a Shriner and as a retired 44-year employee of the City of Detroit. Martin checked gas records for police and fire departments. He also worked with the City of Detroit auxiliary police for 25 years.

"When you sign up with people you stick around," he said. "That's what you're supposed to do, isn't?"

These days, when he's not volunteering his time with the Shriners, Martin likes to golf and shoot pool at the Red-

Walk for cure in Relay For Life

The American Cancer Society is rallying participants from Livonia and the surrounding community to participate in the fourth annual Relay For Life, the society's signature event. The event will begin at noon on Friday, June 21, at Stevenson High School and run until noon on Saturday, June 22.

The American Cancer Society Relay For Life, a team-based fundraising event, is a unique, empowering and fun way to make a difference in the fight against cancer. Participants will spend a full 24 hours walking laps on the track, socializing, picnicking, playing games, dancing, participating in planned activities and raising funds for the American Cancer Society.

Last year, the Relay For Life in Livonia raised over $40,000 and involved over 400 community residents in the fight against cancer.

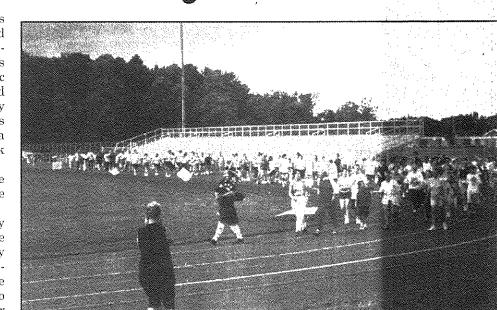

"The community of Livonia often refers to Relay For Life as a 'miracle in progress' because of the power this event has on so many of us," said Boyd Davis, community development director, American Cancer Society. "Teams of families, friends, co-workers, civic groups, religious organizations and schools are just a few of the community teams that are participating in this event. Relay For Life is truly about a community coming together to work miracles."

At the heart of Relay For Life are opportunities to pay tribute to those who have battled cancer.

During the Cancer Survivors' Victory Lap, community members who have survived cancer will take a celebratory lap around the track together. At sundown, the community will pay tribute to those who have lost their lives to cancer and to those who have won their battle with the disease through the

a large hotel, so you would have to use the "family phone." If you make any calls, especially long distance ones, be sure to offer to pay your hosts for them.

Notify the innkeeper when making reservations of any dietary specifics so they would be prepared for you. Breakfasts at these inns are no longer merely a roll and coffee, but quite often a deluxe meal with waffles, quiches, seasonal fresh fruits, tempting omelets, muffins, corned beef hash and all the other delights of breakfast.

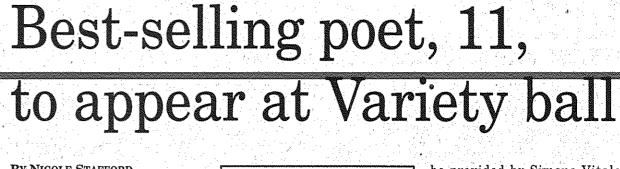

■ The dining area will most likely be set up in family style where other guests are seated at the same table with you. Mealtimes are a good time to socialize and meet new people and perhaps make lasting friendships. It is also a time when proper table manners are a necessity. No one wants to listen to you slurping your morning coffee! If small children are involved, make sure they are not a nuisance to the other diners. These charming inns are available in almost every city and every country, some on busy thoroughfares, others secluded and romantically tucked away in little corners of the world.

Make one of these "painted ladies" a part of your next vacation — and remember Ralph Waldo Emerson's advice: "Good manners are the happy way of doing things.

Children have a gift for inspiring others. And the 11-year-old guest speaker at this year's Gold Heart Ball is no exception.

The black-tie fundraiser for Variety The Children's Charity, set for 7 p.m. June 1 at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Dearborn, boasts an appearance by Mattie Stepanek, a nationally known poet and philosopher who suffers from a rare form of muscular dystrophy.

"He's a wonderful speaker," said Rob T. Allen, vice president of Variety International and Gold Heart Ball event producer. "Afterwards, he's going to autograph his books, so people can meet with him and talk with him. It should be very special."

Variety, which was founded in 1929, has 59 chapters and 15,000 members. The organization supports a wide range of charities that help children with special needs.

Stepanek has appeared on such national television programs as Oprah, The Today Show and Dateline. He has two books of poetry on the New York Times' bestseller list with a third book on

Gold Heart Ball

What: 10th Annual Gold Heart Ball to benefit Variety The Children's Charity with cocktails, dinner, entertainment, children's art exhibit, silent auction and an appearance by 11-year-old Mattie Stepanek, a nationally known poet and philosopher with two books on the New York Times' bestseller list who suffers from muscular dystrophy.

When: 7 p.m. Saturday, June 1.

Where: Hyatt Regency Hotel in Dearborn.

Tickets: General admission is $200; patron tickets are $300; and benefactor tickets are $500, call (248) 258-5511.

"We're very excited that he's going to be visiting Detroit. He has a real message to tell, and I think a lot of people will come just to hear him speak," Allen said of Stepanek. "People are inspired by this child."

This year's event, which celebrates its 10th anniversary, will also pay tribute to extraordinary children and the Special Olympics.

Additional entertainment will be provided by Simone Vitale, AEM recording artist Sandra Mandella and Variety's children.

A silent auction featuring winning pieces of art by local children who participated in Variety's recent Art From The Heart contest will round out the evening's activities.

Last year's Gold Heart Ball raised more than $150,000, said Allen. Approximately $10 million has been raised for Variety during the event's 10-year run, he said.

The Michigan chapter of Variety and its 2,000 volunteers support an impressive number of local children's charities in southeastern Michigan. They include: Children's Hospital of Michigan, Rehabilitation Institute of Michigan, SCAMP, Oakland County 4-H Youth Handicapped Riding Program, Hospice of Southeast Michigan, Henry Ford Health Systems, Detroit Institute for Children, Orchards Children's Services, Far Conservatory, Common Ground, Phoebe Foundation and Council of Abuse & Neglect of Oakland

"It's a beautiful evening, but it has a message," said Allen. "It's not just another black-tie event."

