Accused arsonist headed to trial

By Darrell Clem Observer Staff Writer

Accused arsonist Robert Paul Miller blamed personal problems for his decision to set fire to two mobile homes in the Sherwood Village neighborhood where he lived on Canton's southeast side, a detective testified Friday.

'I am truly sorry for this. I did it because I was stressed," Miller, 43, allegedly said in a written statement read aloud by Canton Detective Andrew Colthurst during a preliminary examination. Miller admitted he has a drinking problem and blamed his decision to set the fires on the stress of losing his wife, his job and his home, Colthurst said.

"I'm a drunk," Miller wrote in his statement to police.

Despite the objections of defense attorney Bryan Sherer, 35th District Court Judge James Plakas allowed Miller's statement and ordered him to stand trial in Wayne County Circuit Court on two counts of arson of a dwelling house. If convicted, Miller could face penalties ranging up to 20 years in prison.

Miller, dressed in a T-shirt and shorts, sat quietly in court as Sherer and prosecuting attorney Eric Sterbis questioned Colthurst and Canton Fire Department inspector Nichole Hamilton during Friday's hear-

Miller confessed to starting fires inside two unoccupied homes separated by only one trailer in Sherwood Village, rattling nerves of residents until Canton police charged Miller after initially taking him into custody for unrelated warrants out of Washtenaw County.

It wasn't like Kristen Kostielney to cry when she sang her goodbye song, the same one she always sings to end her children's storytime sessions at the Canton Public Library

Unable to fight back her tears, she had to stop singing and start over Wednesday evening during her rendition of Time To Say Goodbye To All My Friends.

Because this time, it really was goodbye.

Known fondly as Miss Kristen to thousands of local children who came to know her and love her over the years, Kostielney is leaving to become a Head Start teacher of children ages 3 and 4 at the Campagna Center in Alexandria, Va., a town where her husband, Craig, has found an accounting job.

Board will question seven for open spot

By Brad Kadrich Observer Staff Writer

The Canton Township Board of Trustees will interview seven candidates Tuesday night as it moves to appoint a replacement for former Trustee Todd Caccamo.

The seven candidates, who were among 18 applicants, will be interviewed before the full board starting at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday at Canton Township Hall. Township officials declined to release the names because the 11 applicants not getting an interview had not yet been notified at press

Supervisor Phil LaJoy said the order of the interviews would be done by a "flip of the coin." Each candidate will be allowed to make a twominute opening statement, followed by questions from the six remaining board members. That will be followed by a oneminute closing statement.

All candidates will be asked the same questions "to make sure everything is fair," LaJoy said.

No vote will be taken Tuesday. Instead, the board will vote on Caccamo's replacement at a board meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 27. The successful candidate is then expected to be sworn in at the township's Oct. 11 meeting.

Caccamo, who served nearly seven years, resigned last month due to increased job responsibilities with GE Aviation. His departure prompted the first search to fill a vacancy since LaJoy, then a trustee, resigned in late 2002 after winning election to the state House 21st District seat.

Veterans get benefit help at second summit

By Brad Kadrich Observer Staff Writer

Air Force Reservist Dawn Neagos of St. Clair is pretty sure neither her father nor her father-in-law, both retired military veterans, knew exactly what kind of benefits they were entitled to following their long military careers.

That's why Neagos made the long drive Thursday for the Canton Community Foundation's second annual Veterans' Summit at Laurel Manor in Livonia.

The first day of the two-day program was designed for attorneys and legal advocates; the second day was devoted to providing information about benefits and programs available to veterans and their families.

"Having all the information in one location is just essential," said Neagos, whose father-in-law was a World War II Navy man and whose father is a Vietnam-era Army veteran. "You can spend hours and hours online just trying to find the right person. It's discouraging. My father-in-law never knew, so now my mother-in-law, who is now a widow, is certainly missing out on any number of benefits."

CCF President Joan Noricks said the summit "narrowed the gap in Michigan's lack of continuing legal education," and drew some 50 veteran and legal advocates for the first day (up from 30 last year) and some 215 veterans (up from 150) for the second day.

For the second consecutive year, the CCF received a grant from the Holbrook Charitable Trust to sponsor the forum.

Calling beckons new PCA chief

By Brad Kadrich Observer Staff Writer

When Mark Wood left the 800-student Christian school he shepherded in Boise, Idaho, a few years ago, he didn't figure his retirement was a permanent thing.

He was right.

So when God came knocking, Wood, of course, answered the door. Earlier this year Wood, a retired U.S. Air Force officer with a Ph.D. in education from Liberty (Va.) University, accepted the calling as the head of school for Plymouth Christian Academy.

He replaces Dr. David Butler, who retired after the 2010-11 school year.

'I wasn't retired in the sense I was going to play golf the rest of my life," Wood said with a smile. "I'm 55 years old, and I think I have something left to give."

He decided to give it to PCA, a 600-student K-12 Christian school on Joy Road in Canton. His previous experience was at the two-campus Cole Valley Christian School in Boise (he also led a small school in Albuquerque, N.M.), a post he took so his wife, Janet, could be near her twin sister.

That was all after a lengthy Air Force career during which he was both an enlisted man (a security policeman and a recruiter) and an officer (he did missile duty in Montana), where his last assignment was leading the U.S. Air Force Honor Guard in Washington,

He was in line for a promotion, though he hadn't yet taken it, when "God made it clear to me He had other work for me to Albuquerque and, ultimately, Idaho. The couple moved to Mt. Morris, Mich., to take care of Janet's mother, and Wood took up residence as an adjunct professor with Liberty University and a part-time pastor for his church.

Earlier this year, Wood got a call about the PCA opening from someone in this area whose brother had been attached to Wood's school in Idaho. Wood felt God's hand in the details and applied.

"God found me, I wasn't trying to find a job," Wood said. "I want to obey God, and God said, 'Wood, this is next.' I will work hard until He is done with me."

That sense of faith stood Wood well during the interview process. A 12-member panel talked to about a dozen candidates on the phone and brought three of them in for face-to-face interviews. Wood was a unanimous choice.

"He just seemed to have such a sweet spirit about loving the school and loving the Lord," said Jim Rich, chairman of PCA's Board of Regents, who led the hiring process. "That's what makes the difference at PCA, the spiritual essence of our program. We thought (Wood) was the right fit for PCA at this point in time."

Wood said he spent three days touring the facility and talking to people. In that time, he said, he met students, faculty, parents and staff.

He said he was impressed with the quality of the education -"Almost every student who graduates goes on to college," Wood said and the quality of the people involved at both ends, those delivering the education and the students receiving it.

"What makes this school the best is the character of the students, which is a reflection of the character of the parents, which reflects the character of the faculty," Wood said. "The solid, Godly character makes this the best school in the area."

Wood said he has his priorities for the school, and they start in one place.

"The spiritual health of this school is my number one priority," Wood said. "If that is the number one priority, that will drive us to be the best because of who we are."

Driver charged in Canton mom's death

By Darrell Clem Observer Staff Writer

A Canton motorist accused of accidentally hitting and killing Elizabeth Maupin, a 27-year-old local mother of four, has been charged with a moving violation causing a death.

da Marlene Rentie, 49, is facing a Sept. 26 pre-

trial hearing in 35th District Court for the misdemeanor charge. If found guilty, she could face penalties ranging from fines and probation to one year in jail.

Rentie, described by defense attorney Jonathan Jones as a single mother who cares for a special needs child, has been accused of causing an accident that killed Maupin while she was walking her bike across Haggerty Road on the north side of Michigan Avenue.

Canton Detective Tim Wright has called the accident tragic for everyone involved, saying Maupin had the right of way when the driver apparently didn't see her while making a right turn onto Michigan Avenue from southbound Hag-

Officials have said Rentie was distraught over the accident that killed Maupin, who left behind numerous relatives including husband Brent and their four children, who ranged in age from four months to four years at the time of her death on the evening of July 21.

"There was no malicious intent," Jones said, adding later, "It was just a horrible accident."

Still, Jones said "my heart goes out" to Maupin's family, which was devastated by the death of a woman who was known for baking cookies and taking them along with her children to firefighters working at Fire Station No. 1.

Friday evening, the Canton Firefighters Local 2289 Charity Foundation was planning a bowling event at Super Bowl on Ford Road - one of several community fundraisers that have been organized to help Maupin's family.

Maupin, a Canton High School graduate, has been remembered as a loyal mother, friend, sister and daughter by those who loved her.

Meanwhile, a notguilty plea has been entered for Rentie as she faces her pretrial hearing. Since she has been charged with a one-year misdemeanor, her case will be handled in 35th District Court rather than the felony-level Wayne County Circuit Court.

Car-dragging suspect waives exam

By Darrell Clem Observer Staff Writer

A Westland man accused of hitting another man with his car and dragging him for what police called "a considerable distance" outside a Canton gathering has been ordered to stand trial in Wayne County Circuit Court.

Rodney Manning, 20, could face penalties ranging up to five years in prison if he is convicted of three-pronged charges of operating a vehicle while intoxicated causing serious injury, felonious assault and reckless driving that caused serious injury.