Nancy Gormley of Livonia is a six-year cancer survivor. The eight members of her bridge club plan to recruit two participants apiece to form a team. Each team member will walk one hour.

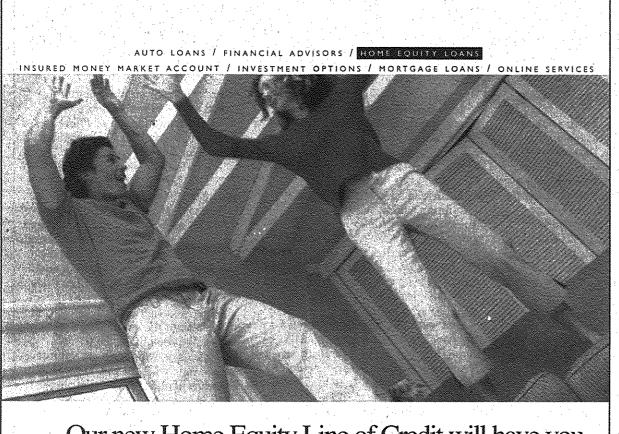

"It's just kind of a team spirit," said Gormley. "We're all getting to that age. There are a couple of survivors in our bridge club, and we've lost some members to cancer. We just thought this would be a nice thing to do."

This year, Relay For Life will be held in over 3,000 communities across America and in seven foreign countries. It is expected to raise over $212 million. As the most successful not-for-profit event in America, Relay For Life provides a platform for raising cancer awareness and connecting communities to the programs and services of the American Cancer Society.

Through research, education, advocacy and service, the American Cancer Society works through Relay For Life to save lives.

Want the truth about generic cirus?

Generic drugs are tried and true.

Grand Value Pharmacy

Grand Value pharmacist Kevin White agrees, "Generics are tried and true because they're copies of the brand names that have been on the market for several years and have proven themselves over time."

Ask your local pharmacist about generics.

Rite Aid Pharmacy

Rite Aid pharmacist Sara Fakhoury agrees, "The FDA will only allow drugs on the market when they are safe and effective. That's why I dispense generics."

According to the U.S. Food and Drug Administration's Center for Drug Evaluation and Research

"New drugs, like other new products, are developed under patent protection. The patent protects the investment in the drug's development by giving the company the sole right to sell the drug while the patent is in effect. When patents or other periods of exclusivity expire, manufacturers can apply to the FDA to sell generic versions. Brandname firms account for an estimated 50 percent of generic drug production. They frequently make copies of their own or other brand-name drugs but sell them without the brand name."

Pride and Humility

The dictionary defines pride as proper and justified self respect and a proper sense of personal dignity and worth. Everyone should take pride in their work, their family, their country and heritage. it is also good to take pride in things such as our personal appearance. When we take pride in all of the good things that our Lord has given us, we tend to take better care of them. However, we must be careful to have pride and self respect without arrogance or superiority. Children who are proud of their parents and respect them will try to be better children and do what is pleasing to their parents. As adults, we should always try to do what is pleasing in God's eyes. The Bible tells us that God opposes the proud, but gives grace to the humble (James 4:6). We should try to temper our pride with humility and not have an exaggerated opinion of our selves. The best way to be the best we can be. People who exalt themselves are usually esteemed less by others, and those who humble themselves are often more admired.

> ...do not think of yourself more highly than you ought, but rather think of yourself with sober judgment. N.I.V. - Romans 12:13

Eurostars sparkle

The Eurostars Gymnastics Club of Plymouth enjoyed its trip to Bay City for the Level 5 Michigan Gold State Championships last weekend. The Eurostar club finished sixth, collecting four gold medals, one silver and four bronze, scoring 109.15 points.

Linnea Nyberg, a 12-year-old sixthgrader at Discovery Middle School, was first in the all-around with a 36.30 score. Nyberg was first in balance beam (9.45) and third in floor exercise (9.175).

Kelsey Stamm, a 10-year-old fourth-grader at Isbister Elementary, was second in the all-around with a 36.025. She was first in floor (9.5) and third in vault (8.875).

Katie Koetting, a 10-year-old fifthgrader at Bird Elementary, was first in floor (9.475) and Kaitlyn Betts, a nine-year-old at Hoben Elementary was third in floor (9.3).

The Eurostars team is coached by Petre and Tania Gueorguiev.

Sports Club shines

The Sports Club of Novi Level 8 gymnastics team placed six gymnasts on teams representing the state at the Level 8 Gymnastics Regional Championships May 11-12 in Broadview Heights, Ohio, including 13year-old Alyssa Kelley of Plymouth.

Kelley was fifth in the all-around with a 37.025. She placed second on the floor exercise (9.6) and was third on the uneven parallel bars (9.5).

The Sports Club of Novi team is coached by Jennifer Quinlan and Brian Lewis.

Oaks win title

The Canton Oaks under-11 boys Select A team, from the Canton Soccer Club, finished first at the 20thannual Midland Soccer Tournament May 11-12. The Oaks beat Midland 11-0, stopped the GRASA Magic 7-0, topped Oakland FC 2-0 and, in the championship, defeated the Midland

Demsick a Marine

Doy Demsick, a standout wrestler at Plymouth Canton HS for the past four years, has entered officer training for the U.S. Marines. Demsick was one of five in the state of Michigan to earn a NROTC scholarship to the Marines.

Demsick, who holds 11 school wrestling records, will get a full-scholarship at the University of Michigan NROTC branch. After graduating, he will be commissioned a second lieutenant and enter the Marines, which has been a longtime goal.

EuroUSA Futbol

First-rate training in soccer is now available for those who wish to expand their game through an intense, disciplined training program provided in camps by EuroUSA Fut-

The camp director is Joe Kurta, men's soccer coach at Schoolcraft College and former pro player in Romania and Hungary. The goals of these camps are passing, controlling, dribbling, shooting and heading, with each day beginning with a classroom session that includes a workbook, given to each camper to study.

There will be demonstrations and instructions, individual and small group application of topics and usage in game situations. At present, there are seven different dates, locations and times to take advantage of: 9 a.m.-noon and 1-4 p.m. June 24-28 at Livonia's Bicentennial Park No. 8; 5-8 p.m. July 15-19 at Little Caesars Park in Farmington; 5-8 p.m. July 22-26 at Livonia's Bicentennial Park No. 8; 9 a.m.-noon and 1-4 p.m. July 29-Aug. 2 at Central City Soccer Fields in Westland; 9 a.m.-noon Aug 5-9 at Farmington's Little Caesar's Park; 5-8 p.m. Aug. 5-9 at Schoolcraft College in Livonia (female high school players only for this session); 9 a.m.-noon and 1-4 p.m. at Bicentennial Park's Field No. 8 in Livonia.

Cost is $125 per camper, or if a coach signs up his/her team, the cost is $100 per camper. Other discounts are also available. For more information, call (248) 577-6052.

nton's 2nd half surge stops Sal

When the opportunity is there, pounce on it.

That lesson evaded Plymouth Salem's soccer team Monday when the Rocks met their cross-campus rivals, Plymouth Canton, in a Western Lakes Activities Association crossover match. Salem had chances in the opening half, but could not cash them in.

After a scoreless first half, the tide shifted. The difference was the Chiefs made the most of their openings, scoring twice in the second half to defeat SOCCER

Canton, which lost to Ann Arbor Pioneer 1-0 last Saturday, finishes its regular season at 9-4-5. Salem, which was beaten by Troy Athens 4-0 last Saturday, is 7-5-4 overall.

Stephanie Johnson put the Chiefs on top, scoring their first goal. Rachel Perry got the assist. Johnson then assisted on Canton's second goal, scored by Erica Aherns.

Briana Wolcott turned away 16 shots in goal for Canton.

"I'm really not pleased with the result," said Salem coach Joe Nora. "I thought we outplayed them in the first half. We got some chances, but we weren't able to find the goal.

"In the second half, the more time elapsed the more Canton dug in and played hard-nosed soccer. They dug in and stole the momentum from us.

"We played well, but we didn't play well enough to get the victory."

The two teams are on a collision course once again in the state district tournament. Canton goes against Northville — which for the secondstraight year met Livonia Stevenson for the WLAA championship last night - in its district opener Tuesday night at Novi. The winner plays Salem next Thursday at Novi. The district final is at 1 p.m. June 1. In its loss to top-ranked Athens Saturday, Salem was victimized by Nina Mastracci, who had a goal and two assists, and by Jessy Barrett, who contributed a goal and an assist. The win pushed the Red Hawks' record to 16-1.

Hawks capture Western Lakes boys track title

BY DAN O'MEARA STAFF WRITER domeara@oe.homecomm.net

Coach John Reed mapped out the strategy and his Farmington Harrison athletes executed it successfully Tues-

The Hawks won the Western Lakes Activities Association boys track and field championship for the second time in three years at Farmington High School.

Hurdles winner: Canton's Dane Kobus finished first in the 110meter hurdles.

Harrison racked up 134 team points to finish ahead of Western Division dual-meet winner Walled Lake Western (124), Livonia Stevenson (106) and Livonia Churchill (100).

Defending WLAA and three-time

Observerland Relays champion Plymouth Canton, which had some key athletes injured, was sixth.

Harrison broke up its sprint relay teams, putting Agim Shabaj in three individual events and taking advantage of its depth to remain competitive in the relays.

"Everybody expects us to win the sprint relays," Reed said, adding the Hawks won by 80 meters last year. "There's not a lot of sense in that. "We wanted to be good in the relays and keep the points close but get more points in the individual events. "The idea was, instead of getting first place, to get first and second and neutralize some of the other teams." Terrill Mayberry had an outstanding meet for the Hawks, winning the 200and 400-meter dashes and anchoring a

Harrison win in the 1,600 relay. The Hawks trailed Western when Mayberry took the baton. He stayed on the outside shoulder of the Western runner until the final quarter mile, then made his move and won by nearly 10 meters. Shahai won second in the 400 and 200 and ran the first leg of the 1,600 relay.

"That's a lot of points," Reed said. "He sacrificed himself for the team. Agim really showed some leadership. He doesn't normally run the 400 in the big meets."

The Hawks dropped a baton and didn't place in the 400 relay but were second in the 800. Harrison also had key points from Marcus Woods and Charles Pickett in the 100, Kevin Davis in the hurdles, Fermon Tate in the 800 and Ramy Sulaiman and Brett Laird in the Double-winner: Justin Hajduk finished first in both the 1,600 and 3,200 meters for Plymouth Salem in the WLAA finals.

"They have to be proud of what they did," Reed said of his entire team. "They had an awesome performance. They wanted it and went for it."

"We have great senior leadership.

No one figured it would be easy. Running the conference track meet three days after the state regional meet is asking a lot. Peak performances are going to be short in supply.

Which is what made the Western Lakes Activities Association Girls Track Finals, held Tuesday at Farmington HS, more of a survival test than a clash between top teams in exceptional competitive shape.

And when it all worked its way out, the team that had been the best during the dual-meet season - Walled Lake Central — was the fittest of the survivors, finishing first with 121 points. Plymouth Salem was a distant second with 104, followed by Livonia Churchill in third with 83.5. See statistical sum-

"We knew it would be tough," said Churchill coach Kelly Graham. "We tried to do what we could. We put a lot of pressure on our distance runners, and they did all that they could.

"Walled Lake Central has too much depth. They scored 21 points in the pole vault alone."

Just three days earlier at the Dearborn regional meet, the Chargers had been exceptional, finishing first with 112.25 points. They had state qualifiers in the 800-meter run, the 1,600 and the 3,200, as well as two relay teams.

However, matching a performance like that in so short a span of time proved too much to ask. Churchill had beaten Salem by nearly 20 points at the regional; at the WLAA finals, it was the Rocks who finished on top by more than 20 points.

"We did a great job today," said

Salem coach Mark Gregor. "We had us seeded to score 101 points and we scored 104.