Manning, who had gone to Florida but returned to face charges, is facing trial after he chose Charges against Manning arose from a horrific July 2 incident that police say occurred when a motorist drove off Beck Road near Woodlong Drive and struck an 18-year-old victim, who became trapped under the car and was dragged toward Saltz Road.

The victim, a Westland man, suffered severe injuries and spent just over two months in a hospital before he returned home, Wright said.

Canton police received a call shortly after 3 a.m. Saturday, July 2, about an incident that occurred during what Detective Sgt. Dave Schreiner has described as "a large gathering of young adults and teens."

Manning was later charged following allegations he "drove up and reportedly went onto a grassy shoulder of the road, struck the 18-yearold and continued driving," Schreiner said. Authorities have indicated the driver initially didn't realize the victim was pinned under the car. The suspect got out of the vehicle and left the scene, Schreiner said, but he later turned himself over to authorities and was released as charges were pending. He had gone to Florida in the meantime.

An investigation indicated the driver and the victim knew each other, but no details have emerged to suggest what may have triggered the incident.

Readers form election panel

By Brad Kadrich
Observer Staff Writer

While the Plymouth and Canton Observer editorial staff will, as always, put together an endorsement in the race for the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education, voters are going to get an additional opinion from five of their own.

Five residents of the local community make up the Observer's first Reader Election Endorsement Panel, a group formed to put together to help readers understand the issues and the candidates.

The panel was formulated after 15 candidates, an unusually high number for a local school board race, filed to run for the four open seats in the Nov. 8 election.

"It's something we've thought about putting together for a long time," said Observer publisher Susan Rosiek. "Having that many people step up to run for the board told us there was a tremendous amount of interest in this election. We wanted to tap into that."

The five members of the panel:

• Kary Amin of Plymouth — The 50-year-old Amin is the vice president of Nova Environmental, Inc. He cochaired committees for the last three school bond campaigns and sat on the facility director selection committee. He owns a bachelor's degree in geology, with a teaching certification.

• Eric Brown of Canton

— The 46-year-old HR
representative for Blue Cross-Blue Shield Michigan is a charter member of the PlymouthCanton Committee for Diversity and Inclusion.
Brown, who has a son and a daughter attending Plymouth-Canton schools, owns a bachelor's degree from Eastern Michigan University.

• Carol Pastrick of Plymouth — The 67year-old former educator is new to the area, having lived in Plymouth for about a year. Pastrick, who owns a master's degree, wants the district to "remain a topperforming school system."

• Ryan Hayes of Plymouth — At 22, Hayes is the youngest member of the reader panel. He is a graduate of Salem High School and is currently working toward a bachelor's degree at Wayne State University. Hayes has worked on projects with both the Lions Club and the Plymouth Salvation Army.

• Bob Burger of Canton — the 44-year-old Burger, who grew up in Livonia, has a son at Plymouth High School and a daughter at Pioneer Middle School. He's been involved with the Sunflower Subdivision Board of Directors and has been a volunteer coach for the CEBL. His kids also play for the Canton Soccer Club.

Some 15 people applied for the five-member panel. The panel will interview the candidates, observe them in candidate forums and formulate their own endorsement, which will be published before the election.

Legislators push for bill hearing

State Sen. Patrick Colbeck, R-Canton, and State Rep. Kurt Heise, R-Plymouth, have formally requested a hearing in the Senate Committee on Local Government and Elections on legislation they introduced that would consolidate school board member elections to coincide with the November general election.

The school districts would still be free to hold millage elections on other dates at their own discretion.

The legislators sent a formal request to the chair of the committee where the bills are currently assigned asking for Senate Bills 426-427 (Colbeck) and House Bills 4005-4006 (Heise) to be given a hearing. The bills are double bluebacks — identical language introduced in both chambers of the Legislature.

"There are many reasons I support the concept of consolidated elections, chief among them being the savings to our school districts," Colbeck said. "This is funding that can be redirected to our classrooms."

"This is commonsense legislation that will save money, increase voter turnout, and provide more information on school board candidates," said Representative Heise. "It puts more money in the classroom and improves efficiency."

Both legislators said school districts will see a cost-savings from this legislation. It has been estimated by the Senate Fiscal Agency that by "piggybacking" school elections onto the general election in November, school districts across the state will save up to $7 million annually.

The House Fiscal Agency projects that current school board elections cost between $25,000 and $50,000 for a stand-alone election and $5,000 to $10,000 when added on to an existing millage election. Requiring school board elections to be held at the same time as the general election in November, they said, eliminates the need for the school districts to hold additional elections and incur additional costs.

Additionally, the legislators said, turnout for the November elections is consistently higher than school elections in February or May. Moving the school board elections to November will mean higher voter participation in electing school board members.

Girl Scout food drive fights hunger

Fifth-grade Girl Scout Troop 40677 from Dodson Elementary School in Canton hosts a food drive to fight hunger and make a difference in the community.

Troop officials said the Girl Scouts are "working hard to prepare for the food drive." The girls created flyers, posters and even acquired donations from local businesses as incentives for Dodson students who collect the most food. They coordinated two collections for the food drive, in hopes of making a huge impact on the community.

One collection is open to the public, Sept. 23 from 5-7:30 p.m. at the Canton Kroger store, 1905 N. Canton Center Road. Everyone is welcome to come out and donate food.

The other collection will be at Dodson Elementary School, from Sept. 26-30. The Girl Scouts will have daily telecasts and presentations about the food drive. The students will have a chance to win prizes for the most food collected. All food will be given to Open Door Food Ministry, which is a local food pantry in Canton.

only one of its kind in Michigan," Noricks said. "The foundation is proud to lead the way in informing veterans about the benefits they have earned with their service."

The second day of the summit, designed as an informational day for veterans wanting details about available services/ benefits, featured a variety of vendors talking about VA benefits, compensation, disability compensation, medical services and E-benefits.

There was also a panel discussion featuring a variety of Veterans Affairs and Disabled American Veterans groups. The program targeted the approximately 350,000 veterans who live in metropolitan Detroit.

So many people "don't know what they were entitled to," said James Fausone, managing partner of Legal Help for Veterans, PLLC, in Northville and a member of the CCF's board of directors.

The first day is as important as the second day, Fausone said, because it allows veteran and legal advocates to get certification necessary in dealing with the mounds of red tape that often accompany finding out about benefits.

"It's a huge federal bureaucracy," Fausone said. "The veteran trying to sift through it on his own is probably going to be unsuccessful.'

Air Force Col. (Ret.) James Hoefel hadn't needed his veterans' benefits much until recently, when he encountered some health issues and went to the VA Hospital in Ann Arbor and then the University of Michigan Hospital. The Westland resident said he came to the summit because he had "certain interests" and believes there are benefits about which he could learn.

"I got a bag full of information. ... I'll spend hours going through it," Hoefel said. "The information is very useful and, of course, there's a comfort factor being around other veterans."

STORYTIME

left here, I wanted to work in a Head Start classroom," Kostielney, 37, said.

Yet she feels emotional leaving Canton, where she has lived since age 5 when her family moved from Maryland after her father got a job with Ford Motor Co. She leaves behind cherished relatives, co-workers and library patrons.

"I consider everyone family here," she said.

Cause for tears

The feeling is mutual. Canton mom Lalita Mishra said her daughters - Pragya, 7, and Jaya, 5 — will miss Kostielney's storytime sessions, book clubs, Halloween parties, handson science programs and other children's projects. Pragya cried when she was told Miss Kristen was leaving. "She has left a good impression on my daughters," Mishra said. "She is so interesting, and it has helped the kids so much. She even showed them how to make ice cream. She is like their best friend. Every time we go to the library, they want to see her." Kostielney has no children of her own, but she leaves behind close-knit family members who live within a three-mile radius in Canton - parents Beverley and Denis Tierney; sister Stephanie Tierney; and sister Kim Witten, brother-in-law Mike Witten, and their daughters Abby, 10, and Emily, 7.

New phase

Sitting in the library prior to her last storytime, Kostielney's eyes teared up several times as she described her bittersweet feelings of leaving so many people who love her for a new phase of life she admits "is really exciting."

Kostielney attended two area elementary schools - Fiegel Elementary School in the Plymouth-Canton district and Wayne-Westland's Walker-Winter - before going to St. Mary Catholic School in Wayne and graduating from Ladywood High School in Livonia.

She was only 16 when she became a Canton library page, and she continued working part time as she earned her education degree from Eastern Michigan University. She stayed with the library as she did her student teaching at Isbister Elementary in Plymouth and as she worked part time as a preschool teacher for Plymouth Children's Nursery.

Kostielney accepted a full-time library job 15 years ago when her position as children's program specialist was created, and she has never regretted her decision.

"I have awesome coworkers and awesome patrons," she said. "I've made great friends. They have really made me part of their life."

Her library family honored her Thursday evening with a farewell party.

"Kristen has been such an asset to the library to the community - that it is very difficult to see her go," said Anne Heidemann, department head for children, tween and teen services. "She has touched the lives of so many of the children and families in Canton, and we have been so lucky to have her with us for so many years. While I'm quite sad to let her go, I know that Kristen is making an exciting move and that she will certainly shine and bring the enthusiasm and expertise she is known for to children and families in a new community."

Bigger scope Library statistics indicate Kostielney has had 95,285 on-the-job interactions with children, though that number includes repeat patrons. It's common for her young fans to stop her in grocery stores and restaurants.

"I love the kids," she said. "Kids are so honest. You can't fake them. They either like you or they don't.'

Kostielney has broadened the scope of her library duties by working with outside organizations such as Canton Leisure Services, Starfish Family Services, the Plymouth Whalers, Canton Farmers Market, preschools and day care centers. Sometimes she has taken programs on the road; sometimes the groups come to her.

She also has been involved in her community through the Canton Kiwanis Club and St. Thomas a'Becket Catholic Church.

Reflecting on her 21year library career, Kostielney said she has no regrets. Her successor hasn't been chosen, but Monday marks her last day - a day she chose because she wanted to attend the International Talk Like a Pirate Day program.

"I wanted to end with a fun program," she said. One with smiles - and perhaps a few more tears - though it seems both are deserved in equal measure.

County officials break ground on new jail

Wayne County Commissioner Joan Gebhardt (D-District 12) joined Chairman Gary Woronchak, County Executive Robert Ficano and Sheriff Benny Napoleon in a ground-breaking ceremony Thursday on a $300 million state-of-the-art jail facility.

The new 715,000-squarefoot Wayne County Jail will be located downtown across from Frank Murphy Hall of Justice on property bordering Gratiot, St. Antoine, Clinton and the Chrysler Service Drive. It is scheduled to open July 2014.

"It is the responsibility of the Wayne County Commission under the county charter to approve contracts and ensure that the people's best interests are in order with a project of this magnitude," said Gebhardt, who made motions on several fronts to see the project through. "The Commission has done its job and I have to feel excited about the jobs this will bring to so many hard-working families in our area."

According to Gebhardt, the new jail will save the county money by using new technologies and the latest best practices for prisoner movement and supervision, and will also create safer environments for prisoners and employees.

"I say with confidence that we have done our job well, and we stand here as partners in this ambitious and outstanding venture for which we are breaking ground today," Woronchak said.

It is also estimated that more than 2,000 jobs will be created by the project, which is one of the largest construction initiatives Wayne County has launched in several years.

The facility will have 2,192 beds and house prisoners who would currently be in two downtown jails and a jail in Hamtramck. The downtown jails, built in 1929 and 1981, are expected to be demolished. The fate of the Hamtramck facility, in operation since 1991, remains unclear.

Video visitation will be one new feature for the facility as prisoners will now be able to meet with relatives and clergy from their cells by way of cameras and television screens.

"Building a new jail isn't cause to celebrate," Ficano said. "What we are saying is in these economic times, you have to look at everything in terms of improving efficiency and cutting costs. That's what this project will do."

Wayne County, in an effort to stimulate local economic activity, used a consulting firm to prequalify contractors. Presently, approximately 425 potential contractors have been prequalified. Of those candidates, 60 percent are Wayne Countyand City of Detroit-based.

"There is no question this center is crucial to alleviating many of our fiscal issues," Sheriff Napoleon said. "We know that we cannot incarcerate our way out of the ills plaguing our county. However, we can take the measured steps to streamline our system so that money we have available is being used to its utmost bene-

Soldier witnesses son's birth via Skype

When Air Force Airman First Class Christian (Chris) Lopez was deployed to the Middle East last April, his wife Amber, 18, was pregnant with their second child and due in September. On Saturday, Sept. 10, Chris, 20, was able to witness the birth of his son, Declan James Lopez, born at 9:27 a.m. at St. Mary Mercy's Hospital's Birthing Center, via Skype.

"I'm extremely thrilled and happy," he said. "The experience made it feel like a little piece of home, actually being able to see everything as it happened."

Prior to the birth, the South Lyon couple frequently kept in touch using Skype, a software application that allows users to make voice and video calls and chats over the Internet. Knowing other military couples had used this technology during labor and delivery, Amber approached her OB/Gyn, Tim Johnson, M.D., of Westside Obstetrics & Gynecology, a staff physician at St. Mary Mercy in Livonia. "Dr. Johnson was really excited about it when we first started talking about it," explained Amber.

In a collaborative effort, St. Mary Mercy physicians, Birthing Center and information technology staff came together for St. Mary Mercy's first Skype birth broadcast. Having a difficult delivery of their first child, 1-yearold daughter Addison, "we were determined Amber was going to have a good experience this time," said Deborah Ainsworth, a registered nurse and Birthing Center director. A webcam and laptop were set up bedside where Chris could view the action just as if he were in the room.

Arriving a few days early, the 7 pound, 12 ounce, 21-inch baby boy was born on his great-grandmother's birthday. He was delivered by on-call OB/ Gyn Karol Otteman, D.O.

"As a military family, the distance can be hard, but this experience was really nice," Amber said. "This was so much better than just being on the phone because he could actually see him live. St. Mary Mercy took care of everything and made it perfect."

Converting from traditional IRA to Roth makes sense

LOCAL NEWS

By Rick Bloom Guest Columnist

Q: Dear Rick: I read your recent column about Roth conversions. I think it would make sense for me, but I want to share my situation. I am divorced and presently unemployed. I am hoping to get a job next year. I have been living on the money I am receiving from my divorce. None of the money from my ex-husband is taxable. Last year, I had zero taxable income. I am guessing that this year I will also have no income. I am a nurse, so I should have no problem getting a job next year. I have about $20,000 in a traditional IRA. I'm in my late 30s and don't plan on touching the money for years down the road. What do you think. Should I convert?

A: I think you are a perfect candidate to convert your traditional IRA into a Roth IRA. The fact that you had no taxable income last year and probably will have none this year provides you with a great

Money Matters

Rick Bloom

Roth cenversion. The only question is, do you convert the entire amount or only a por-opportunity to take tage of a

advan-

tion? Depending upon your deductions and exemptions, you should be able to convert a significant portion of the money without any tax liability. Without question, at a minimum, that amount of monev should be converted. The issue is whether the portion of money that may be subject to income tax should be converted. Since you will start working next year, and as a result will have taxable income, at a minimum, you will be in the low tax bracket. Because the money you would have to pay taxes on in the conversion would only be taxed at the low bracket, it makes sense to convert the entire amount this year. This will allow you to turn tax-deferred money into tax-free money, which will provide you with a substantial benefit down the road.

There is, however, one caveat. You must have the money to pay the taxes on the taxable money from the conversion without touching the amount converted. If you meet that criterion, then my recommendation would be to convert the entire amount.

For those in a low tax bracket or with little taxable income, converting a traditional IRA into a Roth IRA is something that should be considered. Always remember that when it comes to converting, you do not have to convert the entire IRA. You can convert as little or as much as you want.

It is important to remember that the conversion must be completed before year's end. It's not like a new contribution in which you have until April 15, 2012. It typically takes about two days to complete this transation - from the time you notify your custodian until completion.

However, don't forget that custodians get extremely busy near the end of the year and it's not unusual that the same transaction that may take just a couple of days to complete in September may take more than two weeks to complete in December. Therefore, even though you still have plenty of time to do the Roth conversion, you don't want to wait until the last minute.

The major advantage of a Roth IRA is that the money grows tax-free, not tax-deferred. When you withdraw money from a traditional IRA, that money is taxable to you. That is not the case with a Roth IRA.

Another benefit, which in many situations can be substantial, is that Roth IRAs are not subject to minimum required distributions. As opposed to having to withdraw monev at 701/2 with a traditional IRA, you can let that money grow tax-free for as long as you choose. Also, with a traditional IRA, if there is money left over upon death, your beneficiaries would pay income taxes on the distribution when that money is eventually withdrawn. If it was a Roth IRA, the distribution would be tax-free to your beneficiaries.

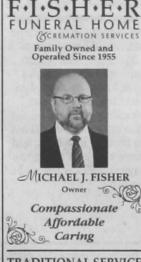

Roth IRAs are great investment tools, and more and more people ought to take advantage of them. A Roth conversion is relatively easy and straightforward and can save you money on taxes, but most importantly, it makes sense economically. Good luck!

McCotter's Social Security fix: allow personal savings accounts

By Ken Abramczyk Observer Staff Writer

Congressman Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, believes Social Security can be saved from insolvency by allowing for personal savings accounts and cutting other federal programs.

McCotter introduced legislation, HR 2889, Monday aimed at allowing all workers, age 50 or younger, to create personal savings accounts eligible for "reasonably flexible investment" in the free market.

The accounts would be administered through the federal government and the current level of benefits would be maintained.

McCotter said participation in the accounts would be voluntary, and a minimum return on investment would be guaranteed. "We will not go further into debt, and there's no cost to the taxpayers," McCotter said of his bill.