"We didn't score enough points in the field events, and we didn't score any in the pole vault."

Which was the difference in the final standings. If the Rocks match, or offset, the Vikings' 21 points in the pole vault, they finish first.

"We have a good team," said Gregor. "We're just lacking that one big shooter. There are no bonafide stars on this team. That's why our relays all qualified for state (three of four did). There were three double-winners in individual events in the meet. North Farmington's Susan Barrows won both the 1,600-meters (5:22.57) and the 3,200-meters (11:29.54); Northville's Devon Rupley was first in the 400 (1:00.05) and the 800 (2:19.74); and Churchill's Nia Henderson captured at 7-3, in second place behind Farmington Harrison. The Chiefs improved to 18-6 overall.

The six-run outburst in the first inning started with singles by Chris Pirch and Joe Kondratek. Hanson walked and Nick Musselman singled, scoring two runs. Matt Staley followed with a walk and Matt Kay delivered the key blow, a grand-slam home run to make it 6-0.

Western narrowed the gap to 6-3 before the Chiefs put two more on the board in the fifth on a single by Hanson and a two-run homer by Musselman, who finished the game with two hits and four RBI. Pirch also had two hits and Hanson had one hit and scored Hanson gave up three earned runs on eight hits and three walks, striking out 11 in seven innings to get the win.

Canton 1, Northville 0: Matt Staley stopped Northville on just three hits and two walks Monday in leading Plymouth Canton to the victory at Canton. Staley improved his record to 6-1, striking out nine in the process. The loss went to Tyler Carter, who was equally effective, limiting the Chiefs to five hits and one walk, fanning three.

The game's only run scored in the first inning.

Chris Pirch led off for Canton with a double; a Joe Kondratek ground out advanced him to third, and a Mark Hanson ground out scored him.

The loss dropped the Mustangs to 12-15 overall, 5-5 in the WLAA Western Division.

Arthur Hill 8, Salem 2: Saginaw Arthur Hill scored seven unearned runs in the fifth inning to overtake Plymouth Salem, which led 2-1 going into the inning Saturday in the Rocks' first game at the Northville Invitational.

The Rocks outhit the Lumberjacks, 8-5, but they also outerred them, committing three to Arthur Hill's

Salem stops Central, clinches 2nd place

Strong relief pitching by Kelli Szczepanski and timely hitting by a half-dozen Rocks enabled Plymouth Salem to clinch second place in the Western Lakes Activities Association's Lakes Division with a 6-2 victory at Walled Lake Central Monday.

Szczepanski relieved Salem starter Jill Posler, who worked the first 2 2/3 innings and allowed two earned runs on four hits. Szczepanski allowed one hit and no walks in her 4 1/3 scoreless innings.

The Rocks broke a 2-2 deadlock by scoring four runs in the fifth. Kelly Jaskot and Jess Bonello each had three hits in the game, Bonello driving in a run, and Janesse Chapman had two hits and an RBI. Amy Szawara contributed a double and a single, Szczepanski had two hits, and Maggie Tudor added a runscoring single.

The win boosted Salem's record to 22-10 overall; the Rocks finish 7-3 in the Lakes. Central is 8-8 in the WLAA and 5-5 in the division.

"We're having a great season," said Salem coach Bonnie Southerland. "And we're improving at the right time of the season, which is good." Southerland is hoping her Salem squad will be able to recapture its state district championship next week at South Lyon. Plymouth Canton goes against host South Lyon in the district opener at 4 p.m. Tuesday at South Lyon; the winner plays Salem at 1 p.m. June 1. In the other bracket, Novi meets Northville at 11 a.m. June 1.

The championship is tentatively slated for 4 p.m. June 1.

Salem wins flight

Plymouth Salem won four of five games at last weekend's Madonna University Tournament, which was good enough for the Rocks to gain a first-place finish in their flight.

The tournament started poorly for the Rocks, with Birmingham Groves defeating them 1-0 Saturday. Jill Posler took the pitching loss; Salem managed just four hits in the game.

The Rocks' bats took command after that, however. Salem scored 33 runs in their next three games, all of them victories: 11-3 over Belleville and 11-1 over Birmingham Marian on Saturday, and 11-6 over Livonia Ladywood Sunday. That put the Rocks opposite Carleton Airport, winner of 25 of its previous 30 games, with first place in the flight at stake.

They came away from that game with a win, too, beating the Jets 4-1.

Posler was the winner against Airport, allowing one run on eight hits with six strikeouts. Amy Szawara led the offense with a pair of doubles and two RBI, with Maggie Tudor adding three singles and two runs scored. Alycia Murawski added a run-scoring single.

In Sunday's win over Ladywood, Kelli Szczepanski was the winning pitcher, surrendering five earned runs on eight hits and two walks. Szawara again provided the offensive firepower with two hits and three RBI; Jess Bonello and Murawski added two hits and an RBI apiece, with Kelly Jaskot and Mandy Bradley each collecting a double and a single and Tudor finishing with two hits.

On Saturday, the Rocks followed their opening-game loss to Groves by thrashing Belleville. Cortney Edwards had three hits in the game, with Bonello added two hits and four RBI; Szawara chipping in with two hits and two RBI; Murawski and Jaskot each getting two hits and an RBI; and Tudor collecting two hits and scoring two runs.

Michelle Jurcak was the winning pitcher; she gave up three runs on eight hits and four walks, striking out two.

The game against Marian lasted just six innings. Szczepanski was the winning pitcher; she allowed one run on three hits and no walks, fanning three.

Tudor led the offense with three hits and three RBI. Jaskot and Brook Posler each had three hits and drove in two runs, and Bonello had a two-run double and a single.

Fire burns up Bucks in OT

This was one that shouldn't have gotten away. Playing their second overtime game in as many matches, the Mid-Michigan Bucks found this one not nearly as satisfying after Denny Clanton scored 10 minutes into the extra period to lift the Chicago Fire Reserves to a 2-1 victory over the Bucks Saturday at Birmingham Seaholm HS.