'Like refinancing a house'

Observer & Eccentric | Sunday, September 18, 2011

Funding for the accounts will come from cuts and elimination of other federal programs, expected to be identified in companion legislation, and efficiencies realized from block granting specific federal programs to states, McCotter said.

"It's like refinancing a house," he said. "You have to find the savings to pay down the debt." McCotter added that a majority of Americans don't want their benefits cut, taxes raised or the retirement age raised.

McCotter, who is also running for the Republican nomination for president, introduced his bill the same day that the Republican presidential candidates debated on CNN. McCotter, who has low poll numbers compared to the other candidates, was not invited to the debate.

McCotter noted that the

other candidates debated over "who called Social Security what" instead of discussing solutions. "The media didn't want to give any story to solutions," he said of the coverage of the debate.

The chief actuary of Social Security, Peter Goss, confirmed that the legislation, if implemented, would eliminate future deficits while satisfying current obligations.

Higher benefits

The actuary predicted that 100 percent of participants would choose the personal accounts because they would yield higher benefits, but he could not estimate the cost of a federal benefit guarantee. The Social Security trust fund is expected to be solvent through 2036.

According to former Reagan administration appointee Peter J. Ferrara, if the McCotter plan were enacted, it would generate "the single largest spending and debt reductions of government in world history." Ferrara appeared Monday with McCotter to discuss the legislation.

McCotter's legislation is supported by Americans for Tax Reform, Americans for Prosperity and 60Plus.

He hasn't discussed his proposal yet with other congressional members, nor his fellow Republicans, but he is looking for bipartisan support.

McCotter said his bill would not raise payroll taxes, affect current benefits for recipients or increase the retirement age. "I hope we can find out (about support) at some point. If not, I would ask which one do you want to do," he said. McCotter remains opposed to increasing taxes, impacting benefits or raising the retirement age.

With the changing demographics and the issuing of funding Social Security in the balance, McCotter believes lawmakers need to fix the system.

"Otherwise, our kids will lose faith in the system," McCotter said. "That's always danger-

Marriage proposal caps off St. Mary Mercy's 5K

As Angela Huizar, 32, of South Lyon, crossed the finish line of her first 5K, she wasn't expecting boyfriend James Roy, 29, to be on bended knee. Roy, a Washtenaw County sheriff, proposed to Huizar after 10 years of dating, greeting her with flowers and a diamond ring.

"I just thought the flowers were for finishing the 5K," she said. "I didn't expect him to propose. Even when he pulled out the ring box, I was still trying to catch my breath and wasn't processing what was happening!"

Besides the engagement, St. Mary Mercy Hospital's 5th Annual "Embrace Life" 5K run/walk for Cancer held Sept. 11 turned out to be the most successful yet—638 runners and walkers registered for this event,

The Best Money I've Ever Spent! (Actual Testimonial)

I had laser hair removal on my lip and chin over three years ago with Beth. It changed my life, I had such severe facial hair that I shaved my face every morning. (like 5 o'clock shadow hairy) After waxing me one day, Beth gently asked me "Why don't you have the laser hair removal done?" I told her that I had tried that, I went to Henry Ford Fairlane, paid $1000 for my chin area and had 8 treatments. I then sarcastically said "clearly it doesn't work". She promised me that after one treatment I'd see a difference. I really wanted to believe that it could work. I had my first treatment and noticed a difference. After 3 treatments my friends and co-workers noticed it to. By the time I was done I finally felt like a girl. My self esteem was restored. It's been three years and I have thanked Beth, Renee, and Fatima every time I see them for taking such wonderful care of me. I referred every woman I know to see them. Laser hair removal is the way to go. I'm having my underarms done now for less than the price of a Coach purse. I'm NEVER going to have to shave my underarms again. I'm investing in ME!

I've lived in Canton, Northville and now Dearborn. I don't care how far I am from them New Face New Body is my laser hair removal spot. The Brazilian wax is awesome too. I think I'll laser that next.

Wildcats out-Fox Churchill, 41-0

By Brad Kadrich Observer Staff Writer

Despite going into halftime with a 14-0 lead Friday, Plymouth football coach Mike Sawchuck wasn't happy with much of what he saw.

So he went into the locker room at the break and challenged his team to get down to business and play what he called "Wildcat football.

The Wildcats did just that, riding the legs of running back Donte Fox to an easy 41-0 win over visiting Livonia Churchill, unbeaten Plymouth's fourth straight win.

"We made a lot of mental errors in the first half, and I wasn't happy with that," Sawchuck said. "We said (at halftime) we need to out-physical them, and they did.'

The Wildcats got off to a quick start when Stefan Turrentine laid a hit on Churchill running back Romello Brown, who fumbled the ball. Plymouth's Tyler Goble scooped it up and rumbled 35 yards for the game's first touchdown with 6:52 left in the first quarter.

When Fox scored two minutes later on a 1-yard run to give Plymouth a 14-0 lead, it looked like the Wildcats were going to dominate. Not so, according to their coach.

'We weren't that dominant in that first half," Sawchuck said. But they were in the second. Turrentine returned the second-half kickoff to the Wildcats' 46, but a 5-yard facemask penalty moved them to the Chargers' 49. That's when Fox took over, gaining 32 yards on five carries over the seven-play drive. The drive was helped when Plymouth quarterback Shaun Austin's pass bounced off the hands of his intended receiver, Matt Janke, and nestled in the arms of teammate Nate Emminger for a 9-yard gain that kept the drive alive.

Fox ended it two plays later, scoring the Wildcats' third touchdown after hitting the middle of the line, then squeezing through a crowd on a 14-yard scamper.

Churchill got the ball back and failed to move it, and a 15yard punt set Plymouth up at the Churchill 22-yard line. Fox scored his third touchdown on a 9-yard run with 4:57 left in the quarter, and added his fourth a 1-yard run - about three minutes later.

Canton spikers nip tough Churchill

By Tim Smith Observer Staff Writer

Two heavy-hitting KLAA South Division rivals gave high school volleyball fans quite a show Thursday night at Canton.

It took four hammer-and-tong games between the host Chiefs and Livonia Churchill before the match could be decided, with Canton scraping by for a 3-1 victory

Canton took the first two games by identical 25-22 scores before the Chargers mounted an impressive rally - taking Game 3 (25-21) and jumping out to a 7-2 lead early in the fourth game, trying to force a fifth game. But then the Chiefs rallied for a 25-23 win to close out Churchill.

"It was stressful and intense," Canton head coach Mary Kryska said. "Very aggressive from both teams, it was a good game. I fully anticipated (there) being very close games."

Moving things around

Kryska said she tweak defensive strategies and positioning against the Chargers powerful front row of Emily Norscia, Marissa Pomaville and Erin Menard to help turn Game 4 Canton's way.

"We just needed to adjust around their tall girls. and we needed to do specific things to defend and block their best hitters," Kryska said. "And we needed to find the open spots, because they have good

The defeat dropped the Chargers to 13-8 and 2-1, but Grenier emphasized that the race for the KLAA South title is "far from over," what with both teams having a rematch Oct. 6.

"It's a really nice rivalry with them. They have the advantage at their place," Grenier said. "We're going to change a couple things and make sure we come out and make this as competi-

Play It Again program focuses on hockey safety

By Tim Smith Observer Staff Writer

It happens all the time. A young boy or girl decides to give hockey a chance. Parents then scramble to find equipment that is relatively affordable but mostly safe - to minimize injuries to their kids from bouncing pucks and errant sticks.

That's where Play It Again Sports comes into play and Canton hockey dad Chet Dhruna is appreciative.

'It's really nice, it allows those of us who are not experts on any given sport to come in here," said Dhruna during a family visit to the Play It Again store at 42079 Ford Road in Canton. "They size up our kids, make good recommendations.

... These guys are really good, really helpful in making sure that we have our kids playing and having fun - but also being

By Tim Smith Observer Staff Writer

Enjoying success by winning the recent Monroe Tournament, the Plymouth varsity boys tennis team is continuing to impress.

The Wildcats improved to 3-1 in the KLAA South Division by defeating visiting Westland John Glenn 8-1 on Tuesday afternoon.

Leading the way was senior standout Aaron Zhang, who took care of Tommy Ruark in two sets (6-2, 6-0).

"We're off to a good start," Plymouth head coach Tom Kimball said. "Winning the Monroe Tournament got the kids motivated."

After that came a disappointing, but constructive 5-4 loss to Canton where the Wildcats dropped four of the five doubles matchups.

According to Kimball, that helped the team focus on where to improve and it paid off against the Rockets.

Plymouth took care of all but No. 2 doubles against John Glenn.

Earning the wins were Joe Klots-Praveen Loganathan at No. 1, Joe Conn-Dylan Grant at No. 3, Cameron Earls-Danny Sinnott at No. 4 and Jared Hopf-Ani Hadagali at No. 5.

The Wildcats also took singles flights 2-4, with freshman Charlie Hou, Josh Heinze and Josh Postel victorious.