The loss was the first of the season for the Bucks, who are now 1-1-1 in the United Soccer League. Chicago, the defending Great Lakes Division champions, is 2-0.

The Bucks scored the first goal of the match, 16 minutes into the second half, on a pretty play set up by Tino Scicluna (from Redford/Detroit Country Day). Scicluna's cross reached Adam Heinemann, whose diving header got past Fire keeper T.J. Tomasso (from Plymouth Canton HS) to give the Bucks a 1-0 advantage.

"Tino made an outstanding play to beat two people and get the ball into the box, and then Adam hustled just to get into position," said Bucks' coach Dario Brose. "He finished it with style, and the fans loved it."

The Fire's tying goal wasn't nearly as artistic, but it counted just as much as Brett Strang knocked a shot past Bucks' keeper Eric Pogue (Troy Athens) to make it 1-1 with three minutes SOCCER

Which led to the game-winning score from Clanton. Although the game was not a U.S. Open Cup qualifier - the Bucks are 1-0-1 in qualifiers, with its final two tonight at Saginaw's White Pines Stadium and Saturday at Plymouth Canton HS - it still gave the Fire Reserves the early advantage in the Premier Development League playoff race. Only the top two teams in the Great Lakes Division will make the playoffs.

"Finishing in the top two in our division will be difficult," said Bucks' general manager Jim Duggan. "Right now, we have a lot of very talented guys who need to start playing quicker, smarter and more as a team."

Tonight's match against the Kalamazoo Kingdom will be at 7:30 p.m. at Saginaw's White Pines. Saturday's game against Dayton will start at 5 p.m. at Plymouth Canton HS. Both are U.S. Cup qualifiers.

Discounted tickets for the Dayton match are available through the Canton Soccer Club. For more information, check out the Bucks' website at www.mmbucks.com, or call (734) 483-GOAL.

The Chargers led 4-2 after one inning, but had to overcome a 5-4 PCA lead midway through the fifth inning — and did, with a three-run rally in the bottom of the fifth.

"That was the best we've played in a while," said PCA coach Don Shumaker, whose team has been without pitching ace Clay Welton for over a week. "It was a moral victory if nothing

Carnevale went the distance on the mound, allowing six earned runs on 10 hits and four walks, striking out five.

PCA 12, Lutheran NW 2: Plymouth Christian Academy scored eight times in the fourth inning to turn this game against Rochester Hills Lutheran Northwest into a five-inning mercy Saturday at the Lutheran Westland Tournament.

Mark Erickson started things for PCA with a run-scoring single in the first. Aaron Boone sparked a three-run third with a two-run single, which Erickson followed with his second run-producing base hit.

In the fourth, Dave Bahbah went to the plate twice and collected two singles, scoring two runs and driving in two. He finished the game with three hits. Brian Dustman also had a runscoring single in the fourth.

Xander Younce got the pitching win, allowing two earned runs on two hits and three walks with six strikeouts in five innings.

Catholic Central's 5 year reign ends at CHSL

BY BRAD MONASTIERE

Redford Catholic Central boys track coach Tony Magni summed up his half of the 2002 Catholic High School League track meet very simply.

"Speed kills." That was the theme of the day on both sides of the meet, as Dearborn Divine Child took shome the girls crown, while U-D Jesuit ended CC's five-year run as boys champ. The meet was held under ideal conditions at Livonia Ladywood High School.

The Cubs brought the most speed to the boys meet and delivered in a big way, dominating the sprint events on their way to 157 points, well ahead of runnerup CC, which had 119.

Magni said U-D had its best day of the season, not long after winning its regional meet over

"They put it all together today," he said. "We gave themour best shot, but we had a couple injuries that hurt us, and after the way they ran the sprints, we were hoping for second place."

The Cubs were most impressive in the 100, taking four of the top five places in the event, setting the tone for the running events. U-D also took first in the 400 relay, 400 dash and 200 dash, and finished 2-3-4 in the 300 hurdles.

The Shamrocks welcomed back one of their top performers, Tom Grant, who won the 110 hurdles (14.9) and took second in the high jump and long jump. CC swept the top three places in the merman, who threw 47-11.5 to record remains 45.3 by Paulette Bryant of Southgate Aquinas in Marshall edged Johnson for the win in the 200 and was also the only runner in the field to break one minute in the 400, winning with a time of 59.34.

Ladywood's day was highlighted by a great performance by senior Alexis Noel, who won the high jump (5-6) and long jump (18-0), the latter jump being the best in Observerland this sea-

shot put, led by winner Dan Zim-(LL) 13.42. 2002 CATHOLIC LEAGUE

REQUEST FOR PROPOSAL FOR TRANSPORTATION TO WORK SERVICES IN WESTERN WAYNE COUNTY AND OTHER AREAS

Notice is hereby given that the Eastside Community Resource and Non-Profit Housing Corporation, on behalf of the City of Detroit Employment and Training Department and the Detroit Workforce Development Board, is soliciting proposals for transportation to work direct services to be operated in western Wayne County and areas of Oakland and Washtenaw Counties. Services will be funded through the Federal Transit Administration (FTA) Job Access and Reverse Commute Program and through locally available matching funds.

This request for proposals (RFP) is being issued in anticipation of grant and local matching funds becoming available to provide van services to low income persons and persons on welfare. All transportation services will be for employment trips or trips related to employment. Successful applicants will be capable of providing funds to match federal grant dollars.

The RFP will be available from the Eastside Community Resource and Non-Profit Housing Corporation beginning Monday, May 20, 2002 and thereafter between 8:30 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. Information will be made available in alternative format upon written request to the Eastside Community Resource and Non-Profit Housing Corporation located at 12530 Kelly Road, Detroit, Michigan 48224. Auxiliary aids and services are available upon request to individuals with disabilities. Inquiries may be directed to Community Resource and Assistance Center at 313-521-1900, Michigan Relay Center 1-800-649-3777, Voice and TDD.

Proposals are due in the office of the Eastside Community Resource and Non-Profit Housing Corporation no later than 4:00 p.m. on Friday, June 24, 2002. The office is located at 12530 Kelly Road, Detroit, Michigan 48224.

The RFP does not commit either the City of Detroit or the Eastside Community Resource and Non-Profit Housing Corporation to award a contract, to pay costs incurred in the preparation of a proposal under the request, or to procure or contract for services or supplies. We reserve the right to accept or reject any or all proposals received as a result of the request, to negotiate with all qualified sources, and to cancel in part or in its entirety the RFP, if it is in the best interest of the issuing agencies to do so. The City of Detroit Employment and Training Department and the Eastside Community Resource and Non-Profit Housing Corporation are equal employment opportunity employer and program operators. The agencies do not discriminate on the grounds of race, color, sex, religion, national origin, age, height, marital status, arrest without conviction, disability, political affiliation or belief, and for beneficiaries only, citizenship or participation in programs funded under the Job Access Reverse Commute program in admission or access to, opportunity or treatment in, or employment in the administration of or connection with any Job Access Reverse Commute program activity.

Inquiries may be directed to the Eastside Community Resource and Non-Profit Housing Corporation. Contact John Slater or Calvin Jackson at 313-521-1900.

Harrison also won the title in the final year of WLAA competi-

schools, which will move to the Oakland Activities Association beginning next fall. "This is an incredible league and we were happy to be in it," Reed said. "We wanted to make a solid statement that we're really proud to run in this meet.

"We're going to miss all the teams in the league, because it's a real competitive meet and always a lot of fun."

In addition to Mayberry, Stevenson's Hady Rahman (shot put and discus) and Plymouth Salem's Justin Hajduk (1,600 and 3,200 runs) were double winners. Canton had two winners in Dane Kobus (110 hurdles) and Brad Waidmann (high jump). Churchill's Howard Whitefoot won the pole vault. Walled Lake Central's Brian Chrzanowski the 300 hurdles. Western's Kyle Gordon the long jump and Northville's Tim Dalton the 800 run.

Qualifiers

Salem's Justin Hajduk was a state-meet qualifier in both the 1,600-meters and 3,200-meters hosted by Dearborn HS.

9:44.6 and was second to Red-Lowry in the 1,600. Hajduk's (10:00.0).

time in the 1,600 was 4:33.7.

Canton also had a couple of qualifiers. Brad Waidmann fin-and in the 100 dash, Corey Walser — hobbled at the conference meet by a strained hamstring — equaled the school record, finishing fifth in 10.9. The Canton record was set by Elijah Rogers in 1984. Walser's time earned him a state-qualifying berth.

Several others just missed qualifying (top two are automatic picks; others must meet standards). In the high jump, Canton's Mike Lanius placed third (5-10 3/4); in the long jump, the Chiefs' Ken Page was third (20-8 3/4); and Canton's Dane Kobus, the 110 hurdles champ at the WLAA meet, placed fifth in the long jump (19-5 1/2) and sixth in the 110 hurdles (15.1) at regionals. Salem's Chris Vraniak was fourth in the 1,600 (4:36.3) and Canton's Aaron Lanning was fourth in the 3.200 (9:55.2).

Other local athletes to place in the top six individually were Canton's Dan Driscoll and Jon Chapman, fifth and sixth respectively in the pole vault (both 11-3). Canton 4x100 relay was at Saturday's Division I regional fourth (44.82) and Salem's was sixth (45.6); the Chiefs' 4x200 Hajduk won the 3,200 in relay was fifth (1:36.1); and their 4x800 relay was sixth (9:03.7) ford Catholic Central's Ryan while Salem's 4x800 was eighth

City of Plymouth NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING 2002-2003 PROPOSED CITY BUDGET

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held on Monday, June 3, 2002, at 7:00 P.M. in Kellogg Park on Penniman, immediately east of South Main Street (or in the Gathering Pavillion across Penniman from the proposed location in the event of inclement weather) for the purpose of discussing and receiving public comments on the proposed 2002-2003 City Budget.

PROPOSED 2002 CITY MILLAGE RATES: The property tax millage rate proposed to be levied to support the proposed budget will be a subject of this hearing. The following statements are provided concerning the 2002 proposed millage levies for the City of Plymouth:

The 2002 tax rate for City operating millage is proposed to be 11.3941 mills, which is .0982 mills less than the 2001 operating tax rate. The City Commission has the authority under the City Charter to set the operating millage rate within the maximum allowed rate of 11.3941 mills, as adjusted by the Headlee millage rollback

The 2002 tax rate for debt service millage to fund debt service requirements for the 1997, 1998 and proposed 2002 General Obligation Street Bond issues is proposed to be 2.35 mills, an increase of .3800 mills from the

The 2002 tax rate for City solid waste and recycling millage is proposed to be 1.50 mills, a decrease of .0600 mills from the 2001 tax rate.

The total City millage for all purposes is proposed to be 15.2441 mills for 2002, which is .2218 mills higher than the 2001 total City tax rate of 15.0223 mills.

EQUALIZATION FACTORS: Wayne County established a tentative 2002 equization factors of 1.1330 for residential classes of property, 1.1183 for commercial classes of property and 1.0917 for industrial classes of property. Since the City has increased assessments for the residential, commercial, and industrial classes for 2002 by the proposed factors, all 2002 equalization factors will be set at 1.00.

Life Time Fitness Offers the Ultimate Health and Fitness Experience

ife Time Fitness has a well-earned reputation for building exceptional health and fitness facilities that meet the needs of everyone from stay-at-home moms to professional athletes to movers and shakers in the business community. And based on the success of its other Michigan facilities, residents of Canton Township will soon have much to look forward to.