Kimball said working on doubles should pay off when his team renews acquaintances with Can-

"We've spent a lot of time in practicing retooling their strategy and physical positioning on the court," Kimball explained. "So we expect a different result when we run into them again at the KLAA tournament."

Likewise, knowing the team can have success in a tournament setting (by winning in Monroe) should be a plus at Saturday's Dexter Invitational (which took place after this issue of the Observer went to press).

"We have a great tournament coming up in Dexter," Kimball said. "There should be some good teams there and a chance for our guys to play well and step it up."

BOYS SOCCER

Canton tops Pioneer in KLAA soccer, 3-1

In a matchup of two of the state's best boys soccer teams, Canton hosted Ann Arbor Pioneer and came away with a 3-1 victory Friday.

Pioneer struck first, midway through the first half, when it was awarded a free kick, and senior Adam Carn Saferstein's pass was headed in by Josh Graves. Canton tied the game a few minutes before halftime on a nearly identical play. This time, it was senior Tyler Winningham finding senior Connor Furgason alone in front of the net, and Furgason headed in the free kick. This was the first goal Pioneer had given up all season.

Canton took the lead 14 minutes into the second half. Connor Shennan won a ball in the middle of the field and sent a nice pass to Scott Piwowar on the left wing. Piwowar outraced the Pioneer defender to the end line and crossed the ball to a wide-open Mitch Pepper, who tapped it into the open goal. Canton tacked on an insurance marker about 10 minutes later, when Shean Krolicki intercepted a bad clearing pass and drilled a shot into the Pioneer net.

Senior Steven Murphy was strong in goal for Canton, making seven saves - several of them on dangerous Pioneer chances. Murphy's best work in goal came just two minutes after Krolicki gave the Chiefs a 3-1 lead, when he first punched out a crossing shot, and then stopped a point-blank rebound.

With the win, Canton improves to 10-1-1 (overall) and is 4-0-0 in the KLAA South.

CANTON 8, JOHN GLENN 0: The Chiefs' offensive juggernaut continued to roll Thursday with an KLAA South Division rout of host Westland John Glenn (5-4, 1-3). The game was halted with 12 minutes left due to the MHSAA mercy rule. Fourth-ranked Canton (9-1-1 overall, 3-0) broke out to a 5-0 halftime lead en route to its seventh win in a row. Scoring in succession were Dan Ovesea (three goals), Mitch Posuniak (from Brian Berinti), Connor Furgason (from Tyler Winningham), Ovesea (from Ken Krolicki) and Ryan Kilgore — the latter goal in the 39th minute. The onslaught continued just three minutes into the second half with Ovesea netting his hat trick goal from Furgason. At about the six-minute sophomore Ken Krolicki, who made no mistake. Kilgore then scored his second of the day, from Mitch Pepper, to finish the scoring and the game. Sharing the shutout were goalkeepers Ian Wingate and Brandon Pickert, the latter seeing his first varsity action.

SALEM 5, S.L. EAST 0:
Continuing their strong play in the KLAA Central Division, the host Rocks (3-5-3, 2-2) blanked South Lyon East on Thursday. Tallying three goals was sophomore Brady Cole, while senior Colin Rooney chipped in with the other two goals. Collecting helpers were Chris Dierker, Grant McKinney, Blake Townes and Austin Erick Beas chalked up the shutout for Salem.

PLYMOUTH 8, WAYNE 0: In a KLAA South Division match Thursday, the host Wildcats (3-6-2, 2-2) invoked the eight-goal mercy rule to beat Wayne Memorial (2-6,

SALEM 4, SOUTH LYON
1: In a KLAA Central Division match Tuesday, the host Rocks scored an impressive victory against a tough Lions squad. Goal scorers for Salem were Chris Dierker, Connor Cole, Brady Cole and Tyler Foscick with Daniel Marsden (two assists) and Jake Genrich (one assist) helping the cause. Up by a goal late in the first half, Dierker tallied a key marker on a free kick from midfield as time expired. That gave the Rocks momentum which they did not relinquish, head coach Ed McCarthy said.

mark, senior Shean Krolicki

The Plymouth-Canton Steelers swept the Westland Comets in junior football league action Saturday, Sept. 10, at Central Middle School.

The varsity squad improved to 2-0 with a 20-6 triumph over the Comets.

Trailing 6-0 early, the Steelers hit paydirt on a 2-yard run by Jacob McKinnon, who set up the score one play earlier with a 57-yard run. McKinnon's success was complemented by solid blocking from Gavin McAuliffe, Jack Pardington, Jordan Montagano, Jim Szegi, Shane Prevo, Max Marco and Evan Fisher.

P-C seized the lead for good, 12-6, on its next possession thanks to a scoring hook-up from quarterback Alex Nicholson to Christian Pearson.

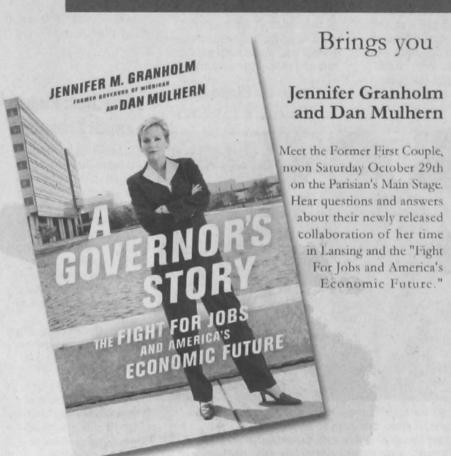

The Steelers added an insurance TD on their initial second-half possession when Nicholson hit Brennan Brooks with a scoring strike. Cameron Stella's two-point conversion kick made it 20-6.

Defensively, the Steelers were paced by Stella and Prevo.

tive as we can for the second one."

He'll have to figure out how to slow Canton's big hitters, seniors Alaina Turner and Kristen Muir. They contributed 20 and 10 kills, respectively.

One of Turner's kills was the point that won both Game 4 and the match for the Chiefs. She skied to receive a set from Lauren Martin (17 assists) and practically spiked it through the floor on the Churchill side.

Turner (19 digs) and Muir (24 digs) also were strong on defense, finding ways to field the balls that were hammered their way.

"Both teams can swing and terminate," Grenier said. "Canton played some great defense. They're a good team and they showed it tonight."

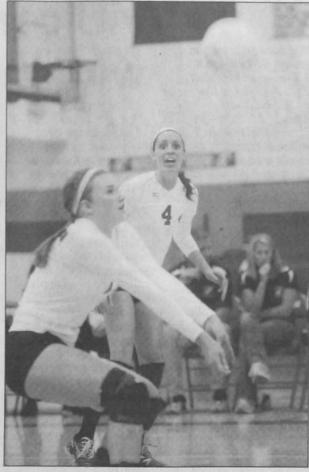

Maggie Deloy (18 digs), Erica den Boer (12 digs, 6 kills), Jordan Tubaro (4 kills, 4 blocks), Jordan Diedrick (7 kills, 3 blocks) and Jackie Waite (20 assists) also played strong matches.

For the Chargers, Norscia led with 24 kills, while other leaders were Jackie Tolles (15 digs) and Katie Chartrand, who tallied 37 assists. Menard and Pomaville each chipped in with nine kills and three blocks while McKenzie Hamill added eight kills.

In the opening game, the teams traded points most of the way with Churchill up 22-21 with a chance to add more points at the serving stripe.

But Canton got a muchneeded defensive sideout on a spike from Muir, and Deloy finished the win with a three-point stint at the line.

Two productive runs helped the Chiefs build a seemingly comfortable lead in the second game (Muir and denome Boer each served four points to build a 9-1 edge). Churchill didn't flinch from that deficit, however, and nearly caught the Chiefs in the late going. It was 24-22 with the Canton's Erica den Boer bumps the ball while teammate Kristen Muir (No. 4) watches in the background.

Chargers serving, but the subsequent serve went beyond the back line to finish the game.

Comeback bid

In Game 3, the Chargers made their comeback. After trailing 13-9, Churchill kept working and closed the gap to 19-17.

There were several lengthy volleys, as players from both teams dove, hit the ball from outside the court perimeter and did whatever they could to keep the action going,

Churchill's Casey Bias then had the chance to serve and she came through — scoring on five of six serves, making it a 22-20 Churchill lead.

Instrumental on three of those points was Norscia, with two kills and a timely block against Muir.

Norscia then made a defensive stop and shed and tipped a Chartrand set over the net to finish up a 25-21 win.

Canton needed to right the ship in the fourth game, after the Chargers carried momentum over from Game 3 to take an early lead.

It took a five-point service run (including an ace) from Waite to put the Chiefs up (10-9) and they didn't trail the rest of the night

There were several times when Churchill, however, did tie the game—including 23-23 when a Canton serve went long.

After two more points, the Chiefs and their fans could finally exhale. But according to Turner, it wasn't a nerve-wracking environment at all.

"If we cheer, we win, that's what we always say," Turner said. "... It's more fun than pressure, definitely, in a game like this."

There's another one just like it only three weeks away.

"They are definitely not going away," Kryska said. "They will come back the hardest they probably played the next time we see them. For sure they will."

What to look for

The Dhrunas' questions about what kind of stick to buy were quickly handled by the Play It Again staff, led by store ownermanager Chuck Jones.

He demonstrated how to make sure a stick is the proper length, both for safety and function, by holding the stick vertically (from the floor up) next to Devan.

But the knob was a few inches above the recommended length, which is nose level when a player is standing in shoes.

Jones told Chet that sticks of proper length correspondingly rise to a player's chin when on skates.

When the family left the store to take Evan to hockey practice, they had a different stick in tow, one that was the right length for safe, comfortable use. It was a $12 CCM model.

Those kinds of exchanges are happening regularly throughout September at all Play It Again locations, as part of the North American chain's "Keep 'Em Safe" program.

The impetus for the program is a survey conducted by the Mayo Clinic, citing that more than 18,000 youth players are treated annually for hockey-related injuries. One of the main culprits: ill-fitting equipment.

But Jones said hockey moms and dads can get the same guidance and expertise throughout the entire year.

"We do it 365, but this is a promotion we've been doing," Jones explained. "We've been doing this for several years, actually. We're really encouraging this because it's the first part of the hockey season."

According to Jones, it is not uncommon for customers to walk in with a bag of used hockey equipment that they need to decide what pieces are keepers or not.

"We've had people come in trying out equipment who were not sure if it fit them," Jones said. "So we give them our best shot at how it should fit. It's mostly with the beginners. They get a bag of equipment from a cousin, or a friend, or neighbor. Sometimes it fits and sometimes it doesn't.

"So we go through it with them and find stuff that fits them, and they can trade in the other stuff toward something that might fit them better."

Among the more-recurring discussions are about proper fit for helmets and doing a checklist of sorts with hockey pants and other slightly worn gear to make sure everything is where it should be.

"Hockey helmets are all adjustable and they (new hockey parents) don't know that," Jones noted. "Their kids might have been playing for a couple years and they come in and say 'My kid needs a new hockey helmet.' We look at it and say 'Hey, you still got room on this. We can open it up and make it bigger for you, you don't have to trade this in.'

"They're tickled to death because they don't have to put out that $25to-$100 on a new helmet."

Jones stressed that the Play It Again employees know what to look for when someone is looking at, or bringing in, used

"There's different levels of equipment, so we show them the different features on each piece of equipment that might protect their son or daughter better," he explained. "Or, if (equipment) is used, sometimes it's too worn out. There are pockets in the pants that hold different pads, and sometimes . they lose them (pads). If they get it from a friend, they didn't know it was missing until we told them."

Affordable option

Youth-league coaches also refer parents looking to properly outfit novice players.

"We got several coaches that have been pretty loyal to us for years," Jones said. "They recommend their new players come here."

For families not wanting to empty the bank to get their kids started on the ice, having an option like Play It Again is golden.

"We got our skates here, our gloves here," Chet Dhruna said. "Some of the things we get as rent-al equipment, but slowly as we know he (Evan) is going to commit to it we buy things along the way."

If Evan decides to stick to other sports he plays (baseball, soccer, swimming), the Dhrunas can smile knowing that what they spent wasn't too much. "That's the nice part," said Chet with a knowing nod.

Besides, the folks at Play It Again Sports also have anything they might need for those sports, too.

Play It Again Sports has over 400 locations throughout the United States and Canada. Jones said the chain sells more hockey gear than any other chain. For more information, call (734) 844-8591 or go to www.playitagainsports.com.

Bounce-back victory for 'Cats

By Tim Smith
Observer Staff Writer

After Tuesday's hard-fought loss against campus and division rival Canton, host Plymouth bounced back to defeat Livonia Franklin in Thursday's KLAA South Division matchup.

The Wildcats won 3-2, needing a 20-18 victory in the fifth game to hold off the Patriots.

"I'm extremely proud at how they came out firing in the first game ready to go and (how they) bounced back so well in the third, leading 10-1 at one point," noted Plymouth head coach Sarah Marody.

The teams traded victories all night. Plymouth won 25-13 in the first game, fueled by the quick start.

Franklin answered with a 25-22 win in Game 2 only to have the 'Cats respond (25-15 in Game 3). The Pats, trying to extend the match, did so with a 25-20 win in the fourth set to force a winner-take-all game.

Leading the Wildcats with 18 kills, along with 15 digs, was Emilee Beyer. Libero Lindsey Stemberger had 26 digs, while Jessica Scott and Shayla Smalls led the offense with 25 and 18 assists, respectively.

Other players of note included Madelyn Betts (12 digs, 4 blocks, 6 kills), Olivia Beyer (8 kills, 9 blocks), Taylor Rieckhoff (6 kills) and Rachael Hille (5 kills).

"When we were on, we were on fire,"

Marody said. "But Franklin played a very tough game defensively as well."

NOVI 3, SALEM 0: The visiting Rocks battled division leading and stateranked Novi on Tuesday but just could not match the Wildcats.

Novi won 25-19, 25-10, 25-20, despite Salem's gutsy effort on defense, said head coach Amanda Nies.

"Our defense is what really kept us in a lot of plays and rallies," Nies said.

Katie Vincent (12 digs), Katie Heitmeyer (6 digs) and Nancy Krutty (6 digs) were solid on defense. Brooke Berberet led the offense with 15 kills while Breanne Beaver (6 kills, 3 blocks) and Quinn Fillinger (15 assists) chipped in.

Novi improved to 17-2-1 overall and 3-0 in the KLAA Central Division. Salem dropped to 0-3 in division play.

LAKELAND TOURNEY: In Saturday's Lakeland Invitational, Salem struggled to find an offensive flow and went 2-3 for the day.

The Rocks defeated Dearborn and Rochester, both in three games. But eventually they lost in the first round of the Silver bracket.

Katie Vincent played outstanding defense with 50 digs, while Emily Lipa (27 digs) and Katie Heitmeyer (26 digs) also played well on D.

Leading the team with 37 kills was Kara Hewett, with Brooke Berberet (27 kills) and Leslie Rodriguez (17 kills) helping out. Quinn Fillinger collected 67 assists.

saders rolled 25-14, 25-21, 25-11 win Saturday morning over Rochester College as Karie Altman, named the tournament's Most Outstanding Player, led the way with 13 kills.

Also named to the alltournament team were MU's Evia Prieditis, a sophomore setter who finished with 33 assists, and Nastija Barnanovska, junior middle hitter who added seven kills and seven digs.

The Crusaders opened tourney play Sept. 9 with a 32-34, 19-25, 25-15, 25-16, 15-12 win over Daemen (10-4) as Altman had 21 kills and Miranda Sechler added a careerhigh terminations with 14 digs.

MU also defeated Illinois Tech (5-6), coached by former Crusader and Livonia Churchill High grad Jacqui Gatt, in three straight, 25-15, 25-13, 25-10.

COMMUNITY LIFE

One boy's journey

Family deals with illness through scrapbook, friends and humor

By Sharon Dargay O&E staff writer

Evan Westphal's great adventure started Jan. 11 at William Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak.

The Livonia boy, then a first grader at Hoover Elementary, was diagnosed with lymphoblastic leukemia just 12 days before his seventh birthday and faced months of chemotherapy, IV medicines, injections and spinal taps

His adventure included missing school for all but 22 days last semester and foregoing baseball for at least this year, thinning hair and the expectation of three years in treat-

Evan, now a second grader in the "maintenance" phase of treatment, has taken most of the journey with a smile on his face. "The whole thing is not a good experience," said his mom, Janice Westphal. "But to put it in the positive, it's all how you look at it. You've got to get through it one day at a time. It's an adventure. It's not one I'd choose to go on, but it's one I can't change. So, you've got to make the best of it. We do everything with a sense of humor.

'Maybe we're different. I don't know. One of the nurses said to my mom that one of the reasons he's doing as well as he is, is the attitude we have."

Westphal, her husband Phil, a UPS truck driver, older son, Alex, a freshman at Stevenson High School, and grandparents Bob and Donna Burnham, try to make life as normal as possible for Evan. They never hide information about his medical condition from him and they make sure he gets answers to his questions, which has helped him undergo medical procedures - such as painful intermuscular shots — with understanding and a few tears rather than fear.

Evan knows all of his medications, their colors, and their purpose, in addition to what the numbers on his blood count results mean.

"He won't let them put him to sleep until they tell him what medicines they are giving him and what color it is. It has gotten to the point where the doctors walk in and they give the count sheet to him first. He wants to know what's going on. He has learned things that no 7year-old boy should have to know. But he wants to know what's going to happen, when it's going to happen and how it's going to happen. He has always been that kind of kid."

Collecting memories

His interest in his own treatment led Westphal to create a scrapbook, "Evan's Adventure," full of photos and mementos of his cancer experience. She had scrapbooked other family milestones and vacations, but didn't even consider one on the topic of his hospitalization and treatment until she realized that he might want one as a keepsake.