Something For Everyone

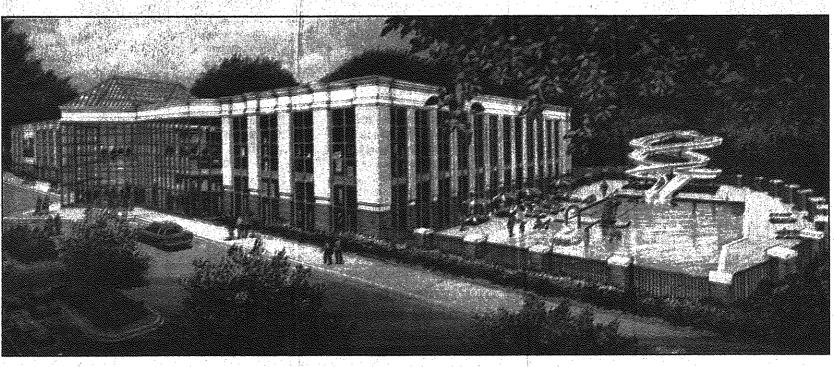

"Our members in Michigan will feel more like welcomed guests," says Life Time Fitness founder and president Bahram Akradi. "In addition to great exercise facilities and beautiful locker rooms, our Canton Township location will feature resortstyle indoor and outdoor swimming pools, rock climbing caverns and our LifeCafe and LifeSpa services. We will combine these unsurpassed amenities with educational and nutritional services and a wide range of member activities to make Life Time Fitness an essential destination for people to forge a whole, healthy and active way of life."

Life Time Fitness members will be able to enjoy indoor and outdoor swimming facilities featuring twostory water slides, play areas, a lap pool, whirlpool and an outdoor bistro. Members will have 24-hour access to more than 400 pieces of cardio, resistance and free weight training equipment, two group fitness studios, full-size basketball and volleyball courts plus racquetball and squash. In addition, group fitness classes including yoga and matbased Pilates are available at no extra charge.

Guests will also enjoy therapeutic massage, and hair and skin care services at LifeSpa. After their workout, members can unwind in opulent locker rooms featuring amenities such as tanning beds and steam rooms, all kept pristinely clean by staff professionally trained by Life Time University. Before departing, members can refuel at LifeCafe and enjoy fresh gourmet sandwiches, energy bars, beverages and a full line of nutritional products.

Life Time Fitness' family focus has helped make it the fastest-growing health and fitness company in the United States. Its childcare center offers a safe, fun environment for kids from ages six months to 12 years. Childcare facilities include a playmaze, children's theater, gym and computer center and a dedicated area for infants.

"Our mission is to provide an innovative environment of uncompromising quality that meets the health and fitness needs of the entire family to Canton Township," says Akradi.

"We provide members with a beautiful and functional facility, not just a health club. The result is that people want to be here, as opposed to feeling like they have to be here."

—Destiny Nazarenko Manager Life Time Fitness Canton Township

Unsurpassed Facilities

Life Time Fitness' newest facility will feature over 100,000 square feet of premier fitness and recreational space. A stunning two-story glass atrium will flood the facility with natural light. Locker rooms feature lounge areas with leather chairs and large-screen TVs.

Member privileges include free childcare services, free educational programs, free lockers, free towel service and free group fitness instruction.

Experienced fitness professionals and a comprehensive range of programs for families and individuals ensure that each trip to Life Time Fitness is an energizing, holistic experience for the mind and body.

"We make the health and recreation experience more entertaining so it becomes a part of everyday life," says Destiny Nazarenko, Manager of Life Time Fitness Canton Township. "We provide members with a beautiful and functional facility, not just a health club. The result is that people want to be here, as opposed to feeling like they have to be here."

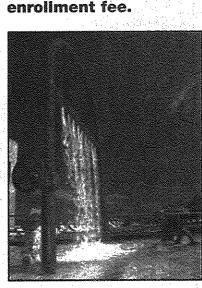

Membership Made Easy

Life Time Fitness memberships are designed with convenience in mind. The company offers a month-to-month membership program with no long-term contracts and a low, one-time enrollment fee.

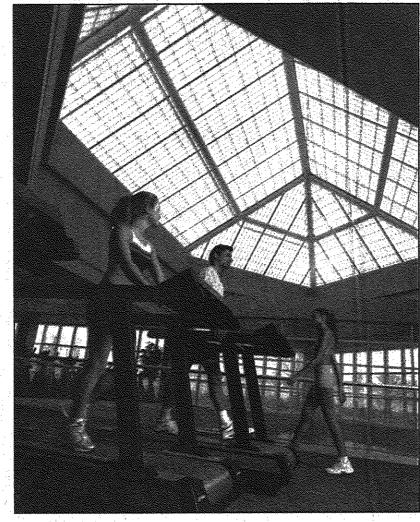

Life Time Fitness is so confident that its members will value their experience that it offers a 30-day money-back guarantee. This allows members to fully experience the sports and fitness center and be sure that it complements their lifestyle. To prevent overcrowding, Life Time Fitness limits the number of memberships available.

Association must deal with mold woes early

I am a community association president and I'm wondering what you can tell me about avoiding mold lawsuits. I'm very concerned about this.

As well you should be. Molds are naturally occurring, airborne organisms which grow in indoor and outdoor environments.

It is suggested that you set up a water leak hotline to ensure that your association is apprised of situations which would cause mold growth. You should also consult with your lawyer in terms of other preventative measures in order to avoid potential liability.

t's been a while since we've presented a real estate quiz. Try this one on for size. Not that you're necessarily in the market to sell or buy now or in the immediate future.

But score well and when the time comes, you'll be in excellent position to make a move, literally and figurative-

A. Real estate commission paid

B. Property taxes paid C. Mortgage interest paid

D. Moving expenses for relocating to a new job across country

■ 5.) True or false: A prospective buyer who offers a seller the listing/asking price and listed terms with no other conditions and with no other bidders can compel the sale at that price.

■ 3.) B — Not to exceed 1½ months

■ 4.) A — Real estate commiseral tax purposes.

■ 5.) True. But additional legal fees may be needed to compel a sale if a seller gets cold feet.

■ 6.) D — A property officially comers will pay more by several changes hands at closing when buyers and sellers and/or their agents get together and sign all the papers.

> ■ 7.) B — The state portion of the property transfer tax is three-quarters of one percent of selling price. That means the sale of a $250,000 home would result in a tax of $1,875, usually paid by the seller.

An additional county property transfer tax of $1.10 per $1,000 of sales price is charged in Oakland and Wayne counties. So figure on paying another $275 in "sales tax" there.