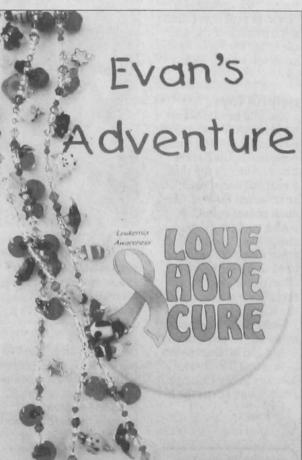

Please see JOURNEY, B6

He had to take a break from baseball this summer. but Evan Westphal has had a few golf lessons and golf might just be his game.

"I like it because it helps me explain things to other people," Westphal said. "You don't want to totally relive everything, but the people you meet are so phenomenal that you want to remember them. If you look at it, it's not sad.'

Colorful pages show photos of his doctors, nurses, family members, his room - decorated in a penguin motif and Evan, mostly smiling. Tapes, used when his port is accessed, bear a nurse's drawings and fill one page. Photos documenting a spinal tap are laid out on another page.

"Evan wanted to know what it was like when he got a spinal tap. So I asked if I could take pictures, "Westphal said. "Evan is mad that I didn't get a picture of the needle in his back. He wanted to see what it looks like."

Helpful toys

She said he also wanted to transfer that knowledge to his stuffed animal companion, Chuck, the Chemo Duck, a toy that a hospital social worker obtained for him. The duck comes complete with a port for IV medication, play needles and other items, including a head scarf for its owner. Evan never wore it, preferring a baseball cap to the scarf.

Westphal also secured a pair of stuffed animals big and little monkeys - through the There's a Monkey in My Chair program. Evan keeps the little monkey at home. The big monkey, which comes with a backpack containing a camera, notebook, pens and photobook, stays in his seat at school when he's home or in the hospital. Classmates take photos in class, use the pens and notebook to write letters and cards and make sure the monkey is on hand for every lesson.

Janice Westphal wears bracelets supporting awareness of leukemia, multiple sclerosis and the injectible medical port her son has.

Evan westphal holds his special monkey that sits in his chair at school when he is unable to attend.

His monkey's sponsor, a woman from Kansas named Marge Green, reached out to members of her church, encouraging them to send messages and prayer cards regularly to Evan.

Evan's "adventure" hasn't been all needles and pills

Through a program called Chemo Angel, two women from Oregon and Florida periodically send gifts and cards. His favorite teacher, Charles "Mr. O" O'Laughlin, physical education instructor at Hoover, sent Evan assorted athletic balls and other physical fitness items and a golf pro, Jay Rammler, has taken him under his wing with golf lessons. His classroom teacher took him to lunch for a little one-on-one time and a family friend bakes muffins for him every week.

Westphal, who was diagnosed with multiple sclerosis in 2007, wears three medical awareness bracelets - for leukemia, MS and IV ports doesn't shy from talking about Evan's leukemia. When he was diagnosed, she reached out through Facebook for support and information. She said online social media kept her in touch with the "outside world" during long periods at Beaumont Hospital with Evan.

When the family planned a trip to the Toledo Mud Hens game with Thrivent Financial, Westphal mentioned her son to the trip's organizers. The next thing she knew, Evan was chosen to throw out the first ball at the game.

"I was a little nervous and it felt weird to be on the field," Evan said. "I got quite the applause, too.

Westphal said the pitch bounced, but went straight and over the plate.

"It made mom cry," she said. "It bounced and the guy kind of caught it on the bounce," but it went straight and over the plate."

WHY INJECTIONS STOP WORKING

Steroid injections represent good therapy, particularly in osteoarthritis of the knees. However, anyone who has experience receiving injections over time can attest, injection therapy is uneven in its results, eventually working hardly at all. Why is this the case?

A tire is losing its tread, but the mechanic can keep the car running by putting air into the tire each time the tire goes flat. The first instance of a flat tire, followed by putting air back in, allows the car to run for another six months. The next time the mechanic puts air in the tire, the car goes for 3 months. The next time the tire needs air, the process lasts for possibly a month to six weeks.

What happens each time the mechanic attends to the flat by putting in air, is that the tire being used, loses even more tread, which in turn makes the tire even more vulnerable to nails and rocks on the road which in turn, makes having a flat tire even

Eventually, the owner of the car has no choice but to replace the tire

The same sequence holds for joint injections for knee, and other joint osteoarthritis. Each injection allows the person to carry on with an impaired joint. But, the capacity to use the knee comes with a price: the joint because of further use, deteriorates further. Eventually the joint wears out to the point that injections cannot overcome.

When injection provides only 2-3 weeks or less of relief, then the patient must look to joint replacement as the therapy of

SOCIAL SECURITY

Many people are wrongly rejected when they apply for Social Security Disability benefits. Money was taken out of their paychecks for Social Security taxes to ensure that they would receive disability benefits if they could no longer government denies work full-time. Sadly, the approximately 60% of those who apply for disability benefits.

Attorneys J.B. Bieske and Jennifer Alfonsi have 42 years combined experience representing only Social Security disability clients. And they personally meet with all clients and appear personally at all court hearings. Many large firms assign inexperi-enced attorneys to your case. And some of these firms are located thousands of miles away and only fly the attorney in the day of the court hearing. Attorneys Bieske and Alfonsi have vast experience before local Michigan judges.

Attorneys Bieske and Alfonsi can often make a winning difference at the application stage. And, if an appeal is necessary they have won several hundred cases before a court date is even Those denied can appeal on their own but statistics for many years reveal that those represented by attorneys win a much higher percentage of appeals. And attorneys who specialize in Social Security Disability cases win a much higher percentage yet.

In addition to practicing only Social Security disability law attorney Bieske has written a book for attorneys about the subject and has been interviewed on various television programs. Both attorney Bieske and Alfonsi have also been interviewed on radio programs and have given speeches to many groups.

Attorneys Bieske and Alfonsi offer free phone or office consultation. If they represent you, there will be no fee charged until after the case is won. The fee is a percentage of retroactive benefits.

Bieske and Alfonsi represent clients from all over the state of Michigan. Their Livonia office is on Six Mile Road just west of I-275. Their Novi office is located on Haggerty Road just north of 12 Mile Road. # The ABCs for keeping a home healthy Children often come into closer contact with their environment than adults. They put their fingers in their mouths, crawl on the floor, and touch, taste and breathe things without knowing if they are harmful. Because their organs and respiratory, immune and neurological systems are still developing, children can be more sensitive to harmful substances such as certain chemicals, particles and allergens, according to the Greenguard Environmental Institute.

Dr. Alanna Levine, Fellow of the American Academy of Pediatrics (FAAP), reminds parents that allergy symptoms typically begin during childhood. In fact, the Asthma & Allergy Foundation of America warns that allergies are the most frequently reported chronic condition in children, limiting activities for more than 40 percent of them.

Levine recommends following the ABC's Avoid, Balance and Change - to help maintain a healthier home environment for children.

A is for avoid: Whenever possible, avoid irritants that often trigger allergies, such as products made of feathers or down. Use hypoallergenic pillows on your child's bed, and limit exposure to perfume, talcum powder, hair spray, air fresheners, fabric softeners or other strong odors or sprays. Strong fragrances and odors may aggravate allergy symptoms, so be sure that children prone to allergies are not in the house when spraying fragrances or using strong cleaning products.

B is for balance: Maintain a consistent balance in the home to help minimize allergens. Keep the windows shut and use central air conditioning during high pollen seasons to help protect children from pollen particles that trees, grasses and weeds release into the air. These particles can harbor in the eyes, nose, and airways, causing allergy symptoms to flair for those allergic to pollen. Also, give children washable, non-allergenic stuffed toys when possible, and be sure to wash the ones played with the most on a weekly basis, in hot water at least 130 degrees Fahrenheit.

C is for change: Change items that are easy to neglect but are important for maintaining a healthier home, such as leaky faucets, pipes and other high moisture areas that are common places for mold growth. Don't neglect the air in the home either. Change your filter every three months, and use a high performance filter. For those with carpet in the home, vacuum it often and thoroughly, and change the vacuum cleaner bag on a monthly basis.

16 Job Search Errors You're Probably Making

Rachel Farrell,

special to CareerBuilder.com

Over the years, hiring managers have born witness to every hiring, interviewing, résumé, cover letter and negotiation mistake there is.

You know what these blunders are. We've told you several times. Yet you (and hundreds of other job seekers) continue to make common job search mistakes.

From those who see your mistakes over and over, here are 16 common job search mistakes to avoid -- and some of them may surprise you.

1. You don't keep your options open "Candidates tend to think that if they interview for a job they will get an offer, so they do not apply and interview for multiple positions, says Joanie Spain, director of public relations and career services, School of Advertising Art, a graphic design college. "They wait until one plays out completely, putting their job search on hold until knowing for sure they didn't get the offer. "By having many more irons in the fire, you diversify the risk and disappointment that is inevitable when any single opportunity disappears," adds Roy Cohen, author of "The Wall Street Professional's Survival Guide: Success Secrets of a Career Coach." "You also present yourself as a more passionate and energetic candidate.

you're in the flow of information and ideas -- and that makes you more valuable."

2. You turn up your nose at job descriptions "Entry-level candidates are reluctant to apply for a position unless the job sounds like their 'dream job' or they have all qualifications listed," Spain says. Rather than going on an interview to get more information, they base decisions about applying on the job description alone. They fail to see that all interview experience is good decision to make. 3. You haven't perfected the thank-offer on the table, there is no experience, or that, until there is an you note "Don't be too verbose with a thankyou note after an interview. Sending out a version of "War and Peace" can come across as desperate and needy for a job. However, sending a one or two sentence thank-you note comes across as flippant, not well thought-out and potentially shows indifference regarding the job to the employer," says Mike Barefoot, senior account manager at Red Zone Resources, a recruitment firm. "We encourage candidates to keep them to four to eight sentences.

4. You don't check your references "Always give out references that you've pre-screened. We sometimes see candidates give out references that were never checked with and kind," Barefoot says. "Also, make sure they're predominantly managers. An occasional colleague is okay, but contemporaries and friends really don't carry that much weight in helping you land a position.

5. You've got poor business

"Managers are becoming more savvy and are taking candidates out to lunch for interviews. They want to see how you treat a restaurant staff and see the 'real' you. If you're rude to them or don't seem appreciative for their hard work to make your meal pleasurable, managers wonder how you'll treat contemporaries you work with," Barefoot says.

6. You have a messy briefcase "A messy briefcase can imply the person is unorganized, messy and unprepared, and that their work will be less than optimal," says Ronald Kaufman, author of "Anatomy of Success." "Someone who is neat, clean, organized and prepared in all areas conveys they're serious about getting a job and working. 7. You discount temporary positions

'Many employers coming out of a recession want to hire on a temporary or temp- to perm- basis. We have already seen several contractors be offered permanent positions after they have proven themselves," says Jeffrey Weinstock, Esq. president, Rhodes &

Weinstock, a recruiting firm. "Not only will the temporary position pay some bills, think of it as an audition for a potential perm position, or at least a way to get a good reference for another position.

8. You have a bad attitude

"Poor attitudes come through in telephone calls and in interviews. If you are not positive, why would a potential employer want to hire you?" asks Weinstock. "It may take some time, but by being positive, by doing all the right things, by seeing each position as an opportunity, it will happen.

9. You include too much work

"Many job seekers over 40 think that they have to take their work history back to their first job out of college," says Cheryl E. Palmer, career coach and résumé writer. " All that is needed is the last 10-15 years of your work history.

10. You use your work email address on your résumé

"Some people do not regularly check their personal email, so they use their employers' email instead," Palmer says. "This sends a negative message to potential employers that the job seekers will not hesitate to use their equipment for personal

11. You take "no" as a final answer 'No" usually only means "no" for that position, says Bruce Hurwitz, president and CEO, Hurwitz Strategic Staffing, LTD

'If you are rejected for a job you should send a thank-you note, thank the employer for the opportunity, and wish them well. No one does that. When the next opening comes around, he'll remember you," says Hurwitz.

12. You lack tact "Be determined without being pushy. Calling or emailing to ask about the status of your résumé or interview can be a double-edged sword," says Rod Hughes, director of communications, Oxford Communications. "A tactful follow up can place you top of mind with the hiring manager, while incessant calling or emailing can push your résumé right off the table. 13. You don't search for yourself on the Internet "Your would-be employer is probably going to look you up online, so you should know what is out there," says Amanda O'Brien, vice president of marketing, Hall Web Services. "Clean up what you can, check your privacy settings on social networks and if it is something you can't get down off the internet, you may want to consider talking to the company about it.

14. You have a 'death by bullets'

"Bullets are great but they need context. Keep them to one line, focused on a result and include a figure like a fact, percentage or number," says Adriana Llames, author of "Career Sudoku: 9 Ways to Win the Job Search Game." "Or, put the information in a short summary of the position.

15. You've got a scattered strategy

"Looking for a job in any industry and with two or three résumés is going to get the same result as the strategy: scattered," Llames says. "Job seekers with a clearly defined, focused and organized strategic approach to their job search end up with clear results -- and a new job.' 16. You think it's about you It is not about you and your need for a job -- it is about the prospective employer and their need to run a successful business and make money, says Lori B. Rassas, employment attorney and author of "Employment Law: A Guide to Hiring, Managing and Firing for Employers and Employees.

"Many applicants mistakenly believe they will be an appealing candidate if they explain they will accept any type of job offer at any because they have been laid off, unemployed for an extended period of time, have children in college, or are having difficulty making the mortgage payments," she says. "Even if all of those circumstances are true, candidates need to craft a different message, focusing on how they can benefit the employer by saving them money, streamlining processes, creating additional sources of revenue and bringing overall value to the company.' ## FINALLY, SUNNIER DAYS FOR TOYOTA AND LEXUS

By Dale Buss

Many things are looking up for Toyota and Lexus these days, including encouraging upticks in the brands' inventory situation, buzz around a couple of fast-selling models, and anticipation about their planned handful of new-model introductions later this year. More than anything else, the new 2012 Camry has Toyota executives thinking upbeat. "The initial response has been excellent," said Jeff Bracken, vice president of sales for the Toyota Division. Consideration of the new model on Edmunds.com, he said, has been "the highest ... for any vehicle in more than three years. And in just one week, more than 50,000 people have raised their hands and said

they're considering a new

Partly as a result, Toyota decided to pull forward its "onsale" date for the car at dealers from early October and to begin shipping Camrys to them from the company's Georgetown, Ky., manufacturing complex any day now. By the middle of October, sticking with its original schedule, Toyota also plans to begin building a Camry Hybrid at the plant.

True, Toyota's August sales declined by about 1 percent from July. Sales of one individual model after another were down for the month from 2010 and remained down for the year to date because of how Toyota's global supply and manufacturing network was ravaged by and after the earthquake and tsunami in Japan in March.

But amid the industry's general gloom over disappointing August results, Toyota had some room for encouragement. For one thing,

The first-ever Toyota Camry hybrid will be going on sale soon.

executives noted that all North American production will return to normal levels this month for the first time since March, ensuring that it won't be long before inventory shortages stop handcuffing Toyota dealers and discouraging sales of their Fourth-quarter production in North America is planned for 15 percent higher than a year earlier. Reflecting these rising expectations for availability, Toyota planned to extend its current generous incentive program through September.

At the moment, Toyota's inventories stand at about a 36day supply of cars, versus a normally desirable level of between 40 and 50 days for Toyota Division vehicles, and only up from 34 days a month earlier. "That's a positive trend and much better than where we thought it would have been,' said Randy Pflughaupt, Toyota's group vice president of sales administration.

It is keeping pace with market demand ... By the end of December we'll certainly be making lot of progress toward a comparable level" of inventories to ayear earlier, he said. "It might be a little bit into the first quarter of next year before we see inventories at essentially prior levels."

Prius was perhaps more directly sacked by the manufacturing disruptions in Japan than any other vehicle, but Pflughaupt reported that Toyota was "on pace" to deliver all of the 36,000 Prius units that executives had promised for the U.S. market this summer. In the meantime, in August Toyota was able both to increase Prius sales and to increase the level of dealer inventories of the car.

Lexus was the only brand to report increased year-to-year sales, a 6-percent jump over August 2010. The end of the summer traditionally is a brisk time for luxury brands because of closeouts of versions from the old model year, and Lexus basically saw its supply pipeline restored to vigor just in time to participate more or less fully.

Sales of the CTD200h hybrid sedan continued to surpass initial expectations from its introduction early this year. "Our launch plan was to sell 1,000 a month, but we're selling more than double that number, said Mark Templin, general manager of the Lexus Division. "It's bringing new young buyers into the family, about 40 percent who are younger than 45 years old, and about half of them are new to Lexus.

Overall Lexus production "improved dramatically" in August "and will continue to rise," he said. Lexus production will be 18 percent higher in the fourth quarter than a year ago, Templin said. Specifically, output of the RX, the leading luxury SUV, will rise by 140 percent in the fourth quarter in Toyota's Canadian assembly plant over original plans for the period, Templin said.

Beyond September, Toyota and its dealers are looking forward to the planned introductions of a handful of new models before the end of the year, including the Camry Hybrid, the larger Prius V, a new Yaris subcompact and the allnew Scion iQ. Early in 2012, Lexus plans to launch an allnew GS sedan, first of a number of new and updated products that are in its pipeline.

WE CAN DO THA

Are you over miles or concerned about reconditioning or disposition fees? No matter where you leased it, bring it to Bill Brown.

Now may be the best time to look into trading out of your lease. Starting October 1st the Red Carpet Lease turn in process will be handled by a third party inspector. We have had great success with Ford, GM, Chrysler and mport leases. Somewhere between 4 and 12 months early seems to be ideal but now is the perfect time if your lease expires before the end of the year.

Call 734-421-7000 or log onto billbrownford.com and complete the form under: Want Out Of Your Lease Early?