■ 8.) A — While buyers and sellers traditionally pay different fees and costs, everything in the process is open to negotiation. Keep in mind, though, that the goal is sealing the deal, which can get problematic if either party feels insulted during the process. Offers and counter-offers arise through exchanges of the purchase agreement.

■ 9.) B — An owner's equity or personal financial stake in a property is fair market value minus mortgage(s) owed.

■ 10.) C — Home warranty insurance, usually offered by a seller to cover repairs to major mechanical systems for the year after sale as an enticement for buyers, isn't required.

we have professionals. Sure, just about anybody can sell a home. Just like about anybody can hit a baseball, pull a tooth, write a will, fly an airplane, cook a meal, or perform heart surgery. However, two questions persist: What is the true value of a job well done? What happens if there's a glitch?

I absolutely love working with true full-time professionals. I also enjoy paying them fairly for their work. Why? If all goes well, the result is usually fantastic. If there's a hiccup, a real professional coolly responds and brings the issue to a satisfactory resolution — often without you even knowing there was a problem.

My all-time favorite movie quote came from Apollo 13 when Gene Kranz, the NASA Flight Director at Mission Control, said "Failure, gentlemen, is not an option." For true professionals, failure is truly beyond comprehension.

It's an anomaly.

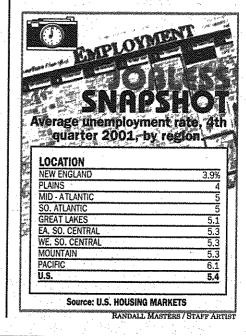

Captain Steve Yzerman takes the ice expecting to score. Commercial pilots take-off fully expecting to land safely. Professional Realtors expect to sell every property they list. And mortgage professionals get real estate money to the table every time.

Professionals in every industry pay emselves well because they know that failure in their industry is more costly than the wage they demand. Real pros will not scalp you, nor will they scalp themselves. Professionals deserve to be paid based on their ability to serve you. If you expect five-star service at a fast food restaurant, you will go hungry.

Bottom line: Don't short yourself by skimping on experience and expertise.

When failure is not an option, hire a professional.

Change in lodging type can impact lifestyle

(AP) - A small change on the real image through ordinances limitestate landscape often leads to bigger changes, affecting lifestyle, jobs, property values and tourism.

Here's one story that's unfolding

The Majestic Motel and Resort, once symbolic of the laid-back, nofrills style that made Panama City Beach (Fla.) a favorite of spring break visitors, is making way for progress.

The Majestic, known for it's "cheapest rooms" advertising, bar, clutter and noise, is being torn down along with four other small, momand-pop motels in this Florida Panhandle resort city.

Others are slated to follow. Motels totaling 600 low-cost rooms currently are slated to be demolished and that number could push past 1,000 by year's end.

Plans call for replacing them with pricey condominiums. That's long been a dream of city officials, who have been trying to undo their town's honky-tonk ing garish signs, adult businesses and tattoo parlors.

Thousands of affordable motel rooms still will be available for students, but spring break will change, too, say city and tourism officials.

"We'll see a change in the caliber of tourist," said City Manager Richard Jackson. "I don't think you'll have quite the beachy atmosphere. Some of these beach bars and nightclubs are on their way

That's sad news for Jayne Thomaston, who works at the Party Shack, a bar across the street from a pile of rubble where the Twin Palms Motel once stood.

She's worried the loss of low-cost motel rooms could shorten the tourist season by driving away spring break visitors. Instead of $35 per night at the old motels, tourists can expect to shell out $150 to $200 a day for condo rental.

"It could all be dead season until June," Thomaston said.

electrical w/CB. New light fixtures, open floor plan, great for entertaining, kitchen floor, disposal, HWH and brick fireplace, newer furnace & air,

"And that's not exactly our clientele," adds co-worker Vernon Dwier, gesturing toward condos already lining the shore. The small motels were doomed by everything from low interest rates to a general gentrification of the beach, but the biggest factor has been rising property values, say motel owners and tourism officials.

Panama City Beach has miles of waterfront real estate that are undeveloped or underdeveloped compared with other coastal areas. particularly the Panhandle west of

"There was no other place to go," said Jerry Wallace, one of the developers of Majestic Towers, which will replace the Majestic Motel with more than 550 condo units. "Destin is built out, Gulf Shores (Ala.) is built out."

"The beach ain't going to be the same no more," said Theresa Taylor, who cleaned rooms at the Majestic Motel. "But it's progress."

Avoid mosquitoes to enjoy outdoors

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

How to avoid mosquitoes around your property:

- Empty standing water in old tires, urns, buckets, plastic covers, toys and any other containers.
- Change water in birdbaths, fountains, wading pools and potted plant trays at least once a week.
- Drain or fill temporary pools with dirt.
- Keep swimming pools treated and circulating and rain gutters unclogged.
- Use mosquito repellents when necessary and follow label directions and precautions closely.

- Use head nets, long sleeves and long pants if you venture into areas with high mosquito populations.
- If there is a mosquitoborne disease warning in effect, stay inside during the evening when mosquitoes are most active.
- Ensure window and door screens are "bug-tight."
- Replace outdoor lights with yellow bug lights.

Mighigan Humane Society

DOPT-A-

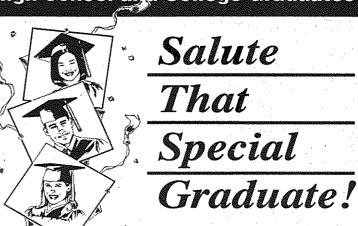

Zeus is a one and a halfvear-old Labrador Retriever who was owner surrendered to the shelter when his family didn't have the time to spend with him. He is a very handsome guy with a shiny black coat and brown sparkling eyes. He is a very intelligent and has been working on commands while staying at the shelter. He already knows how to "sit". Since he enjoys the company of children and other dogs, a new home with either would be an ideal match for him. In addition, he is already housebroken and neutered, so he is all set to move to his new home today! To make Zeus your pet, visit the Michigan Humane Society Westland Shelter, (734) 721-7300
